The junior choir, led by Miss Dafoe, sang pleasingly "Chime Music" "When Santa Claus gets your letter" and "Away in a manger."

Two numbers in popular music, "Bumble Boogie" and "Down Yonder" were played by Bob Whitton.

Carol singing from beautiful slides shown by Mr. K. McKee brought the happy evening to a close.

Home Owners' Christmas Party

The spirit of Christmas was in ample evidence with the arrival of Santa Claus at the second annual Christmas party of the Brookdale Home Owners Association held at the YMCA Wednesday evening.

Prior to Santa's eagerly awaited arrival a delicious buffet style supper was served, followed by an interesting program of carols and special numbers. Mr T. E. Pritchard, acting as chairman and master of ceremonies, very capably led the carol singing to Mr. Christopher Gledhill's accompaniment, and introduced the special numbers.

A boys' chorus, trained and accompanied by Mrs. T. Williams, sang the 'Infant Holy' and 'The First Noel'. The boys in the chorus were: Bob McGavin, Warren Dunfield, Jim Forsythe, Tommy Williams, David Giles, Peter Collins, Billy Oliphant, Max Sexsmith, Gary Sexsmith, John Nigh, Billy McGavin and Ricky Williams.

A group of girls, trained by Mrs. Wm. Todd, presented 'Silent Night' in pantomime, while the hymn was beautifully sung by Tommy Williams, accompanied by Shirley Pritchard on the piano. Girls in the group were: Christine MacNab, Margaret Pritchard, Joan Hamilton, Marion Brady and Mary Louise Bateman.

Jane Hamilton sang the very interesting solo, "When Santa Gets Your Letter". She was accompanied by Mr. Hal MacFarlane.

The arrival of Santa and the distribution of gifts to children was the featured event of the very pleasant evening.

The committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Mr. John Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pritchard and Mrs. E. W. Jones.

Mr. Ab Galoska expressed the appreciation of all members for the work done by the committee in organizing this highly successful party.

THESE ARE THREE of the most costly designs in the world. Priced at from $1,500 to $5,000, they're shown here to give the Canadian woman an idea of what she would get if she wanted to pay top prices for an evening dress. They're the brain children of Princess Sumair of India, who lives and works in Paris. Spectacular evening coat (left) is bright red wool with white wool embroidery. Most fabulous model in collection (centre) is woven of silver-and-gold thread, is worn with a ruby-and-diamond necklace that took four thousand hours to make, cost $230,000. A sari embroidered in gold on deep rose-red silk (right) makes gown with fitted top and halter neck.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Christmas Supper Often Causes Trouble

This is just under the wire for you cannot leave it very much later than tomorrow to make your plans for your Christmas supper —if you have the strength to serve a Christmas supper after preparing and eating Christmas dinner at about one or two in the afternoon.

But I have plenty of correspondence to indicate that you intend to still be going strong after Christmas dinner is over.

For instance Dorothy B says: " I would appreciate some Christmas menu help. I have no trouble with the traditional dinner, which we serve about 2 p.m., but what about supper? Appetites are definitely dulled, but still we must go through the motions! And frankly, I can never think of anything interesting, that won't take too much time to prepare . . . we serve about twelve persons—all ages, from toddlers to grandparents . . . .". And Mrs. Joseph C. tells me, " . . . usually Christmas night I always give a big supper for all our friends in the neighborhood which amounts to about twenty-five guests . . . I try to keep on the lighter side after their big dinners at home. (Last year) I served cold sliced turkey with cranberries, meat pies, potatoes, then a salad and I finish off with a light dessert. Now this year I would like something different . . . could you send me a menu for this meal?"

I can't do better than to tell these ladies and other readers what we do. We do it because it is popular and because guests may consume as much or as little as their will power or hunger permit. We serve an oyster supper. That is, oysters three or four ways and a huge salad for the gourmets and reducers. French bread and hot rolls for those who have unlimited capacity — like Pete and Brian my nephew, and Christmas cake, shortbread, and coffee with fruit punch for the teeners.

Christmas Or Christmas Eve Oyster Supper

Oyster Cocktail
Oyster Stew
Breaded Oysters
French Bread or Hot Homemade Rolls
Gourmet Salad
Christmas Cake Shortbread
Fruit Punch
Coffee

Oyster Cocktail

Place about four (or six if they are small) oysters on a lettuce lined sherbet glass. Cover with about 2 tablespoons Cocktail Sauce: two-thirds cup catsup, 3 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons bottled horseradish, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Serve all very cold.

Oyster Stew (or bisque)

For 12 generous servings put into top of double boiler 1 quart whole milk and 1 cup cream, cover and heat over boiling water. Just before serving time melt ½ cup butter in large saucepan, but do not let it brown. Add 1 quart oysters and their liquor and let heat gently until edges just begin to curl. Add the scalded cream and milk to these with 2 teaspoons salt and ⅛ teaspoon white pepper. Add anywhere from ¾ to 1½ cups fine sifted cracker crumbs, stir until stew thickens and is heated through.

Breaded Oysters

Dip oysters in fine sifted, salted cracker crumbs, then in beaten egg diluted with 1 or 2 tablespoons cold water, then in sifted cracker crumbs again. Fry in deep fat until gold or saute in frying pan in butter. Do no over cook. Serve with lemon.

Our Gourmet Salad has slender crescents of ripe avocado, eighths of small choice tomatoes, generous chunks of cut head lettuce, a few wafer thin slices of Spanish onion, quite a bit of chopped parsley, and as much or as little shredded green pepper as we like. This is tossed with garlic French dressing at the last minute.

I think I have told you a good trick to do with French Bread before. Do you remember? Spread it with garlic butter or grated cheese and bake it. You cut through nearly to the bottom—making the slices about 1 inch thick. For garlic bread you chop and mash 1 clove of garlic to a pulp and add it to ¼ lb. butter and soften this slowly over warm water. Mix well. Spread on the slices, prying them open a little to get your spreading knife nearly to the bottom crust. Now place on pan or on sheet of foil and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 20 or 30 minutes. Or if you want Cheese Bread spread the slices with softened butter, and pry them apart to drop in grated cheese, being sure some of the cheese is sprinkled over top of loaf before baking. Both of these variations are popular. Bake the cheese loaf the same as you do the first one.

The Fruit Punch should be pink with cranberry juice. Use cans of orange or orange and grapefruit juice, lemon juice, pineapple juice, cranberry juice, some extra sugar to sweeten the lemon and gingerale to give it sparkle. This drink can stand about one-quarter the volume of ice.

Happy Party!

Answer to Previous Puzzle

very good friends so naturally I see Wally quite often. Everything was fine until a few weeks ago when his mother began to act very cool towards me. I asked his sister what the trouble was, and she said that since our religions are different, her mother thought it best for us not to become too interested in each other. Should I give up our friendship or defy his mother and continue seeing him?

CYNTHIA.

ANSWER: Difficult as it may seem for you to realize it, Wally's mother is acting in the best interests for both of you. While you consider your friendship as just that, she apparently sees it as leading to something more serious. A difference of religion can present many obstacles to a harmonious marriage. Wally's mother, being more fully aware of these dangers than you are, is simply avoiding them by the most direct method. It does seem a shame to have your beautiful friendship broken, but in the face of his mother's attitude, it is better to do as she wishes. You are very young, yourself, to cope with problems as large as these. At your age, it is better to avoid friendships that present such complications.

Bancroft Girls Hold Vesper Service

BANCROFT, Dec. 20 (ENS)—The Canadian Girls in Training of St. Paul's United Church, on Sunday evening, conducted their annual Christmas vesper service. Across Canada, 30,000 CGIT members were taking part in this national candle-lighting ceremony in their own churches.

Haroldeen Watson took the leading part in the service while Myrna Mather read the scripture passages. The choir of CGIT girls led in the singing of Christmas hymns. "Silent Night" was sung by Bert Ellerbeck who assisted the girls with their music.

During the candle-lighting ceremony Miss Watson reminded the congregation that "at this time of year, in company with thousands of others across the land we perform our candle-lighting service to symbolize our re-dedication to the worthy aims which CGIT embodies in the life of the Canadian girl."

Aldith Robinson lit a candle in acknowledgement of His everlasting mercy. Shirley Robinson lit a candle in symbolic memory of Him who is the bright and morning star and in the recollection that He was born for our salvation.

Anne Weiss lit the third candle "in symbolic memory of the Light within each of us, by which all the world may know that we have been with Jesus."

The leader of the group, Mrs. A. W. Smith, who has worked in United Church mission fields among the Indians in the prairie provinces, told stories of the wonderful development in the Indian girls who had been able to attend mission schools.

Cancel Panamanian Registration Of Boat

HONG KONG, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—The Panamanian consul general here announced today he had vancelled Panamanian registration of the Norwegian-owned freighter Marion (2,025 tons) for "illicit trade" in war materials with Communist China.

The Marion, owned by the Norwegian firm of Wallem and Company, is one of 55 vessels that have obtained Panamanian registry in Hong Kong in the last two years. She is the first to lose it for China trade.

38 Refuse To Attend Meeting Of Parliament

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Thirty-eight legislators today refused to attend meetings of the Majlis (parliament) unless opposition members apologize for speeches attacking Abdul Ghassem, an anti-British religious leader.

Their absence deprived the house of a quorum, and it was unable to meet.

The 38 deputies, all supporters of Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh, addressed their ultimatum in a letter to the speaker.

Order Two Liners For Canadian Run

LONDON, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—The Cunard Shipping Company announced today that it has ordered two liners for the Canadian service.

The ships will be of about 20,000 tons each with a speed of 20 knots and will be for first-class and tourist passengers.

First of the two liners (to be built (by the John Brown Company) at Glasgow, will be in service in June, 1954, and the second the following spring.

Have 250 Names To Check On POW List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Defence Department still had about 250 names to check today on the Communist-supplied list of American prisoners-of-war in Korea.

The pentagon finished the first phase of the huge job last night. At that time, about 2,940 names on the full list of 3,198 had been identified.

Telegrams making it a joyous Christmas season for hundreds of American families went out by Wednesday night to nearly all the next of kin of the 2,940 men. Six were listed as having next of kin in Canada. But the sorrow deepened for the many more whose sons were not listed.

The approximately 250 remaining to be identified presented special problems. The pentagon decided to tackle these today.

When they stopped work Wednesday night, the staff working on the list had been on duty 26½ hours, ever since the names began pouring in from Tokyo Tuesday night.

They had been handed to United Nations officers several hours earlier at Panmunjom, Korea, the site of the truce negotiations.

List Unverified

There are 11,051 Americans officially listed as missing in action in Korea, so the release of the names meant tragedy in at least two homes for every one where it brought happiness.

President Truman joined high military officials Wednesday in emphasizing that the list is "completely unverified."

A pentagon spokesman gave some hope that the Communist list might be an honest one.

He said that nearly all of the names checked in the first phase of the operation—and this phase included more than 90 per cent of the total—were found in the Defence Department's own official list of missing.

"The number of discrepancies has been negligible both in number and in type," the spokesman said.

Indian Band Gets $230,000

SARNIA, Dec. 20 (CP)—The Sarnia Indian band Wednesday night accepted $230,000 from Dow Chemical of Canada for surrender of 195 acres of Indian property.

This price was $20,000 more than the last one mentioned by the company and rejected because of technicalities under the new Indian Act.

Before that, the Dow offer was $200,000.

The area constitutes five river lots in the southerly section of the city. Residents on the lots will be given additional compensation for removing their homes and for other inconveniences incurred through surrender of their property.

L. D. Smithers, executive vice-president of Dow Chemical of Canada, said the price would have to be confirmed by company directors. However, he did not indicate there would be any objection.

If the price is approved, half will be distributed among the band and the rest will be deposited in the band's trust account at Ottawa.

Careless Driving Charge Dismissed

A charge of careless driving against Earl Howson, RR 7, Peterborough, was dismissed in police court Wednesday after the evidence was heard by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Howson was riding his motorcycle east on Highway 7, just outside the city limits, on May 9, when he was in collision with a truck driven by Manley Neff, of RR 1, Indian River.

The accident occurred as Neff was backing his truck across the highway and Howson crashed into the rear wheel of the truck.

He was injured in the accident and his left leg is still in a cast.

Both Neff and Howson were charged with careless driving following the accident. Neff was convicted of the offence on November 14 and fined $15 and costs.

Howson was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair.

Drunk Jailed

After bein granted two adjournments on the charge, Joseph Heffernan, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to a charge in police court today. Heffernan said he would serve the jail sentence because he had been laid off from his woodcutting job near Campbellford before he had earned enough to pay the fine. He will serve ten days in county jail.

CUXHAVEN, Germany, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—The 6,119-ton American ship Aimee Lykes and the 4,014-ton Norwegian motorship Eig collided at the mouth of the Weser river Wednesday. The Norwegian ship was damaged and returned to Bremerhaven while the Aimee Lykes continued her journey.

THIS LITTLE LAMB WENT TO MARKET—William Sergeant, age 4, and his brother, Robert, 2, are happy to be reunitel with their pet lamb, "Molly," after the animal was rescued by their dad from a Des Moines, Ia., packing house. Police are searching for the "lamb-snatcher" who kidnapped "Molly" and sold her to a Des Moines packer for $13.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

After hearing the evidence in police court today, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a careless driving charge against Murray Mitchell, RR 4, Peterborough.

The charge was laid against Mitchell, on November 11, after he was involved in a collision with a car driven by Charles A. Redpath, 583 Erskine Ave.

Both cars were proceeding south on Water St. As he approached London St., Redpath pulled over to the centre of the street to turn left on London St. He said on the witness stand today, he did not signal for a left turn, but pulled gradually toward the centre.

Mitchell who was following Redpath, said he was unable to stop before colliding with the rear of Redpath's car when he saw him pull to the left.

Praise Firemen At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS)—Citizens of this town were loud in their praises today of the men who fought and finally controlled the $200,000 fire that gutted a three-storey business and apartment block in the town's west end.

They declared that Fire Chief Alex MacDonald and his men deserved a great deal of credit for their untiring efforts to subdue the blaze.

From 2 am, when they first reached the scene, until just before noon, the firemen worked steadily, many suffering from frost-nipped ears, noses and fingers in the 10-below weather.

Those manning the hoselines had thick coats of ice sticking to their rubber coats, boots and hard helmets. The ice hampered their movements and added to their miseries.

Also in line for civic praise were town constable W. E. Cargin and OPP Constable George Rose, who worked with the firemen and detoured traffic around the scene of the fire. Police Chief George H. Hardy did not hear of the fire until daylight.

He was not notified until then, and said he didn't hear the alarm. When the news was told him, he aided firemen and the two constables directing traffic.

Driver Pleads Guilty To Carelessness

Roland N. Wheeler, of Hunter St., Lakefield, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge in police court today.

He was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

On the night of November 17, Wheeler was involved in a three-car accident at Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Rd.

According to evidence entered by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Wheeler was driving south on Monaghan Rd. and failed to stop before entering the Lansdowne St. intersection. As a result, he collided with a car proceeding along Lansdowne St., and bounced off, striking another car parked on Monaghan Rd.

Trying For Peak

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Eight Frenchmen aim to be the first climbers to conquer the 11,070-foot peak of Mount Fitzroy in the Patagonian Andes in Argentina's deep south. The team, headed by Rene Ferlet, will leave here today by air for the Andes. Mountaineers regard Mount Fitzroy with its almost vertical slopes of sheer granite as one of the trickiest tests in the world.

A Busy Day

BOSTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — A total of 10,500,000 pieces of first-class mail was handled in the Boston postal district Wednesday, exceeding the previous record—set in 1950—by 1,300,000 pieces, acting postmaster Joseph P. Finn reported.

Damage Set At $105 In Intersection Crash

Damage estimated at $105 resulted to the two vehicles involved in an accident at Simcoe and Water streets Wednesday morning.

After stopping at Water St., Patrick D. Heffernan, RR 5 Peterborough, continued east on Simcoe St., as he started up the slippery street prevented Heffernan from getting traction and before he was halfway across the intersection, his car was in collision with a southbound Water St. car driven by Marcel Bodson, 609 Downie St.

A car driven by Gerald D. Emmerson, 564 Sherbrooke St., proceeding south on Monaghan Rd., collided with a dairy truck driven by John C. Gooley, 672 Romaine St., at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Gooley had stopped at Monaghan Rd., he said and was proceeding east on Romaine St., when the accident occurred.

Damage to Emerson's car was estimated at $80.

Both accidents were investigated by Constable Dennis Traynor.

Heavy Itinerary Ahead For Princess

AUCKLAND, NZ, Dec. 20 (CP)—Although the experience of their Canadian tour has been used to reduce some of the strain on the Royal visitors, the itinerary of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on their New Zealand tour next May will still be strenuous.

The program for the five-week tour announced today shows they will visit 23 towns. Only one official two-day break has been provided, but it is understood they will have free time over the weekends.

The mode of travel has not yet been announced but it is believed they will travel by air.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland said the Royal couple expressed a wish to see as much as possible of the country's life, industry, farming and education, health and scientific organizations.

Expectant Mother

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (AP)—Moira Shearer, British actress and ballet dancer, has informed her studio she is expecting a baby next summer and has withdrawn from the ballerina role in the film, "Hans Christian Andersen." Miss Shearer, in private life Mrs. Ludovic Kennedy, will be replaced by Renee Jeanmarie. Samuel Goldwyn productions said yesterday.

Youth Fined $25 After Race Ends In Crash

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for something more than the minimum when John J. Finn, 647 George St., pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of careless driving.

"It is most fortunate no one was injured," said Magistrate W. R. Philp in fining Finn $25 and $2.50 costs and suspending his driver's licence for four months.

Constable Donald Mackay testified that he was driving north on George St., Tuesday night when two cars passed him "at a high rate of speed."

Between Dublin and Edinburgh streets, Constable Mackay said one car pulled up alongside the other, well on the west side of the street, indicating a race.

In attempting to pull in behind the leading car, Constable Mackay said the car Finn was driving weaved back and forth on the slippery street, spun around, and ended up against a fence on a lawn.

Advised By Counsel

"I have enquired into the circumstances and in my opinion there has been careless driving," said W. J. Arthur Fair who represented Finn and advised him to plead guilty.

Pointing out that Finn was an out-of-town student, Mr. Fair said that his parents would probably have to pay the fine and that as far as Finn was concerned, the biggest penalty would be the suspension of his chauffeur's licence because he drives a truck during the summer holidays.

"I did consider laying a dangerous driving charge," Mr. Bradshaw said in urging Magistrate Philp to impose more than the minimum fine.

Elderly Woman Dead In Bed

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS)—Miss Louise Anderson, 81, was found dead in her bed Wednesday in her home at Petherick's Corners, five miles east of Cabpbelliford.

Miss Anderson lives alone with her elderly sister, Miss Amie Anderson. Miss Amie Anderson called her sister for dinner after she had not risen for breakfast.

She received no answer and went to the bedroom and found her sister dead.

District Coroner Dr. F. M. Dure said Miss Anderson had died of natural causes. Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine investigated. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

City Council Recommends Patrolmen For CGE Traffic

Appointment of three CGE patrolmen for traffic duty at the parking lot on the western side of Monaghan Road, opposite the company's main property, is proposed to the Police Commission by the City Council.

The suggestion comes from the Council's special traffic committee in a report recommending certain traffic regulations for orderly use of the parking area on the former DVA Hospital property.

The text is: "That the Board of Commissioners of Police be requested to appoint three members of the CGE patrol staff as special constables for traffic duty only; these men to serve in helping to regulate the traffic in and out of the CGE parking lot on Monaghan Road."

New traffic regulations were adopted by the Council Tuesday night on the recommendation of its special traffic committee.

Parking Restricted

No parking wil be permitted on the west side of Monaghan Road for a distance 50 feet north and south of the entranceway to the employees' parking space.

Parking is prohibited on the east side of Monaghan Road from Wolfe St. south to Works Avenue, the street through the CGE property from Park St. to Monaghan Road.

A bus stop sign is to be placed and a bus-loading zone set out on the east side of Monaghan Road extending from Works Ave. 100 feet northerly.

Other clauses in the report were: That to overcome the parking of cars in the island in front of the CGE (office), the police be requested to supervise it.

That, as requested by the Board of Education, the present parking regulations on McDonnel St. from George to Aylmer St., on the north side, be removed.

That a bylaw be passed restricting parking on business days on the parking lot on the city hall property to those employed in the building or citizens transacting business in the building.

It is understood that general parking will be permitted on that inner block on Sundays.

Parking on the west side of Hart Ave. is prohibited. This street lies between Wolfe and Patterson Streets, and is the first one west of Park St. It is a convenient parking place for a few employees of CGE.

7 Die In Crash

PARIS, Dec. 20. (Reuters) — Seven men were killed when a French military plane crashed near Samnua, northern Indo-China, Agence France Presse reported from Saigon today while the plane was dropping supplies to a military post.

The wreck and the charred bodies—five crew members and two passengers—were found by troops from the post.

May Be Troopship

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, Dec. 20 (AP).—The United Fruit Company's 6,981-ton cruise and cargo ship Verague has been sold to the United States government possibly for use as a troopship, company officials said here Wednesday.

Have Too Much Investigation Of Secret Work

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. (AP) —Builders of the government's vast H-bomb materials plant have been "plagued with what they consider unwarranted and unnecessary investigations" by Congressional groups, a report to one of them says.

The report, made to the Senate-House of Representatives Defence Production Committee by two of its investigators, says that during September and October the Atomic Energy Commission and the construction contractor used up a total of 4,100 man-hours taking part in such inquiries.

And in an accompanying statement the contractor, E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, says the investigations sometimes overlapped, both as to time and scope.

The big plant, now under construction, is located near Aiken, SC, and is known as the Savannah River Project.

The joint committee put out the report of its investigators today in making public testimony taken behind closed doors last Nov. 27.

Gordon Dean, chairman of the AEC, said he thought an investigation of the kind conducted by the joint committee was "a healthy thing" and that the group's "influence will turn out to be good." He did not comment on the general assertion that the AEC and Du Pont had been "plagued" by Congressional inquiries.

VON To Hold Annual Meeting

The Peterborough VON will hold its annual meeting February 27. The date was set at the VON board of directors meeting Wednesday afternoon. The meeting will coincide with the national VON week which has been scheduled for the week of February 26.

Miss Harriet McGeary, nurse-in-charge, reported that members of the nursing staff had made 443 visits to 153 patients during November. Of this total 53 were new patients.

Four medical and surgical patients discharged from hospital and nine mothers and babies were admitted to care.

During the month 18 undergraduate students from the Civic and St. Joseph's Hospitals made 128 observation visits with VON nurses. To date this year 46 undergraduates and one post-graduate have made 400 visits.

Miss McGeary also discussed the increasing problem of chronic cases. She explained that 156 visits were made to this group during November and that to date 1,953 of the total 3,258 visits made this year were to chronic patients.

Definite Increase

"There has been a definite increase in the number of visits to the chronically ill," she explained. "And as many of the chronic illnesses are the result of the aging process we are bound to see an even greater increase in this group."

She explained that research had found that many of the chronic diseases can be cured if found early enough. The chief recommendation made was that more information be presented to the public to aid in the detection of these potential chronic diseases.

US Officials Deny Subversion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP). —The United States in a note to Moscow has denied it is trying to promote subversion against Russia.

Furthermore, the note said, such "false charges" of American interference in Soviet affairs "come with singular ill-grace" from a regime which has for many years "supported subversive activities" against the US.

The State Department released the note today. It was delivered to the Soviet foreign ministry Wednesday.

Specifically, the US rejected as baseless, Russian charges, made Nov. 21, that a $100,000,000 appropriation in the Mutual Security Act of last October to help victims of Communist rule constitutes subversion against the Soviet Government.

"Assistance of this nature is in keeping with the traditional US policy of helping victims of oppression, in this instance those Eastern Europeans who have escaped or may escape to the free world," the note said.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

The auditorium at Queen Mary School was filled to capacity for the annual Christmas program arranged by the teachers.

A short business meeting was held with Mr. W. G. Ovens presiding. A request was made for volunteers to drive two polio victims to and from the "Y" Tuesday and Thursday mornings for swimming therapy.

The program was excellent and indicated a tremendous amount of work by teachers and seudents. Two very enjoyable plays were presented, one by Mr. McNeil's class called "Squire Hawley's Christmas," the other "Reunion at Christmas" by Mr. Weir's class.

In a street scene setting, a group of carollers from Mr. Northcott's class delighted with their singing of "Jesous Ahalonhia," "Old French Noel," "Masters in this Hall," "Unto Us a Boy is Born," and "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Miss Chalk's class entertained with two delightful English folk dances, "Napoleon" and "Thady You Gander."

A splendid demonstration of pyramid building was put on by a group of boys from Mr. McNeil's class along with some boys from Grade 6, Rooms 8 and 10.

The audience thoroughly enjoyed participating in the carol singing led by Mr. Andy Rutter.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. C. K. Hurst to the teachers, Mr. Rutter and to the pianist, Mrs. W. J. Gordon.

The children went to their classrooms for cookies and chocolate milk, and the parents were served tea and cookies.

The Parent Education Study Group will meet at the home of Mrs. A. Purdon, 490 Gordon Avenue, on January 9th. Fathers' Night, in charge of Mr. D. Vaisey, will take place at the school January 7th.

Mr. Weir's class won the attendance prize.

St. John's GA Holds Candle Service

A Christmas candlelight service featured the Christmas meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church Tuesday in the parish hall, with the second vice-president, Evelyn James, presiding.

The Rev. J. A. Purser conducted his second period of the churchmanship study.

Attending the meeting were the GA honorary president and past leader of the GA, Mrs. T. H. Floyd, and the WA president, Mrs. Fred Hooper.

The candlelight service, conducted by Mr. Purser, commenced with a processional hymn, "As With Gladness Men of Old," sung in candlelight, as eight members carrying lighted candles proceeded up the aisle to place their candles in front of the lighted central candle, which represented the love of God in giving a Saviour Jesus the light and hope of the world.

In processional, lead by Evelyn James, were Jenny Luther, Elizabeth Lawry, Beverley Farrance, Phyllis Willshaw, Susan Simmers, Beth Conley and Beulah Nicholls.

Background music for the singing of the carols was played by Mrs. Lily Neale.

Mr. Purser asked members to think of the various missionary fields where Canadian missions are teaching the people of Christ and His love.

From the central worship candle Jenny Luther lit the first candle of friendship and service to the Indians and Eskimos who have come to know Christ through missionary efforts. Following the hymn, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," Evelyn James lit the second candle to the people of India.

After singing one verse of "O Morning Stars Together," Elizabeth Lowry lit the third candle of friendship and service to the people of China, Japan and the Oriental Christians in Canada.

Following hymn "How Silently," Beverley Farrance lit the fourth candle of friendship and service to all those who came from Europe to make their homes in Canada.

The GA leader, Mrs. W. C. Boate thanked Mr. Purser for conducting the service, and Mrs. Neale for coming to the meeting to play the music for the Christmas carols. Mrs. Boate also expressed appreciation of their support to Mrs. Floyd and Mrs. Hooper.

Next meeting, Jan. 8, with Mr. Purser conducting, the churchmanship study and Miss Gwen Sorky commencing the home nursing course.

Pupils 2 Schools Entertain Parents

The pupils of St. Peters and St. Mary's schools entertained their Parent Teacher Association members in an exceptionally well filled K. of C. hall Tuesday night. President J. J. Legris presided.

Most Rev. Bishop Gerald Berry opened the meeting with prayer. The following program was presented:

Recitation by John Dunn and John Ryan; "December 26th" by Gary Kennedy; Christmas carols and recitations by the pupils of Grade 3 of St. Mary's school; "'Twas the Night After Christmas," by Jackie Burke; chorus, "Jingle Bells," by Grade 1; recitation by Darlene Crowley; play, "The Shoemaker's Guest," by Grade 3.

Miss Anne Szammers was accompanist for the evening.

The attendance prizes were won by Sister St. Patrick's room, Grade 3 of St. Mary's School, and by Sister Regina's room, Grade 4 of St. Peter's school.

Winners of the turkey draw were Rev. Sister Amadeus, Mount St. Joseph, Mrs. C. Cumberland, 588 Harvey St.; Mr. A. J. Griffin, 304 Margaret Ave.; Mr. J. Allyson, 501 Cross St., and Geneva F. Armstrong, 192 Hunter St.

A delicious lunch was served under the convenership of Mrs. S. J. Houlihan assisted by many members of the association.

Cardinal Sees Troops

NEW YORK, Dec. 20. (AP)— Francis Cardinal Spellman left by plane Wednesday to spend Christmas with American troops in Korea. The cardinal had been invited to make the trip by Gen. James Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander in Korea. The prelate's plane is due in Tokyo at 2:30 pm Saturday, Tokyo time.

Believe Pope May Announce New Consistory

By FRANK BRUTTO.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 20 — (AP)— The Pope's annual Christmas eve message to the College of Cardinals may indicate whether a consistory will be held soon to fill 21 vacancies in the sacred college. Vatican sources say one may be held in early spring.

The Pope will receive the cardinal's traditional Christmas greetings at 10.30 am (4.30 am EST). His reply will be broadcast to the world.

In 1945, with the college down to 38 members, the Vatican announced Dec. 23 the names of 32 new princes of the church to bring the membership to full strength of 70.

Today there are only 49 cardinals. Death has claimed 21. One, Josef Cardinal Midszenty, is behind the bars of a Communist prison in Hungary. With the deaths of Kronrad Cardinal Von Preysing in East Berlin a year ago and of Adam Stefan Cardinal Sapieha in Poland, Cardinal Mindszenty remains the only living cardinal in the vast area dominated by the Soviet Union.

Many Killed.

The Roman Catholic hierarchy in Switzerland said more than 13,000 priests and members of religious orders have been killed, jailed or exiled in iron curtain countries. Some 1,240 missionaries were reported expelled from Communist China.

If a consistory is held, it is believed the Pope will fill all the vacancies, since many dioceses traditionally headed by a cardinal now have none. These include Boston and St. Louis in the US, Prague, Czechoslovakia, whose primate, Archbishop Josef Beran, has been exiled by the Communists; Paris, Warsaw and others.

The new cardinals also may include the first negro member in church history. Since 1900 number of Roman Catholics in Africa has increased from little more than a million to 14,000,000. Among the candidates for the red hat are Msgr. Joseph Kiwanuka, Apostolic Vicar of Mauaka, Uganda, and Msgr. Ignatius Ramarosandratana, Apostolic Vicar of Mirinarivo, Madagascar.

Operation Televised Patient Back Home

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20 (AP)— Richard Russell, 20, who literally opened his heart so doctors could see his operation via color television, is home again.

Russell left general hospital Wednesday and his surgeon, Dr. John C. Jones, says his heart, which had a restricted aorta, now is perfectly normal.

Russell's three-hour operation, televised on a closed circuit, was observed by delegates to the American Medical Association here and was also shown in New York.

Suffered Many Years - Gas, Sour Stomach, Headaches

Got Bad Rheumatic Pains, Backache, Rundown, "Found Best Relief Since Taking Few Bottles of Syntona," Says This Man.

MR. B. BROWN

How often have you heard someone telling of the good results they got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound? The chances are that nearly everybody knows of someone or even several acquaintances who have used this medicine with gratifying results. New cases are reported every day, such as the experience of Mr. Barton Brown, 20 Garwood Street, St. Thomas, Ontario, who said recently:

"I have suffered for many years with stomach disorders, constipation, and became badly rundown. I would get awful gas, heartburn, sour stomach and a full, heavy, bloated sensation in my stomach. I was subject to frequent headaches, backache, and had rheumatic pains in my limbs, joints and muscles. They would get stiff and sore, and this whole condition often had my nerves so on edge I couldn't get my proper sleep.

"One day a friend told me about Syntona and this medicine has given me the best relief I've had in many years. Can eat better now as the gas, sourness, and other distress is cleared up. Constipation is also relieved and the aches and pains do not trouble me now, so I feel almost 100 per cent better and am getting more sound restful sleep at night."

Why not give this great medicine a chance to help you, too? Get a bottle and try it today.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Shoppers Choose Yule Gifts For Practicality

WINNIPEG—(CP)—Merchants here report Christmas shoppers this year are demanding their money's worth, passing up doo-dads in favor of articles of lasting value.

A tire dealer reported a trim, middle-aged woman made a down payment on a set of automobile tires for her husband.

A farm woman ordered 100 baby chicks—when they hatch—for her husband's gift. "I may as well give him something useful for a change," she said.

Both men's and women's clothiers say they are dealing with a different type of customer this year and the usual fancy pyjamas and gaudy ties don't sell. Merchants claim there just isn't any use suggesting gifts that won't last a long time.

One department store executive said he believed business this year is down—possibly 20 to 25 per cent—from last year's.

"Customers are keeping a closer watch on their purse strings and clerks this season really have to sell," he said.

Decreased Buying

Another store executive said male customers instead of buying radios and other costly items now settle for several pairs of nylon stockings. Most furniture and appliance dealers said credit restrictions have seriously affected their volume of trade, and price reductions and more sales are the only answer to the problem.

Possibly hardest hit are dealers in men's and women's clothing and woollen goods. A wool shortage was expected several months ago and stores stocked to the hilt. The expected shortage did not materialize, and now dealers are trying to unload.

Suspended Sentence For Wounding Father

MILTON, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP)—Doreen Sheffield, 16-year-old policeman's daughter, Wednesday was given a suspended sentence of two years less one day for wounding her father, Corporal John Sheffield, of the provincial police detachment at nearby Oakville, Sept. 13. She pleaded guilty.

Staff Sergeant John Clark testified that an argument between the girl and her father over her boy friend and several hours' brooding led to the shooting.

"She told me her father had torn up a photograph of her boy friend," said Clark. "After the argument Doreen walked the streets of Oakville for several hours brooding over the argument.

"She told me she hated her father because of his severity concerning her boy friend."

Christmas Party Held In CWL Club Rooms

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20—(ENS)—Members of the CWL held their annual Christmas party in their club rooms Monday evening with a banquet and exchange of gifts.

The tables were decorated with Christmas colors and red candles. The Rev. Moloney said the prayer for the Pope. Those present sat down to dinner served by Misses Mary Collins, Barbara Long, Maureen Doherty, Dorothy Long and Eleanor Guerin.

Mrs. Loe. Doherty, president of the League, welcomed the guests.

After distributing gifts to each guest, Father Moloney congratulated the League on the success of the dinner and expressed the wish that the CWL would continue to hold them each year.

Tour Highlights Reveal Ties With Crown

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(CP)—The tenuous but strong threads that tie Canada to the Crown were strengthened in 1951 by the Royal visit.

Canada has perhaps never before given such an outpouring of public enthusiasm as she displayed for Princes Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on their fall tour.

Only the 1939 visit of the King and Queen ranked with it in the numbers and spirit of the welcoming Canadians, and those who followed both bills say it's a toss-up which was ahead.

Certainly, the 10,000-mile journey of the smiling Princess and her big and affable consort built up new intra-Commonwealth goodwill at every mile of the Canadian route.

For their part, the Royal pair in 36 days probably learned more about the broad land Elizabeth will one day rule than they did in all their lifetimes up to now. They saw Canadians at work, at play and in their Sunday best. They touched the high spots of every province.

Tour Highlights

Here are some of the highlights of the tour, in the order in which Elizabeth and Philip went through the provinces:

Quebec: The rousing welcome at the start in Quebec City, the heart of old French-Canada. Montreal's huge demonstration by more than 1,000,000 persons along 40 miles of crowded streets. The masses of children of two languages who gave the couple heart warming receptions in packed stadia.

Ontario: Toronto's huge demonstration, second only to Montreal's in size. Dignified Ottawa's lively time, with square-dancing at Government House. The mighty spectacle of Niagara Falls. The friendly and relaxed evening in the little northern bush town of Kapuskasing.

Manitoba: Winnipeg's unrestrained crowds romping through police lines and holding up the Royal parade time and again. The first touch of prairie winter in the "Gateway City." The crowd of between 50,000 and 70,000 that inundated the small community of Rivers, 200 miles west of Winnipeg.

Saskatchewan: Reginans discarding their noted reserve over celebrities to cut loose over the visitors. Their first air view of the rolling prairie wheatlands on a flight from Saskatoon.

Alberta: The miniature Calgary Stampede on a bitterly-cold day of wind and snow. A "Chuckwagon" lunch with several hundred Calgary youngsters. A Saturday night football game in Edmonton, and a first-hand view of Edmonton's booming oil industry.

Great Scenery

British Columbia: The scenic splendors of a train ride through the Rockies. A holiday from the swift round of functions on northern Vancouver island, with fishing for Philip. The sailor prince back at sea on destroyer trips between the mainland and the island.

New Brunswick: The welcoming fervor of the United Empire Loyalist descendants. The singing salutes that greeted the pair at various spots.

Nova Scotia: The visit to the "Citadel City" of Halifax, ancient link with Britain's fighting forces. Philip's reunion with the seaport that he visited often in the Second World War.

Prince Edward Island: Most of the island population gathered at Charlottetown, cradle of confederation; fine fur-bearing animals at experimental farm; prize livestock, horses and poultry.

Newfoundland: Farewell to Canada in a typical rain-lashed nor' easter of the Atlantic coast. Drenched Newfoundlanders singing "Will ye no' come back again?" as the royal couple put to sea.

Steady Advertiser

LONDON (CP)—W. A. Slow, publicity director for a big Oxford Street store said in a speech the store has run a front-page advertisement in a British weekly newspaper every Sunday for more than 20 years without missing an edition. He believed it might be a world record.

JACQUES CARBONNEAU, (left), Quebec City, and Claude Richer, (right), Ottawa, are a couple of early birds leaving for the Olympic Games which open at Oslo February 14. PC's Lose Motion 82-22 To Kill Price-Fixing Law

OTTAWA, Dec. 21. (SP)—The home-for-Christmas drive of the Commons gathered steam today as the Chamber quickly disposed of a Progressive Conservative move to kill the government's anti-price-fixing legislation. It received a second non-confidence motion tied to the legislation from M. J. Caldwell, CCF leader, but he told the Chamber that he would not push it to a recorded, time-consuming vote. In a conciliatory mood after Thursday's angry debates, the Chamber met this morning to hear Prime Minister St. Laurent say he hopes it won't be necessary for him to carry out his threat to apply closure to the lingering debate on resale price maintenance legislation.

The Progressive Conservatives fighting the Bill on the ground it will harm small business, then put up only two speakers—Gordon Churchill (Winnipeg South-Centre) and J. A. Charlton (Brant-Wentworth)— before allowing their motion to shelve the legislation to go to a vote.

The House, striving to complete its work by tonight or possibly Saturday, defeated the Progresive Conservative motion by a count of 82 to 22. It was introduced four days ago by E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops).

Watch Developments

Liberal, CCF, and Social Credit members voted against it.

Mr. Coldwell then moved a motion that the Bill be shelved and consideration be given to the regulation of price maintenance by a public board.

Mr. Coldwell suggested that at the next session the government consider legislation to outlaw "loss leaders"— the practice of selling goods below cost to attract trade and eliminate competition—to avert price wars.

Prime Minister St. Laurent replied that the government considers the Criminal Code gives the independent retailer protection. However, it was the government's intention to watch developments and take any action necessary to protect the retailer.

In the opening stages, Mr. St. Laurent expressed hope the House will make enough progress today that it won't be necessary for him to invoke closure, which he said Thursday he would apply effective December 27.

More Friendly Mood

The Chamber, thrown into turbulent scenes Thursday when the Prime Minister accepted a Progresive Conservative challenge to cut off the contentious prices debate, was in a lighter, more friendly mood when it assembled today.

The Prime Minister said he hoped the House, moving slowly towards a Christmas adjournment would have had two more days of debate on the anti-price-fixing Bill—Thursday and today. But

Steel Talks Collapse, Strike Imminent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (CP) —Negotiations aimed at preventing a new year's day steel strike in the United States collapsed today and the dispute was referred to President Truman as a complete deadlock.

Cyrus S. Ching, Federal Mediation Service Director, gave up his efforts to negotiate a settlement.

He said he was sending the case to the White House as hopeless.

Truman apparently has two courses to take.

One is to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act, with its provisions for an eight-day court injunction prohibiting a walkout.

This, however, would probably shelve the unsettled steel dispute until March, with the possibility that John L. Lewis may be threatening a country-wide coal strike then.

His second would be to refer the steel crisis to the wage stabilization board for a recommended settlement.

Not Soon Enough

However, it was considered highly unlikely the board could complete this process before CIO president Philip Murray's Jan. 1 strike deadline.

Murray's demands for an average 18½-cent hourly pay boost for steelworkers—including a 15-cent general increase, plus job rate changes estimated to cost 3½ cents per man—have been met by no counter-offer to date from the steel companies.

The industry takes the position it must get price relief for any wage concessions it makes. It has contended that every cent-an-hour in increased wages costs the industry $20,000,000 a year.

Athabaskan Gets Korean Citation

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—The president of the Republic of Korea, Syngman Rhee, has awarded a presidential unit citation to the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan for Korean war service, the navy announced today.

The Athabaskan now is serving on her second period of operational duty in the Far East.

The citation reads:

"The president of the Republic of Korea takes profound pleasure in citing for exceptionally meritorious service and heroism Royal Canadian naval ship, Athabaskan, for the award of the Presidential unit citation. This ship has formed part of the United Nations naval forces for over one year. It has taken part with great credit in all types of operations including support of the Inchon landing.

"In carrying out operations along enemy-occupied coast this was the first United Nations ship to organize and land raiding parties from its own crew to harry the enemy, to collect valuable information and to make contact with friendly personnel."

Ship Sirens, Songs Welcome Gloucesters

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Dec. 21 —(CP)—Ship sirens, songs and tears greeted 18 of the 41 survivors from the "Glorious Gloucesters" when they returned home Thursday night from Korea.

The heroes of last April's Imjin River battle arrived wearing the American unit citation presented to the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment by President Truman. The other 23 survivors of that suicidal stand are either still in hospital or were flown back to Britain earlier. About 600 of the Gloucesters were killed, wounded or taken prisoner in the battle.

Canadian Tells Vishinsky He'd Better Watch Charges

PARIS, Dec. 21 (CP) — R. M. MacDonald, Canadian delegate to the United Nations political committee, had some advice today for Andrei Vishinsky.

However, the Russian foreign minister won't get it first hand. He wasn't present when MacDonnell, minister at the Canadian embassy in Paris, made a speech in which he suggested that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones.

Vishinsky has accused the United States of promoting subversive activity in Iron Curtain countries. He introduced a resolution Tuesday for a UN call to the United States to repeal its mutual securtiy act which, among other things, provides aid for refugees from Communist dominated countries.

MacDonnell said Canada knew all about subversive activities and recalled the Royal Commission investigation in 1946 which uncovered a Communist-inspired spy ring in Ottawa. The ring was Moscow-directed, he said.

"Does anyone seriously think that there has been any basic change in this practice in the past few years?" MacDonnell asked.

He said Russian charges of American espionage were "too much for any delegation's sense of proportion." Canada will vote against the mutual security act, he said.

Meanwhile, the General Assembly today slightly reduced the United States share of UN costs but turned down an American appeal for an even larger cut.

The US delegation had energetically campaigned in committee sessions to get its share cut to one-third of the UN total, but could attract the support of only tiny Nicaragua for this proposal. Instead, the budget committee recommended and the assembly approved today, a decrease from 38.92 per cent to 36.90 per cent.

The Assembly approved a budget of $48,096,780 for 1952. This leaves the United States assessment at $17,747,711, if the US suggestion had been adopted, the sum would have been $16,032,260.

The Russian share of the costs was pumped from 8.14 per cent to 11.49 per cent despite a Soviet protest that it is difficult for Russia to come by dollars because of "artificial hindrances created by American authorities to Soviet-American trade."

Eight Gov'ts Willing Alter Treaty

Would Allow Italy Have More Troops, Russians Opposed

ROME, Dec. 21. (Reuters)—Eight governments of the non-Communist world, including the United States and Britain, today told Italy they are willing to grant her request for revision of onerous peace treaty terms.

The move was made in notes from the United States, Britain, Greece, New Zealand, Nationalist China, France, the Netherlands, and Belgium. Full revision would require Russian assent. A spokesman of the Italian foreign office triumphantly commented: "Revision of the peace treaty is an accomplished fact."

Italy has constantly pressed for revision of the military and political clauses of the treaty, including those which limit her to 250,000 troops and security guards, 200 fighter and reconnaissance planes and 150 transport planes, and two battleships. They also forbid atomic weapons, aircraft carriers and submarines.

The notes came in reply to an Italian request, lodged Dec. 8 with the 20 treaty signatories. Other favorable replies have been promised, the foreign ministry spokesman said. Russia is expected to say no.

A foreign office statement said each of the eight governments declares that the spirit of the peace treaty no longer subsists and is replaced by the principles inspiring the charter of the United Nations.

"The position of Italy is thus recognized as one of absolute and unconditional equality."

Industrial, naval, air and military clauses had also lapsed, the notes said.

"With the exchange of official diplomatic instruments of Dec. 8 and of today, Italy has overcome the humiliating conditions imposed on her" by the peace treaty of 1947.

The preamble of the peace treaty said that Italy under the Fascist regime "undertook a war of aggression and thereby provoked a state of war with the allied and associated powers, and bears her share of responsibility for the war."

Convicts Win Oxford Debate

NORFOLK, Mass., Dec. 21 — (AP). — Two inmates of the Massachusetts State Penal Colony —one of whom has only a grammar school education — today boasted a victory over a debating team from England's Oxford University.

"Bill" and "Murt" — prison officials decline to reveal their names—were adjudged winners of a debate Thursday night by three judges, former Governor William S. Flynn of Rhode Island, Dean Erwin Griswold of the Harvard Law School, and Massachusetts Supreme Court Judge Harold P. Williams.

The debate was on the question of free national health service. The Britons took the affirmative and the inmates the negative.

Some 400 inmates listened in the prison auditorium as "Bill" and "Murt" jousted words with Richard Taverne and William Rees-Mogg, the British pair.

Heavy Rains Flood Immigrant Camps

JERUSALEM, Dec. 21—(AP)—Heavy rains are causing serious flood conditions in Israel's immigrant camps where 65,000 families live in makeshift buildings.

The week-long wet, chilly weather has brought great hardship to tent and hut dwellers. Several thousand children were evacuated to towns.

More than 25,000 Arab refugees at Gaza have lost their tent homes in heavy rains.

The newspaper Al Ahran said rain is still falling at the Palestine coastal city and the weather is bitterly cold.

Truce Talks Decide Canadian Christmas

If Armistice Not Agreed On, Troops Have Limited Celebration

BY BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Christmas for Canadians in Korea will depend on progress at Panmunjom.

An armistice would mean an all-out Christmas, with bang-up meals, unit parties and celebrations prompted by an end to hostilities.

No armistice will mean business as usual.

For some soldiers in the front line there will be a special meal. For others in trickier positions that would be too dangerous and they will eat the same canned rations that go up to them every day.

No armistice means no Christmas for the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment and for parts of the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment and of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

For those men not even the turkey dinner, Christmas cake and plum puding will go up into the hills.

Spelled Off

Men of the 2nd Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, however, will spell one another off as usual for meals and have the big meal in their battery mess tents.

There will be no carol or hymn singing in the front line, although services are planned for the rear echelons. For the people back home a short service has been recorded, its attendance representative of most units in the Canadian brigade.

Unit commanding officers and chaplains are, however, planning to visit each of their companies if the "police action" is still on.

Brigade headquarters entertained an estimated 170 men Dec. 15 to a midday Christmas dinner, the men representing all units in the brigade, including British and United States army units under command.

However, even if the men along the front may not be celebrating, they are taking up a brigade-wide collection for gifts for an orphanage adopted in Seoul by the 25th Canadian Field dressing station, which is stationed there.

Buy Clothing

The orphanage has 350 children, and men in the rest of the brigade are chipping in to buy them clothing, cloth from which to make garments, and gifts.

Gifts sent from Canada by women's auxiliaries will be sent up to the units Christmas Eve. Already in the theatre are shipments from the auxiliaries of the RCR and the RCHA.

Tactics will govern the observance, and unit quartermasters are holding themselves ready to jump in with all its takes if they do get a chance.

Said Lt.-Col. Geof Brookes of Shillo, Man.: "We don't even need 24 hours' notice to give our men a first-rate Christmas. We can do it in hours if the word comes through to stand down from our guns."

Allies Demand Reds Account For 1,000 POW's

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 21 (AP) —The Allies today demanded the Reds account for more than 1,000 American and other missing United Nations soldiers and "an unbelievable number" of South Koreans not listed as prisoners-of-war.

The demand was made in a stiffly worded note. It was handed to a Red liaison officer in Panmunjom shortly after Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway appealed to Communist chieftains to open the gates of North Korean prison camps to the International Red Cross.

These developments came as the Allies offered to give up all islands off the North Korean coast in a move to hasten agreement on an armistice.

The Allied note demanded a complete explanation of "wide discrepancies" between the number of Allied prisoners listed by the Communists and the number of Allied prisoners listed by the Communists and the number the Allies assert the Reds may hold.

The note did not reject the Red list of 11,559 prisoners.

The UN note today said "more than 1,000 of the UN personnel named as prisoners" in earlier broadcasts by Communist radios "are missing from the roster submitted" Tuesday.

Quite A Difference

Other new names have been used since then on Red China's official Peiping radio. They were broadcast with Christmas greetings from Allied prisoners to the folks at home.

The official Red roster named 3,198 Americans, 1,219 other UN soldiers and 7,142 South Koreans. The Allies said they hold 132,472 Chinese and North Korean prisoners.

Friday's UN note did not say how many of the unaccounted for 1,000 were Americans.

The truce sub-committee on exchange of prisoners will meet Saturday for the first time since Tuesday. The question of what happened to the missing men undoubtedly will be the key to that session.

The Allied offer to withdrawal from all coastal islands was made by staff officers to another armistice sub-committee Friday. A UN spokesman called it a major concession.

Snow Storm Leaves Ontario Weekend Cold and Clear

By The Canadian Press

A mixture of wintry weather, most of it bad, continues to give snow shovellers and snow-plow operators plenty to do almost everywhere in Canada. A Canadian Press survey early today showed wet snow sweeping Southern Ontario, a risk of freezing rain in the Ottawa and Montreal areas, a new storm form the vicinity of New York expected to rake the Atlantic provinces and a cold spell continuing to grip northern Alberta and Saskatchewan. However, the storm is expected to taper off today and sunny weather is predicted for Saturday.

Upwards of eight inches of fresh wet snow fell over the southern half of Ontario Thursday and Thursday night. In Peterborough, 11½ inches was recorded. Mild air flowing northward from the Gulf of Mexico was expected to mix some rain with the snow in the extreme south of the province.

To Miss Rain

However, forecasters said the Toronto area and other sections of southern and southwestern Ontario would probably escape the freezing rain that had been predicted earlier for this afternoon.

In the mid-morning bulletin forecasters said that the storm in southern Ontario was on its way out. While snowflurries or occasional rain will occur in southern sections most of the day, the amount will be relatively small.

The weekend in southern Ontario should be cold and clear, the weather bureau said.

In northern Ontario, the overnight temperatures were well below zero. There was only a thin covering of snow on the ground.

A weather observer at Malton, near Toronto, asked if he considered this week's pre-Christmas weather out of the ordinary for southern Ontario, said:

Report Airliner Crashes On Mountain

NEWHAI L, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP) —The Newhall sheriff's office reported today that a DC-6 airliner crashed on Frazier mountain, in the rugged Tehachapis which divide Southern California and the San Joaquin valley.

There were no reports of casualties.

Earlier, the military checked out a report that a US air force plane, en route from Bakerfield to Albuquerque, NM, was in trouble in the area. It said the plane was safe and on its schedule.

The sheriff's office sent a ground crew toward the scene of the reported crash, and planes were ordered out from the Aero Squadron in Los Angeles.

Hydro Chairman Robt. Saunders Asks Citizens To Conserve Electricity In Afternoons

Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders on Thursday appealed for more help in saving electricity. Continued winter storm conditions and adverse winds caused a further reduction in the capacity of Hydro's plants.

Cold, dull and stormy days place a sudden additional strain on Hydro supply. The conditions are particularly bad during the peak period from 4:30 to 6:30 pm. It is vital that everyone save electricity wherever possible for the next two days.

Hydro Chairman Saunders personally urges everyone to cooperate to the fullest extent by turning out lights—turning off the electric range—and all other electrical equipment where possible.

Cutting down on the use of electricity is essential particularly during the peak period from 4:30 to 6:30 pm.

British Order Night Curfew

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Dec. 21 (Reuters)—Gen. Sir George Erskine, British Suez zone commander, today ordered an all-night curfew in Ismailia after British sappers had shot to death five Egyptians digging up an old pipeline near here last night.

All but specified essential Egyptian transport was warned off the road between Suez and Fayid.

It was the second step in Erskine's get-tough policy. He announced Thursday the British could hold any Egyptians found carrying secret arms, in order to combat terrorism designed to push his men from the canal zone.

Thursday night saw a series of scattered troubles in the zone.

The main shooting incident was near the Suez water filtration plants where the sappers surprised an Egyptian party digging and killed five and captured three. Two of the captured were released after questioning and one was held. When challenged the Egyptians tried to escape by diving into the sweet water canal.

Erskine's order allows nobody on the quay Mohammed Ali on the sweet water canal in Ismailia and in the area south between the canal and Lake Timsah, between sunset and sunrise.

Questioning 2 Youths Policeman Killed

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 21 (AP) —One policeman was shot to death and another wounded Thursday night after they sought to question two youths about a traffic violation. Their assailants were not captured.

Dead was Clyde Harrison, 47. His fellow officer, Richard J. Staab, was grazed by a bullet.

The two officers, riding in a patrol car, were fired on as they pulled alongside a car that had made a prohibited left turn.

Draft Won't Affect Temporary Workers

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP). — Temporary Canadian workers and Canadian students studying in the United States are not liable to serve in the United States forces, External Affairs Minister Pearson said in the Commons today.

Detailing further information on US selective service laws, Mr. Pearson said bona-fide students holding a student's visa and temporary workers, employed for less than six months in the US, do not need to register for service.

Replying to M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, Mr. Pearson said that other than students and temporary workers, no person employed in the US is exempt from the country's selective service laws unless there is a specific agreement between the US and the country of which the person is a national.

Plant Bursts Into Flame At Midnight; Will Rebuild Immediately

Deep Snow, Bad Holes Hamper Firefighters Trying To Save Box Cars, Caretaker Fights Blaze Single-Handed

BANCROFT, Dec. 21. (ENS)—A $50,000 fire destroyed a planing mill one mile south of here early today. Flames of unknown origin broke out about midnight and the frame, one-storey building was burned to the ground when Bancroft fire department arrived at 1:15 a.m. The mill, owned by Bancroft Lumber and Fuel Ltd., is the town's only industry and employs 25 men. It will be rebuilt immediately, J. N. Brown, president and manager of the company, said today.

The loss is only partly covered by insurance, Mr. Brown said.

After making his rounds at 11:30, night watchman Oscar Ray, went into a shack about 25 yards north of the mill to eat his lunch.

Building Ablaze

About midnight, seeing a light which he thought at first to be a car headlights, Ray looked out the window, and saw the entire southeast corner ablaze.

Rushing through a door at the north end of the mill, Ray saw the fire was concentrated around a sawing machine and conveyor belt.

He fought the blaze single handed until help arrived but was unable to prevent the flames from racing through the "plank-truss" frame structure which is built like a skating rink.

Stanley Peever, standing in front of the Hotel Bancroft at midnight saw a glow in the direction of the mill but did not turn in an alarm immediately.

Shavings are often burned in a pit near the mill and he thought nothing of it at first.

He finally investigated the glow and seeing the mill was afire, he hurried to the hotel and turned in the alarm, routing out Fire Chief Cecil McAlpine who lives at the hotel.

When firemen arrived the roof had caved in and it was too late to save anything.

Transport Department Holds Crash Inquiry

COBOURG, Dec. 21 — (CP) — The pilot and co-pilot of a United States non-scheduled airliner which made a crash-landing on a farmers' field near here Thursday were to appear today before Transport Department officials in Toronto.

Pilot Bruce Smelser and co-pilot O'Leary will appear before a three-man board set up to investigate the crash. None of the 47 persons aboard the two-engined airliner was injured.

O'Leary said his company was charged $13 by a Canada Customs officer for having the passengers' baggage taken from the crash scene to the RCAF station at nearby Trenton.

"We didn't mind paying the $13," O'Leary said, "but it seemed odd we should have been charged anything."

Stalin Observes 72nd Birthday Little Fuss Made

MOSCOW, Dec. 21—(AP)—Joseph Vissarionovich Djugashvili—better known as Generalissimo Joseph Stalin, prime minister of the Soviet Union—became 72 years old today.

Little fanfare marked the day. But the press observed it with announcements of the award of Stalin prizes for "strengthening peace among the peoples."

The six winners announced are Mrs. Monica Felton, housewife and British novelist; Anna Seghers a German novelist; Pietro Menni, leader of the pro-Communist faction of the Italian Socialist party; George Amadu, a Brazilian author; Kuo Mo-jo, president of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, and Ikuo Oyama, Japanese professor.

Prizes to each are a gold medal, 100,000 rubles ,equal to $25,000 at Russian official exchange rate), and world recognition as favored stalwarts of Communism.

No great fuss has been made over Stalin's birthday since he was 70, when there were great celebrations throughout the Red world.

Stalin was presumed to be spending his birthday at his desk in the Kremlin.

His health was described as satisfactory for a man of his age.

(Observers outside the Soviet Union have noted his recent public appearances have been fleeting, and that the Soviet press has been publishing old photos showing him in glowing health, instead of newer ones which might show him to be failing. Scraps of information indicate his health is poor. Medical circles indicate he may have some kind of heart disease).

US Receives Confidence Vote

PARIS, Dec. 21 (AP) — The United Nations political committee gave the United States a vote of confidence today by rejecting Russian charges that the US was supporting anti-Kremlin plotters on Soviet soil.

The vote was 39 against the Russian resolution, five for it and 11 abstentions.

A US spokesman said the vote backing up US denials of the charges would have been even larger except that several pro-American delegations had left Paris for the Christmas holidays.

Reds Held Dean Prisoner Months Before Recognized

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 21 (AP)— The Communists were unaware they had captured Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean for some time after he was taken prisoner, a South Korean official who saw Dean in a prison camp said today.

Lee Byung ho, prosecutor for the South Korean Ministry of Justice, was in the prison command at Chonju when the former commander of the US 24th Division was questioned.

Lee escaped and brought information given him by Park Whan sang, a South Korean pressed into service as an interpreter by the North Koreans. At the time, his data about Dean was not believed because of the general opinion that Dean was dead.

Lee's acount:

Dean hid in the hills for more than a month after he was cut off from his troops after the fall of Taejon.

On Aug. 25, 1950, he approached a Korean farmer on the road near Sedong to ask for food. Dean's face was swollen. He was tired and dirty.

Taken Prisoner

As he was talking with the farmer, two Communist guards happened by and took him prisoner. But they did not recognize him.

Dean was taken to the Sang Chun police station near Chinan where security police questioned him at length.

Lee said the general refused to answer questions and told his captors:

"I am an American soldier— a professional soldier. All I need to give you is my name and rank."

The Reds thought they had an important man, but for a long time they had no idea he was a general, even though he had a calling card in his pocket.

The general was taken to the prison commander's own home and kept there until Sept. 3, 1950. Then he was moved to Taejon and later sent to Seoul and on into North Africa.

Five Canadians Die In Ship Fire

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 21 (AP) —The fate of 11 persons, including five Canadians, missing in a fire which swept a ship anchored in the mouth of the Columbia River, still was not determined today.

One hundred and three others, including 23 passengers and 80 crew members were rescued by the United States coastguard shortly after flames whipped through the mid section of the Danish vessel, Erria, early Thursday.

Crew members said the fire started from sparks from a shorted electric cable, a few minutes later a hold was on fire.

Survivors said crew members ran from cabin to cabin pounding on doors and ordering passengers to lifeboat stations.

Four of the eight lifeboats were lowered, the first with women and children and the others with men. Three boats burned and one was not launched.

The coastguard station, only a mile away, rushed tugs to the scene to pick up the lifeboats.

The 462-foot boat, bound for Liverpool via New York, was towed out of the channel late yesterday. It was listing at a 25-degree angle. Coastguard officials who boarded the fantail briefly Thursday, said there was no sign of life in the smoking red-hot midship section.

Find Bogus Money In Buffalo Area

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 21 (AP) —The United States secret service said Thursday that counterfeit federal reserve notes, printed by a ring broken up by its agents in May, 1950, have begun reappearing in the Buffalo area.

Edwin Manning, agent in charge of the secret service office here, said a wave of counterfeit $10 and $20 bills made by the Iraci-Salli ring have been turning up in stores during the Christmas shopping rush.

Salvatore (Sam) Salli, 40, and Anthony Iraci, 37, both of Buffalo, are serving federal prison terms. They were convicted as leaders of the counterfeiting ring.

Meanwhile, a federal grand jury Thursday indicted Richard Avellino, 23, on charge of passing and possessing counterfeit federal reserve notes.

Manning said the notes Avellino was charged with possessing were of the same series as those seized last year when agents cracked down on the counterfeiter combine. According to Manning, the Iraci-Salli ring had produced about $800,000 in counterfeit notes, of which $600,000 was seized by the agents.

For the senior collegiate boys several items such as a basketball tourney, billiards and special gym instruction have been included. The trophy for the billiards and special gym instruction have been included. The trophy for the billiards is called the "Munro Mug".

Skiing Again On Local Hills

Hills at Kemp's and Bethany, Peterborough Ski Club playgrounds, are expected to be crowded this weekend as the ski enthusiasts will have their second weekend of skiing this season.

The club officials plan for a full weekend at Kemp's hill on the Warsaw road as they are preparing to operate the tow on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

There is between 12 and 20 inches of new, powdery snow on a solid six-inch base over the slope while there is about 14 inches in the woods.

Ski School

The snow today has prompted action on the annual children's ski school which is held every Saturday in January at Kemp's. It is sponsored by the recreation commission and the ski club.

Following the pattern used in previous years the school will begin January 5. The club will provide the training and commission the transportation.

The club reports that conditions at Bethany will provide excellent skiing this weekend. Several inquiries were made today from Cobourg, Lindsay, Toronto and Oshawa skiers whether the tows would be operating there.

Club officials plan to run the tows on Saturday, Sunday and Christmas Day.

If Reds Break Truce May Invade China

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (Reuters) —The British Government is urgently examining a United States proposal for possible extension of the war into Chinese territory should a Korean truce be agreed and then violated by the Communists, it was learned today.

The American proposal, it was understood, was that China should be warned that a violation of the agreed military front might bring the war across the Manchurian frontier. It also raised again the suggestion of a naval blockade of China.

It is believed full agreement on the issue will not be reached until it has been thrashed out between President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill at their meeting in Washington next month.

Stock Market Prices Show Little Change

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) — Early afternoon stock market prices today showed little change in slow trading.

Papers and constructions led the market with a scattered list of fractional advances. Textiles were firm while banks, retail stores and miscellaneous industrials held gains and losses in balance. Liquors and refining oils weakened as utilities, steels and foods dipped sharply.

A few lower-priced base metals and western oils attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 676,000 shares.

In base metals Consolidated Smelters, Hudson Bay and Quemont slipped in the senior list while Cobalt Lode, Normetal, Silver Standard and Steep Rook eased pennies.

Western oils moved irregularly. Consolidated Cordasun, Devon-Leduc, Kroy Oil, Security Free and Petrol Gas strengthened. Admiral Oil, Calvan Consolidated and Home Oil weakened.

In senior golds Giant Yellowknife, Hollinger and Lake Shore added fractions. Secondary issues weakened.

In addition to the building, a $15,000 planer and $8,000 150 horsepower Diesel motor which powered the mill and a large jeep used to move freight cars were destroyed.

Box Car Burned

Destruction of the jeep made it difficult to move several box cars spotted on the railroad siding adjacent to the mill and one box car, loaded with 20,000 feet of finished lumber also went up in flames.

Mr. Brown, president of the company which owns the mill said the origin of the fire was "very mysterious." "We just can't understand it," he declared today.

After hurried telephone enquiries regarding machinery and materials, he said rebuilding would likely start Monday. The company is anxious to lose as little time as possible in resuming operations, as it has just obtained a contract for supplying braces for hydro poles. It also does resawing and planing for about 25 other mills in the district which turn out rough sawn lumber.

Several Peterborough men are financially interested in the mill which was the only one in the Bancroft district equipped to dress and resaw lumber.

Snow Handicap

Deep snow hampered the fire fighting and the danger of fire breaking out in nearby lumber piles was not over until dawn.

A new rail siding is being built to serve the mill and several of the firefighters skinned their shins as they floundered in the snow and stumbled into deep holes.

Ronald Tryon bruised a leg when he fell into a hole and was given first-aid treatment at the scene.

Fire Chief McAlpine said 1,500 gallons of water were used in saving the box cars and lumber piled outside. A tow truck was finally called when it was found impossible to move the threatened freight cars.

The mill ships dressed lumber products to various Ontario points and to Buffalo and other points in the United States.

Motorist Dies Driving Car

Stricken while driving in Whitby, Kenneth Court Murphy, 53, formerly of Dummer township and Norwood, died suddenly on Thursday at the wheel of his car.

Born in Dummer township, Mr. Murphy had lived in Whitby for the past 10 years, moving there from Norwood. He was a carpenter.

A son of the late John Murphy and Emma Meneitta Newham, he was educated at Lakefield, and married the former Ethel McKay, who predeceased him. He was a member of the United Church.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. D. Easton (Isabel), of Peterborough, two sisters, Mrs. Lilla Carveth, of Lakefield, Mrs. G. Beckett, Mission City, BC, and three brothers, John Murphy, of Lakefield, William of Peterborough and Stewart of Stony Lake.

The Rev. H. Kaye, of Lakefield, will conduct the funeral service at 2 pm Saturday in the Kaye funeral home. Burial will be in Norwood cemetery.

PC's Lose Motion

Thursday was lost to a day-long debate on procedure.

The government, he said, did not want to be "arbitrary" and he also would not proceed immediately with a motion calling on it to return to work Thursday, December 27, if its business is not completed by tonight.

He had hoped, in giving notice of that motion, that it would enable members to get away early for Christmas.

Setting the pace for the mood of the House, the Prime Minister cocked a figurative eye at the stormy elements both within the Chamber and outside Thursday, and commented with a grin that the "blustery weather" of Thursday seemed to have "subsided."

The Chamber chuckled.

There were some prospects of a wind-up of the government's legislative program and prorogation tonight after a day of angered and often uproarious debate in the Commons Thursday that closed without progress in the legislative program.

However, that depended on developments in tackling the remaining business before the Commons.

Meanwhile, that House had before it an announcement from Prime Minister St. Laurent that, unless business is concluded today, he will apply the rarely-used closure rule that shuts off debate on a question by government decree.

Debate Cut Off

In the current move of the government to get a vote on its resale-price bill, which has been under a three-day attack by the Progressive Conservatives, debate could be shut off under the closure motion by 2 am Friday, Dec. 28.

The Prime Minister had given notice earlier that, if business is not cleaned up by this evening, the House will be adjourned then and called back Dec. 27.

His closure step would not shut off debate completely on the resale-price bill, cutting it only at the current stage of second reading. After the first application, it would need successive closures—a day between each — to end debate on Commons Committee-of-the-Whole and third reading processes.

The unexpected closure idea—thrown into the Commons by the Prime Minister at the start of the debate Thursday — did not bulk largely in the day's proceedings. It was, though, in the background of an intricate evolution of strategy and tactics that went on all through the day.

Allowed Free Vote

The first move was one of the CCF and Social Credit Parties for continuous sessions from the 11 am meeting. The Prime Minister told the House he was allowing his group a free vote on the issue.

They voted in a body — with the Prime Minister abstaining from voting—against two subsequent Progressive Conservative amendments put to the House on the issue of hours.

The three Progressive Conservative amendments, obviously designed to knock down the all-night sittings proposal, brought on two votes of the House. The Liberals, CCF and Social Credit members, voted against the Progressive Conservatives. At the end of the day, the proposal for all-night sittings — at least on Thursday—had been manoeuvred out of existence for the time being.

Used In 1932

The closure rule last was invoked in 1932 when the former prime minister, R. B. Bennett, used it to ensure passage of contentious unemployment legislation.

If it is applied this time—and Mr. St. Laurent has asserted that it will be—it means that the debate on the prices legislation must end by 2 am Friday, Dec. 28.

The rule operates this way:

Once closure is in effect it limits speakers to one speech of 20 minutes each. Then, if the discussion has not ended by 2 am the following day, all debate automatically ends and the issue is immediately put to the House.

As the House rose for dinner with the procedural motions still undecided Thursday night, Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) crossed the floor to engage in a 25-minute discussion with Mr. St. Laurent, presumably to talk over the wrangle the chamber had worked itself into.

No Agreement

Liberal members who lingered nearby during the talk said no agreement had been reached.

It was reported that Mr. Fleming, a leading Progressive Conservative member, had asked Mr. St. Laurent to get his members to support the proposal to sit only until midnight.

The prime minister was reported to have countered with a suggestion the official opposition agree to a deadline for completion of the government's legislation.

In the debate as the wearying hours rolled by, the Progressive Conservatives hurled charges of "conspiracy," "collusion," "suppression," "squeeze play" and "double-talk" at the Liberal party and the minor opposition parties and on more than one occasion they found themselves required by the speaker to withdraw.

Out of Order

Dr. Pierre F. Gauthier (L—Pornteuf), reading a book, shouted at one point that G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) was out of order.

"If the honorable member," Mr. Fraser suggested, "would raise his nose from his book we could see who he was."

His book, Dr. Gauthier reported, is "far more interesting than your speech."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said that the question is whether parliament still is the "supreme authority or whether we are going to have the whip cracked over our heads by the prime minister of Canada."

He said that if the government had used the right procedure the debate never would have developed.

L. E. Cardiff (PC — Huron North), a farmer and secretary-treasurer of the Huron Plowmen's Association for the last 28 years, said he never had belonged to an organization that had "so little regard for time."

Police To Check Night Parking

"An extra drive" to enforce the six-hour parking by-law was promised by Chief John Thompson at today's Police Commission meeting.

Chief Thompson assured Mayor Max Swanston that his men will make every effort to keep streets clear of parked cars to facilitate snow removal.

Mayor Swanston said that the Board of Works was complaining about cars left on streets overnight.

"It not only hinders snow plowing but the next day we get a number of phone calls complaining that parked cars prevented proper snow removal," he said.

With snow removal crews working at full strength to clear snow clogged streets as soon as possible, the city engineer's office today asked drivers to keep their cars off all streets tonight. The city snow-loader will be going through to clean up today's 13-inch snowfall.

US Living Costs Hit Another New High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (CP). —The cost of living in the United States rose to another new high during November, chiefly as the result of higher prices for fresh fruits and vegetables and miscellaneous goods and services.

The cost-of-living index rose .6 per cent to the new peak of 188.6 per cent of the 1935-1939 base level. As a result, approximately 1,250,00 railroad workers will get a pay boost of four cents an hour. Their wage scales are tied to the rise and fall of the index.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at 2 9/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.02 9/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.85⅛, also unchanged from Thursday.

All Clear

CRAIK, Sask. (CP) — Housewives gave a sigh of relief when construction of a new highway stretch was completed. While work was in progress they had to adjust their washdays according to the wind and the amount of dust raised.

Jinx Delays Cobourg Crash Passenger

COBOURG, Dec. 21—(CP)—The "miraculous" feat of crash-landing a fully-loaded airliner without shaking up even one of the 47 persons aboard was just "a crash before breakfast," to Mrs. Eva Childs.

When Pilot Bruce L. Smelser landed the Major Air Coach Inc. Commando aircraft in deep snow with both motors dead early Thursday, it was another item in a list of delays that Mrs. Childs had experienced since Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Childs and her husband were booked to leave Burbank, Calif. at 3:30 p.m. Monday. After several delays they took off late Tuesday afternoon, landed shortly and left again at midnight. After three more stops the aircraft left Chicago at 3 a.m. Thursday on the last lap for Newark, NJ.

The plane was driven off its course by gale-velocity winds, both its motors failed and the ship landed in the 50-acre pasture of farmer Charles Wilson.

"Today we had a crash before breakfast," said Mrs. Childs. "I got out of the plane and asked the woman at the farmhouse what state we were in. She told me Canada.

"I didn't think that was possible but on this trip anything is."

Mrs. Ethel L. Kloeber, 75, a passenger in the plane, had to be persuaded to leave. Said she: "I paid my $101.20 for this trip and I wasn't going to end it somewhere in somebody's back field."

The Wilson family took in the unexpected arrivals and fed them coffee until transportation arrived from the RCAF base at Trenton. The passengers rode to Trenton to await the arrival of a chartered bus to carry them on to Newark.

The aircraft, slightly damaged but structurally sound after the landing may be towed by highway to Trenton, the nearest airfield, for repairs.

Ask Farmers Wage War Against Rats

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP) — The United States government is urging farmers to declare an aggressive war against rats.

The rural rodent, says the agriculture department, is eating enough grain to create a serious food production problem.

The agency estimates that rats alone eat about 250,000,000 bushels of grain annually in the US. That is nearly 10 per cent of the quantity farmers feed annual to produce the American supply of pork, beef, poultry and eggs.

The department also estimates that between 300,000,000 and 600,000,000 bushels of grain are lost each year to insects.

"Complete prevention of losses by rodents and insects," the department says, "would save more than enough grain to eliminate the prospective grain deficits during the next few years and greatly reduce efforts needed otherwise to increase production."

While conceding that complete elimination of such losses is not possible, the department says farmers can utilize rate and insect control measures which would greatly reduce these losses.

Production Lagging

The plea for a rat extermination campaign is made at a time when the US is using grains—particularly livestock feed grains—at a greater rate than they are being produced.

Unless the situation is changed, farmers will have to cut down on livestock and poultry production. Such a development would mean less meat and eggs for city consumers — and possibly higher prices.

The department says feed losses caused by rodents, insects, wastage or poor handling are particularly damaging now that current production isn't sufficient to feed the ever increasing livestock population.

The department recommends use of poisons, such as the relatively new drug "warfarin," fumigants and traps to clean out rats.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP)—Five months of unconsciousness since she was injured in an Iowa traffic accident finally ended in death for a woman here, the coroner's office reported Thursday. A Way To Save Steel

A news dispatch tells us that in the U.S.A. steel will be saved by making use of 1951 motor license plates next year. In 21 states the existing licenses will be used, with a small new tag which will mark them as current; in the other 27 states new plates wil be issued, but they will be renewed witnout change for an indefinite number of years. This move has been taken in co-operation with the National Production Authority.

We have repeatedly suggested that something of the sort be done in Canada. If there is a shortage of steel, here is a way in which a large quantity of it can be conserved. Another advantage of the permanent license system is that it saves work on Highways Department and Police records, and it also makes it possible for motorists to remember their license numbers without a month or two of uncertainty every year. The Ontario Department of Highways might learn a lesson from the USA in this matter.

Don't Write Off John Bull Too Soon

We print on this page today a lively rebuff to some Canadian financial critics, delivered with a sprightly wallop by the anonymous "Economic Record" of the United Kingdom Information Office at Ottawa. British economic critics and policy apologists have their hackles up. Perhaps inspired by Mr. Churchill's bulldog chin, they wade in, both fists flying, a glint in their eyes.

Is Britain being mean to Canada, cutting the ground from under the props of Canadian-British trade? Not at all. Britain is still buying from Canada half as much again as Canada buys from Britain, and her purchases this year are 62 million pounds greater than in 1950. Is Britain down and out as a primary producer and marine trader? Coal production has risen, and—surprise, surprise, O Canadian gloom-casters—Britain's merchant fleet is today greater than the pre-war size.

Is Britain finally and forever financially crushed? Ah! say the British tilters, Britain is paying both principal and interest on Canadian and American loans. Are Americans bored with Britain, sceptical of Churchill's ability to put the British ship of state on an even keel? It seems that some Canadian financial writers have said so. Bored? Sceptical? Why, offers to restock St. James's Park with pelicans came winging in from all over the United States. Which says the Economic Record, shows that there is a lively and detailed American interest in Britain and her welfare.

The animadversions are both punchy and pointed. Hurt as some Canadians may feel because Britain has restricted her trade with this dollar country (and, according to Churchill's proposals and summing up of the situation when he took office, Britain will cut her buying still further), Britain is still a good customer. We do not deny that Britain buys more from Canada than Canada buys from Britain, but what worries Canadian commercial men and economists is that her proportion of Canadian buying is much less than it used to be. This is upsetting the traditional economic role of Canada in the Anglo-American-Canadian trade triangle.

In the process of readjusting to smaller British buying (which used to provide Canada the surplus dollars to buy in the United States), parts of the Canadian economy are dislocated. When Britain drastically reduces or cuts out altogether her purchases of Canadian bacon, cheese, apples and salmon, Canadian industry is hurt in a serious regional way. British insistence on buying in the sterling area, (although she has dollars, for she is paying capital as well as interest on Canadian loans) is cutting into British-Canadian trade. Canadians can rightly feel that Britain is building up the sterling area, patronizing Dominions in it, at the expense of Canada.

All in all, Canada is coming through this changing trade emphasis well; her sound position is indicated by the abolition of foreign exchange controls. And Britain herself is far from bankrupt. People talk of the American dollar empire. Let it not be forgotten that the Sterling Empire is rich, vast and powerful, too. The young woman was not wise or knowledgeable who wrote to the United Kingdom Information Office thus: "I am preparing a thesis on the economic and political collapse of Great Britain. Would you please send me official pamphlets on this subject." Britain has not collapsed. Judging from the tone of the nation—voiced by Mr. Churchill and even his officials in the U.K. Information Office—she has no intention of collapsing.

An Enjoyable Plane Crash

People of this district had an unusual experience yesterday: to take part as witnesses, directly, or indirectly through the columns of this newspaper, in the excitement of a great plane crash-landing.

We thrilled with the Cobourg farmer on whose snow-bound fields the lost air cruiser came down. Our hair stood on end with the 45 passengers and two babies (no, not with the two babies; they slept through it) suspended between life and death. We could hear the crippled roar of the mighty engines as the plane limped over Lake Ontario, barely making land. We shivered as it came in low and blind, preparing to settle down on its belly in unknown, bleak territory. We covered our eyes at the instant when it struck ground: the instant that could have spelt death and ruination.

Then the tremendous relief: the plane crash-landed well. The efficient pilot brought her down without injury to any of the passengers, with barely a scratch on its body.

It is wonderful to be able to enjoy an accident—so few have happy endings. We can savour our excitement over this plane crash with a clear conscience. And how much greater is the enjoyment when the accident happens almost in our own back yard. Usually big planes crash so far away that when we read about it, the accident seems like a story in a book, quite out of our world. This mishap had impressive reality and a blood-curdling nearness.

To increase our delighted excitement was the incredible fact that the twin-engine plane was actually flying from California—warm, Pacific California. But it landed, smack in our northern, snow-clad fastness. Lost, strayed and apprehensive, the plane found itself not in New York but on the other side of an inland sea, in a foreign country, and actually beside our King's Highway Number 2, in Durham County, right next door to our own desk. A beautiful accident.

How much we would have enjoyed the cup of coffee afterwards with the excited, vastly relieved, saved 47 passengers (including the two babies). How our volce in Farmer Wilson's kitchen would have swelled the chorus of praise for the pilot! It was a good show all around, especially around this district. The pleasantest accident we have taken part in in years.

A Hex On Those Who Say "Ex"

As always at this time of year, one or two newspapers have sprung to the defence of those who write Xmas for Christmas. So far as we are concerned no defence is needed. Xmas is a permissible and even a somewhat learned abbreviation, for X is the obvious English transliteration for the Greek letter Chi, which is the first letter of the name of Christ in Greek. For all we care people can write Xmas as much as they please.

But—and O, what a 'but' it is—the fullest vials of our wrathful scorn are vented upon those who pronounce this abbreviation as "Exmas"! Scald them in steep-down gulfs of liquid fire, we cry! Let gorillas chop them into messes with snickersnees, and let dogs void upon the shattered tombs of their ancestors! May economic dishonour, the mange and acid indigestion harry them all the days of their lives! May they rear up seed to their sorrow and destruction, and may all the zippers of their overshoes stick! May a remorseless cold chill the marrow of their bones, and may the bosoms of their unmarriageable daughters be hidden under a heavy coat of rufous hair! For Christmas is a noble word, rich in association and resplendent with the reverence of the ages, while for "Exmas" we can find no terms of description suitable to these chaste pages.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Experts on acoustics are trying to find a sure-fire cure for echoes. We have already found it. Silence.

An agricultural columnist predicts "a good market for farmers" next year. Keen dealers will begin fattening their farmers at once.

"Shorter speeches favoured in the House of Commons" says a headline in a Toronto paper. Yes, we're all in favour of disarmament and world peace, too, but we don't expect anything to come of it.

An old dispute between Britain and France about the ownership of two small groups of islands in the English Channel has been referred to the International Court of Justice for arbitrament. Which just shows that it can be done, if nations choose to do it.

A magistrate in Edmonton fined 25 motorists $10 each for "failing to yield the right of way to pedestrians." A little of this treatment would be good for those Peterborough motorists who insist on stopping their cars across the pedestrian path at corners.

The St. Catharines Standard quaintly advises its readers to use the royal mail service as early as possible for Christmas letters posted within the Dominion. But our fatherly government has abolished the royal mail, and is hacking away powerfully at the Dominion.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: That Xmas tree at the corner of the new city hall lot is spindly thin gruel, dontchathink? Why didn't they get a giant of the forest and do the new City Hall proud?

ANSWER: Because, dear Sir, there are no giants of the forest left here-about (it's all second, third or fourth growth). And if there were it would be worth its weight in nickle, lumber being as high priced as it is. Anyway, I'll bet the City Hall tree is bigger that what will go into your house or church. And it is very pretty, lighted. Cincinnati or Cleveland (I forget which—I'm such a well-travelled person that municipal images blur—actually, I've never set foot in either city)—well, whichever it is annually has a whopper of a Christmas tree, set up in a central bowling green. It touches the stars and its foliage is so thick that if Santa Claus were to peer through it his whiskers would look as gappy as hen's teeth. . . . It may be in Kalamazoo that this paragon of trees appears. Anyway, wherever it is, it is. What forest the civic fathers get it from is beyond my imagining. Perhaps it grows in a plastics plant.

A READER suggests this as an interesting item. The Royal 22nd Regiment (Vingt-deuxieme—i.e. Van Doos) have 'Alouette' as their regimental tune. He remarks the coincidence that there was a famous fighting regiment among Caesar's legions know as "The Lark". 'Alouette' means, of course, 'lark' . . . Hmmm. Seems to me that my reader has sipped some R22R quasi-historical doctrine. I have never heard that there were Alouettes in Roman legions—but there could have been since the Caesars used mercenary Gallic troops . . . The details of military history and regimental quiffs are beyond me.

ELECTION TALK: Elections—provincial and municipal—were in the air the last month. They were in the air, too, in November and December 1917. J. Hampden Burnham and R. R. Hall were contesting the Peterborough West seat in Ottawa and the Examiner of that day had not the fine impartiality of this. For one reason, Candidate Hall was the owner of the Examiner. Here is a front-page box of December 7, 1917:

"A Widow of this City wrote to Mr. J. Hampden Burnham when he was a member of the House of Commons advising him that her only two sons were overseas; that she had lost her leg through malpractice and blundering on the part of others; and that she had been advised that she should sue for damages." The story told that the Widow (note the capital W) had been given $4 a month and free fuel for one stove by the City Council, but that this aid had been withdrawn when her second son enlisted. "She wrote to Mr. Burnham and complained of her heartless treatment." Mr. Burnham replied and his letter is reproduced in facsimile on the front page of the Examiner of 1917, under his signature:

"Write to the Minister of Militia and tell him your troubles. Cut out the lost leg.

J. H. Burnham"

Said the Examiner: "Mark you, this worthy Widow, this mother of two brave lads, is not even honoured by Mr. Burnham with 'Dear Madam' or 'Yours Truly'." The Examiner asks: "How many electors are prepared to vote for Mr. Burnham and place the future welfare of the soldier and his family in his hands? Such a reply to such an appeal, under such circumstance, equally disclosed the quality of his heart and his head". But many electors were so prepared, despite the sad fate of the maltreated Widow. J. Hampden Burnham was returned to Parliament as a supporter of the Unionist Borden Government, with the biggest majority any candidate in Peterborough West has received from 1867 to the present; a majority of 3,418. His majority in the 1911 elections had been only 42 votes.

DEAR ALPHA: I heard the Coventry Singers do a carol which was announced as the Gloucestershire Wassail. Its the rowdiest carol I have ever heard and I'd like to know where I could get a copy of it.

ANSWER: I have asked the Gerent of the Coventry Singers what version they used. He told me the choir followed the Wassail as it appears in the Oxford Book of Carols, except that they alter the last line of the sixth verse from "Then down shall go the butler, bowl and all", to the better-known "Then the devil take butler, bowl and all".

This carol is indeed a fine rousing one, a carousel as well as a carol. Nothing namby-pamby about it, nor is there about any true carol, whether it be a gentle cradle song or a lusty shout of wassailers welcoming Christmas and, as waits, going the rounds of houses in the village and getting a cup of good cheer to warm them after singing their songs in the cold outdoors.

Often there is more rhyme than reason to carols. The Gloucestershire Wassail patters along about food and drink, horses and cows and maids in lily white smocks, with good rhythm but dislocated logic, the sense adjusted to the rhyme. For instance, the sixth verse:

"And here is to Colly and to her long tail,
Pray God send our master he never may fail
A bowl of strong beer; I pray you draw near,
And our jolly wassail it's then you shall hear".

MR. ALPHA: I heard a rumour that there were nude women in Peterborough on Tuesday night. True?

ANSWER: It is rumored that a club was entertained, but undraped females appearing in public are beyond my ken. I eschew such shows, having discovered from dismal experience that strip-tease artistes neither tease nor have art, unless their performance price is a prince's ransom. The lesser fry are devoid of art, heavy in scrawn or fat, are otherwise unpleasing, and thoroughly vulgar. It's a rare strip-teaser who is aesthetically acceptable.

ALPHA FOREGOES HIS USUAL FOOTNOTE, to put on record his sincere appreciation of the kindness and faithfulness of his readers. Merry Christmas, dear people. Waes Hael!

THAT'S WHY

Adam and Eve were naming the animals of the earth when along came a rhinoceros. "What shall we call this one?" asked Adam.

"Let's call it a rhinoceros."

"But why a rhinoceros?"

"Well, because it looks more like a rhinoceros than anything we've named yet."

(Economic Record—U.K. Information Office)

One or two Canadian financial writers seem to be celebrating this festive season by polishing the coffin and singing funeral hymns for Britain's early economic demise.

This lugubrious and unseasonable pastime was last pursued in 1947 when the efforts of some U.S. columnists inspired London's "Sagittarius" to write the following ditty:

Who killed Cock Robin?
I, said U.S.
With the whole of my press,
I killed Cock Robin.

I saw him die,
Said the "Times" of New York
Oh, Me! Oh, My!
I saw him die.

Who'll make his shroud?
I'll finish it soon,
Said the "Herald-Tribune";
I'll make his shroud.

Who drank his blood?
I, said McCormick;
It's good for my stummick,
I drank his blood.

Who dug his grave?
I did, said Hearst;
I started it first,
I dug his grave.

Who'll be chief mourner?
His name I will vindicate,
Said the Scripps-Howard Syndicate;
I'll be chief mourner.

Who'll toll the bell?,
I, said "P.M."
With a full requiem,
I'll toll the bell.

Every sheet in the States
Had obituaries written
And they filled in the dates
Of poor Great Britain—
They just filled in the dates
Of Late Great Britain!

Here, with our comments, are some specimen wreaths gathered from the black-bordered columns of business and financial papers:

"We might as well kiss the U.K. market goodbye for now, and set about the problem of finding another market for our exportable surpluses of food products and industrial materials."

Comment: The following comparative figures for the first 10 months of 1950 and 1951 would seem to show that, on Britain's side and lingering—

	1950	1951
Canada bought from Britain:	£101 millions	£118 millions Up 17%
Britain bought from Canada:	£148 millions	£210 millions (provisional) Up 42%

	1950 (in millions of dollars)	1951 (in millions of dollars)
Wheat	123.9	117.0
Flour	28.6	33.6
Bacon	19.8	.6
Cheese	12.0	4.4
Planks, Boards	12.7	57.9
Newsprint	.8	5.4
Woodpulp	8.3	24.1
Tobacco	7.7	10.9
Aluminum and products	23.2	42.0
Copper	22.6	22.8
Lead	1.0	8.6
Nickel	13.9	23.5
Zinc	8.7	17.7
Platinum and Precious Metals	8.9	10.7
Chemicals	4.9	6.9
Non-Metallic Minerals	7.3	9.0
Iron and products	7.5	12.8
Other exports	23.0	38.0
	344.0	446.4

The exportable surplusses for which "another market" has to be found (we wonder what primary producers think of this airy dismissal) broke down in the first 9 months of 1950 and 1951 as follows—

Our crape-hanger will note from the above figures that:

(1) Britain still buys from Canada half as much as Canada buys from Britain; and, after allowing for rising prices, Britain has stepped up her purchases this year over last while Canada's purchases from Britain are falling off.

(2) On a national income basis, Britain is still Canada's best customer.

(3) In a cold-war world, hungry for raw materials, many of the "exportable surpluses" could easily be sold elsewhere: but is this true of wheat, of other foods, of tobacco? And the world is dollar-starved as well as raw materials-starved.

"... Serious is the situation in coal—in Britain, as much the key to industrial output as hydro-electric power is here. The position: coal is scarce, expensive, poor in quality. Output is increasing by a mere 3% a year while rate of demand is going up by 4%. Productivity is low; the four-day week is common."

Comment: The coal situation in Britain is serious BUT total production has risen from 190 million tons in 1946 to 216.3 in 1950, and is still rising (Britain is the only war-ravaged country to show such a rise). How do the figures stack up with pre-war? Production in the first 6 months of 1951 averaged 225 million tons against a 1935-1939 figure of 230; and today's figures are being achieved with a labour force depleted by 100,000 men. In conditions of full employment, recruiting to a hard and dangerous job is tough going, but the effects of a failing and aging labour force are being considerably offset by productivity increases (1935-38 average output per manshift was 1.17 tons: figure for the first six months of 1951 was 1.21) and mechanization.

Britain's National Coal Board is putting through a 15-year, £635-million development plan providing for mechanization, use of drift mines, pit reconstruction and sinking of large new pits. Output target is 240 million tons.

The four-day week is not as common as our crepe-hanger thinks. Average number of shifts worked per wage-earner in the first 6 months of 1951 was 4.87, compared with 4.69 in 1947, and in November it averaged 5.08. Voluntary absenteeism dropped from 8.4% in 1946 to 5.5% in 1951; in the week ended November 25 it was 4.58%.

"We are so much inclined to think of Britain as shorn of her former mercantile power that it comes as some surprise to find that the United Kingdom is still on top of the ship-owning pile."

Comment: Why the surprise? The figures are published regularly. They show that, despite U.K. and Colonies war losses of 18 million dead-weight tons (well over half total pre-war tonnage) Britain's merchant fleet is today past the pre-war figure. Here are the facts:

- Since 1946, U.K. shipwards have been responsible for never less than 40 per cent. of total world construction.
- At September, 1951, there were 368 merchant vessels aggregating 2,271,640 tons under construction in U.K. yards.
- No country is within even hailing distance of Britain's construction tonnage—France and Japan are second and third with barely half a million tons each, and the U.S.A. comes fifth with 377,000 tons.
- Post-war U.K. merchant ships are giving crew comfort too, and are way ahead in diesel and turbine propulsion.
- Present total U.K. order book is 6¼ million tons with an estimated value of £550 millions: one-third is for export: figure under construction is the greatest since 1921.

"It has already been indicated that he (Mr. Churchill) will seek new forms of U.S. aid for Britain in her desperate economic plight."

Comment: This crape-hanger will probably agree that Mr. Churchill is not the kind of man to cringe to anyone. And although he has declined to reveal what he is planning to discuss in Washington, he has made it quite plain that he is not going there cap in hand. He may, of course, put Britain's case for a fairer distribution of the rearmament burden among the NATO powers. At present, Britain is carrying far more than her fair share—she has a bigger proportion of her total manpower devoted to defence activity than any other Western power: nearly a million are in uniform and one-third of them overseas: finally, she is, in Mr. Churchill's words, "in the very forefront of Soviet antagonism, as the principal U.S. atomic base, a not particularly enviable distinction to which only the tiny British Communist party objects. Despite all this, Britain is paying both principal and interest on the Canadian and U.S. loans.

"In the United States there is growing boredom with Britain and wide scepticism as to what Churchill can achieve".

Comment: Canada's traditional role as interpreter of U.S. thought and opinion is widely understood and deeply respected in Britain: but people in the U.K. would find it rather difficult to swallow this particular crape-hanger's airy generalisation. It was made within a few days of Mr. Churchill assuming office, and we have tried very hard indeed to find evidence of "growing boredom" with him in the U.S. press . . . or with Britain. A humorous but not insignificant pointer: when it was revealed recently in the U. K. House of Commons that there were no more pelicans in London's St. James' Park, offers poured in from, among other places, Florida, Texas and Louisiana. Bored people don't follow news items from a foreign country to that extent and we don't believe the 150 million friendly people of the U.S.A. are bored with Britain, Mr. Churchill or any other person . . . except perhaps crape-hangers.

How I leave my country"

Joachim von Ribbentrop (in 1940)—"It is only a question of how long it will be before England, under the impact of our operations, admits to complete collapse."

A young lady (writing in 1947 to a U.K. Information Office)—"I am preparing a thesis on the economic and political collapse of Great Britain. Would you please send me official pamphlets on this subject."

Footnote: (From a speech made in Manchester in 1847 by Ralph Waldo Emerson)—

"So . . . I feel in regard to this aged England . . . pressed upon by transitions of trade and . . . competing populations,—I see her not dispirited, not weak, but well remembering that she has seen dark days before;—indeed, with a kind of instinct that she sees a little better in a cloudy day, and that, in storm of battle and calamity, she has a secret vigour and a pulse like a cannon.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, while he sent the multitudes away. And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone. But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary. And in the forth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea.

And when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit; and they cried out for fear. But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid. And Peter answered him and said, Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water. And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus. But when he saw the wind boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me.

And immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt? And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased. Then they that were in the ship came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God. (Matt. 14: 22-33.)

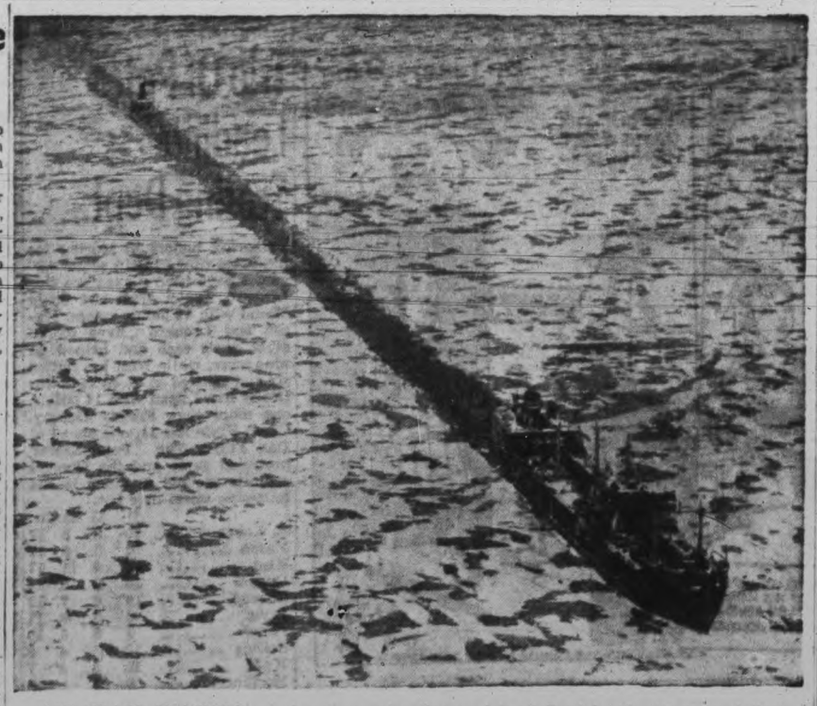
Omemee Missionaries Leave Red China, Sail For England

OMEMEE, Dec. 21 (ENS)—The Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Veals of the West China United Church mission, Thursday left Hong Kong homeward bound after two years of 'standing by' in Chengtu under constant surveillance by the Communsit government. Mr. and Mrs. Veals are natives of Omemee.

Having at last received their exit permits they went to Chungking by plane Nov. 18 where they stayed four days at an inn where foreign travellers must stay and be responsible to a representative from the foreign nationals control office, for their movements. Five days on a river boat down the Yangtze brought them to Hankow where a man from the government travel agency took them to an inn.

In the morning he took them to have their baggage weighed and prepared for the train which they boarded after ferrying across the river. They had good accommodation on the train, the coach being similar to the English compartment coach. At Canton they took another train to the border.

They walked the last bit of the journey to the border of the British-controlled Kowloon area of Hong Kong. After a final inspection of their baggage, it was carried for them to the train across the line, after which their exit permits were taken and they were allowed to walk across into freedom. A short run took them to the Hong Kong ferry and from there they proceeded to the church guest house arriving Dec. 1.



Today they board the Corfu for London, England, via Singapore, Bombay and the Suez Canal, ardyiving Jan. 21. There they will visit their daughter, Marion, who is doing post graduate work in that city. They have arranged passage on the Empress of Canada leaving Liverpool February 20, due to arrive in St. John, NB, February 27.

ICE TRAPS TANKERS — Ice trapped eight oil tankers and a coal boat in the Detroit River near Windsor, Ontario, early this week. Three—Imperial Windsor, the Imperial Midland and the Imperial Leduc—got away after a 12-hour battle. The tankers L. S. Westcoat and Boston Socony and the coal boat Fred L. Hewitt gained their freedom after 36 hours. The other three remained trapped much longer. Here the Leduc is shown fighting its way through an icefield followed by the Atomic, which assisted her, with a second tanker in the background.

Massey May Head Council Guide Culture

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP) — The man who gave Canada its first measurement for cultural growth may be asked by the government to head a special organization in 1952 to guide Canada's cultural future.

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, chancellor of the University of Toronto, is considered in official quarters as a likely candidate for the chairmanship of a proposed Canadian council to help painters, musicians, writers, scientists and students create a most distinctive Canadian culture.

Creation of a 14-member council, with authority to use public funds to advance a host of projects, was one of the basic recommendations of the Massey Commission on Arts report, completed in 1951, after a soul-searching two-year cross-country study of national development.

The historical report, a massive and unique 150,000-word document, was the cultural achievement of the year, urging Canada to thrust aside some of the less desirable influences from the United States and to create cultural fare which strengthen national unity and give Canadianism character and meaning.

Work Appreciated

With four other distinguished Canadians to assist him, Mr. Massey, former Canadian high commissioner to the United Kingdom, brought forth a document which was quickly appreciated in Parliament and by the Canadian public which purchased thousands of copies of the report, turning it into a Government-document "best seller."

Thousands of Canadians, seeking outlets for their ideas, talents and ambitions, either wrote or appeared before the scores of public hearings held by the royal commission, first in Ottawa and then in major cities across the country.

Briefs piled up by the hundreds. Millions of words were poured out into the official testimony given before the commission. For the student and the professor, the writer and artist, the commission became a cultural spectacle—a bright light beamed on a largely deserted field.

Big Undertaking

Prime Minister St. Laurent, with whom the cultural study originated, was quick to implement a few of the 146 Massey recommendations—to implement them all would take millions of dollars and years of development.

For the Massey commission spared no pains in covering every inch of the cultural ground — broadcasting and television, National Film Board, federal aid to universities, scholarships, information abroad—and the Canadian council.

The Massey commission recommended federal aid to universities and the Government immediately came through with a $7,000,000 grant to be distributed among the universities on the basis of provincial population.

Grant For CBC

It urged that the CBC be given a public grant to make up its deficit and this also was approved. The commission suggested that television development be placed in the hands of the CBC and there appeared no doubt that this would be done.

The Government took steps, as recommended by the commission, to give the National Gallery, housed in the National Museum, a greater measure of independence and ability to expand its work. Eventually it would have a new building, a home of its own, somewhere in the central part of the capital.

But many of the other recommendations, steps to create a system of national scholarships, to expand Canadian publicity and scholarships in other countries, to provide public funds for national artistic projects will have to await the creation of the council before they are tackled.

Consideration is being given to the creation of the council in 1952 with a money grant from Parliament. This will lead to encouragement of Canadian music, drama, ballet and help the score of voluntary organizations in Canada which are expected to give the council active support.

Provincial Police Get Warning From Stringer

TORONTO, Dec. 21 — (CP) — Commissioner William Stringer's Christmas message to Ontario's 1,159 provincial policemen was broadcast over the police radio network Thursday night. It warned all police officers it was their duty to protect the majority from the foolish few during the Yuletide season.

Sick in bed and not expected to return to duty for at least a month, Commissioner Stringer's message was prepared before his illness.

He said the worst day for accidents was the last shopping day. In 1950, 18 persons were killed and 400 injured that day. He urged officers to put an extra emphasis on safety and encourage motorists to be safety minded.

Believes In Unity

WIESBADEN, Germany, Dec. 21 (AP).—Mrs. Rudolph Goethe said Thursday that her husband, former Lutheran minister, is becoming a Roman Catholic priest because he believes all Christians should unite under one church. The Rev. Rudolf Goethe, descendant of German poet Johann Wolfgang Goethe, was granted special permission by the Pope to become a priest even though he is married. He will be ordained at Mainz, Germany, Saturday, one day before his 70th birthday.

Receive Grant

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP).—The Canadian Education Association Thursday announced receipt of $36,545, first instalment of a $231,000 grant to help finance a five-year education program in Canada. The grant by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich., is believed the largest ever made to a Canadian educational organization.

Would Tax Drivers

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP).—Ottawa motorists may be charged an extra $1.50 to $2 to drive their automobiles next year if Board of Control has its way. The board is asking the Ontario Association of Mayors and Municipalities if it has the authority to impose such a tax. Mayor Charlotte Whitton said it is hoped some $100,000 could be raised this way annually. The money would be used to help finance the snow clearance program, the mayor said.

Will Give Royal Assent To Bills Of Session

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP) — Royal assent will be given in the Senate today to all the legislation endorsed at this session by both Houses of Parliament, Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, said Thursday.

He told the Senate he had no information as to when further bills might be forthcoming from the Commons, now engaged in a long-drawn-out squabble over procedure. Nor could he say when parliament might take its Christmas adjournment.

The Senate, its order paper blank, met twice Thursday hoping an Upper Chamber debate might come from the Commons. When none appeared, the Senate adjourned until this morning.

Killed In Accident

PERTH, Dec. 21 (CP).—Harold Charbonneau, 43, prominent Perth business man, was killed on Thursday night in an automobile accident three miles east of here. Cecil Anderson, also of Perth, shortly after was charged by police with dangerous driving and released on $1,000 bail.

Investigate Marriage

MARION, Ill., Dec. 21 (AP)—Authorities Thursday looked into a double marriage in which a 13-year-old girl wed her 46-year-old neighbor and her father married the neighbor's ex-wife. Carl Sneed Williamson county state's attorney, said the three adults were being held without charge pending filing charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Trenton Flier Buried In Ladysmith, Que.

CALGARY, Dec. 21—(CP)—The body of FO. Cyril Douglas Wilkens, 27, of Redvers, Sask., and Trenton, was sent to Ladysmith, Que., late Thursday for funeral services and burial.

FO. Wilkens died Wednesday in hospital at Calgary after being rescued from his wrecked aircraft west of Longview, Alta., about 30 miles south of Calgary. He had been trapped in the craft high up a mountain for 40 hours in extreme cold.

To Have Conference

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP). — Pierre Lefevre, actor-manager of the Young Vic Touring Company, will arrive here Jan. 6 and confer for several days with Richard MacDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Drama Festival, before going to Vancouver to start his tour as adjudicator for the Festival beginning Jan. 16, it was announced Thursday.

Leafs Running Out Of Gas Bow To Canadiens 4-1 Red Wings Clip Hawks 6-4

By The Canadian Press

Mid-season has a bad habit of catching up on the National Hockey League Toronto Maple Leafs. Every year about this time Toronto sports scribes threaten to begin screaming, "What's wrong with the Leafs?" After the 1951 Stanley Cup winners' showing in their last two games, it may not be long before the hue and cry flares forth once again. The Leafs appear to be running out of gas. But then they could be saving it all for Saturday night's home appearance against Boston Bruins. That's Young Canada Night when Goalkeeper Turk Broda will be honored for his 13 years of service with the club.

Sunday night in Chicago Toronto blew a 3-0 lead and bowed 4-3 to the Black Hawks. Thursday night they let Montreal Canadiens tally three times in the final session for a 4-1 victory.

The Leafs were outplayed to such an extent in the final period they failed to get a single shot at Gerry McNeil in the Montreal nets. Leaf goalie Al Rollins handled 12 shots.

In the only other NHL game Thursday night, Detroit Red Wings downed the Black Hawks 6-4 in Chicago to tie an 11-year record for road competition. The first-place club has played 15 games away from home without a defeat.

The achievement tied Boston Bruins' 15-straight set during the 1940-41 season.

Starts Things

Toronto's Tod Sloan started things off for the Canadiens in the rather dull game at Montreal. The score was tied 1-1 when he received a penalty for holding and grabbed referee George Gravel for a 10-minute misconduct.

With Sloan off, Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice Richard counted for the Habs and a minute later Dick Gamble slapped in the final Montreal goal. Doug Harvey scored the Canadiens' first period goal. Sloan potted the Leafs' lone marker.

At Chicago, the score was tied 2-2 at the end of the first period and the Detroiters led only 4-3 by the finish of the second session before going on for their 6-4 final.

Red Kelly scored two goals for the winners while Gordie Howe, Tony Leswick, Vic Stasiuk and Alex Delvecchio tallied singletons. Bill Mosienko scored twice for Chicago. Georgie Gee and Jimmy Peters added the others.

The Montreal win pushed the Canadiens into third place one point up on idle Boston while the Leafs remain in second slot, five points in front of the Habs and 11 points behind Detroit.

No games are scheduled for tonight, but two are on the boards tomorrow. Boston plays at Toronto while Chicago goes to Montreal.

The members of the Peterborough Curling Club today mourn the passing of one of its oldest and honored members, Charles B. Westbrook. Although it was known that he was in poor health for some time his death was nevertheless a shock to his friends.

A member of this club for over 35 years, he took a great interest in the game. He served on many committees and was finally elected president. He also represented the club in the provincial Governor-General's competition.

Always ready to do a good turn for anyone, he made many friends.

Charlie Westbrook will be missed at the Curling Club.

To his widow and two sons we extend the sympathy of our club.

Comets Upset Muskies 6-5

COBOURG, Dec. 21.—Cobourg Comets, who were almost out of the Lakeshore League last week, upset the league-leading Lindsay Muskies here Wednesday night, 6-5.

The Cobourg team did not have any of its promised new material, but John Fisher and Blake carried the load most of the way. Fisher accounted for two goals, Blake one as well as an assist. Bus Cane and Harry Cane also scored. The tilt was marked by 20 penalties, one a misconduct to Fred McMillan, rugged Cobourg defenceman.

Stew Hicks led the losers with three counters, Lewis getting the other two.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

One of the best senior "B" hockey games of the season is in prospect here tonight. It might not live up to promises, but fans here and in Belleville know that the Quinte Hawks and the local Eagles dish up exciting and fighting frays when they clash. They tangle at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Though trailing the pack at present with six points, the Eagles need but two wins to climb up with the 10-point Kingstons, and the K's are just a game back of Hawks and Petes, who lead the loop. A keen race with every game a stiff scrap. No soft touches around the circuit, at all. The battling Eagles may well set the Hawks down here before a hefty Friday night crowd.

* * * * * * *

As it stands now, Eagles have beaten Belleville twice by 3-0 and 10-4 scores, even blanking 'em in Bella Villa. The Hawks have two decisions o'er the Vitarelli pack, by 3-1 and 7-3 counts. The locals also decisioned Kingston 7-5 earlier and took a win from the Petes, though that was washed out on the Petes' protest of Parnall. It will be replayed at schedule's end, if necessary. Eagles lost to Kingston three times by 9-7, 4-3 and 8-6 scores—every one a hot tussle. They lost to Belleville by 3-1 and 7-3 counts, and dropped 5-4 and 8-6 decisions to the Petes. A lot of close contests, but a loss is a loss, as Confucius wouldn't deign to point out.

* * * * * * *

The Hawks Bother 'Em

As for the Petes, they've so far lost to Belleville three times by scores of 11-3, 6-5 and 9-4, as well as taking the short side of a 6-3 tally with Kingston. But they've beaten Kingston three times by scores of 15-4, 4-3 and 8-3. Won those 5-4 and 8-6 games over Eagles, too, and downed Belleville just once. That was by an 8-5 margin. So, the battle at the moment for loop laurels appears to be betwixt Hawks and Petes, tied atop the pile. Nonetheless, the schedule has quite a way to go yet, and Kingston and Eagles will be definitely in the hunt before playoff time, or we miss our guess. No one is home free at this stage, nossuh.

* * * * * * *

Here's the Quinte scribe's opinion on it: "As the group standing indicates, the four participating teams are battling with a fairly even distribution of strength, and the struggle is developing itself into a see-saw battle that should continue down to the playoffs. The brand of hockey has improved to a noticeable extent the past week or two since all four teams appear to be devoting themselves to the puck rather than the man, as was the case in the opening games. True, some tilts develop into the rough and rugged type with an occasional rhubarb, but that is hockey." Yes, we look for a hot race right to the wire.

* * * * * * *

Gus, Curly And Junior

In tonight is the list of Petes' senior "B" scorers to date, after playing 10 scheduled games. Eagles' list will be in Monday as they've got a game this eve. The tilts with Queen's and that protested one, of course, are not included—as they don't count. Gus Leonard, Curly Mason and Junior West are leading lamp-lighters for the Ellis squad, each with 17 points in a good showing. Other effective ones are Arn Dugan, Freddy Garvey, Chum Fryia and Don Floyd. They've all been good for one or more points a tussle so far. Gus Leonard rates credit for being so well up as he's played some frays on defence. Ditto with Arn Dugan.

* * * * * * *

Lew Hayman is stepping aside as grid coach of the Als, and it reminds us that some of the Peterborough talent he handled with the Hurricanes and Argos included Don Crowe, Gord Beatty, Les Ascott, Pup Curtin, Leo Deadey and probably several more. By the way, the last Grey Cup melon was $112,000 net after expenses, taxes, etc. Rent for the stadium was about $19,000, and a chunk of $39,000 each went to the Big Four and the western loop. Another three grand went toward cost of the tarpaulin. Film, radio and program rights drew $6,000, and some $10,000 was turned over to the CRU. So, everybody did well financially on Canada's biggest single sports attraction.

Hither And Yawning

Sorry to hear of the death of genial Charlie Westbrook, former senior hockey and baseball official here, as well as keen golfer and curler . . . Nothing definite as to basketball locally this weekend . . . PMHA results should be in elsewhere . . . Cobourg intermediates edged Lindsay Muskies 6-5 the other eve in the lakeshore arena . . . Confederation beat Queen Mary 5-3 and Prince of Wales took King Edward 4-0 yester aft in intermediate public school hockey . . . Last senior "B" game till the night after Christmas is the one here this p.m., Hawks vs. Eagles . . . Junior Oddfellows trek to Lindsay tonight and then rest till Dec. 28 . . . Various district puck circuits expect to get going late next week on natural ice . . . AHL bulletin says it seems to be an unwritten law for goalies to stay out of ice fights; ha, it's written in there, alright, with penalties attached . . . No pro wrestling billed for Peterborough next week, nor the week after . . . Don't know if Dootch Vitarelli's back injury has cleared up enough to let him play this evening or not . . . Handicap Harry says horse sense is what keeps a horse from betting on the human race.

Shutouts a PMHA Feature With Six Tussles Run Off

Two shutouts marked the six Peterborough Minor Hockey Association scheduled fixtures last evening at Civic Arena. All games were keenly contested and generally clean, apart from a bit of rough stuff in one juvenile fray. Inclement weather kept down the crowd. The games next Thursday, starting at six, are: Lions bantams vs. Trojans, SPS vs. Trojan midgets, Lakefield vs. Trojan juveniles, St. Peter's bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Snowbirds, and IOOF juveniles vs. Marines.

In bantam play last evening, St. Peter's edged out a 3-2 win over Trojans in a clean, hard-fought fray. Coombs counted twice and Baker once for the winners, as Dobbin and Harding hit the mark for Trojans, Baker having an assist. SPS drew two penalties. Lions won 6-1 from the Wolves with O'Connell scoring three goals, Chesney two and Naish one. Heron tallied for Wolves, and drew one of the three penalties.

A Shutout

Martin-Hewitt midgets blanked Trojans 6-0. Parry counting a pair, and singles going to Smith, Strickland, Gardiner, and Godfrey. Play was fast and clean, with the winners having a good margin in this tussle. St. Peter's downed Snowbirds 5-2 in their contest. Dorris and Ferren each scored a pair for the victors and Towns got one. Huron and Barker lit the lamp for the losers. SPS drew two of the three penalties.

Oddfellows turned back Trojans 5-3 in a tight juvenile joust, each side drawing four penalties as several fights broke out. Cupoli had three markers and Doris two for the winners, Dunn, Scriver and Seabrooke scoring for the other side. Marines shut out Lakefield 3-0 in the other juvenile fixture. Frizzelle led the way with two tallies and Byrnes got the other. Each side drew two penalties.

Golfers Given Standard Rules

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP). — Golfers with a yen to travel may go anywhere after Jan. 1 without fear of running afoul rules with which they are not familiar.

On that date the uniform code, worked out last May by representatives of the United States Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, go into effect.

The change which undoubtedly will be of major interest to most golfers is the abolition of the stymie. Henceforth, when a player believes an opponent's ball to be in the line of his putt he may request that it be marked and lifted, no matter what the distance between the two balls.

The new code also will permit use of the smaller British ball in international competitions in the United States, and it standardizes the penalty for out-of-bounds, lost balls and unplayable balls. The penalty will be stroke and distance in all countries, instead of only distance, as awarded in Britain the last two years.

Inventive Americans with their trick putters get a break in the new code. The Royal and Ancient rules insisted that the shaft of a putter must enter at the heel, or end, of the blade, and that the angle of the shaft must point to that spot. The new rule permits the shaft to be fixed at any point on the blade.

Change 2 Clauses In Racing Regulations

The Ontario Racing Commission Thursday announced two changes in clauses governing claiming races run on the province's eight tracks.

First change governed horses which won for $1,250 and were later raised to a higher claiming price with defeats counting against them. By the new regulation, starts will not be registered against the horse until it has dropped back to the original claiming tag of $1,250.

The other change eliminates the rule which barred horses from starting if they did not win before Sept. 15, 1950 for $2,000 and $3,000. So long as a horse won a race for that price during 1951 it will be permitted to start next year.

Plane Crews Strike In France

PARIS, Dec. 21 (Reuters). — A strike of all Air France air crews grounded all the company's aircraft here today.

No far eastern flights were scheduled, but the strikers promised to take these flights out to avoid damaging the French effort against the Indo-China Communists.

All 35 flights scheduled for today were cancelled.

The strike was called Thursday night in support of air crew claims for a 66-per-cent wage increase and better working conditions.

Air France said it will try to find seats in other companies' planes for all passengers booked with them today.

The company was not negotiating with the Union of Mercantile Aviation officers when the strike was called, company spokesman said.

A union official said the stoppage will last until midnight, Jan. 9 unless agreement is reached before then.

1,500 Claims Staked In Boom Near Kenora

KENORA, Dec. 21 — (CP). — More than 1,500 claims have been staked in a mining boom on the west side of Deer Lake, 45 miles southeast of here.

The mining area is 10 miles deep and five miles wide. Main interest is in copper-gold findings but discoveries of copper-nickel have been made in the same area.

Some mining men say the area may develop into one of the most important new base metal mining centres in Ontario.

Being Careful

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP). —The Air Force said Thursday its Far East Command has given all combat units the location of prison camps where the Communists say they are holding war prisoners. The purpose is "to preclude accidental attacks" on the camps.

Emergency Meeting

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP) — Mayor Martin H. Kennelly today called an emergency conference to deal with an impending transportation problem as Chicago attempted to dig out of a deep snow. The emergency meeting was called after the city's snowfall reached 36.4 inches, 2 inches more than the annual average. Two to five inches more has been predicted.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jockey Charlie Burr failed to ride his 300th winner Thursday in six attempts at Miami's Tropical Park, leaving the 17-year-old booter one short of the charmed circle.

The soft-spoken dark-haired lad from Arkansas City, Kans., could finish no better than third aboard Grand Egyptian in the eighth, after his other mounts finished fourth, fifth and sixth in other races on the card.

Burr still has nine racing days left in the year and is almost certain to become the seventh jockey in American turf history to ride 300 or more winners in a year.

At Lethbridge, Alta., secretary-manager J. Harper Parry of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League said Thursday the loop will not revert to the old icing-the-puck rule as voted by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association executive.

The CAHA executive voted 13 to 10 in favor of returning to the old rule which allows the puck to be fired into the end zone from just across the centre line. The new rule, put into effect this year in an attempt to eliminate ganging in corners, calls for the puck to be carried or passed over the blue line without reaching the goal line.

Reports are continuing at Saint John, NB, goalie Phil Hughes of Saint John Beavers may be taken by his owners, Chicago Black Hawks, of the National Hockey League, either for use with the Hawks or their No. 1 farm team, St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League. In this event, according to the reports, Turk Broda of Toronto Maple Leafs might replace Hughes in goal for the Maritime major hockey league club.

Ice hockey in Philadelphia came to an end Thursday when the Philadelphia Falcons announced cancellations of its games Thursday night with the Springfield Indians and Saturday night with the New York Rovers. Earlier, the team announced it is withdrawing from the Eastern Hockey League because of poor attendance. It had planned earlier to go until Saturday night.

At San Juan, Puerto Rico, Earl Harrist, veteran righthander recently acquired in the draft by St. Louis Browns, pitched a no-hit, no-run game Wednesday night to give Caguas a 9-0 victory over Mayaguez in the Puerto Rican winter baseball league. It was the first no-hitter in the winter circuit in three years. Harrist pitched two no-hit, no-run games while with Syracuse Chiefs in 1946. His first was April 29 against Buffalo and the second July 29 against Toronto, which equalled a league record.

Less Than 200 Names To Check

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)— The Defence Department has fewer than 200 "glad tidings" messages still to send out to families of American prisoners-of-war in Korea, but a glimmer of hope remains for those who will not get one.

The Pentagon announced Thursday night it had sent telegrams to next of kin of 3,006 of the 3,198 men whose names were furnished by the Communists in Korea on Tuesday.

At the same time, however, the radio in the Red Chinese capital at Peiping continued to broadcast purported greetings from Allied prisoners to their home folks. Some names in the broadcasts were not on the lists handed over at truce negotiations.

The 192 names out of 3,198 remaining to be tracked down at the Pentagon presented special preblems, mostly from confusion of identity.

So far military officials find the Communist-supplied list jibes for the most part with records here.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Jerry Hilborn's Dance Happy Memory

MINOT, Me., Dec. 21 (AP). — Jerry's dance now is a happy memory.

Villagers, young and old, shook the Grange Hall in a final "haymakers' jig" Thursday night in memory of the music-loving cheesemaker who died 26 years ago.

The dances are no more because Jairus Hilborn would have been 100 years old Thursday.

Jerry left a will when he died at the age of 74, setting aside $30 to pay the fiddlers for an annual hoe-down until his 100th birthday anniversary.

Old-timers say the first dance was held in a blizzard. And Thursday night more than 100 townspeople bucked a snowstorm to pay him final honors.

His widow still spry at 78, twirled with her partner, then bowed her head with the rest of the townspeople for a moment of silent remembrance—the only favor Jerry asked in return for his annual party.

Actor In Hosptial

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 21 (AP) —Actor Vincent Price was under hospital care today with what his physician described as a "potentially dangerous" performation of a duodenal ulcer. The actor collapsed following the curtain call of Wednesday night's one-night stand here in the touring stage production, "The Cocktail Party."

Fire Razes Plant

THAMESFORD, Dec. 21 (CP). —Fire early today destroyed the Riverside poultry plant here. Machinery, a cold storage plant, and truck loaded with live youltry were destroyed. Thamesford is 18 miles west of Woodstock.

Missile Tests To Be Frequent

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP). — An average of one missile test flight a day within the next two years is predicted for the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching area.

The forecast was made by Maj.-Gen. William L. Richardson, commander of the Air Force missile test centre near Cocoa, Fla., and quoted in an article in the magazine Aviation Age.

Richardson said:

"At present we almost [illegible] the 'hump' with short-range missiles—those meant to go from 150 to 200 miles. We have missiles of this type which are beginning to meet our performance expectations."

The magazine said the key factors in long-range missiles — how to guide them—still is a big problem.

Chinese Reds Give UN Troops Yule Stockings

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 21 (AP)—Chinese Communists are using a new kind of propaganda on the Korean war front — Christmas stockings.

The United States Eighth Army said cheese-cloth stockings full of Christmas cards, cheap presents, and invitations to surrender were being "delivered" by the Reds.

Most are brought across the lines by Korean farmers. Others are sneaked across and left where Allied troops can find them.

A typical stocking was shown to correspondents today. It contained a handkerchief, a wooden cigarette-holder, a Christmas card with a lilting verse, a safe-conduct pass urging Allied soldiers to surrender, a lapel pin "peace dove," and a variety of pictures.

The pictures were designed to contrast the hardships of war in Korea with the luxuries of life in the United States.

One showed happy citizens lolling in Florida sunshine, and half-frozen marines marching in last year's Hungnam evacuation.

Another showed the grim face of a marine photographed by Life Magazine's Dave Duncan. In contrast was an American beer advertisement showing a family gathered around a loaded dinner table on Christmas Day.

Family Touch

Under the family group was this caption: "Those who love you want you back home safe and sound. Find a way out. It is no disgrace to quit fighting in this unjust war."

Other drawings included the face of a blonde: "Why not go back to her?"

A civilian wearing a red necktie: "How would it be to get back into civvies?"

And a verse:

"Whatever the color, race or creed,
All plain folks are brothers indeed.
Both you and we want life and peace,
If you go home the war will cease."

QUEEN OF ROSES—Blonde, blue-eyed Nancy True Thorne, 17-year-old junior at Pasadena (Calif.), will reign as queen of the 1952 Tournament of Roses in Pasadena. Judges who picked Nancy stressed that she is "a study of absolute normality in every way," and has no illusions about a theatrical career.

Labor Trouble On UN Staff Flares Again

UNITED NATIONS, NY, Dec. 21—(CP)—Labor troubles in the United Nations flared again Thursday with news of the dismissal of H. Lukin Robinson, Toronto-born social affairs officer.

Robinson, a 35-year-old population expert who lived in Ottawa before coming to the UN three years ago, confirmed that he is being dismissed from his $6,000-a-year job at the end of his one-year contract next month.

He declined to comment other than to say that his division is "well satisfied" with his professional work and has officially asked that he be retained.

He was an executive of the UN Staff Association, a staff union, which has charged Secretary-General Trygve Lie with "union-busting" tactics. He is the fourth employee who has served on the executive to be released or dismissed.

Reports from Paris where Lie is attending the UN assembly, quoted the Secretary-General as saying he is determined to get rid of "bad international civil servants."

NEW NAME

Kenora in Northwestern Ontario was named from the first two letters in Keewatin, the village of Norman, and the former name, Rat Portage.

Doucett Asks Drivers To Drive Safely

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett Thursday appealed from his hospital bed here to all motorists to drive safely during the Christmas season.

Mr. Doucett, injured severely in a traffic accident Nov. 8, said: "I cannot emphasize too much the importance of safe driving and walking rules at this time of the year."

He said conditions combine to make the Christmas shopping period one of the year's most dangerous times for traffic accidents. Children are out of school, more people of all ages are shopping, visiting and travelling.

On the last shopping day before Christmas last year, Dec. 23, 1950, 18 persons were killed and about 400 injured in Ontario by traffic accidents.

Chinese-Speaking Canadian Spoils Enemy's Battle Plans

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 21—(CP)—War is so much more fun when you know the enemy's plans . . .

It's become almost sport—except that the stakes are "for keeps"—in that part of the United Nations front manned by the 2nd battalion Royal 22nd regiment.

For the Vandoos, it turns out, were pretty well informed on what the Chinese in their sector were out to do, how they were getting along—and on ways to frustrate them.

Source of the Vandoo's private information is Pte. Jacques Morin of Montreal and Malbaie, Que. He understands Chinese.

Morin doesn't talk. He just listens.

Until Morin began listening in earnest at a Vandoo forward position recently, the noises heard occasionally on the company's radio frequency were so much gibberish.

As batman to Lieut. Pierre Archambault of Montreal Morin one day was near the set when the Chinese came close.

"Let me hear that," he shouted, "I can understand Chinese."

Meets Skepticism

The words, he translated, were orders to attack the position ahead (presumably the Van Doo's) at 11 o'clock that night. The information was passed back, spread throughout the 25th Canadian infantry brigade, and developments were awaited with skepticism.

That night the enemy attacked the Vandoos in company strength, found them ready and was mercilessly cut up in artillery fire from the 2nd regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Morin, listening on a radio set, heard the attack ordered off.

That information had barely reached brigade headquarters before it was followed up by news that the Chinese had shot up two green flares and one red one—the customary signal to fall back.

Gets Himself Job

And that night a new factor entered into the Royal 22nd's fighting—24-year-old Morin got himself a new job.

Although he had reported on enlisting that he spoke Chinese, and the fact was entered on his documents, no one had done anything about it.

He learned it in Montreal, where he grew up with the children of Foon Lee, owner of the Nanking grill. From the age of five, when he first began playing with the Lee children, he has spoken the language.

He is fast becoming a legend in the battalion.

Typical of the work he is enabling the Van Doos to do is their handling of a recent enemy thrust which wound up with the loss of two Chinese mortars and 19 known casualties.

Morin reported overhearing the Chinese say their mortars "now were in position at (giving the map reference) and ready to support the patrol." Then he reported hearing the patrol's intentions.

Big Advantage

Lt.-Col Jacques (Jimmie) Dextraze said, "that gave us a good idea of where they were going and we made our own plans."

When the enemy said they were at a certain point and were sending two men ahead to reconnoitre, Dextraze ordered the Van Doos' mortars under Capt. Charles Forbes of Matane, Que., to fire a salvo. The Chinese reported mortar bombs passing overhead.

Dextraze lowered the range, ordered up another salvo. The Chinese then asked for stretcher bearers—they'd had four casualties.

"Repeat," ordered Dextraze. More mortar bombs.

The Chinese: "Don't send the bearers, it's too hot here."

"Repeat," again said Dextraze.

The Chinese: "The patrol leader has just been hit, we would like permission to withdraw." They got it.

Predict New Deadlock For India, Pakistan

PARIS, Dec. 21—(CP)—The dispute between India and Pakistan over the princely state of Kashmir appears headed for another impasse.

United Nations mediator Dr. Frank P. Graham is expected to report failure to arrange agreement on demilitarization when he appears before the UN Security Council Dec. 22. Six weeks ago the council told him to make another attempt to solve the problem he had already been working on for nine months.

The time limit is up Dec. 22 and he is expected to tell the council that a proposed plebiscite to decide the fate of the disputed area is still far from being in sight. The UN first took over the problem in January, 1948. The previous October Moslem tribesmen had invaded the state which had just acceded to Hindu India following partition of the subcontinent.

Since January, 1949, Pakistan and Indian forces have been drawn up on either side of a cease-fire line, kept intact under supervision of UN observers including a series of Canadian Army officers.

Ginger Rogers Undismayed By Show's Flop

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21 (AP)—Undismayed by the flop of her recent play, Ginger Rogers says she is willing to tackle Broadway again. But next time it'll be different.

Back from New York after the failure of her first play in many years, "Love and Let Love," she isn't bitter about the experience, but she is about the play's author, Louis Verneuil.

"I can't understand how any author would refuse to alter his work until a week before the New York opening, when it was too late," she declared. "It was apparent from the reviews that it needed revisions. But he absolutely refused to touch it. . . .

"After all, every playwright is expected to work on the play during the out-of-town openings. That's what the try-out period is for."

Verneuil declined comment on Miss Rogers' remarks.

Miss Rogers said she wouldn't be adverse to doing another Broadway show. "But next time," she added, "I would have some legal assurance that the author would do whatever rewriting was necessary."

Got Her Money Back

She got back her original investment of $23,000 before the producers decided to close the play. Although hooted by the critics, the show might have turned a profit. It had a healthy advance sale, largely because of the star's personal draw.

"But we lost the advance by coming into New York three weeks late," she explained. "We stayed longer on the road in hopes of getting the show in shape."

Miss Rogers' return to the movies (in "We're Not Married") will be a brief one. As she said:

"Before, I never could settle down to one career and devote all my time to it because I didn't know whether I was going to stick to the movies or try the stage. Now I know where I'm going—to television!"

She soon will start a contract with CBS.

Guilty Of Assault Has Black Eye

Sporting a discolored left eye of mottled purple hue, George Dundas of Lindsay pleaded guilty to an assault charge in police court Thursday.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw related that Dundas, a farm hand employed on the farm of Russell McCarl, Otonabee Township, became involved in an argument with Mr. McCarl at the dinner table Wednesday night.

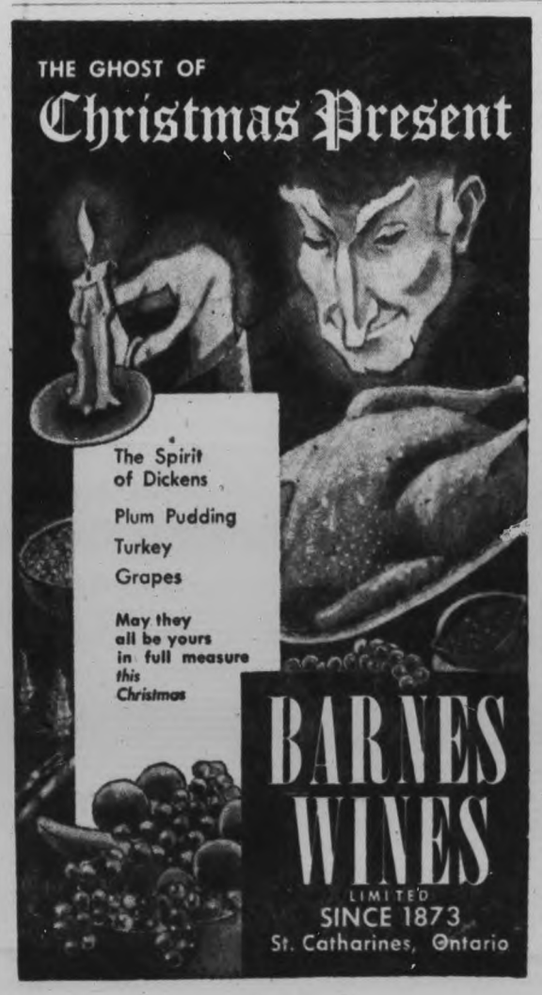
First, he swung a chair at Mr. McCarl, who stopped the chair, then, Mr. Bradshaw said, Dundas swung another chair, narrowly missing Mrs. McCarl and striking a small child Mrs. McCarl was holding.

The child was not injured.

Although Dundas admitted being convicted of a similar offence in Lindsay about ten years ago, Mr. Bradshaw said he was recommending suspended sentence.

Magistrate W. R. Philp placed Dundas on suspended sentence for two years, under bond of $500 to keep the peace, on payment of $2 court costs.

He was also ordered to stay away from the McCarl home, after he obtains his belongings Thursday night, in company with OPP Constable Russell Pollard.



In addition, Magistrate Philp advised Dundas to leave this district and return to his relatives who live in the Lindsay district.

Canada Wins Confidence Of Businessmen

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

The December business review of the Bank of Montreal says that while business sentiment has recently been somewhat hesitant, immediate caution has been tempered by sturdy long-range confidence.

Offhand, the letter says in effect, Canadian business seems to have had an excellent year, but "in many respects 1951 was a year in which events ran perversely askew of earlier anticipations; and for not a few industrials the consequent readjustments have been considerable and painful.

"Nevertheless, these selective readjustments have not, in number or degree, been suffciently serious to offset other more dynamic forces.

"Moreover, the whole course of international developments has underlined the long-range potentialities of a Canada in which industry, resources and social stability combine to provide a uniquely favorable environment for further growth."

Pattern Reversed

The first six months, says the review, saw a scramble of buyers at all levels to "stock up," and an effort by producers to meet the surge of demand. But the second part of the year "has been marked in many ways by a reversal of the pattern.

"A sellers' market has broadly given way to a buyers' market in the civilian goods field, and most producers and distributors are at the moment more pre-occupied with problems of sale than of supply . . . upward prices pressures have abated."

Further evidence of an ample supply of consumer goods, says the review, is to be sent in available inventory statistics.

At the end of September manufacturers' stock were 36.4 per cent higher than at the end of September, 1950. In wholesale trade, an 18-per-cent rise in inventories in the September comparison was accounted for mainly by heavier stocks held by dealers in automobile parts, hardware, dry goods and clothing. In retail trade the only published data, which refer to department and chain stores, showed September inventories higher by 25 per cent.

However, the review proceeds, the three quartely surveys of the labor force so far released show that employment has been consistently higher than last year, and average weekly earnings in nine leading industrial groups has risen to $50.61 in September, as compared with $46.63 last December. Also, the net income of farm operators is expected to be substantially higher, and corporate payments may be up about 15 per cent.

Gross national production for the year, in real terms, is up about six per cent, the review notes. Expansion of industrial capacity in support of the rearmament effort and the broader base of resource development have together, it says, been largely responsible for an estimated increase of 20 per cent in the value of capital expenditures in 1951; and for the raise of 55 per cent in the value of construction awards in the first 11 months. However, new residential dwellings started in the first 10 months were 23 per cent fewer than in the same period of 1950.

Tug Leads Carrier Through Ice Field

WINDSOR, Dec. 21—(CP)—A steel carrier, the 7,500-ton James Watt, Thursday night was reported to be following the tug Atomic through a Lake Erie ice field off Colchester lighthouse, 22 miles southeast of Windsor. The Watt had been in trouble all day and the Atomic went out to bring her in.

The two were reported to be moving slowly and with extreme difficulty.

Meanwhile, two oil tankers thought jammed in the ice pack—almost unprecedented at this time of the year—were reported to have reached Ohio ports Thursday after being stalled for almost 60 hours. The Blue Comet steamed into Toledo and the Meteor into Sandusky.

Meaning Of Christ's Birth Realized At Christmas

"The two basic needs of all individuals is to be loved and accepted by others and to love. When these needs are left out of the individual's life, his personality becomes distorted."

This was a part of the Christmas message given at the Kiwanis club Christmas luncheon Thursday by the Rev. Gerard Gaughan of Sacred Heart parish.

The speaker explained that these two needs were fulfilled by the Child of Bethlehem who was the tangible sign of God's love for man. Because we are loved and accepted by God we can transmit this love to others. An individual must be loved and accepted before he can love others.

Love Of Others

"This love for others is shown more at Christmas than any other time of the year," Father Gaughan said. "At this time all people seem to be more sentimental, charitable, friendly and sociable. This is a psychological phenomenon which is motivated by our realization of what Christ's birth meant."

"This realization should instil love of fellowmen not only at Christmas time but all through the year."

Father Gaughan was introduced by Den Fitzgerald and thanked by T. T. Rodger.

Approximately 85 Kiwanis, Kiwaniqueens and guests were present for the Christmas luncheon. The tables were attractively decorated with pine boughs and red candles. A paper snowman and paper bells were the decorations on the head table. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davern were in charge of the decorations.

Ed Collins, assistant manager of Central Mortgage and Housing corporation, was introduced by T. E. McKay and inducted by past president Vince McCabe.

Christmas carols were sung, led by Ernie Balmer and accompanied by Stanley Northdrop at the piano.

Canadians Share Efforts To End Tension

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 21 (CP)—Canada was in the forefront of United Nations efforts during the year to build up the world organization's anti-aggression elements.

This work, most obvious in Canadian fight forces in Korea, went ahead parallel with the country's efforts towards strengthening defence forces in Europe under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for which another Canadian brigade is in Germany.

Throughout the year however the Canadian delegation to the UN worked both in public and behind the scenes in efforts to end the Korean war and to calm east-west tensions.

L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, was a member of the first small group of leading UN figures appointed as a committee to seek a cease-fire in Korea. This group's efforts during the 1950 session of the UN general assembly, stretching into early 1951, were rebuffed by the Chinese Communists, but probably had their effects in leading to later negotiations in the field.

As one of the first contributors to anti-aggression forces in Korea, Canada was a leading member of the UN collective measures committee which has labored through the year to work out a system whereby the UN will not be caught napping in the event of future aggression. Under committee proposals, the UN will be able to go into action without any of the fumbling which marked the early days of North Korea's attack on South Korea.

At the current UN assembly, Canada took her place beside the big powers on the proposed new UN commission to seek world disarmament. The new commission would replace the old UN atomic energy and conventional arms commissions where Canada was a member because of her contributions toward development of atomic energy. The Dominion was a member of the committee which worked out proposals for merging the two old commissions in the light of atomic developments.

Canadian personalities were as popular as ever when it came to choosing able men for top UN posts. T. A. (Tommy) Stone, Canada's Minister to Sweden was unanimously elected chairman of the budgetary committee at the 1951 UN Assembly. Pearson had been sought as assembly president but declined to stand for the post since it would keep him away from pressing duties at Ottawa for too long a period. However, he was being sought as a candidate for the next assembly session to be held in New York, where he would be able to keep in close touch with Ottawa. And George Davidson, Canada's representative to the Economic and Social Council, was being mentioned as possible president of the council at its next session.

The Canadian delegation suffered a great loss in March with the death of R. G. Riddell, head of the permanent Canadian delegation at UN headquarters in New York. Herbert Norman became acting head of the delegation and D. H. Johnson, formerly Canada's minister to Pakistan, was appointed to head the permanent delegation.

Canada's recognition of responsibilities far afield was shown in a number of aid contributions. For Korean reconstruction work, the Canadian government set aside $7,250,000; for the International Children's Fund, $500,000. These were among other material grants to ease suffering in various countries around the world.

"MAY THE TRUE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS ALWAYS DWELL IN THE HEARTS OF MEN OF ALL NATIONS".

Down through the years, Christmas in Canada has always been a time of family re-unions, a time of goodwill, a time of rejoicing.

As we celebrate Christmas this year, the great family of United Nations is gathered around the conference table to reach a goal of world understanding.

It is our fervent hope that the spirit of our Canadian Christmas — the spirit of peace and goodwill, will prevail. With this in their hearts, nations and peoples will resolve their differences and, once again, rejoice in "peace on earth, goodwill toward men".

Congress Tries To Solve Major's Death

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)— The United States Congress has set out to try to solve the mystery of Major William V. Holohan's violent death behind the German lines in Italy seven years ago.

The Defence Department said last August that Holohan, Lieut. Aldo Icardi and Sgt. Carl G. Lodolce were on a secret parachute mission to organize partisan resistance, and that Holohan was killed in a quarrel with the pair over his refusal to arm Communists.

But Icardi and Lodolce have denied the charge, saying that Holohan was killed when the American party was surprised by the Germans at a villa on the shores of Lake Orto, Icardi now lives in Pittsburgh and Lodolce in Rochester, NY.

The Congressional inquiry is in the hands of Reps. W. Sterling Cole (Rep., NY) and Paul Kilday (Dem., Tex.), appointed by the House Armed Services Committee to get to the bottom of the affair if possible.

Cole disclosed that he spent all day Wednesday questioning Michael Stern about an account of the case Stern wrote for True magazine last summer.

Gave Details

"He filled in the gaps in his story and recounted the results of his investigation," Cole reported.

"The general purpose of the hearings is to determine the accuracy of the Defence Department's account of the slaying, and why no prosecutions have been started, if it is true," Cole explained.

Icardi and Lodolce have not faced a court martial because they were honorably discharged from the army before the charges were made and military authorities said they have no jurisdiction over them. Legal authorities say a prosecution in civil courts is impossible because the alleged crime was committed in a foreign country. Preliminary moves have been started to try to extradite Icardi and Lodolce for a trial in Italian courts.

MacArthur's Firing, Royal Tour Chosen Top Stories Of Year For '51

By The Canadian Press

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's removal from his Asian command, and the royal tour of Princess Elizabeth and her sailor husband were headline-builders that appealed to Canadian editors as the top stories of 1951.

The story of MacArthur's dismissal last April topped a list of six outstanding world newsbreaks picked by telegraph editors across the country in a Canadian Press poll. Among stories of chiefly Canadian interest, the royal visit led. Close to the tour in impact among Canadian stories was this country's decision to build the St. Lawrence seaway alone.

World News: 1, MacArthur dismissal; 2, British election; 3 and 4, the King's operation and the Iranian crisis (tied); 5, Korean truce negotiations; 6, trouble in Egypt.

Canadians news: 1, royal tour; 2, all-Canada seaway decision; 3, Canada's fighting record in Korea; 4, Three Rivers bridge collapse; 5, Massey report; 6, Ste. Cunegonde fire.

Canadian Selection Hard

Editors had less trouble picking their outstanding world stories than in choosing tops from the Canadian scene.

Stories like the MacArthur dismissal, Churchill's return to power, the Iranian and Egyptian crises, the hope of truce in Korea, and the great human interest of the King's ordeal were unmistakeable in their appeal. Many lists were made up of those six stories, and while many others were picked by individual editors, only three came close to the big six. These were the Kansas floods in July, the New Jersey train derailment of last Feb. 6, when 85 were killed, and the Kefauver crime hearings.

In Canada, competition was closer. Tightening of consumer credit in the battle against inflation, Red Hill's death-plunge over Nigara Falls, the country's enlarged military program, Kurt Meyer's transfer to Germany, the Ontario election, all were well up. Others mentioned by several editors included the western grain-growers' battle with weather and storage, the Ford strike this month at Windsor, and the Regina-Ottawa battle for the Grey Cup.

Royal Family's Busy Year Shadowed By King's Illness

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (CP) — The affection felt by the British people for members of the Royal family came strongly to the surface in 1951 when a threat of tragedy touched Buckingham Palace.

The announcement in September that the King was to be operated on for a serious but undisclosed lung ailment provoked a heart-felt emotion. Before and after the operation Sept. 23, crowds of ordinary people, some of them harly khowing why they were, waited quietly outside the palace.

Surgeons removed all or part of the King's lung. After tense days of waiting, it was announced the danger period was over. Some weeks later the King's recovery was described in court circles as a "miracle".

The illness shadowed a year of intense activity and high prestige for the Royal family. For Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, the crowning event was the six-week tour of Canada, which drew cheering crowds and had the incidental effect of arousing a greater British interest in Canada than any single event in recent years.

Great Country

In a speech Nov. 19, two days after her return from Canada, the Princess said in a speech at London's Guildhall:

"I would like them (Canadians) to know that they have placed in our hearts a love for their country and its people which will never grow cold, and which will always draws us back again to their shores."

It seems reasonable to suppose that Elizabeth came back from far-off Canada a slightly-changed person, conscious for the first time of the vast distances and genuine feelings of a country she one day will rule as queen.

Home For Christmas

During 1951 the Princess saw more of her sailor-husband, Prince Philip, than she had since their marriage in 1947. She started the year with him at Malta, before he gave up command of the frigate Magpie, and at year's end the couple spent their first Christmas at home with Prince Charles, 3, and Princess Anne, 16 months.

Philip came home from Malta for the opening of the Festival of Britain May 4 and has been on indefinite leave since July 21.

All members of the Royal Family attended the opening ceremonies of the festival, the King hailing it as a "symbol of Britian's abiding courage and vitality."

In the same month, the King and Queen welcomed King Frederik and Queen Ingrid of Denmark on a state visit. But the King was confined to the palace with a lung inflammation in June when King Haakon of Norway made history by arriving in the Thames river in the 1,600-ton royal barge Norge. King Haakon was greeted by the Queen and Princess Margaret at Westminster bridge.

On a more personal level, 1951, saw the blossoming of a slimmer more style-conscious Princess Elizabeth, ready to give her younger sister Margaret a run for her money in the fashion-plate stakes. Buckingham Palace made known that Elizabeth had gone on a diet and gossips whispered that husband Philip had had a hand in influencing her choice of clothes.

Margaret was less in the limelight than usual. She celebrated her 21st birthday at Balmoral Castle Aug. 18, made the rounds of theatres and night clubs less frequently and had so many different escorts that columnists scenting a romance had to scatter their shots. In November, she visited Paris and once kept Supreme Commander Gen. Eisenhower waiting when her chauffeur took the wrong turn.

List Of Prisoners Problem For Bride

ATLANTA, Dec. 21—(AP)— The prisoner-of-war list which brought joy to many homes across the United States left one young bride in a state of tearful confusion Thursday.

Twenty - two - year - old Agnes Sasser was reading the list Thursday when her eyes fell on the name of her first husband, Pte. Walter B. Dixon.

Dixon had been reported killed in Korea in May, 1951. In September, Agnes married Pte. William C. Sasser.

The first thing Mrs. Sasser did after spotting the name was call her present husband, who was so stunned he couldn't say anything.

Later, Mrs. Sasser told reporters, "I just don't know what to do. I haven't been able to think it through. You can have no idea how I feel. I just can't believe Walter's still alive."

Danger Gone

PAU, France, Dec. 21 (Reuters) —A baker lit his oven in the little mountain village of Lacq Thursday and inhabitants knew the threat of death by fiery explosion which had hung over their heads for 36 hours was over. Highly inflammable gas from a burst oil well nearby had swirled around the streets, threatening to explode at the slightest spark. But Thursday night the "cloud of death" began to thin out.

Get Tougher

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Dec. 21 (CP) —Gen. Sir George Erskine, tough-talking commander of British troops in Egypt, Thursday issued new orders to his men believed to be the signal for stronger British action against terrorists. Erskine told his men to "treat as hostile" any armed Egyptians found in the Suez Canal zone. Reliable sources said it means an end to the tacit agreement under which the British military hand over armed Egyptians to the Egyptian police.

Four Burned To Death In Log Cabin

MATTICE, Dec. 21 — (CP).—Four persons were burned to death in an early morning fire Thursday, that destroyed a three-room log cabin farmhouse in this settlement 125 miles northwest of Timmins. One of the victims still was unidentified late Thursday.

The other three bodies found in the ruins were those of Leo Paul Morin 48, his son-in-law Jim Brunette 38, and Henri Rouselle, about 33.

The unidentified body was believed to be that of a woman from Hearst, six miles away.

Four persons, severely injured before they escaped from the blazing cabin, were in grave condition in Hearst Hospital late on Thursday.

They are Mrs. Morin 46, her two children Pauline 8, and Raymond 6, and Jim Hachey 45. A fifth, Joe Lapiante, escaped without injury.

The fire was believed started when Henri Rouselle awoke about 4 am Thursday and poured gasoline on embers in a heater.

Gas Explodes

The gasoline exploded and quickly ignited the wooden building.

Neighbors said they believed there was a party at the home on Wednesday night and that Brunette, who lived two miles away with his wife and six children, stayed overnight with his in-laws.

The fire was spotted by A. J. Filion, school teacher at Parthia, 1½ miles away, who telephoned Provincial Police at Hearst. Police took the injured to hospital by cruiser.

The cabin was burned to the ground, and it was 6 o'clock on Thursday night before police were able to enter it and drag out the bodies. Lack of water near the premises made it impossible for neighbors to do anything about the flames.

LISTED AS POW—Cpl. John A. Davis, 21, of St. Catharines, has been reported among the men listed as prisoners-of-war in the hands of Korean Communists. He is the son of Mrs. Carl Brooker of St. Catharines. Born in Buffalo, he spent most of his life in St. Catharines, before enlisting in the US 1st Cavalry Division.

Special Broadcast

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP). — A special broadcast for Canadian troops in the Far East recording big events at home during the last year has been prepared by the CBC to mark the first anniversary of the arrival of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Pusan. The tape-recording already being flown across the Pacific, includes the voice of Princess Elizabeth during her recent visit.

Board Suggests No Pay Increase

TORONTO, Dec. 21 — (CP).—A conciliation board Thursday recommended no increase in the take-home pay of some 650 Consumer Gas Company employees.

The report signed by Judge D. E. Lewis of Brockville, chairman, and E. Macauley Dillon, company representative, was handed down Thursday by Deputy Labor Minister J. B. Metzler.

It recommended that "not less" than 13 cents of the present 25½ cent cost-of-living bonus be incorporated in the basic wage.

Wages currently paid by the company range from a hiring rate of $1.28½, including the cost-of-living bonus, to $1.63½ for a tradesman. The employees work a 42-hour week.

The company said it will accept the report. Officials of Local 61, International Chemical Workers (AFL-TLC) said their attitude would be determined at a membership meeting.

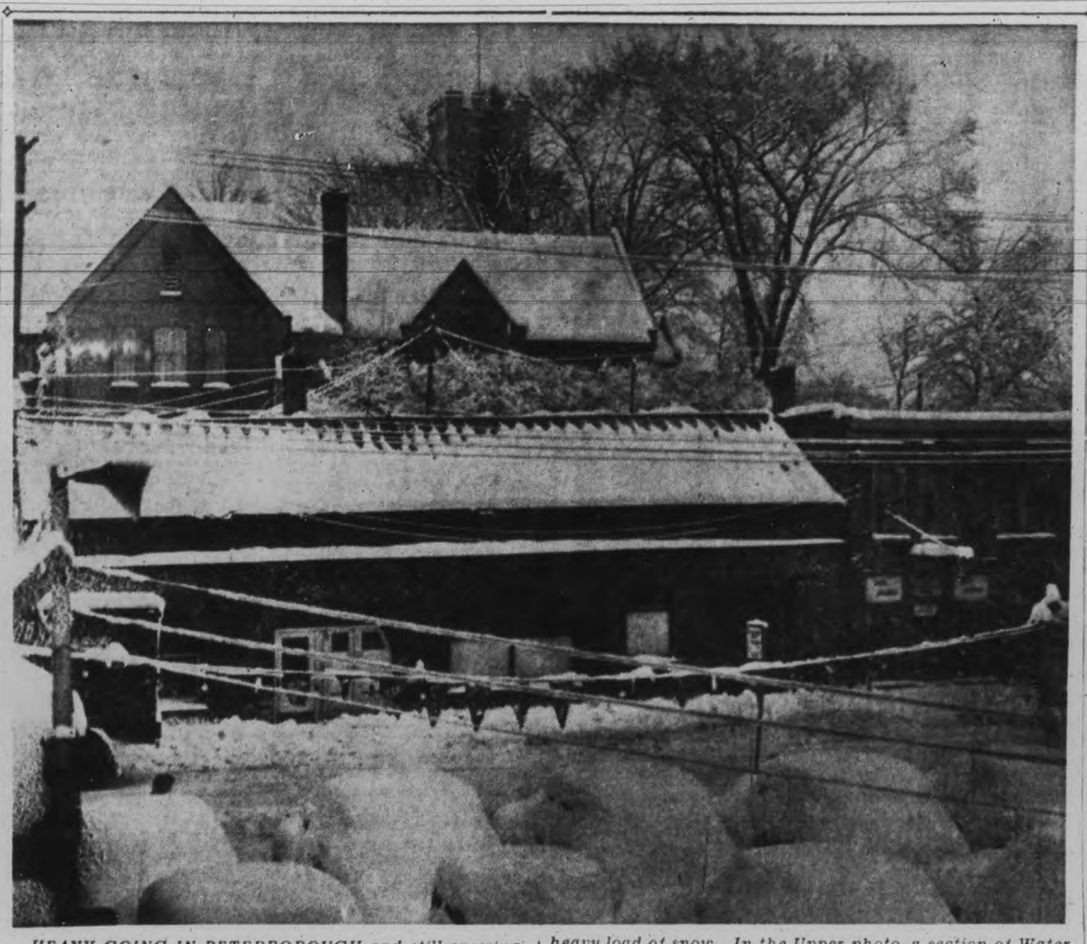
As announced elsewhere, his 25 cent ticket was the first one drawn in the Lodge's distribution of turkeys. The second ticket bore the name of Ralph Lucano, 511 Albert Street, and the sixth turkey went to Mrs. Jean Duffus, 173 Stewart Street.

WRAPPED-AROUND BUMPER



The wrap-around bumper is a useful way to anchor a car to a parking meter, one driver found out either Thursday night or early today. A 1951-model car parked on George Street's east side had a parking meter post tucked cosily between the bumper and the right front fender.

POLICE COMMISSION MEETS

Due to the death of Judge S. L. Smoke, and the retirement of Mayor Max Swanston, Magistrate W. R. Philp will be the only member of the 1951 Police Commission who will be serving next year. The final meeting of the Commission for this year was held in the city hall today.

TRICYCLE FOUND

Somewhere in the city, a youngster is probably asking Santa Claus for another red chain-driven tricycle just like the one he had that disappeared last week. On Dec. 15 police found the tricycle on Benson Ave., and took it to the police station. Police Chief John Thompson said today, the owner can reclaim it by calling at the station and proving ownership.

HEAVY GOING IN PETERBOROUGH and still snowing. By noon today 13 inches had fallen. Wheel traffic was slowed down to a crawl but buses and trains were on time. Every vehicle, whether moving or stationary, carried a heavy load of snow. In the Upper photo, a section of Water St., looking east towards St. John's Church, makes a typical downtown snowscape. Many car drivers put on chains, Lower photo; others hired tow trucks to get them started. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

13 Inches Of Snow Fail To Conquer Traffic In City

Nearly 13 inches of snow haven't fazed Peterborough drivers. Today, an appropriate first day for winter, found most of the city's drivers using their cars. Perhaps 10 or 20 per cent were stuck in laneways and in front of homes, but for the most part, city traffic was back to normal by early afternoon. It was moving slowly and cautiously, however. Temperatures have dropped several degrees from last night, when for a time the snow threatened to turn to rain and snarl traffic. Noon temperature today was 24, and the forecast made by the weatherman was for sunny and colder weather.

The storm that tangled Toronto traffic and slowed driving everywhere in the province is petering out.

Drivers Congratulated

In this city, there were few accidents, none of them serious. Police Chief John Thompson today congratulated city drivers on their carefulness and said he was more than pleased at the small number of accidents.

Provincial police were not on regular patrol Thursday night, but were on call. They reported Highway 2 was plowed, but said they had no word of the work being done on Highways 7 and 28.

Bus drivers had words of praise for the city's snow removal work. One, Fred LeBarr, said the city should be congratulated, as buses were running only a few minutes behind schedule.

The city engineer' department reported plows were out at 3 am. Cars parked on downtown streets posed too many obstacles for the snow loader to start before this afternoon.

Sidewalk plows were out early, and by noon had cleared about one-third of the city's sidewalks.

County Plows

In Peterborough County, five snowplows were working by 8 am out of the county's River Rd. N. garage. Main roads should be mostly clear by tomorrow, but township roads will be blocked for some time, said County Engineer Jack Dean.

Residents of Wallis Heights on the west side of Peterborough, were having troubles this morning. Snowplows hadn't touched those roads all week and none are expected there until Saturday.

CPR depot reported morning trains to Toronto were running about an hour late; the noon train from Toronto was 35 minutes late. The CNR ticket office said the Belleville train, due in at 7.23 am. was only a few minutes late, and the noon train from Toronto was a half-hour late.

Inter-city buses were running pretty well on schedule.

Halts Construction

The heavy snowfall caused construction work at the H. R. H Kenner collegiate to grind practically to a standstill today. Workers were laboring at the other two large jobs, at the CGE and at St. Peter's chool.

Bricking the new southend collegiate was started this week despite the below-zero temperatures and snowfalls. But today the snow was too great an obstacle for the bricklayers. Today was the first day this week that they haven't worked on the building.

An Eastwood Construction company spokesman said that a few workers reported at the collegiate this morning. They continued to fix the building for winter working conditions.

The Robertson Construction company, building the extension to the CGE, reported they "were still working today". Despite the snow and cold, a day hasn't been missed this week. A few workers didn't report for the morning.

At the new St. Peter's school on Reid St. the George Hardy company spent several hours early today clearing the snow and the work, laying bricks, began again.

Sleet Storm

At Cobourg, a sleet storm this morning worsened traffic conditions. County snowplows had cleared some main rural roads, but many townships roads are blocked along the lakeshore and will remain so for some days. All town roads are plowed.

Campbellford reported Highway 30 clear, as were most streets in the town. As is the case in the Cobourg-Port Hope district, township roads are blocked, and snowplows are working first on the main roads.

The municipalities of Gore's Landing and Harwood are temporarily cut off by road.

At Bancroft, a $50,000 fire destroyed a planing mill, and firefighters were hampered by deep, heavy snow. The fire burned itself out this morning.

Trains, Buses Expect Record Crowd

The snow that has already fallen and the threat of snow to come is expected to make this a record year for the railways and bus lines.

Railroad and bus line officials said today people are apparently deciding to leave their cars in garages instead of driving out of town for Christmas as they do in years when the weather is clearer.

The number of travellers began to increase in the larger centres such as Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto on Thursday causing several trains into Peterborough to be minutes late. The people began to move in large crowds towards the ticket offices in Peterborough today.

Will Be Whopper

The Colonial Bus Lines said today that from early indications this year's travel "will be a whopper" as compared with other years.

Extra buses will be added to all routes in and out of Peterborough depending on the demand. The first extra was added at 10 am today when a large crowd boarded two buses for Toronto.

The busiest day for the bus lines will be Saturday, but tonight is expected heavier than usual. The extra loads will continue until Sunday then taper off until the return home late Christmas day and Wednesday.

Increased operating costs have caused a 10 per cent increase in all bus rates more than 40 cents.

The Canadian Pacific will be operating two sections on Toronto-Peterborough trains on December 22, 24 and 26, and Jan. 1.

The railways said today that to carry the expected increase there will be two sections to the Montreal train (11:40 am) on December 22, 24 and 26 and January 1. The first section will go to Havelock only while the second section will have through connections for Havelock and east to Montreal and Ottawa.

The Toronto train leaving Peterborough at 5:30 pm on the four days will also operate in two sections; the first section should be used for connections beyond Toronto.

Parlor cars will be used on the second sections of both trains.

The Canadian National will not be operating extras out of Peterborough but will have them along the lakeshore in both directions.

TOYLAND TRAFFIC

The passenger elevator in Walker Stores stuck between the second and third floors on Thursday afternoon for an hour. It contained operator Charles Willison, only. Store manager C. H. Saunders said he was very relieved when the machine went into operation again. It was the popular way to third-floor toyland. The halt was due to a blown fuse.

Night School Teachers May Get $4 An Hour

Night School teachers will receive $4 an hour for their work if a recommendation of the advisory-vocational committee is carried out by the board of education.

The recommendation was made Thursday night at a meeting of the advisory-vocational committee. The appointments committee, that has been reviewing teachers' salaries, made the original recommendation but passed it along to advisory-vocational before sending it to the board.

The previous rate was $3.30. The teachers asked for $4.50.

Also recommended by the committee was that the pay of night school supervisors B. Wesley Switzer and C. S. Browne be increased from $500 to $600 a year.

Economics Head

Miss Katherine Macdougall wil be appointed head of the home economics department at PCVS if the board approves another committee recommendation.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said that for a number of years Mr. Switzer has been head of both vocational and home economics. And for some time now school officials have felt that one of the home economics teachers should be appointed.

The appointment would be effective Jan. 1 and bring a $100 increase in salary to Miss Macdougall.

A third recommendation of the committee is that the maximum salaries of the shop director and commercial director be raised. This would give Mr. Switzer, shop director, $500 more than heads of academic departments. H. A. Toole, commercial director, would get $300 more than academic heads.

At present the difference is $200 and $100, respectively.

(This is not an automatic increase in salary but an adjustment in the salary schedule permitting Mr. Switzer and Mr. Toole to reach that level some time in the future.)

The committee considered the request of Mr. Switzer and Mr. Toole well founded and also recommended an immediate increase of $100 to each of them, effective Jan. 1.

Civic Hospital May Seek $197,000 Grant For 1952 From Council

Represents Increase of $97,000 Over '51, Higher Salaries To Employees Chief Cause of Higher Expenses Next Year

A city grant of $197,000 and perhaps more was forecast Thursday night by Civic hospital board chairman John Marshall. The 1951 grant was an even $100,000. Major cause of the increased grant will be increased salaries. Total increases to unionized workers at the hospital are $40,000; the same total applies to increases for non-union workers. The union contract has been settled some time, and Thursday night the board approved varying raises for the non-union workers. These raises covered nursing and office staff, dietary, laundry and housekeeping staff.

Nurses' Increase

A pay increase was requested for general duty nurses to $2,160 yearly with a 44-hour week. The board agreed it was impossible to have nurses on a 44-hour week at Civic, but on the recommendation of a special committee approved a salary of $45 weekly for a 48-hour week, that is $2,340 yearly. The amount, said Superintendent John Hornal, is in proportion to the requested increase.

Holidays were reduced for the members of the hospital's office staff from three weeks to two. Pay increases were approved so that an office worker receives $30 weekly for the first six months, $32.50 for the second six months, $35 weekly after the first year, $37.50 after the second year, and $40 after the third year.

Seem High

Discussing the problem of pay increases, Mrs. Charles Huffman remarked that the salaries seemed high. Both Mr. Hornal and Mr. Marshall said they felt the increases were unavoidable.

Mayor Max Swanston and Mrs. Huffman agreed that increased efficiency was the answer. "We must get a day's work for a day's pay," said the Mayor. "And if an employee doesn't give us that, out he should go."

Extra Helpers Assist City's Postmen

To deliver the Christmas mail extra helpers were added for the carriers today as they trampled their routes through the 12-inch snowfall. The extra men have been working inside helping with the various jobs such as sorting.

In previous years when a heavy snowfall plugged sidewalks the postmen relied upon box sleighs to carry the parcels and letters but these have given way to trucks and additional men.

The increase every year in the Christmas mail, the added population and so often the lack of snow forced a change in the delivery policy. The boxes and sleighs were discarded.

Now the postmen handle only cards, letters and magazines during the Christmas rush. This year the trucks place the mail in drop-off boxes or in safe places along the carriers' routes and also deliver the parcels.

Mail, from the sub-offices and letter boxes, today decreased to the normal output for the first time in the past 10 days. But the incoming mail from other centres was still heavy.

The holdup at the local office is in the sorting as there are not sufficient experienced men.

The rush this year set a record; there were four straight days that the staff handled more than 100,000 cards and letters. The heaviest day was Monday, 179,000, followed by 156,000 on Tuesday; 170,700 on Wednesday and 113,200 on Thursday.

With three days left the mail this year is within 18,000 cards and letters of last year's mark. Up until Thursday night the count was 955,400.

The results were announced on Thursday by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants.

All six of the men work for either the accounting firm of Ed Humpage or McColl and Turner. Successful examinees: Elwood McDonald, final; Jack Taylor, H. R. A. Whitney and J. A. Langhorne, intermediate; A. J. Naish, one examination, economics; and Al Ballett, primary.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Harwood Creamery Sets New Production Record . . . . Charles Fisher of Bailieboro, Re-elected President Henry Batten Again Heads Peterborough Plowmen . . . Winter Settles On Ontario Farms.

Butter production at Harwood creamery this year reached a new peak of volume at 1,259,644 lbs., an increase of 140,094 lbs. over last year.

A trade refund of 4.7 cents a pound butterfat was paid to patrons Dec. 1st, amounting to $48,129.50.

The business statement was reported by R. E. Drope, manager, at the recent annual meeting of Harwood Co-operative Creamery Co., Ltd. Mr. Charles Fisher of Bailieboro, president, outlined the affairs of the directors during the year.

Directors: Ross McCracken and A. J. Campbell, Roseneath; Wallace Jibb, Cold Springs; Herb McKinley, Cobourg, R.R. 6; W. R. Prouse, Newtonville; Charles Blexard, Baltimore.

Edward Humpage, auditor, included in his report a comparative statement of the business of the creamery for the last three years. It also showed that 1951 was the best year in the history of the company. Mr. Humpage was re-engaged by the shareholders.

Motion pictures showing proper use of milking machines and other phases of dairying were presented by Dr. D. F. Damude, veterinary of the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit.

Cheese Marketing Board Requires Longer Terms

Fred Crowe of Warsaw was re-elected president of Peterborough County Cheese Producers' Association at their annual meeting here Wednesday.

The other officers are: Vice-president: Stuart Clysdale; secretary-treasurer, Frank C. Paterson.

Directors: Gordon Andrews, Gordon Fitzgerald, Chester Hamilton, Bruce Dunford, Ralph Garbutt and Charles Lobb.

Mr. Hamilton replaces R. E. Thurston of Bobcaygeon. His factory is no longer active, and it was reported that Mr. Thurston has not been well. He was for years a director.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the provincial association in Toronto Jan. 10-11 are: Harold VanVolkenburg, Arnold Stevenson, Ernest Garbutt and Chester Hamilton.

The association is sending to the convention a resolution requesting the Ontario government to provide a premium on sediment-free milk. It was proposed by Mr. Clysdale and Mr. Andrews.

Hold Cash Surplus

The Peterborough group unanimously recommended that an operation surplus mentioned by Mr. C. N. Heath, Belleville, secretary of the Ontario producers, be retained in the treasury as a fund available as a nest-egg for the business of 1952. If that sum were distributed now it would be no more than the cost of a magazine to the average patron, Mr. Heath said. But, the total amount would be a substantial help to the marketing board until receipt of new revenues begins in 1952.

Mr. Heath was accompanied to the meeting by W. E. Bateman of Tweed, a director of the marketing board, and by Wm. P. Moore, district dairy inspector, of Campbellford.

Fred Crowe is the Peterborough director on the provincial association. He is also chairman of the resolutions committee which considers all resolutions for the convention.

The necessity of effecting a greater degree of permancy in the membership of the marketing board was discussed by Mr. Heath in his talk to the meeting Wednesday.

The board consists of five members representing five districts into which the counties of southern Ontario have been grouped for the purposes of the cheese marketing scheme.

There was always the possibility that an entire new board might be appointed for any year, and that not one of those five members would have had much market training. Mr. Heath said that for 1952 probably three of this year's board would be replaced. Vice-President D. W. Osmond had died suddenly after returning home from the recent dairy show at Belleville. One other member of the board would also be missing, and possibly a third.

Could Be Serious

Quite briefly, Mr. Heath said it was desirable for the protection of the interests of the milk producers that there should be more stability in the membership of the board, "or it could be very disastrous".

This subject is likely to receive considerable attention at the provincial meeting. Mr. Heath remarked that any change which might be made in board appointments should not be contrary to the democratic basis of the association.

For every pound of cheese kept in this country, the board received three cents, but every export pound cost the board 2½ cents, "So we are not in the red," Mr. Heath remarked.

Export price was 32c, f.a.s (freight alongside ship) Montreal. After all expenses, the board paid the factories 33 cents on that cheese. For the domestic market the price was 36c fob the factory. The board exported more than 25 million pounds of cheese. That volume was about one-half the total production between May 10 and Oct. 31.

RURAL GLIMPSES

Severe weather has settled upon rural Ontario as reported in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Forty tons of poultry were recently sold at Meaford in Grey, and 25 to 30 tons at Uxbridge.

While winter had laid deep snow on the land, some farmers in Victoria county are already accepting deliveries of fertilizer for next spring, and making enquiries for good seed grain.

Halton: Recent release of the results of the seed drill survey made last spring reveals that the general quality of the seed grain being sown in this county leaves much to be desired on many farms.

Perth county: Grass silage appears to be meeting with favor on farms where it is being fed for the first time . . . Wellington: Artificial insemination expansion has been planned for North Wellington cattle breeders by the Waterloo unit.

Lambton: Barns are filled with roughage. Most farms are carrying as many cattle as they can feed. County Holstein artificial insemination unit have had a successful year. Two Shorthorn bulls are being added.

There is a keen demand for milk cows in Lincoln. In Grenville: relative prices of feed and eggs leave a very small margin for profit. County council has bought several hundred more acres near Merrickville for reforestation.

Kent: Most fall work was pretty well completed before the weather moved in.

HAS FOURTEEN CALVES

Molly Rag Apple Boon a pure-bred Holstein owned by Roy E. McKeown, Russell, Ont., has recently given birth to her fourteenth calf, all of them singles births. Ten of these were females and four males. This is an unusually large number of calves from one cow.

Federation Under Fire Of Western Farm Unions

Friction within and between farm organizations of western Canada is reported in recent newspapers from Calgary and Saskatoon.

"Anti-Communism move defeated again by the Farmers' Union of Alberta?" is the heading of a report of a meeting of the FUA Tuesday Dec. 11. It relates to discussion of a second attempt to pass an amendment to the constitution of the Farmers' Union of Alberta—"an amendment specifically designed to eliminate any taint of Communism in the organization—was decisively defeated during the Union's third annual convention at the Palliser hotel Tuesday."

"Framed by lawyers as holeproof, the amendment was the result of a storm that broke over the F.U.A. during its second annual meeting in Calgary last year. At that time the organization failed in its attempt to oust two men of alleged Communist leanings.

The new amendment, designed to put teeth in the constitution was defeated by 312 to 188 votes, a majority of only 62.4%. A three-quarter majority was necessary for the amendment to become law."

The Herald story continues: "Broadly speaking, the resolution would have given the board of directors the power to expel any member of the organization for any conduct which, in the opinion of the board, was undesirable, harmful or prejudicial to the best interests of the association, or to the attainment of its objects, or in the best interests of Canada."

A second resolution which had been held in abeyance pending the outcome of the constitutional amendment, did not find a seconder when presented.

Its text was : 'The association shall be non-partisan in politics except in the case of Communists, Nazis, Fascists, or any other doctrine or organization which works to the detriment of this association and or Canada's as a whole; and therefore no known Communists, Nazis, Fascists or other person working under a doctrine inimical to the well-being of this association or to Canada may be members of this association, but otherwise this association may exert pressure upon all political parties to secure its objectives."

The F.U.A. approved a special oath which all its officials must take on assuming office. It affirms loyalty to His Majesty King George VI.

James Jackson of Irma declined nomination for president "because the F.U.A. was not like the old Adberta Farmers' Union where all the members were pulling in the same direction".

Rift In Saskatchewan

Alleging that the president was antagonistic to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, two members of the executive of Saskatchewan Farmers' Union resigned at its meeting in Saskatoon.

They were: Alf. Gleave of Biggar, 2nd vice-president; and J. W. Beresowski of Sheho, director. The president is J. L. Phelps. The question in dispute was that of affiliation with the provincial Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Gleave said the president had thrown his weight and influence in getting an amended motion passed that made the SFU membership in the Federation contingent on changing the organization of both the provincial and national federations.

Mr. Beresowski said the Union represented fewer than one-seventh of Saskatchewan farmers, and to get a representative farm voice on problems, co-operation was essential.

"Mr. Phelps has decided to make the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union the one and only group speaking for farmers," Mr. Berezowski said. "It's a make or bust policy, and bust it will be."

Mr. Berezowski said that if the Phelps dictatorial policy continued, the president might unintentionally hand over the organization to the Communists.

Mr. Phelps said one Canadian Federation aim was to "co-ordinate the efforts of agricultural producer organizations" and another to "co-operate with other groups of producers". The CFA was top-heavy with commercial co-op membership and had too few actual producers groups, said Phelps.

In Manitoba Too

Here's a quotation from remarks of Jake Schulz, president of Manitoba Farmers' Union, that the split between his organization and the Federation was even wider.

"You don't affiliate with a dead horse," said Schulz, referring to the Manitoba Federation.

"Do you want to become a limb on another body, or become the body yourselves?" was his sneer at the Federation.

The Year's Shortest Day

December has been beating against the barricades of home this week with the fresh forces of winter. Snow blew against the outer door, and piled up in little slanting banks where it fell. Frost spread its fantastic pattern in hoar on the casement that in spring opened joyously to May's magic. Gusts of wind flung at the pane toward the flames of the dry birch dancing into the chimney from their circle of warmth.

The old year is counting its few remaining days, but the new season is stalking the countryside in full possession of fields and woods where life is dormant or reduced to the small and hardy company of the nuthatch, the chickadee, the bluejay.

This is the year's shortest day. In the solar calendar it is a day of promise as the sun reaches its farthest declension below the equator, and turns about with its face again to the north. That seems a long, slow beat through the months to March as the nights perceptibly shorten during the bleak weeks of January.

Meanwhile, Orion dominates the night sky in full command of the agencies of winter, and the one-half world seems dead. All the seasons possess different elements of violence, but winter is a prolonged menace in its blasts and depths of snow and rigors of cold.

For all its forces under the marshalling of Orion, the end of this strenuous young season can be counted from today with certitude. Life is tucked away and battened down with mysterious expedients. The circlet of eggs on a twig of the chokecherry tree traces the tent caterpillar in its hibernation. The cricket, the grasshopper and a whole host of insects will similarly emerge again into a new summer.

Life is quiescent in the bulb of the jack-in-the-pulpit, in the root system of the lily-of-the-valley, and in all the seeds that were cast about in nature's own harvest time. But, their assured flowering is remote. For next week the young pines offer their green felicity to home life and its resources of heart and spirit that conduce to happiness, especially when the dry birch sputters in the fireplace.

May the festive trees enrich the homely joys of Christmas on the manor farmsteads of Peterborough's Dingley Dells.

Bethany School Pupils Present Yuletide Concert

BETHANY, Dec. 21—(ENS)—The pupils of Bethany school presented their annual Christmas concert to a very appreciative audience in the town hall on Wednesday.

The opening number was given by the entire school on the platform with a "Welcome" recitation given by Leone Jordan, junior room pupil; and an address of welcome given by Ingrid Rajaki, senior room pupil, followed by the singing of "Silent Night," "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" and "We Welcome You."

A dialogue, "Messages for Santa," was given by John Jackson, Allan Smith, Jane Fallis and Wallace Cooper.

There were recitations by Dianne Bigelow, Murray Smith, Paul Pomeroy, Leone Smith, Tommy Rayson, Allan Smith, Bruce Wright, Donna Durham, Colleen Durham, Dianne Bigelow and Joan Morton.

A "Star" drill was exceptionally well done, the girls, Ingrid Rajaki, Gayle Bristow, June Wright, Colleen Durham, Joan Morton, Phyllies Bristow, Donna Durham, Leone Jordan, Sally Coburn, Brenda Rowan and Muriel Sheckleton, all in charming mauve and yellow costumes carrying wands with silver stars. A "Tramp" drill followed, a burlesque imitation of the first one, the boys dressed as hobooes and their walking sticks and knapsacks taking the place of the wands.

A dialogue, "The Train to Loontown," was well acted by Peter Coburn as the conductor, Muriel Sheckleton, Gayle Bristow, Paul Pomeroy, Donald Smith, Joan Morton, George Scott and Phyllis Bristow as the passengers.

Ingrid and Waltraud Rajski, two little girls who came here as immigrants from Germany about a year ago, sang "Silent Night" in their native language.

Phyllis and Gayle Bristow sang "Here Comes Canta Claus."

A dialogue, "The Wrong Present," was given by Bruce Wright, Dianne Bigelow, Malcolm Smelt, Leone Jordan and Donald Smelt.

"Buying Eggs" was another dialogue given by Phyliss Bristow, Colleen Durham and Murray Smith.

A short play in two scenes, "Sparkin Mary Jane," was presented by June Wright, Bobby Ryley, Barry Smith and Ingrid Rajski.

Throughout the program, the dancing class of June Wright, who is one of the senior pupils, gave several numbers, all in costume. The class was only begun about three months ago and all show remarkable progress. The entire group: Sally Coburn, Brenda Rowan, Leone Jordan, Donna Durham, Leone Smith, Colleen Durham, Dianne Mulligan and June Wright, gave an acrobatic dance. Little Dianne Mulligan, the youngest pupil in the school, danced "The Irish Jig." Leone Jordan, Colleen Durham and Donna Durham tap - danced. Brenda Rowan, Leone Jordan and Sally Coburn did a waltz clog dance. June Wright and Muriel Sheckleton gave a really humorous exhibition of Turkey In the Straw, a mixture of tap and clog dancing.

The final number was given by the entire school on the platform singing three Christmas carols, "Silent Night," "Merry Christmas Day" and "Away in a Manger"; an acrobatic spelling Santa Claus and a "Good Night" recital by little Patsy Bigelow. Patsy is not yet old enough to go to school. The recitation was to have been given by her sister, Sharon, who was ill and unable to attend. From hearing her sister learn it at home, Patsy had it letter perfect and received special applause from the audience for her first venture at public speaking.

The teachers, Mrs. Orlo Wright and Miss Velma Thexton, directed the program. Mr. H. Rayson, of the trustee board, was chairman. Mrs. Gerald Bristow was the pianist and Mrs. Reg Edmunds assisted in training the musical numbers. The arrival of Santa Claus and distribution of gifts brought a very happy evening to its close.

FLOODING AT SOO—Flood waters from the swollen St. Marys River leave a trail of broken ice behind as they swirl across the approaches to the Customs office and ferry slip at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. A combination of cold weather, northwest winds and a heavy flow of ice from Lake Superior caused the flooding which set docks awash and isolated houses and warehouses along the shore. Ferry service to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was stopped for more than 48 hours.

Ground Corps To Aid RCAF Radar Chain

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 —(CP)—A ground observer corps of 150,000 civilians to supplement the RCAF's early-warning radar chain by reporting aircraft seen or heard is beginning to take shape, the air force announced today.

The corps, which is taking as its motto "the eyes and ears of the RCAF", is to become operational in 1952. The first call for civilian volunteers is to be made early in the year.

Decision to form the corps was announced last March. Since then detachments of regular force RCAF personnel have been formed at Halifax, Montreal, North Bay, and Vancouver. Other detachments are being formed at St. John's, Nfld., Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton.

These detachments will be responsible for running the corps in their areas and also for fitting the smaller groups into the over-all national system.

To Submit Reports

Civilian observers will submit reports on aircraft sighted or heard to filter centres which also are being established across Canada.

When recruiting of civilian observers or filter centre plotters starts, preference will be given men and women not normally qualified for regular military service in wartime.

Forms, pamphlets and manuals will be distributed to all prospective members of the corps. They will provide a detailed description of the organization and of the job of individual members.

RCAF planes will be used in training exercises.

Besides supplementing the RCAF's early-warning radar system, the corps is expected to be of some help in reporting "friendly" aircraft in distress.

Jury Deadlocked

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP). — The jury trying Michael Moretti, suspended policeman, for murder was discharged Thursday after it reported it was hopelessly deadlocked. The jury was discharged and a mistrial declared. Moretti, 32, was accused of shooting three young men as they sat in a parked car on a vacant lot awaiting removal to a police station. Moretti testified he shot in self-defence while making a narcotics investigation.

Garson Calls Drew 'Jackass'

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, was described in the Commons Thursday night—in a nice way—as a "pompous Jackass" after he referred to Justice Minister Garson as the "Minister of Make Believe."

The term was applied to Mr. Garson last Monday by Roland Beaudry (L, Montreal St. James). Since then Mr. Drew has used it several times. Mr. Garson objected for the first time Thursday night and asked for a withdrawal. Mr. Drew did not withdraw.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said that reference to Mr. Garson as the "Minister of Make Believe" was almost as bad as if "I referred to the leader of the opposition as a pompous jackass for leading a filibuster."

Mr. Drew laughed and said that he might have taken offence if the remarks had come from some one other than Mr. Sinclair who had "completely discredited himself" during the debate on anti-price-fixing legislation.

In declining to withdraw his references to Mr. Garson, Mr. Drew said the term had been used by a Liberal member. He had taken it as a term of "affection" that was much more generous than the term which could be applied to a minister who had broken the law in not making public a combines report on the flour milling industry.

Deputy Speaker J. A. Dion said Mr. Drew's refrence to the minister was not very courteous and should not be used.

Mrs. Edward Pearson

The funeral for Mrs. Edward Pearson, the former Amy Victoria Freeburn, RR 1 Lakefield, who died Tuesday, was held Thursday from the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart of Wesley United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Edward Freeburn, Allan Freeburn, Milson Freeburn, James Freeburn, Willie Armstrong, Bob Freeburn. Flower bearers were Melville Crapp, Gerald Tedford, Francis Tedford, Roydon Harvey, Claire Kearns, Ralph Garbutt, Roger Armstrong, Wellie Freeburn. Burial was in Ray's cemetery, Lakefield.

Anti-Semitism Feared In Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya, Dec. 21—(CP)—An anti-Jewish outburst in an Arab magazine here appears to foreshadow a nettling problem facing this North African country after it gains independence the day before Christmas.

United Nations officials closely studied an anti-Jewish blast by the Arab magazine Al Libi, which charged that poor Jews had emigrated to Israel while rich Jews remained here to exploit the Libyan economy.

Libya, former Italian colony of 1,000,000 North African Arabs, will receive its independence as a sovereign state on Christmas Eve.

The decision was reached by the French and British Governments, who administer the three component regions of the area—Cyrenaica, Tripolitania and the Fezzan.

Three Indicted For Smuggling

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 21 (AP) Three men were indicted by a federal grand jury on smuggling charges Thursday in connection with what authorities called a scheme to bring gold-bearing ore into the United States from Canada.

They were Paul La Motha, 25, of Niagara Falls, Ont.; Manuel Lester, 30, and David M. Brown, 42, both of New York.

They were arrested between Buffalo and Niagara Falls Dec. 3. Edwin Manning, agent in charge of the US Secret Service office here, said $30,000 worth of gold ore and raw silver was found in an automobile the men were driving.

Manning said the trio had been under observation for about 18 months. He said they had been bringing the ore in from the Timmins mining area for shipment abroad.

Canadians Entertained By Germans For Christmas

HAMBURG, Dec. 21 (CP). — At least one out of every five Canadian soldiers in Germany will spend Christmas with a German family as a result of a German-Canadian friendship campaign.

Eleven hundred of the 5,000 Canadian soldiers of the 27th Infantry Brigade stationed in the British Zone of Germany under NATO command have been invited to German homes for Christmas Eve and holiday dinners, a Canadian spokesman said Thursday.

Meanwhile several hundred German kiddies are having a swell time at the Christmas parties given by many Canadian units.

A Canadian officer said: "When we arrived four weeks ago, the Germans snubbed us. But when they learned we came from Canada and were not occupation troops living partly on the German economy, but rather Atlantic Pact defence forces where everything is being paid for by the Canadian Government, they immediately became very much friendlier."

"Since then relations between our troops and the German civilian population are very, very good."

DOROTHY DIX

Husband's Only Interest His Clothes And Appearance

DEAR MISS DIX: Can you tell me what's wrong with my husband? We've been married 24 years. He buys all the new clothes he needs, but when I want something new I must earn the money for it. He makes fun of my appearance, then tells me the compliments people pay him on the way he looks. He comes home, sits in a rocker looking at himself in a mirror and fusses with his hair or clothes.

Dorothy Dix

We have two boys, and he says when the younger is 14 he will leave us, and won't give us a black penny. The children are worried about it, and of course so am I.

HELEN.

ANSWER: In the first place, your husband can't abandon you without some support, at least for the children. If he tries it, get legal assistance either from a lawyer you may know, or from the Legal Aid Society, which can be located through your telephone book, or one in your nearest big city.

Consider Children First

Your husband's constant preoccupation with his own good looks calls for psychiatric treatment. However, since a man who is so in love with himself seldom is unfaithful, you have that consolation at least. Don't let him jeopardize your children's health. If he continues to plague the youngsters with his threats, you'll be better off away from him, even if it's only a temporary separation.

DEAR MISS DIX: What is your opinion of a grandmother who won't mind her grandchild? My husband and I were invited to a wedding and I asked my mother-in-law to mind our 18-months-old baby. She refused. This was the first time we had ever asked her. I don't believe a young couple should make a habit of asking their mothers to mind the children but it seems to me once in a year and a half wouldn't hurt.

ANSWER: I agree completely with your conclusions, but many grandmothers feel that if they mind a youngster once, his mother will make a habit of going out and grandma will be stuck with baby-sitting every day. Of course, this happens just often enough to give justification to her worries.

Most women are happy to mind their grandchildren now and then but care should be taken that they are not imposed upon with this task. After all, they have raised the generation for which they were directly responsible, and the task is now handed down. Grandma has earned whatever rest she can get (which in these hectic days usually isn't much) and should be free to enjoy her children and grandchildren as she herself feels able.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a couple of girls aged 17 and 18. We are worried over losing our boy friends. They claim to like us very much but won't come calling at our homes. We always have to meet them at a snack bar. Then they just stay around acting as though they wanted to be noticed by other girls. They are very nice to us otherwise.

M. T. and B. B.

ANSWER: Are boys so scarce in your town that you have to latch on to such undesirables as these? Any boy worth his salt would be glad to call for a girl at her home. They know the nicest girls will consider no other meeting place. Apparently all these boys like is to have you notice how popular they are. Let them hang around the snack bar themselves and delight the feminine customer with their charms. You two find some boy friends with a little more respect for young ladies.

DEAR MISS DIX: I went with a boy for four years, then we broke up. Now I find he is planning to marry someone else and return here to live. His home will be directly across the street from mine. I have tried every possible way to forget him but can't. It will be heartbreaking to see him every day. What can I do?

K.O.M.

ANSWER: You are indeed faced with a difficult situation. If it is at all possible, why not take a job somewhere else for a while and live away from home? Of course, this is only putting off the day when you'll have to see each other every day, but it will help until the adjustment period is over. If this course is impossible, there is nothing for you to do but face the problem squarely. It really won't be as difficult in actuality as it seems in perspective; few things are. Continue your own social life as actively as possible and in time the heartache will pass.

$500,000 FIRE — Roaring flames are shown sweeping through a waterfront warehouse-apartment building in Brockville early Thursday. Damage was placed at $500,000. No one suffered serious injury but 12 persons were made homeless. Three fire brigades fought the blaze in 10-below weather.

Businessmen Collect For Quebec Poor

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, Dec. 21 —(CP)—A group of Quebec businessmen are sometimes called "Angels of the Poor." They're "Les Guignoleux" and they collect at Christmas time more than $15,000 a year for the city's needy carrying out a tradition that's as old as French Canada.

Quebec City's commercial travellers have carried on the tradition of "La Guignolee" for 50 years, putting aside private affairs and going out with long, mended woolen stockings in hand to beg money, or for what have you.

"La Guignolee" is one of the many expressions which Quebecers have preserved from ancient times. It apparently derive its name from French verb "guigner" which means to pester someone for something, or, to beg.

Wearing the long red tuque of the ancient coureurs des bois and a "ceinturon" (knitted belt) over their overcoats, the business men visit plants, offices and private homes.

The "guignoleux" costumes always make Quebecers laugh and the old folksongs they sing while collecting remind men and women of their childhood days. It makes them dig a little deeper in their pockets.

"La guignolee la guignoloche
"Mettez du lard dedans nos poches"

Put a little pork in our pockets, says the song.

In old times, farmers gave whole hogs. Today, money is the usual gift and the commercial travelers like it that way.

J. H. Boulet, who has been secretary of "La guignolee" for 30 years, says he remembers when the "guignoleux" spent hours quartering meat.

This year costumed men invaded the Quebec legislature and legislative business waited while the members of the provincial House placed their offerings in the traditional stockings. The guignoleux sang their little song.

Last year $16,500 was collected and distributed to every Roman Catholic parish in the city, to Protestant charitable organizations and the Ladies Hebrew Aid.

In line with the Quebec tradition that presents come at New Year's, not at Christmas, the commerical travellers sent out the money Dec. 28 in time for "Le Jour De L'an"—New Year's Day.

What's Right?

You have spent a weekend in a friend's home and are packing to leave.

WRONG: Say airily: "I always forget something so, if I leave anything just mail it on to me."

RIGHT: Make sure you pack all of your belongings. It is a great nuisance to a hostess to have to wrap and mail possessions left behind by careless guests.

Gala Christmas Party At Young's Point

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 21 — (ENS) — Gay wreaths and tangy evergreens decorated the little white church for the children's Christmas party. The Rev. W. Tonge was chairman and the program opened with the singing of two carols, "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" and "Away in a Manger," with J. Jones at the organ.

Bobby Godfrey gave the welcome and other recitations were by Joyce Garrett, Wayne Freeburn, Linda Godfrey, Tommy Freeburn, Sylvia Freeburn, and John Godfrey. A short play, "Christmas Memories," was given by Marilyn and Gary Jones. Bob Clark gave a reading entitled "A Greedy Boy." The Christmas Story was read by John Godfrey, with carol singing by the choir and the audience.

Other items included an exercise by the primary Sunday School class entitled "Christmas Emblems." and a Christmas drill by six girls. Gary Clark closed the program with a "Good Night" recitation, while nine small children, each holding a letter, spelled out Good Night.

While the children sang "Here Comes Santa Claus," the jovial old gentleman appeared and distributed candy, oranges and presents to all the Sunday School classes. Lunch was served by the ladies of the church.

Unbeautiful Legs No Tragedy

Inasmuch as legs rank high on most masculine check-lists of beauty, many women with heavy calves feel this problem is a real tragedy. As a result they often attempt to handle it with an emotional intensity that's disproportionate to the difficulty.

There is one group of thick-legged women who adopt a sort of wild bravado. They attempt to prove they're ignoring this defect by dressing as if their legs were perfect. They wear their skirts as short as propriety and current fashion allow. They choose extravagant shoes that draw attention to their feet and legs. In this category are platform soles, glitter studs, flopping bows, or, worst of all, sandals with thongs to wrap around their ankles. They even flaunt this poor feature with a glittering ankle-bracelet to catch an observer's eye.

Other Extreme

Then there is the other extreme. Some women with flashy legs go prematurely matronly, wearing their skirts extra-long to hide their unlovely calves and choosing "sensible" shoes with only support in mind. They are generally so apologetic about this part of their anatomy that it's a shame that they didn't live when these extremities were referred to only in hushed tones as limbs.

A straight-forward, common-sense attitude is best, if you wish to minimize the weight of your legs. Choose a medium-length skirt—one that will not, by its measurement call attention to itself.

Shoes too, should be inconspicuous. A plain, well-made pump is usually a good choice, or, if you feel you need more support, select a more substantial shoe that has sufficient style in its design to avoid an outmoded look. As much unwelcome attention is showered upon those who are obviously behind the times as upon those who flaunt unsuitable styles.

Lace For Dinner

PARIS—Paquin makes much play with lace, using it for feminine ankle-length dinner dresses. One of his most outstanding models is in black lace with modestly veiled shoulders, neither entirely sleeveless nor quite a fichu, the fullness being draped to the base of the pointed neckline and trimmed with a large pink rose.

CGIT Holds Vesper Meet At Norwood

NORWOOD, Dec. 21 (ENS). — The CGIT of Norwood United Church held their Christmas vesper service Tuesday night. They were assisted by the Rev. H. K. Wright, the choir and Mrs. William Garden, who was organist for the service.

Ushers were Patsy Atkinson, Ruth Andrews, Sylvia Hie, Anne Kavanagh, Eileen Millett, Nona Scott, Lois Scott, and Anne Sinclair. The offering was taken by Sandra Flett, Gloria Gardner, Esther Edmunds, Anne LaBrash, Barbara Rae, and Beverly Rothwell.

Mrs. Donald Audas was the leader, Mrs. Bernie Jackson first reader, and the president, Eleanor Kavanagh second reader.

The first candle was lit by the leader, the treasurer Gail Baker lit the second candle, and Janet Burtt the secretary lit the third candle.

After the benediction all the girls lit small candles and silently circled the darkened church.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"I might have known—you're too lazy to walk in the daytime, and now you're too lazy to walk in your sleep!"

Mrs. M. Deyell Omemee WA Head

OMEMEE, Dec. 21 (ENS)—The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt addressed the United Church Woman's Association at their December meeting and presided for election of officers.

Mrs. L. Casey's resignation as first vice-president was accepted with regret. It was decided to adopt the group system for the coming year. By unanimous consent it was decided to send a token gift to Mrs. Parnell of the Peterborough Salvation Army in appreciation of a past favor.

Mrs. V. Lang presented the devotional theme "God's Gift To Man" and led in prayer, and a relevant scripture passage was read by Mrs. Northey from Matt. 2. In three-part harmony, "The First Nowell" was sung by Misses Marie Rich, Marion Zufelt and Katherine Carnegie.

Mr. Zufelt gave an interesting talk on four Christmases spent overseas and his reaction to being home for the Christmas season the next year. The Christmas of 1941 for which he had sacrificed leaves to spend at home, was spent on shipboard in an English port. In 1942 he was with the first division on the south coast of England and in '43 and '44 active warfare continued all day. In each case there was some form of celebration, but adoration for the Christ Child—God's Gift to Man—was far removed. Always the extra rations of beer and wine spoiled the padre's plans for a Christian Christmas. Not only on Christmas but always liquor proved a detriment to the soldiers' well being. Mr. Zufelt closed by voicing this strong conviction, "Liquor is of no use to the fighting man."

Officers for the coming year are: President, Mrs. H. Deyell; first vice-president, Mrs. V. Lang, second vice-president, Mrs. Overholt; secretary, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan; assistant secretary, Mrs. R. E. Brooks; treasurer, Mrs. A. N. Weir; pianist, Miss L. Race; assistant pianist, Mrs. S. Moyer; M. and M. representative, Mrs. Vaughan; parsonage committee, Mrs. Overholt, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. V. Lang; group leaders, Mrs. V. Lang, Mrs. W. D. Weir, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. J. B. Hough and Mrs. H. Lang.

Knitted Clothes For Evening Too

NEW YORK — Aileen Rice, using only the finest imported wools, boucle de laines, chiffon ribbons, and an unusual thick-and-thin wool that works up like lace in the finished costume, designs a distinguished group of knitted and crocheted ensembles for both daytime and evening.

Her daytime dresses are clean-cut and restrained in outline — normal shoulders and waistline—yet never severe. Sleeves with inset pleats give top fullness, yet are narrowly neat and tight at the wrist. There are tiny double collars: touches of knit velvet piping; buttons with hand-sewn centres—these details reflecting quiet femininity.

Smaller brothers and sisters were their guests and also their mothers for whom they each had a pretty calendar they had made in school. Toy games were on the Christmas trees and were given to the children by teacher Mrs. V. Northcott. Then they had ice cream and cookies after their music circle and games. Armstrong and Miss Beryl Hart, assisted by Miss Joan Krogh. The girls gathered at Mrs. Armstrong's home, 517 Stewart St., and at seven o'clock ushered in the Misses E. and N. McGregor of 299 McDonnel St., both nearly 90 years young, one being blind the past four years. President Miss Joan Weir presented the pink rosebuds to these honored guests with love and season's greetings from the group. Then three of the girls went to the home of Mrs. A. C. Leslie, 274 McDonnel St., a loveable shut-in of many years, to present her with a red rosebud and the season's greetings. They sang a few carols for her and Beverley Bacon told the story of Silent Night. Girls at the house also sang Christmas carols and played games. Refreshments were served by the leaders.

Santa Comes To School

BRIDGENORTH, Dec. 21 — (ENS)—Santa Claus arrived early in the afternoon on Thursday for the Christmas party at the Bridgenorth public school. 'Mid the loud howls of glee amongst the 90 children he opened a very large and heavy pack containing a gift for every school child and a large candy bag. Due to the large number of children attending the school this year, it was found necessary to dispense with the concert and hold the party in the afternoon. The children all gathered in the old school and two amusing films were shown by Mr. Rae Brownsell, principal. Assisted by teachers Mrs. B. Patterson and Miss Murphy a program of skits and songs was performed by the children.

At the close of their program, the children moved into the new school to be served with sandwiches, cookies and chocolate milk by members of the Home and School Association, who were in charge of the planning of the treats for the school children. Mrs. Don McKay was convener for the gifts and refreshments.

Queen Elizabeth Pupils' Concert

The pupils of Queen Elizabeth School gave a concert Thursday evening under the leadership of the three teachers, Mr. Loveday, Mrs. Grant and Miss Bell.

At the opening the junior room formed a half circle to sing "Jolly Santa" and then each repeated a verse of "What We Want for Christmas." Forming into a vee, they sang "When Christ Was Born" before leaving the platform.

Marjorie Elliott and Donna Beeler played piano duets, Jingle Bells and Dashing Through the Snow.

Children from the intermediate room sang two carols, Silent Night and Joy to the World, and each one recited a verse about the symbols of Christmas.

Senior room presented a skit called "Christmas Fable." The parts of three society women who looked only at the monetary side of the festive season were taken by Marsha Worton, Velma Hughey and Iona Dillman and Shirley McGrath played a Scandinavian maid who believed in the true Christmas. The elves were George Heard who didn't believe in Christmas and Bobbie Hancock who did.

The senior pupils left the stage singing a carol and with that Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts and candies to the children.

British Woman Is Plumper Survey Shows

LONDON, Dec. 21 (Reuters)—The British woman is plumper than her American counterpart, a London clothing store said yesterday.

The store, which has a branch near the United States air force camp at Burtonwood, Lancashire, said a survey showed the airmen's wives had an average hip measurement of 36 to 37 inches while the English woman averaged 38 to 40.

The Americans were more diet-conscious than the British, it said.

The British Medical Journal also gave the Englishwoman cause to ponder her size. It said on average she was twice as fat as the British male.

According to early Egyptian custom, no king could be crowned without first being anointed with perfumed oils which were applied by the priests who pretended the ceremony was carried out by the gods, and each year the royal mummies were treated to a sprinkling of perfumes.

Julius Caesar forbade the sale of perfumes, but the law was ineffectual.

Cave for Kilowatts

Power will flow to Alcan's future aluminum smelter at Kitimat, B.C., from a power plant built inside a man-made cave which stretches a quarter of a mile inside a mountain! What's more, a tunnel will be driven ten miles through the mountain, to carry water to drive the turbines.

The resourcefulness of engineers, the know-how of skilled construction workers, plus a quarter of a billion dollars — all are put to work in both East and West to further increase the supply of aluminum for Canada's own needs, and the demands of other countries. MARY MOORE SAYS:

Making Of Salt-Free Bread Using Chemical Substitutes

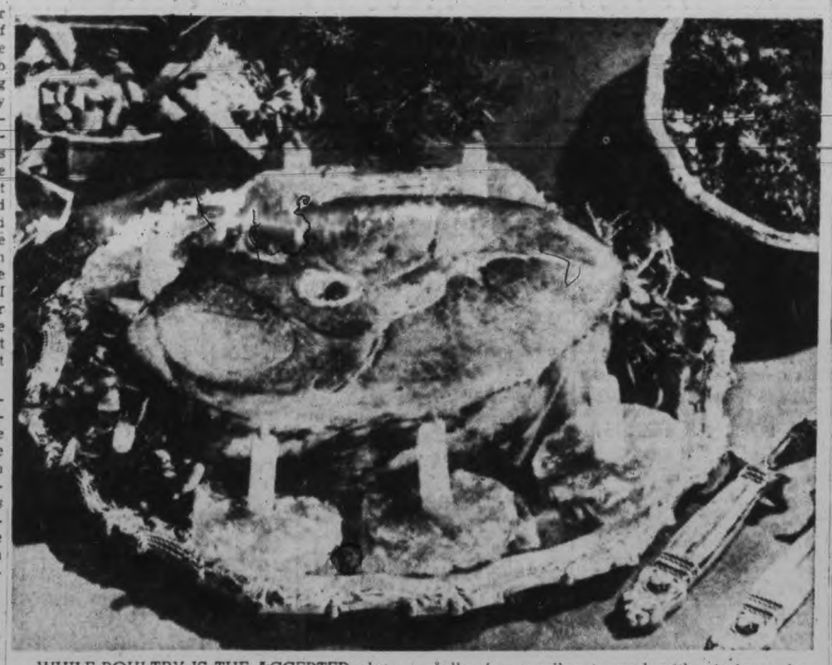
QUESTION: I enjoy your column and have used many of your recipes. I would appreciate any help you may be able to give in respect to the following problem: A member of our family is on a salt-free diet, and manages very well with the exception of bread. She finds saltless bread too unpalateable, so I have been making bread using the salt substitute neo-curtasal. The bread seems to be dry and coarse and when baking there seems to be an acid fume rsing from the oven which stings the eyes. I use Fleischman's fast-rising yeast. I follow the standard recipe for bread with the exception of the salt substitute. Would the salt substitute have an adverse effect on the yeast? V. C.

ANSWER: I am not in a position to comment on the salt substitute you mention. But I do have a recipe for salt free bread. The chemical which gives the illusion of salt flavor is monosodium glutamate. I mention it sometimes under the name of MSG. Its commercial name is Ac-Cent by one company. It is the pure protein of wheat and has a flavor reminiscent of chicken-salt.

Salt Free Bread

One-half cake of yeast (½oz.), ½ tablespoon sugar, ½ cup milk, 1 tablespoon vegetable shortening, 3½ cups bread flour, 1 tablespoon butter (if any butter is allowed—if not use 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening for the whole shortening content), ½ cup water. Crumble the yeast and add the sugar. Heat the water, milk and shortening together in saucepan and when cooled to lukewarm add yeast and sugar to them and mix well. Add half of the flour and 1 teaspoon MSG (see notes above) and mix well. Add remainder of flour to make a stiff dough. Knead dough until smooth and elastic and squeaky. Place in greased bowl, then spread with melted shortening, cover with towel and let rise in warm place until doubled in size. Knead again until dough squeaks, then shape into loaf. Place in well-greased loaf pan and spread with melted shortening. Let rise again until doubled. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 to 400 deg. Fahr.) 1 hour.

QUESTION: May we have a good recipe for an ordinary carrot pudding? Mrs. M. R. Sydenham.



ANSWER: This was an excellent time to ask for a carrot pudding.

Emem's Carrot Pudding

One-half cup each shortening, brown sugar, cleaned and dried currants, seedless raisins, 1 cup grated raw carrots, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, 2 teaspoons shredded or grated lemon rind, 1¼ cups sifted cake flour, ½ teaspoon each baking soda, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, ¾ teaspoon baking powder. Cream the shortening very well, then cream the sugar into it gradually; next beat in the egg and the water. Add carrot, currants, raisins and lemon rind. Sift together all the remaining dry ingredients and sift over the first mixture and stir in. Turn into a greased large mould or two medium ones, cover and steam 1 hour, then uncover and bake 10 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. This could be steamed in individual custard cups. Only fill large or small moulds two-thirds full.

QUESTION: Would you please repeat your recipe for making whipped cream from powdered milk? Can skim or whole milk be used equally well? (No name)

ANSWER: Use skim milk powder, adding 1 cup to 1 cup cold water, sprinkling it on top. Beat until thick as marshmallow cream. Only spray-process powdered skim milk will whip. The roller process skim milk will not.

WHILE POULTRY IS THE ACCEPTED plate for Christmas some people do prefer a beautiful roasted ham. Pineapple rings with celery stalks for candles topped with pimiento for the flame make a most unique garnish for the Christmas dinner.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Colored Fruit Adds Festive Yule Touch

By KAY REX,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Among a lot of ideas for Christmas decorating are tips for the table from the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association.

To repeat the bright colors of tree ornaments, the Association recommends festive bowls of fruit. Pomegranates, for instance, were well known in the Holy Land before Christ. Red apples should be polished until they fairly glow. Bright red Emperor grapes and glossy bits of holly contribute more color.

For the dinner-table or buffet is suggested a big platter of persimmons, pomegranates "for sentiment," black Ribier grapes, oranges, apples and bananas. A cluster of deep green candles and a base of pine completes the picture.

Finally, for the festive dessert, "ambrosia." Ingredients: six oranges, three bananas, three tablespoons lemon juice, one-half cup honey, one-half cup grated fresh of shredded coconut, marachino cherries.

Cut oranges into sections, slice bananas and toss together. Mix honey and lemon juice and pour over fruit. Sprinkle with coconut and garnish with cherries. Serve well chilled.

Partying

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that Christmas parties plan themselves. Simple refreshments are always best to serve, particularly ones that can be prepared ahead of time.

Party spread can be made early and in quantities large enough to last for several parties.

Combine various types of meat, cheese, fish or poultry with pickles, olives and spices. These can be placed in bowls and everyone allowed to serve himself. Instead of a bowl, a grapefruit or orange shell makes an excellent container for the filling.

Spread suggestions: cream cheese, finely minced garlic, salt and pepper and Worcestershire sauce; or cream cheese, mayonnaise and chipped dried beef; again, cream cheese, ground, steamed pruned, figs or apricot and chopped nuts.

Finely minced ham or chicken, chopped olives or gherkins and nuts also make a fine spread. Liverwurst, chopped pickles and mayonnaise make another tasty sandwich.

Thrift Lobby

The Canadian Association of Consumers has urged the federal government to ban the practice of resale price maintenance, and has called on all consumers to add their individual voices to the campaign.

In a special bulletin to all its members the CAC asks them to write their members of parliament asking them "to protect the interest of the buying public in these times of high prices by voting to outlaw the present price-fixing practice of resale price maintenance," the system whereby manufacturers fix the retail price of their goods.

Glamorous Scarf Dresses Up Simple Frock

PARIS— If your choice should run to a very simple party frock because practical thoughts prevail and you may wish to wear it later on less formal occasion, then dress up for the party with a glamorous scarf of contrasting color, such as Jacques Fath shows with so many of his new models.

Indeed, the three-yard-long scarf or stole is still very much in the fashion picture. It may be in foamy tulle or crisp taffeta.

Bailieboro News

On Friday evening the Bailieboro Women's Institute sponsored a euchre in Centreville Hall when prizes went to Mrs. Everett Wood, Mr. L. Shortt, Trevor Wood, and Mrs. Shortt. Proceeds of the euchres to date are $71. Tickets bringing in almost $40 had been sold on four Christmas cakes, the proceeds to be sent to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. These cakes were won by Mrs. I. Muspratt, Mrs. E. Wood, Mr. D. Thompson, and Mrs. K. Huggins.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Dawson Rutherford entertained in honor of her husband, Mr. D. Rutherford, whose birthday was on December 16. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Robison, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Cann, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cann, Mr. and Mrs. George Beebe.

Visitors to Toronto on Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. R. Crews and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lackey, Mrs. Bill Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. James Bell, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Souter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnard visited Mrs. J. Barnard in Toronto on Sunday.

Christmas concerts will be held this week at SS 2 School on December 19, at Bailieboro and No. 3 on December 20, at Bensfort United Church on December 21 and at No. 4 on December 22.

6—In Memoriam

EASON—In loving memory of our dear mother and father, Milton Eason, who passed away Dec. 2, 1945 and Clara Eason, who passed away Dec. 22, 1949.
While you, dear parents, rest and sleep,
Your loving memory we'll always keep.
—Ever remembered by son-in-law Percy and daughter Myrtle and grandsons Larry and Elwood.

FREEMAN—In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and sister, Mabel, who passed away one year ago today, Dec. 21, 1950.
You can only have one mother, patient, kind and true,
No other friend in all the world will be as true to you;
For all her loving kindness she asks nothing in return;
If all the world deserted you, to your mother you can turn.
So all we can do, dear mother, is to go and tend your grave
And leave behind a token of love to the best mother God ever made.
—Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten by her husband, family and sister, Mrs. Wm. Brotherstone.

KETCHESON—In loving memory of Ethel Maude Ketcheson, who passed away December 21, 1947.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by husband Maurice, daughter Myrtle, and son-in-law John.

LINDSAY—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. James Lindsay, who passed away Dec. 21, 1946.
Yes, she sleeps, but not forever,
In a lone and silent grave,
Blessed promise she shall waken,
Jesus died the lost to save.
In the dawning of the morning,
When the troubled night is o'er
All the buds in beauty blooming
Will rejoice to see her more.
—Ever remembered by Nettie, Laurie and family.

MOTHER—In loving memory of a dear mother, who passed away Dec. 21, 1946.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died five years ago.
—Ever remembered by daughter Meusa and Bruce and Jimmy Shane.

TROLLOPE—In loving memory of Henry Trollope, who passed away ten years ago, December 21, 1941.
I have only your memory, dear father
To remember my whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever
As I treasure the image of you.
—Ever remembered by his daughters Mildred, Hilda and Lilla.

Russian 'Agent' Goes To Jail

COLCHESTER, England, Dec. 21 — (Reuters). — A man claiming to be Canadian-born, who says he recently worked for the Russian secret police, was imprisoned for three months here today for entering Britain without a passport.

Stanley Oakman, 27, said he wanted to get back to Canada. He did not say where in Canada.

The magistrate recommended deportation, but police could not establish where Oakman's true homeland is.

Oakman said he had left a secret police job in Russia after getting into trouble with the police commander. He worked his way across Poland and Germany to Denmark, where he boarded a steamer that brought him to England.

But more than that, Oakman was not saying. "You police are paid to find out things like that. The story is true. And until you find out, I'll be happy in prison. They keep the sheets clean and they treat me well."

Man Pleads Guilty To Break-in

Charged with breaking and entering, Raymond Cannon, 25, 536 Patterson St., pleaded guilty in police court today.

After Cannon elected summary trial, and pleaded guilty, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw recommended that Cannon be placed on suspended sentence because he had no previous record and had joined the armed forces.

In placing Cannon on suspended sentences for one year under bond of $500 Magistrate W. R. Philp said it is very unusual for anyone convicted of breaking and entering to be placed on suspended sentence, you have been given your break.

Cannon was ordered to pay $2.50 in court costs.

$7 In Silver

He was charged with breaking in to a grocery store at Park and Romaine Sts. early on the morning of December 6 and stealing $7 in silver, four cartons of cigarettes and two cartons of tobacco.

Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke testified he had learned Cannon was seen in the vicinity the night of the break-in and on questioning him, he said, Cannon admitted entering the store.

Detective Clarke said the owner was reluctant to press charges against Cannon and that when a charge was laid later and a warrant issued, Cannon has disappeared.

He gave himself up at the police station, Thursday afternoon.

Driver Charged After Crash Pays $50 Fine

Arrested and charged with driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol, after being involved in an accident at Roger and Hunter streets Thursday afternoon, Jack F. Newton, 36, of 313 Walton St., Cobourg, pleaded guilty in police court today.

He was fined $50 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp. The magistrate also ordered Newton's car impounded for three months.

Lawrence Downs, 37, of 545 Gilmour St., who was with Newton at the time of the accident was arrested on a drunk charge. W. B. Gordon appeared for Downs in police court and crown attorney John A. Bradshaw consented to adjourning the case until December 28.

Failed To Stop

Acting patrol sergeant Claire McGillen testified that Newton failed to stop at Hunter St., and continued south on Roger St. colliding with a car driven by William J. McIlmoyle, 33 Armour Rd.

Loose snow on the street prevented the McIlmoyle car, which was going west on Hunter St., from being stopped in time, and both cars were damaged in the collision.

The Newton car was pushed around by the impact and stopped against a tree on the southwest corner of Roger St.

Mr. Bradshaw said he would offer no evidence on a second charge against Newton of failing to stop for a stop sign because it was all part of being impaired by alcohol.

Snow Sidelights

The CPR's standby plow hadn't made a move this morning, indicating an official indifference to a mere foot of snow on the level. It has been stalled all summer and fall on a siding back of the Canadian Raybestos.

A man in a restaurant chatting over a midnight cup of coffee: "It's just like a March storm. . . Wish it were."

A visitor from Australia who had never seen snow at Christmas: "It's really much warmer than a few days ago. Now I've learned to stay indoors when the sun is shining and to go abroad when snow is falling."

Only thing moving on Charlotte St., the whole length from George to Monaghan Road at 1:45 am was an arm-in-arm quartet ploughing cheerfully on foot up the very centre of the road. A couple of cars were grinding noisily on side streets, but not moving an inch.

A two-pint English car whippeting down Park St., snow piled on the roof almost as high as the car itself stood. A mouse with the world of snow on its back.

The beautiful silence of the streets, even the usually noisy Water and Charlotte Streets. Cars rolled along as quietly as cats on plush.

Determined Christmas shoppers plowed through the approximate 13 inches of snow that blanketed Peterborough today. George St. resembled a busy summer Saturday morning and storekeepers didn't seem to be losing any sales because of the weather. Most people seemed happy that the heavy snowfall would insure a white Christmas and took the hard going in their stride.

Factory parking lots were almost full today, but Monaghan Rd., by the CGE, was almost bare of cars. Usually, they are lined from Wolfe to Albert Sts., in solid lines on both sides of the street.

Telegraph boys were hoofing it in the heavy snow. Bicycles were useless and the boys were doing their errands by foot.

The wire fence around Morrow Park looked more like a board fence today. Snow had filled in the diamond-shaped gaps in the wire.

Three fir trees in front of one George St. house looked like snowmen today. The weighty snow was piled so heavily on them as to almost hide their limbs.

The parking lot on the old market square held only 15 or 20 cars at 11 am. Neither the driving lanes nor parking spaces in the lot had been plowed.

Those who left their Christmas shopping until the last, or thereabouts, let themselves in for an extra struggle with the weather. At least they were reminded often enough during the last month about taking chances.

Drivers on Aylmer St. north used a combined operation to get their cars in action this morning. They all were stuck when they tried to drive out of their lanes, but by joining forces to push each other out to the tracks on the road they all were able to drive to work.

Car Overturns On Road Passengers Killed

HEARST, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—Louis St. Amand, about 25, was killed near here Thursday night when the car in which he was riding overturned on a highway.

St. Amand was in the back seat of a car driven by Tony Marion, 28, a Quebec salesman. Marion and a third man in the car, Louis Thibeault, were taken to hospital in Timmins suffering from shock.

Two other passengers in the car, Harry MacDonald of Pembroke and Alf Holly of Hearst said the car was coasting down a hill at about 45 to 50 miles an hour when it struck a bump, skidded and rolled over three times.

EDITH CARLETON CHAPTER

The Christmas meeting and party of the Edith Carleton Chapter, IODE, was held Wednesday evening, at the home of Miss Irene Nicholls on Weller Street.

Miss Mary McRae, regent, conducted a short business meeting, during which a report of the Christmas tea was given, and the proceeds proved that it was quite successful. Donations were voted to several of the IODE funds, totalling $65.

Upon completion of business, Miss Joan Stock conducted an advertisement quiz, which showed that people do read ads.

Miss Rosemary Parker distributed the gifts exchanged by the members from the charming little Christmas tree, and the hostess served delightful Christmas refreshments.

Blizzard Hits Quebec City

QUEBEC, Dec. 21 (CP). — A blizzard lashed at Quebec City today, paralyzing transportation, commerce and the mails.

Seven inches of snow had fallen by morning. Driven by gusts of wind estimated at 40 miles an hour, the snow was still coming down heavily.

Department stores, counting on the last few days of shopping left before Christmas for a buying rush, said the stores were nearly empty of customers.

Thousands of Quebec workers who live in the city's suburbs stayed home. The more daring came into the city riding in trucks or atop snowplows.

Hundreds walked from the snowed-under suburbs of Ste. Foy, Giffard, Beauport, Quebec-Ouest.

UN To Cost Canada $1,608,000 In 1952

PARIS, Dec. 21 (Reuters). — Canada will contribute $1,608,000 to the cost of running the United Nations in 1952.

The amount is contained in the list of member contributions fixed today by the General Assembly.

Canada's share of the $48,000,000 budget is 3.35 per cent. Only six other countries will pay more.

The United States' share is the largest—36.9 per cent—a figure that was set despite US objections. Britain's share is 10.56 per cent, Russia 9.85, France 5.75, Nationalist China 5.75 and India 3.53.

Radio Operators Call Off Strike

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 21 (Reuters). — A strike of radio operators in Sydney and Melbourne, which partially severed Australia from the outside world for 42 hours, was settled today.

The Sydney strike had held up most radio messages to North America and the Pacific while the walkout in Melbourne temporarily stopped radio service to London.

The strike was called by the Professional Radio Employees' Institute as the result of a dispute about the status of men employed at a government-controlled station at Fiskville, 57 miles from Melbourne.

Settlement terms were not disclosed.

Says Paris Session Helps Cause Of Peace

PARIS, Dec. 21 (AP) — Louis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, president of the United Nations sixth general assembly, said today the UN's 45-day session in Paris has helped the cause of peace.

The assembly recesses tonight until Jan. 2 for a Christmas and New Year's holiday.

In a statement, Padilla said assembly debates have "reflected the general desire for action to end, or at least to soften the cold war. You find the desire for real action, for conciliation and a weariness with the pattern of combative argument..."

"It has not achieved realization but it is strong and pervades the entire atmosphere. That is the big story of this assembly."

Britain Warns Firms Not To Buy Iranian Oil

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP) — Britain issued a veiled threat of legal action today against any firm which may seek to buy oil from the nationalized Iranian fields.

The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, in which the British government has a majority holding, issued its warning in a series of paid advertisements in many of the world's leading newspapers.

They said the Iranian government, "in disregard of its solemn obligations," is attempting to sell crude oil and oil products obtained from the Anglo-Iranian's concessions, which the government of Premier Mossadegh took over last summer.

The company's advertisement warned that Anglo-Iranian would take "all such action as may be necessary" against anyone dealing with the nationalized Iranian Oil Company now running Iran's oil industry.

Seek 5 Men Stealing Child

PARRY SOUND, Dec. 21 (CP)—Police Chief George W. Doolittle said today he seeks a young father and four other men who allegedly entered a Parry Sound home and took away a three-year-old girl.

No charges yet have been laid but Crown Attorney A. G. Burbidge said the crown will lay a charge when the men are found. He did not say what the charge would be.

Chief Doolittle identified the father as Ken Hillman of New Toronto, a Toronto suburb. He said the five men entered the home of Hillman's estranged wife Wednesday night and took the child, Victoria, one of two Hillman children, from her bed, clad in pyjamas.

The chief said the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McPherson, were held while the men ransacked the house.

Navy Announces Korean War Decorations

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP).—The Navy today announced its first major decorations for service in the Korean theatre.

The awards included one Distinguished Service Order, two Distinguished Service Crosses, two British Empire Medals and three Mentions in Dispatches.

The DSO went to Capt. Jeffry V. Brock, DSC, of Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Cmdr. Robert P. Welland, DSC, CD, of Victoria, won a bar to his DSC, and Lieut. Andrew L. Collier, of Salmon Arm, BC, also received the DSC.

The British Empire Medal has been awarded to Chief Petty Officer Douglas J. Pearson of Victoria, and to Petty Officer Thos. Shields of Calgary.

Mentioned in dispatches are Cmdr. Paul D. Taylor of Victoria, commissioned gunner David W. Hurl of Winnipeg and Leading Seaman William J. Roberts of Alexander, Man.

Previous Awards

Only previous awards to RCN personnel for service in Korea were three mentions in dispatches which went to Capt. Brock, Cmdr. Welland and to Commissioned Engineer E. V. Dear of Victoria. These were announced last summer.

Capt. Brock was senior officer of the Canadian destroyers serving in the war theatre.

His citation said he had been continuously carrying out duties comprising patrols, bombardments and screening off the west coast of Korea and "in early December acted most courageously and with much initiative in leading five destroyers up the Chinnampo approaches at night and in bad weather to assist the army withdrawal through that port.

"That a greater part of the force reached Chinnampo and assisted materially in the safe withdrawal of large numbers of troops through that port is due to Brock's vigorous leadership. He has shown the same spirit throughout the war in Korea."

Cmdr. Brock was mentioned in dispatches last summer for leadership during the Inchon landings in October, 1950. He now is naval member of the directing staff of the National Defence College at Kingston.

Cmdr. Welland, 33, was also mentioned in dispatches last summer for his exploits while commanding HMCS Athabaskan during that destroyer's first operational period in the Far East. He is serving as officer-in-charge of the junior officers technical and leadership course at HMCS Stadacona, Halifax.

Receives Citation

The citation accompanying his DSC said:

"Cmdr. Welland commanded HMCS Athabaskan with dash and skill since the early stages of the war. He carried out long period of patrol and harassed the enemy by bombardments of batteries, landing ROK marines and dealing with enemy mine-laying.

"Throughout the war Cmdr. Welland has shown a very fine ability to lead and has displayed much courage and initiative."

Lieut. Collier, 27, now at the navigation-direction school at HMCS Stadacona, served as navigating officer of the Cayuga during the ship's first tour of duty in the Far East.

His DSC came "for great skill, courage and initiative in operations which contributed directly to the successful evacuation of military and civilian personnel from Chinnampo. As navigating officer of the senior ship making a hazardous night passage through dangerous waters, he was largely responsible for the successful outcome of the operation upon which the task element was employed."

Faked Confession To Get Free Ride

SALINAS, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP)—Police said today William Alfred Brinkley faked a confession Tuesday to the 1947 traffic death of Mrs. Margaret Treece, 34, of Davenport, Ia., in hopes of getting a free ride to Iowa.

Brinkley, 28, was unable to give correct answers to questions about the slaying, police said, and finally admitted his story was a hoax. He is serving a 30-day vagrancy sentence.

Rescuers Work Feverishly To Reach Victims, Fear Death Toll High

Have Heard No Signal From Entombed Men Since Night of Blast and Fire; Plasma, Ambulances Being Rushed To Scene

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Dec. 22. (AP)—Rescue workers labored feverishly against time today as fear grew for the lives of 60 or more miners trapped in the world's largest coal-shaft mine by a mysterious explosion which already has claimed a death toll of "about 14." Hours after the blast rescuers still had not reached the trapped miners—on their last workshift before the Christmas holiday. They were caught some 500 feet below the surface and nearly four miles back from the elevator shaft.

The mine superintendent, John R. Foster, placed the number of dead at "about 14" as dawn broke. He estimated 60 or more miners were unaccounted for.

As the death toll rose, the first of the bodies were brought to the frozen surface of the mine. They were taken to an improvised morgue in the junior high school here.

While only four bodies had been recovered, Foster reported that several other bodies had been seen in the mine.

Walter Eadie, director of the State Department of Mines and Minerals, took charge of the rescue operations. He, like Foster, estimated the missing at "about 60 and possibly more."

Some Hope

He held out some hope for the trapped miners by saying there "had been no extensive fire" in the mine although some coal may have been set off by the blast.

The four bodies recovered were identified by Red Cross disaster workers as Joab Walton, West Frankfort; H. Summers, Benton; J. L. Black, Carterville; and Howard Wall, West Frankfort.

Foster refused to abandon hope for the entombed miners but a State Mine Bureau examiner said: "I'll tell you one thing. The men down there won't get out."

Commons Adjourns For Christmas, Will Return Dec. 27

OTTAWA, Dec. 22. (CP)—A weary, debate-fagged House of Commons adjourned Friday night for the Christmas holidays. It returns to work again Thursday under the shadow of a government threat to cut off any prolonged debate on a bill to outlaw the fixing of retail prices. This probably will be the first time in Canadian parliamentary history that the Chamber has met in regular session in Christmas holiday season. Hopelessly bogged down over contentious prices legislation, the Chamber finally called it quits at 10 p.m. Friday night, long after it had become apparent that the issue could not reach an early decision.

But still on the record was a warning by Prime Minister St. Laurent that he would invoke the infrequently-used rule of closure—the arbitrary limiting of debate—if the Progressive Conservative party extends its five-day blocking drive against second hearing—approval in principle—of the legislation.

The Prime Minister gave that warning Thursday when, in response to a Progressive Conservative challenge to invoke closure, he said he would apply the rule when the House meets Dec. 27 if the legislation had not come to a vote.

Heated Day

That declaration came in the first flush of a heated, day-long debate on procedure.

With the air cleared and a false calm indicating possible progress, Mr. St. Laurent said Friday the government did not want to be "arbitrary" and he therefore would "not give any such notice (of closure) today."

Still leaving the way open for possible closure, he said he hoped enough progress would be made "under the ordinary rules . . . that it will not be appropriate to give that notice at any time."

With that said, the Chamber quickly turned to vote on a Progressive Conservative motion to kill the legislation. Defeating the motion 82 to 22, only to receive two more motions—one CCF and one Progressive Conservative—to make alterations in the legislation.

From there on, all hope of a quick decision on the bill went down the parliamentary drain.

Will Go Ahead

Even as the House reluctantly agreed to return to work Dec. 27, Progressive Conservative leader George Drew served notice that a continued and probably prolonged Progressive Conservative attack awaits the legislation if the government does not agree to hold it back until next session.

Mr. St. Laurent snapped that he wanted to "make it quite clear" that the government intends to proceed with the bill.

Meantime, while the Commons was thus deadlocked on the prices issue, Royal assent was given by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, acting for the Governor-General, to 33 bills which already have passed the Commons and the Senate.

Report Weather Unsettled For Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Unsettled weather is forecast for most of Canada during the pre-Christmas weekend.

A Canadian Press survey early today found sub-zero cold predicted for many Prairie points, cloudiness and cold for Ontario with snowflurries near the Great Lakes, a return to freezing temperatures in the Atlantic provinces tonight and cold and cloudy Sunday.

A cold snap in Southern Ontario has turned deep slush on many roads and streets into ice, making driving and walking hazardous. A low of 15 degrees above zero and a high today of 20 were forecast for Toronto.
forecast for Toronto, but it was reported mainly sunny and cold for Sunday.

Snow whipped by high winds Friday night drifted roads in some sections of southwestern Ontario. Gusts of wind were clocked at 60 miles an hour in the Chatham area. Snowplow crews fought to keep drifting snow from blocking Kent county roads.

Vancouver Bad

Halifax got a brief taste of mild weather Friday night after a storm which had brought rain and gales to the maritimes and snow to eastern Quebec moved into Labrador, leaving cloudy skies and some fog in its wake. However, colder air from the central states is expected to surge into the Atlantic provinces by tonight.

Mild air which swept over southern British Columbia Friday night is expected to move too far south of the prairies to provide much moderation of the plains' cold, 15 degrees below normal.

TRIPOLI, Libya, Dec. 22—(AP)—Western powers will pour nearly $10,000,000 into poverty-stricken Libya in her first year of independence, authoritative sources said today.

King-designate Mohammed Idriss El Senussi is to proclaim the independence of the new United Kingdom of Libya and its 1,200,000 inhabitants Monday. This Arab state will be the first country to achieve freedom under United Nations sponsorship.

Qualified informants said Libya will receive $2,000,000 from the United States, $6,000,000 from Britain, a $1,000,000 loan from Italy and $600,000 from France.

In addition, large amounts of money will pour iinto Libya from money will pour into Libya from just outside Tripoli.

Reports Conspiracy

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 22—(AP)—The national police chief said Friday a revolutionary movement had been scheduled in Bolivia for next Monday. He submitted data on the alleged conspiracy to the superior court for use in prosecuting an unstated number of persons now under arrest.

King's Voice Weak Will Record Message

LONDON, Dec. 22 (Reuters)—Buckingham Palace announced Friday that the King's Christmas Day message to the British Commonwealth will be recorded because the Monarch's voice is still too weak for "live" transmission.

It will be the first time a recording has been used in the traditional Royal Christmas Day message.

The announcement said the King's doctors had advised against a regular broadcast because his voice had not yet completely regained its normal strength following his lung operation last September.

Allied Attack Sets Valley Afire

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 22 (AP)—Allied planes and ships carried the war to the Communists Friday in smashing attacks on Communist supply and communications lines.

Aground, United Nations infantrymen stormed out of their central front foxholes and raided a Communist position northwest of Chorwon.

Far behind UN lines, South Korean forces continued a drive against Communist guerrillas and bandits. The United States Eighth Army said 297 Reds were killed, and 238 captured Thursday and Friday.

The Air Force pulled its most spectacular raid in months. Thunder-jets swooped down on Red supply dumps near Kunu and set an entire valley ablaze.

Far East air forces announced that 14 UN planes were shot down over Korea during the week ended Friday.

During the same period one Red MIG was shot down and eight others damaged, the air force said.

The Far East air force scoreboard of MIG claims since the Russian-built fighters first appeared in the Korean war now stands at 185 destroyed, 51 probably destroyed and 304 damaged. The total of all types of Red planes now stands at 320 destroyed, 100 probably destroyed and 360 damaged.

Royal Family Goes On Holiday

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Royal family is assembling at the King's great Sandringham estate for its biggest Christmas get-together since the Second World War.

The King and five members of his family left Friday for Sandringham—his personal estate and favorite residence—which is in the fens of Norfolk county close by the North Sea.

Accompanying the King, whose recent grave illness still is a cause for concern, were the Queen, Queen Mother Mary, Princess Elizabeth and her two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

A dozen near relatives will join them at Sandringham before Christmas Day.

All the Princes and Princesses, dukes and duchesses of royal blood will be there—with two exceptions. The Duke of Windsor and Princess Mary, the King's sister.

It will be an old-fashioned Christmas party in the best British tradition. Carol-singing, a Yule log blazing in the fireplace, the exchange of gifts around a brightly-decorated tree—all will contribute to the spirit of the occasion.

Urge Exchange of Wounded

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 22. (AP)—United Nations negotiators today suggested an immediate exchange of sick and wounded war prisoners. The UN disclosed that 37,500 South Koreans they have held in prison have been reclassified and will be released. The Communists said they would think over the exchange proposal, but a UN spokesman said he believed there was less than a 50-50 chance they would agree. The announcement that 37,500 South Korean civilians are to be freed from Allied prison camps came only a few hours after Red negotiators at Panmunjom demanded an explanation of why 44,529 names reported by the Red Cross were not included on the prisoner list turned over by the UN last Tuesday.

Rear Admiral R. E. Libby said the discrepancy between the UN list and that submitted by the Red Cross was due to a time lag on information reaching the Communists from Geneva. The Allies have notified the Red Cross that 37,500 names should be removed from the list of prisoners. There was no immediate explanation of the difference between the UN and Red figures.

No Headway

Staff officers abandoned their attempt to reach agreement on how to supervise an armistice after a brief session Saturday. They turned the problem back to the official sub-committee. The negotiators made "absolutely no headway," said Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckhols, official UN spokesman.

Strange Secret Disclosed Alexanders Adopted Child

OTTAWA, Dec. 22. (CP)—Flaxen-haired Susan Alexander won't be thinking about it, but Friday she suddenly became Canada's most famous youngster of the moment. For pert and blue-eyed Susan was disclosed as the adopted daughter of Viscount and Viscountess Alexander and a member of Canada's viceregal family for most of her 3½ years.

In all her three years with her much-spotlighted foster parents, she has lived at Rideau Hall, the official viceregal residence. Yet until Friday the capital generally did not have an inkling that there was a fourth youngster in the Governor-General's household.

It apparently was not a deliberately kept secret, but Their Excellencies just didn't announce the new acquisition. The news leaked out when, like any other proud parents, they visited Susan's kindergarten to watch her romp in the Christmas party fun.

But even after the adoption became known there was little information available about Susan from Rideau Hall beyond the fact that Viscount and Viscountess Alexander adopted her in England on a visit three years ago. Susan was six months old then.

No Comment

Viceregal aides did not disclose her original parentage or the circumstances of her adoption, and they said the Governor-General did not wish to comment publicly.

However, they did say that in the last three years there has been no particular attempt to keep Susan a secret. When she was tiny, a nurse pushed her pram around

Londoners Quit City For Holiday

LONDON, Dec. 22 (Reuters)—Londoners poured out of the capital in their thousands today to spend Christmas in the country, by the sea or on the continent.

Extra trains to all parts of England, Scotland and Wales were packed to overflowing, and heavy traffic was reported on arterial roads from London.

Six extra boat trains took hundreds bound to France and Switzerland for Christmas.

Airlines brought in more aircraft to supplement scheduled flights on both internal services and routes to the continent.

Big department stores reported a rush of last-minute shoppers.

Air ministry weather experts forecast a chance of an almost white Christmas, with ground frost instead of snow.

Made Vice Premier

LONDON, Dec. 22 — (AP). — A reshuffle of Czechoslovakia's Communist government today sent Planning Minister Jaromir Dolansky into the post of vice-premier. Dolansky, former chairman of the State Planning Office, replaced Rudolf Slansky, ousted last month as a Trotskyite spy.

Discover New Moon For Planet Jupiter

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 22 (AP)—Now it's official: the Mount Wilson observatory has confirmed the discovery of a new moon for the planet Jupiter.

Dr. Seth B. Nicholson earlier reported the find as a "probable" after his first observations. Subsequent studies confirmed the find, the observatory disclosed today.

The moon is Jupiter's 12th, and the planet's fourth to be discovered by Dr. Nicholson. The satellite is about 15 miles in diameter and revolves clockwise around Jupiter.

London Suffers Worst Fire Since War Blitz

LONDON, Dec. 22—(Reuters)—Smoke still spiralled today from the damp, black wreckage left by London's biggest blaze since the wartime blitz. It blazed through the night in a warehouse block of the city's gloomy business sector.

More than 70 fire engines raced to the site and the 300 firemen who fought the flames suffered two dead and 22 injured. Both bodies were found under the rubble left by a wall that crashed down.

For a time the fire threatened to engulf nearby Broad Street railroad station and 350 families living in Broad Street were warned to be ready to flee their homes.

Thousands of pounds worth of Christmas parcels, including turkeys and whisky were destroyed.

Flames started in the upper floors and spread to an adjoining warehouse. They could be seen for miles around.

Gained Headway

By the time the first fire engines arrived the two top floors of the five-storey block were belching flames. Then the roof crashed in, sending sparks flying over a wide area.

The fire chief ordered all firemen out of the building and surrounding apartment buildings were evacuated.

Many firemen stood swaying atop tall extension ladders directing streams of water through the cracked winodws as flames licked out at them. Others played searchlights on the building as police with walkie-talkie sets sealed off an area nearly one-half a mile square.

Ballot Boxes May Be Opened

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 22—(CP)—A section of the Municipal Act not used since 1904 may be called upon by city council to have ballot boxes from the recent election opened.

Council decided the boxes should be unsealed after seven unused ballots were found crumpled in the street after the election. Five of them were counterfeit.

Mayor Fred O. Robinson said he will present a resolution next Thursday under Section 258 of the Act asking a judge to order the boxes opened.

Previously council had intended to file an affidavit as individual citizens asking for opening of the boxes but the resolution procedure is considered simpler.

Mayor Robinson was defeated in the civic election by Charles Cox.

No Christmas Trees For Sad Icelanders

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Dec. 22 There is a grave shortage of Christmas trees in Iceland.

Ten thousand Danish Christmas trees destined for Icelanders' homes have been dumped into Reykjavik harbor. The dumping was ordered by local authorities who put a ban on import of trees from Denmark and Sweden because of spreading hoof and mouth disease in those countries.

Most of Iceland's 150,000 population will be without their traditional trees this Christmas for the first time in years.

Evergreen trees suitable for Christmas don't grow on this craggy island.

Solemn Nazareth Ready To Observe Real Christmas

NAZARETH, Israel, Dec. 22 — (AP). — There was a solemn atmosphere today in this tiny town in the hills of Northern Israel, where almost 2000 years ago Mary was told by the Angel Gabriel:

"Hail, thou art highly favored, the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women."

There is a real Christmas spirit in the town where Jesus was reared by his father, Joseph the carpenter.

In many houses of Nazareth—now inhabited by 15,000 persons—Christmas trees are being decorated.

In the 24 Christian churches and chapels of Nazareth, great stocks of candles are being prepared for the sacred night of December 24.

A nativity play, performed in Nazareth's great Anglican church, will be given in Arabic, the language many prayers are chanted in. Seventy children between 5 and 15 years of age will take part. Christmas carols will be sung. The children have been rehearsing them for the last six months.

The Protestant-Anglican community here is also commemorating the 100th anniversary of their school, founded by the Church Mission Society and the first Christian public school opened in the Holy Land.

In the nearby Roman Catholic Church of the Annunciation, built over the spot where tradition says Gabriel stood when he brought the good tidings to Mary, the manger scene of the nativity has been placed to the left of the great altar.

A huge crowd is expected to attend services in the Church of the Annunciation. Those who cannot get in will make their devotions in one of Nazareth's smaller churches or chapels after visiting in the town the various sites connected with the life of Jesus.

5 Naval Ratings Going Home For Christmas Killed When Car Crashes Truck Head-on SHUBENACADIE, NS, Dec. 22—(CP)—Five Naval ratings, homeward bound for Christmas, were killed Friday night in a highway accident near here.

The Navy identified the victims as.

OS. Gordon David Ryan, whose mother lives in Vancouver.

OS. Jack Michaely, whose mother lives in Rossland, BC.

AB. Fred Allan Peters, whose mother lives at Grand Falls, NB.

AB Brock Willett MacLaren, whose widow is stationed with the 3650th WAF Squadron at Samson Air Base, Geneva, NY.

OS. Sanborne Smith, whose mother lives in Lennoxville, Que.

Witnesses said the car carrying the sailors was proceeding from Halifax to Truro, about 20 miles north of here, when it attempted to overtake another car and crashed head-on into a truck.

The two occupants of the truck escaped with bruises and minor cuts.

Four of the Navy men were stationed at the Shearwater Naval Air Base near Dartmouth, NS. One was a crew member of the destroyer Iroquois.

It took nearly an hour of cutting and prying the car's twisted wreckage to free two of the bodies. The 18-foot-long car was telescoped to a length of 12 feet.

Report Mao Orders End To Extortion

VANCOUVER, Dec. 22 (CP).—The Chinese Times said Friday Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung has ordered an end to the heavy extortion demands on overseas Chinese persons with relatives in China.

The Chinese-language daily newspaper, published here, said Mao's command told the Kwangtung provincial government "to reverse what it is doing to incense overseas Chinese."

Most Chinese immigrants to Canada came from Kwantung Province, in Southeast China.

The command did not include the word "extortion" and there was no reference to complaints being sent to Red Chinese government officials by Chinese in North America.

Ford Fires 6 More Men For Misconduct In Strike

WINDSOR, Dec. 22 (CP). — The Ford Motor Company of Canada Friday night dismissed six men it accused of "serious misconduct" in a 12-day wildcat strike by members of Local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO). The strike ended Dec. 14.

George Burt, UAW Canadian director, accused the company of a breach of faith and said the union now is legally entitled to strike. The previous illegal strike started over dismissal of 26 men.

Ford president, Rhys Sale, announcing the new dismissals, said the men were discharged for "serious misconduct which led to the shutting down of the company's power house in the early stages" of the strike which began Dec. 3.

Mr. Sale said it cost more than $100,000 to repair damage caused by the power cutoff blamed on the six men. The "possibility of legal action in addition to the discharges is under study by our lawyers."

He said the six dismissals were in addition to the Dec. 3 dismissal of 26 men "for inciting fellow workers to take part in unlawful and unauthorized work stoppages in the last week of November and who took part in such stoppages themselves."

Mr. Burt said two of the six discharged are on the negotiating committee of Local 200 and that the company refuses to meet the union as a company-union meeting scheduled for Monday if the two are present.

The meeting was part of the settlement of the strike which set aside the matter of the firing of the 26 men and provided for the reopening of negotiations on a 1951 wage contract on the basis of a conciliation board report.

"We understood that the dismissal of the original 26 men was the end of it," said Mr. Burt. "But now six more have been fired. At that rate, no one in the plant is safe."

Cold Winter No Obstacle To Hardy Oil Explorers

PEACE RIVER, Alta—(CP)—There's three feet of ice on the rivers and the bears have been in hibernation for weeks, but winter doesn't halt the work of the "doodlebug" crews.

They are the new explorers of this sparsely-populated area of northern Alberta. Known officially as seismograph crews, their self-chosen nickname more aptly connotes the spirit in which they go about the business of seeking oil.

The "doodlebuggers" are not the only oilmen here now, for as computers in Calgary and Edmonton evaluate the results of geophysical exploration, the "big rigs" move in.

But the seismograph workers form the vanguard of the oil company invasion. They are the first into hitherto untouched areas, bulldozing trails through muskeg and bush to test for likely new fields.

Hub Of Supply Lines

Peace River, (pop. 997) situated in the hills bordering the Peace, is the hub of supply lines in the "middle north."

Now outlying farms are stark and lonely, but the horse-drawn school vans — covered sleighs, stovepipes jutting from their roofs—jog by to remind that the children have not left.

And from Edmonton, some 300 miles southeast, Alaskans travel through to the Alaska highway and home after a vacation in California, a business trip to Chicago.

From Edmonton, too, come the trains and trucks bringing nylons to an outpost school teacher, repairs for a snow-plow. Only the trucks, however, can reach isolated points out of here. Even at night, they roll along the snow-rutted roads, often to an almost inaccessible oil camp.

Cosmopolitan Touch

Hotel accommodation here is as scarce as in Toronto or Chicago during conventions. The register reads with cosmopolitan variety —a geologist from Texas, a driller from Alabama, Oklahoma, Venezuela, a salesman from Montreal.

After a month or more of uninterrupted 10-or-12-hour days in the bush, the oilmen hit town for a spree that overflows restaurants, beer parlors and dance halls. When the "jug hustlers" and "ground stompers"—seismograph field workers—return to work, garages and food wholesalers can't keep up with demands.

Some return to camps that consist only of banked tents. Others live in large trailers.

Not Much Entertainment

A kitchen trailer houses refrigerator, deep-freeze and butane gas stoves. A washroom trailer is equipped with hot and cold water, showers, flushing toiltes and an automatic washing mashine. Auxiliary power plants provide light, oil stoves heat.

But for all these comforts, there is only a book or a poker game at night for entertainment. Kidding and good-natured rough-house dwindle as days pass. The next "going out" day is circled on the calendar.

Most companies see that mail from "outside" gets in regularly. Some even build an airstrip beside their camps and keep a small plane on hand, but bad weather often makes "seat of pants" navigation in the all but uncharted areas impossible.

Come rain, snow or 40 below, however, the "doodlebug" crews continue their search. The result can be seen in the growing number of derricks keeping lonely vigil in this land of the oil explorer.

PRISONER OF WAR — Gnr. Orval John Jenkins, Hamilton, a member of the Royal Canadian Artillery, was the only Canadian named in the list of prisoners of war received by United Nations truce negotiators in Korea. Army headquarters listed Gnr. Jackson as missing Aug. 31.

Those nominated for positions on the council were James Sharman, Fred Dainton, Judson Hull and David Millar.

At the previous meeting Kenneth Morris and Lester Fraser were put on the council by acclamation.

the capital's streets near Rideau Hall, and more lately she has been playing with neighborhood youngsters around the spacious grounds of the official home.

Her parents-by-adoption have taken her on trips, and one aide Friday recalled having seen a published photograph of her taken last summer at Banff, Alta.

Too, she appeared with the rest of the family in the Alexanders' group picture on the Christmas card two years ago.

Viscount Alexander, a man with a neat turn of humor, must have chuckled many a time at how Susan's presence escaped general attention, notably from the big battery of correspondents that cover the news of the capital. The movements of the viceregal family always are news to the correspondents—and some of them get the family's cards.

Dollar Up

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 —(CP)—The United States dollar today opened at 2⅜ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, up 1-32 from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.02⅜ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.83⅜, down 1-6 from Friday.

YOU'D HAVE TO GO a long way to find a more attentive audience than this group of youngsters. They're listening to all the nice things Santa has to say after enjoying a Christmas dinner with all the trimmings organized by the Kiwanis Club of Montreal.

Hungary To Try 4 US Fliers For Espionage

BUDAPEST, Dec. 22—(AP)—Communist Hungary announced Friday it will bring to trial the four US airmen whose plane was forced down in this country by Soviet fighter planes.

In a note to the American legation, the foreign ministry said the fliers will be turned over to a Hungarian court "as persons having, with premeditated intention, violated the border of Hungary." The note made no mention of a date for the trial.

The fliers C-47 transport plane is said by American authorities to have become lost over Hungary Nov. 19 while on a flight from a German air base to Belgrade, Yugoslavia. It was forced down by Soviet fighters stationed in Hungary under the peace treaty.

The Hungarian note said:

"The government of the Hungarian peoples Republic considers it as fully established fact that it was by premeditated intention that an American aircraft violated the Hungarian border with the criminal intention of dropping spies and diversionists to the territory of the Hungarian Republic.

"On the strength of the above and considering the fact that the United States did not deem it necessary to comply with the rightful demand of the Hungarian Government put forth in its notes of Dec. 3 and Dec. 11 to severely punish the persons responsible for organizing the premeditated violation of the Hungarian border by the American military transport aircraft, the government of the Hungarian people's Republic decided to turn over to a Hungarian court the members of the American aircraft's crew . . . as persons having with premeditated intention violated the border of Hungary."

Bread Lines Again In Britain Due To Minor Depression

LONDON, Dec. 22 (Reuters). — A minor depression in two major industries has brought bread lines back to Britain for the first time since the 1930's.

Trade union leaders say that unless the government acts swiftly to check unemployment among clothing workers and furniture makers the situation may get serious.

Already a deputation from the National Union of Tailors and Garment Workers has impressed on members of parliament the urgency of the problem, and the National Union of Furniture Trade Operatives is planning a similar mission.

While they talk, more than 23,000 registered unemployed in the tailoring trades are looking for jobs. Union officials say this figure is deceptively low as many women, who make up 80 per cent of the workers in the industry, do not register for relief.

The number of jobless furniture men runs into the thousands. Main areas affected are London and in the north.

Generally the pre-Christmas period is a boom time in both industries, with a seasonal falling off after the holiday. Now it is feared the unemployment position will worsen considerably in January.

Main reason for the present decline is the general shortage of money combined with the high cost of both clothes and furniture.

The furniture men have a particular complaint following the government's recent clamp-down on bank loans for installment buying.

Rescuers Work

Deneen Taylor, 34, a safety man for the State Bureau of Mines, said there was smoke and fire in the tunnel leading toward the miners. No one had heard any signal from them for more than eight hours at 5 am EST.

Foster, superintendent of the mine for 22 years, only shook his head as he paused between direction of rescue workers.

"We just don't know. We just don't know," he said, "and until we know there is always hope."

Big Explosion

The explosion, which shook the surrounding country with a deadening thud, came only an hour after the night shift had begun.

No one was able to explain what caused it. Rescue teams reported smoldering fires and fear was expressed that carbon monoxide gas might have snuffed out the lives of the entombed miners.

Only six injured were reported to have been brought up from the shaft during the night.

Eight hours after the blast Foster said rescue workers, sweating even in the sub-freezing temperature as they worked, were still 1,000 feet away from the spot where the miners were reported to be.

Five of the injured were in a serious condition and one was not expected to live.

Send Blood Plasma

W. W. Lamont, United Mine Workers hospital superintendent, made an urgent plea for oxygen tents. Blood plasma was rushed in from nearby cities and blood donors were called for.

City officials prepared to handle as many as 100 bodies at the junior high school here.

Foster estimated that 200 men were in the mine at the time of the explosion. The power supply went off shortly after the blast at 8:45 pm EST. Mine authorities tried to telephone back into the web of tunnels to warn miners of the explosion, but there was no answer.

Foster said he didn't know whether telephone communications had been knocked out or whether no one was alive in that tunnel to answer the call.

Rumors spread among the miners mouth to mouth, at the top of the shaft. Some said as many as 80 to 120 were trapped. There were unconfirmed reports of a heavy death toll.

The blast knocked out several concrete stoppings in air shaft passages which sut off ventilation into the tunnel where the miners were trapped. As rescue workers wormed their way toward the men they had to replace concrete as they went.

Read For Holiday

The mine employs 1,100 workers altogether, 800 of them miners. It runs two shifts. After Friday night's shift the miners were to have taken off until Wednesday.

Hundreds of persons, many of them relatives, gathered around the mine shaft for word. They shivered in the sub-freezing weather.

Since the mine, the largest coal shaft mine in the world from the standpoint of daily output, stretches far underground there was a strong chance the entrapped miners had retreated into the mine's recess for protection. There was a possibility that their fresh air might be cut off.

Romeo Lalonde Dies In Sleep

HAVELOCK, Dec. 22 (ENS)—Romeo Lalonde, 72, died in his sleep sometime during Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Mr. Lalonde, who has lived with his nephew Leo Lalonde for three years, did not feel well on Wednesday evening, and was up late, so thinking he was resting, the family thought they would not disturb him. About 10 am on Thursday morning they found he had died.

Mr. Lalonde was born in Ottawa and lived there until coming to Havelock. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Lalonde of that city. He followed lumbering as an occupation with the Eddy & Booth Lumber Co. Mr. Lalonde, who is the last of a family of four children, never married.

Surviving are two nephews, Leo Lalonde, Havelock, and Rene Lalonde of Tweed.

The funeral was held on Saturday at 9:30 am in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, with Father Carroll in charge of the service. Burial was in the Roman Catholic Cemetery here.

MP's Christmas Spirit Has Limited Application

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP) — Works Minister Fournier wished the Commons a "Merry Christmas" Friday night as it adjourned for a five-day recess from its marathon debate on the government's anti-price-fixing legislation.

George Drew, reciprocating, wondered what plans the government had made for sitting on New Year's Day.

Mr. Fournier told the Progressive Conservative leader that that was a matter for "providence" to decide.

Mr. Drew hinted his party would be prepared to drop its filibuster against the bill if the government was prepared to drop the legislation.

Mr. Fournier immediately assured him that the first item of business when the Commons meets again Thursday, Dec. 27, is bill 36—the anti-price-fixing legislation.

The base, at Peenemunde on the Baltic, was the birthplace of the Nazi's flying bombs and rocket missiles. Its fate since the war has been a mystery.

The magazine also reported that the Russians are constructing a long-range bomber airfield near Berlin capable of handling the TU-R, Soviet version of the American B-29, a medium bomber.

Chateau Country Recalls Glories Of French Court

The chateaux country in France is a land of castles and kings, romance and intrigue. The glittering pageantry of the great French courts lives on long after they vanished in the turmoil of later years.

For the visitor who wants to see something different and very lovely, the Touraine province, fondly called "the garden of France," should not be missed. For hundreds of years the kings of France made it their home and holiday spot. It has always been a centre of strife, but it nurtured some of the greatest civilizations the world has known.

Seen under a warm spring sunshine against a vivid blue sky it is a gorgeous sight. The land has a softer appearance than northern France and seems to be made for gracious living. Even the houses are built to blend in with the landscape and the castles.

There are no two castles or chateaux alike. Visiting these places, a sightseer can travel back 700 years in a single day. Some chateaux are built on towering cliffs and hills with towns nestling at their feet. These are the ones built primarily for defence. Those of the 16th century express gracious living and a high degree of culture and represent the castles described, in the fairy tales.

Tours Headquarters

Most people planning a trip in the Touraine, take a fast French National Railroads train direct from Paris to Blois or Tours. Both cities have had an exciting history and three or four interesting days can be spent prowling in the older sections. In addition, both centres still bear the bombing scars of the Second World War.

The French National Railroads operate excellent bus trips to the chateaux from either city. For those who prefer to be with English speaking tours, arrangements can be made. But for the person with a little spark of adventure in his makeup, it is much more fun to travel on one carrying French passengers.

Guide books in French and English can be purchased in advance of the trip. They contain all the information needed. Those with a little French, who have read the book carefully, can easily follow the guide's spiel, and those without French will also have a grasp of what they are visiting if they have read the English version.

Visit Fortresses

Three days a week, a bus leaves Tours in the morning and visits Villandry, Azay-le-Rideau, Chinon and Langeais.

Azay-le-Rideau is a small jewel in stone with a graceful Renaissance architecture. It is partly built on an island in the Indre River and is almost surrounded by water. It is one of the smaller castles that seems to envelop the visitor with its charm.

The staircase is a fine one and the delicately carved stone bannister is one of three remaining in France. There are parts of the original stained glass windows from the 14th and 15th centuries; and beautiful Gobelin tapestries. In the early days it was a fort. In 1418 under Charles VII, there was a bloody massacre and for many years after it was kown as "Azay the Burned."

Great History

Something very different is found at Chinon. It is a magnificent spectacle to look out over the towering parapets across the Vienne River and see the town hundreds of feet below. The ruins hold many secrets and terrors of invasion.

This is one of France's most precious national relics because it was here that Joan of Arc received the promise of the King's help in fighting the English. Although only part of the steps of the ballroom where she pleaded her cause remain, it is easy to call up pictures of a stirring past. The visits to the remaining turrets and dungeons and the grim and sturdy towers are fascinating. A particular point of interest is the great dungeon in the Tower of Coudray.

Two kings of England spent considerable time here — Henry II and Richard the Lion-Hearted. Blood ran like water in its turbulent history. The thick outer walls and parapets still stand 90 metres above the river.

Royal Residences

An even more interesting trip leaves Tours twice a week. It includes visits to Chaumont, Blois, Chambord and Cheverny.

Chaumont is a jewel in the crown of France. Built in the 11th century in a beautiful park, it is fortlike in appearance. Its white turrets and blue slate roof are lovely. Soaring hundreds of feet in the air above the town, there is a magnificent view in all directions and the glistening blue of the Loire River is a never-forgotten sight.

Probably the most famous chateau is at Blois. It is a dream castle with secret panels and cupboards. A fine building, it was built in five different periods.

The most famous part of the castle is the outside staircase, built by Francis I. It was constructed for receptions on a grand scale and forms a series of galleries where the court received people. The staircase is spiralling and has fine carvings. There are secret panels in the queen's study where Catherine de Medicis kept her poisons and her jewels. Another thing of interest is that Joan of Arc's standard was blessed here in 1397.

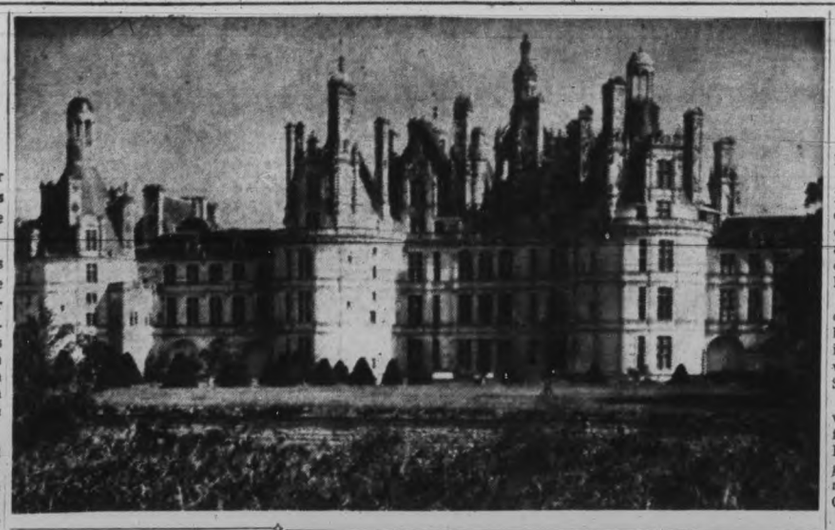
Blois is an old Roman town, now a city of 22,000. It was a favorite of many kings and a bridgehead in the Middle Ages. It is well worth spending two or three days in the city apart from visiting the castles.

Taste Of France

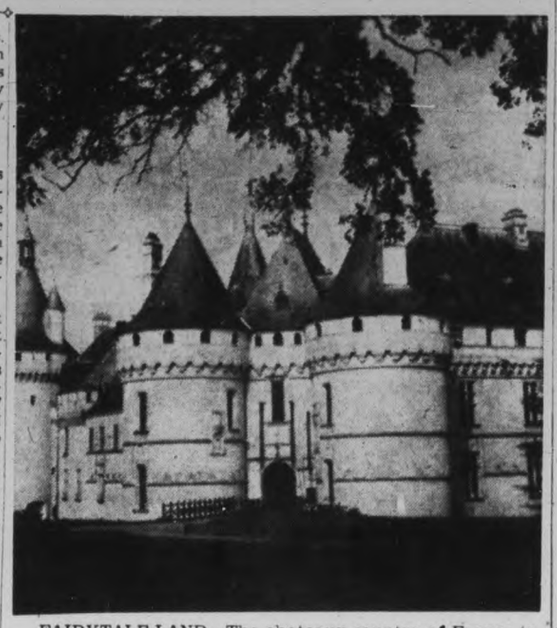
To get a taste of French life, forsake the main street with its modern restaurants and ask a policeman for directions to a small cafe four blocks away—the Hotel des Voyageurs.

This is in a very old section of Blois which was badly bombed by the Italians. A tiny spot, there is no style. It is a workers' restaurant. But the food is good and the people kind. For a fraction of the main street prices you can have a nice meal of hors d'oeuvres, sole in black butter, salade, confiture (marmalade) and gateau (cake). The owner was bombed out of his former place in 1940.

The largest and most impressive castle in the Loire region is Chambord. Its pile of turrets, chimneys and spires leave one breathless. It is one of the finest monuments of the French Renaissance. Built in the 16th century, it has 365 rooms.



Although it follows the feudal plan, it was a royal residence of pleasure, not defence. It is noted particularly for its double spiral staircase. One of the staircases is half a turn more than the other and soars from the ground floor to the roof. Two people going up on opposite sides can see each other, but never meet. There is a great view of the town and royal forest from the roof terrace.



During the Second World War, many French art treasures were hidden here and a courageous cure prevented the Germans from burning the chateau in 1944.

Different Atmosphere

In addition to wonderful scenery, it is in the Touraine perhaps more than any other section that a Canadian realizes the difference between his country and France. The background of history and culture in the Tours' area is a fascinating contrast to the vigorous spirit of youth and progress which earmarks our Dominion.

The Hotel Univers is an excellent headquarters in Tours, and it is noted for its fine food. Some of the specialties of the region include: Loire salmon, ananas au Kirch (pineapple done in liquor), omelette au jambon (ham omelette), quenelle de brochet de Loire (pike specially prepared with a sauce) and a famous white wine Vouvray '34 made in the region. All French cooking is excellent, but that of the Loire Valley is best.

FAIRYTALE LAND—The chateaux country of France in the Loire Valley looks like something out of a storybook. Two of the loveliest chateaux are shown above. Chaumont Chateau (lower) is a beautiful 11th century castle that towers on a cliff over the Loire River. It is one of the loveliest in France. Chambord Chateau (upper) with its 365 rooms is the largest and most impressive in the area. Built in the 16th century, its pile of turrets and spires are amazing. (French Information Service Photo)

Pleads Innocent In Assault Case

By BILL BOSS.

SEOUL, Dec. 22 (CP)—Gnr. Robert Walter Stirling of Vancouver pleaded innocent before a court martial Friday to charges of attempted murder, of assault occasioning bodily harm and of molesting Korean civilians.

Stirling, with the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, is alleged to have shot and wounded a Korean in the village of San San, southwest of Yonchon, the night of Sept. 30.

Gnr. L. W. Lang of Toronto, who faces similar charges, testified that the two had gone to a Korean house that night. An argument developed, "a wrestle more than anything else, and Gunner Stirling fired."

Kin Hyon Chil, the Korean civilian who was shot, testified that both soldiers hustled him outside the house. During the scuffle, a shot was fired.

Christmas Gaiety Hides Damages In Old Ruhr City

WUPPERTAL, Germany, Dec. 22—(CP)—It's Christmas time in the Ruhr Valley, land of the great, tall industrial chimneys, land of the "Iron Barons," the great grey, reviving industrial heartland of Europe.

It is a bright Christmas time, probably brighter than any since the war which brought ruins and devastation to the Ruhr. On Sunday in Wupperial, a major city near the Rhine, the streets blaze with yuletide lights.

The lights are strung from one side of the street to the other, hundreds of them in chains that run the whole length of the main street until it looks like fairyland. To the sides there are lights again, bulbs pinpointing the corners of Christmas trees and evergreen stars and all along the street, for several miles, the store windows blaze with lights and are thick and gay with goods.

Beneath the myriad lights the people walk, thousands and thousands of them. The whole city seems to be in the street for it is a German custom to come into the streets on Sunday and this is an "open Sunday" when the shops are open for shopping.

Great Variety

In the shops, there is great variety. Clothes, shoes, cameras, clocks, watches, many, many things. Some of them are cheap by Canadian standards, cameras for instance. Others, considering quality, aren't.

The people, by Canadian standards, are well but not fashionably dressed. They are not shabby, they are not smart. They are in between. They walk and walk, looking into the windows, going into the occasional store. But many just look; they do not buy because they haven't the money.

Down the street they come to a Christmas fair. It's like a fair back home. Hot dogs—big ones for 25 cents—candied apples, games of chance, open booths, thronging people, thronging children. Across the street is a gaping, wounded church but much of Wuppertal has been rebuilt over the ruins of war.

Gets Surprise

There is a candy stand. A Canadian buys a chocolate bar and seeing a red-cheeked, handsome German boy, gives it to him. The boy is pleased. He is surprised. He starts away and then he returns and asks with great politeness whether the bar was really meant for him.

He is told it is. He goes away happy, into the bright, gay fairyland of Wuppertal's main street.

In a Germany which to a Canadian sometimes seems a complexity of resurgence, of spectical remoteness alternating with lively happiness within itself, within its own people; of great revival which could lead in any one of several directions. It is a happy street. It is a happy time.

FAMOUS BRIDGE

Including its approaches, the railway bridge over the Forth river in Scotland extends 8,295 feet.

Bury Aunt Kitty Beside Husband

BETHANY, Dec. 22—(ENS)—Mrs. Christine Reynolds, 97, was buried on Wednesday in Graham's cemetery at Bethany, beside her husband, John Robert Reynolds, who died 33 years ago. She is survived by one son, Calvin.

The little old lady, "Aunt Kitty" to her many friends, had become almost a legend throughout Peterborough district and her home village of Bethany, beloved alike by her many friends, the doctors, nurses and other patients with whom she came in contact at Civic Hospital, where she had been hospitalized for the past seven years. Her cheerful optimism through all the long period of enforced inactivity gave a "lift" to the hospital day.

The funeral service was held in the United Church here, with the Rev. James Hampson taking the text from the particularly fitting words found in Revelations: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth. Yea, said the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

In his remarks, Mr. Hampson paid tribute to a life well lived. "Mrs. Reynolds did labor hard, not only in the physical sense in earlier years, but also from a spiritual standpoint, as testified by her long years of active membership in the early Methodist church and later in the United. A member of all its organizations, her best work was done in the Sunday school where she taught a young men's Bible class for many years; and her cheerful and energetic leadership of this group stand out in the memory of many former pupils. She lived by faith and this faith radiated from her very face, carrying her through the long years of discomfort with a fortitude unknown to most."

Mrs. Clarence Rowan presided at the organ for the service. The hymns used were all special favorites of the deceased, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "Art Thou Weary" and "The Sands of Time Are Sinking."

Pallbearers were all former members of her Sunday school class: Donald Lowes, Weston Hutchinson, Walter Rowland, Frank Bigelow, Lloyd Kennedy and Otto Spencer, all of Bethany.

Carrying flowers were David White, Millbrook; Gerald Bristow, Yelverton; K. Johnston, Peterborough; John Hooey, Fenelon Falls; Leslie Challice, William Rowan and Clarence Neale, of Bethany.

Parking At The City Hall

The Traffic Committee has recommended that a bylaw be passed restricting parking on the city hall parking lot to employees, officials and citizens having business in the building. This restriction would apply on business days only. The recommendation is sensible. The area was not laid out as a free general parking lot. It is for the convenience of city hall customers, officials and employees. (The city may properly be expected to set a good example to industry in town by providing its employees parking space.) We have one quarrel with the interpretation of the recommendation.

The restriction would apply on business days. That is indicated to mean Mondays to Saturdays inclusive, permitting general parking only on Sunday. And why not Saturday, the busiest day traffic day in town? Saturday is not a business day at the City Hall. The employees there are on a five-day week. Why then should the lot not be made available for general parking on Saturdays? Perhaps the city officials are thinking of returning to a five-and-a-half day week? If not, if the public is not to be convenienced on Saturdays by keeping the city hall open for business, then let the public be convenienced a little by making the parking lot available for cars.

We mentioned above the matter of providing parking space for industrial employees. The major part of the Traffic Committee's recommendations on parking dealt with the traffic situation at and near the C.G.E. We failed to see any recommendation to remedy an annoying parking condition on streets adjacent to the big plant: that is, all-day parking by C.G.E. employees in front of homes on these streets. Even if these cars do not block driveways or cause traffic hazards, people who live on the streets are riled. Not only are they prevented from driving up to the front of their own homes, but they also have to put up with the vexing sight of others using their fronting as a C.G.E. workers' personal parking lot. Either the C.G.E. is not providing sufficient parking space for its employees, or the employees are too lazy to use it. What recommendations have the Traffic Committee to make about this neighbourhood parking nuisance?

The Gospel Of Common Sense

Dorothy Dix's name has come, during the past half century, to symbolize all those newspaper writers who offer "advice to the lovelorn," but in fairness to her memory it must be said that she was head and shoulders above all of them. She once described her stock-in-trade as "the gospel of common sense"; she dealt out common sense in her daily column, and in the hundreds of thousands of letters which were answered by her secretaries, under her direction. Her readers were numbered in millions, and it is a fact known to all newspaper editors that a great proportion of them were men. Dorothy Dix's column was good reading, for its raw material was life, and that raw material was dealt with in terms of reality. It has been said that Dorothy Dix never gave bad advice; it could be said with equal truth that she never fobbed off an enquirer with a cheaply sentimental answer to a difficult question.

What sort of people wrote to Dorothy Dix? As the newspapers which published her column were forwarders of the letters which were written to her, we have some knowledge of who the writers were; they were people from every walk of life and every economic level. Good advice is not easily come by; nor do many people seek advice on intimate and vexatious problems from people whom they know very well; they look for advice to people like Dorothy Dix who are impersonal, yet not cold. The daily columns contained only a tiny proportion of the letters which reached her; the majority were answered in private correspondence. The advice given was never extraordinary, but it was always sound and just.

In her way, Dorothy Dix was an emancipator of women. She began her work in 1901, when Women's Rights was still a live issue; she was on the side of those who sought the emancipation of women, but unlike some of those crusaders, she saw that women could not have equal rights with men and at the same time cling to all the privileges which chivalry had granted them. She urged women to be adult, responsible and clear-sighted in their attitude toward themselves and toward men. Such advice was not always popular. But one of the things which made her newspaper articles popular with men was that she would say things to women which men cannot say without falling under suspicion of prejudice. Her advice was far less to the lovelorn than to the men and women of middle age who had come to grief through selfishness or a lack of realism in appraising their own worth and state of life.

In her own way she was anti-romantic. That is to say, she insisted that marriage was a serious agreement between adults, founded upon love and a determination to find happiness, rather than a blissful conclusion to a courtship. She insisted, with a vehemence which sometimes recalled Dr. Samuel Johnson, that a marriage must be kept in constant repair; it cannot be trusted to remain firm and happy unless both parties to it exert themselves to make it so. She had no patience with discontented wives, naggers or slatterns; she was severe with men who tired of wives who had grown grey beside them; she foresaw no happiness in middle-aged infatuations; she counselled against postponement of marriage until the parents of one or the other parties to it was dead. Canned advice, you say? Perhaps so. But it is a melancholy fact, unflattering to our self-esteem, that our troubles have all been endured before, by other people, and that every predicament has its counterpart. Advice which is good in one instance may very well be good in another. Dorothy Dix dealt in advice on a wholesale level, and her goods were always of a high quality. We shall miss her.

Operation Christmas Tree

A snippet of news from Norway tells that Norwegian Air Force crews at Gardermoen air field will exchange Christmas gifts with crews from the U.S. Air Force stationed at Tripoli, North Africa. The U.S. transports from Tripoli will bring oranges, lemons, dates, figs and raisins, and will return with Norwegian Christmas trees. The exchange has been called "Operation Christmas Tree." This is a very pleasant gesture of good neighbourliness and cheer; undoubtedly the expense of flying the figs to Norway and the Christmas trees back to North Africa will be chalked up to flying experience.

We need not go as far away as Gardermoen or Tripoli to witness Operation Christmas Tree. The operations have been carried out in the last two weeks locally with great verve. Particularly last week-end was the exchange traffic heavy. Every other car arriving into or passing through town from the north country was festooned with Christmas trees. They stuck out of rear luggage compartments, were draped on mudguards, or tied to the car roofs. Some cars carried only a couple of trees—for the family and Aunt Bess, we presume. Others had four or five trees—to stock the neighbourhood.

We are not sure what the Christmas-tree-getters gave in exchange, and to whom. Gifts of dates and oranges, or gold of the specie? We even wondered, as we saw the parade of Christmas trees coming into town, if some of them were got without any exchange—or any change that rattles in the pocket. Farmers, owners of ranches and cottage properties, and even the Department of Highways (which has such lovely Christmas trees bordering its roads) are of course delighted to have town folk come along, uninvited, and with an ax cut off the top of a pine, spruce or balsam. It keeps the woods and road verges thinned out—even if they do not need thinning.

We presume—hopefully—that every chopper picking out his personal tree from a rural stand of them, either got them from his own ranch or cottage property, or with permission from the owner. The amateur depredation of woodlots has gone on during the last week indeed has been the size of a military operation. It is proper to believe that it has been carried out as openly, with good-will and quittances on both sides, as the Norway-North Africa Operation Christmas Tree.

Honest Civil Servants

It is part of our British tradition to take for granted that our civil servants are honest. They do not cook the books, pocket ten dollar bills that happen to be laying around, or accept bribes. We expect the Civil Service to have high integrity. It has. However, in the usual canny fashion of business and institutions whose employees handle large sums of money, civil servants are bonded.

Mr. James Sinclair, parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Finance reported to the House on the government officers' guarantee fund. His report showed that during the past fourteen years the total payments made to cover funds misappropriated by civil servants amounted to only $50,613.36—$50,613.36 misappropriated in fourteen years among all employees of the Government in Ottawa and from one end of the land to the other, in large and small jobs, in offices handling billions of dollars. It is a fine record.

In two years of this period (1941-42 and 1947-48) not a single cent wandered out of government tills into employees' pockets. So low have the losses been from dishonesty that the premium rate of 20 cents for $100 of coverage was cut in half in 1946-47, and last year it was again reduced: from ten cents to two.

BIBLIOMANIA

Last Before Christmas

BARABBAS, by Par Lagerkvist (Clarke Irwin).

MANY NOVELISTS ARE attracted to Biblical themes, and their success or failure in meeting the demands of these themes is a very fair measure of their talent. Notable among the novels of Biblical inspiration during the past twenty years are the Joseph trilogy of Thomas Mann, and "King Jesus" by Robert Graves; these are books which may fittingly be called great. But there are many others which need not be named, which have achieved great commercial success because they recreate figures in Bible history in the image of Protestant Americans; it may be said that they provide a good laugh for those who are not edified by them. It is to the first category—the serious, adult novels—that this brief story by the Swedish man of letters, Par Lagerkvist, belongs.

The story tells how Barabbas, released from prison, made his way to Golgotha and there saw on the cross the man who was crucified in his place; Barabbas was not impressed by the rabbi. But as he went back to his old life—that of a notorious malefactor—he met, and sometimes sought out, people who had known Jesus, and he heard something of the teaching of Jesus. This teaching did not find a receptive hearer in Barabbas; nothing in his life disposed him toward a religion of love or mercy. And that life at last brought him to the fate from which he had earlier been spared by curious circumstances; he was crucified. And it was in the last few moments of his life, as he hung upon the cross, that he made an act of faith, and committed his soul to—he was never quite sure what it was.

It is dangerous to attempt to interpret books of this kind after a single, necessarily hurried reading. Perhaps it may be said that this story of Barabbas is a parable of the life of man, who wishes to believe, and seeks belief, but who is many cases finds belief desperately hard. In the preface of the book Lucien Maury suggests that this difficulty of belief is part of the emotional climate of our times; not so; it is difficult in all times.

This is a book which will give a powerful and enduring satisfaction to the serious reader. R.D.

POET PURSUED, by Nerine Shute (Ryerson).

THIS IS A biographical novel on Shelley. Let me say at the outset that for novelistic atmosphere I prefer Andre Maurois (Ariel), and for biography, the excellent, scholarly and interpretative life story by Edmund Blunden published in 1946. It can be said of Shelley, as William Law has said in "A Serious Call" long ago: "He lives by a law which is not visible to vulgar eyes; he enters into the world of spirits; he compares the greatest things; sets eternity against time; and chooses rather to be for ever great in the presence of God when he dies, than to have the greatest share of worldly pleasures whilst he lives".

The author of this novel is not equipped to deal with Shelley on this high plane. Her title "Poet Pursued" indicates this. It also indicates her approach—racy but not vulgar or dishonest. A good deal of research has gone into the novel, and the result is a reasonably authentic picture of Shelley's circle and particularly of the females in his life. A reader who knows little of the Romantic Movement in English letters, and of the prime movers in it will come away from this book with a mine of information and impressions which are, on the whole, valid.

Shelley and his women are clothed in flesh and spirit. The story reads interestingly and entertainingly; it is, indeed, a novel. If one is willing to read it as a novel, one can be assured at least of this: that the dialogue, circumstances and revelations are near to truth. The writer is not setting up a false Shelley, a false Harriet or an unbelievable Mary Godwin. It difuses light on Shelley. The poet himself would have scorned the novelist pursuer.

The book provides an easy, exciting and credible avenue to Shelley and his circumstances. T.J.A.

LIE DOWN IN DARKNESS, by William Stryon (McClelland and Stewart).

THIS FIRST NOVEL by a 26-year old Virginian is a most remarkable book, full of insight, skilful writing and powerful descriptions. He writes of his own State, where Christian principles are at odds with the social and economic conditions, with the result that each character suffers from a tragic burden of guilt. The pivot of the plot is Peyton Loftis, a sensitive beautiful girl, the spoiled darling of her father and the envy of her mother. In the charged atmosphere of her home, she finds it impossible to be normal and commences a restless search for happiness with one lover after another, until her mind becomes deranged and she commits suicide. The book opens with the arrival of her body at the station and the story unfolds as each member of the cortege reviews past events in an endeavour to explain the tragedy.

Helen, the mother, is a selfish, possessive woman, unwilling to make any compromise to achieve happiness. She becomes a neurotic and drives her husband away by her jealousy and hatred of Peyton. Milton, the husband, is an amiable weak man, fond of his wife but unable to understand her, who turns to alcohol and the steadfast love of his mistress, Dolly. Peyton is the only one of the family who sees the situation clearly, and remarks, "My father's generation wasn't lost—it was losing us" and again, "Why is happiness such a precious thing? What have we done with our lives so that everywhere we turn—no matter how hard we try, we cause other people sorrow?" This pervading sense of loneliness and guilt is at the root of the tragedy and the characters, victims of their own weaknesses, are unable to save themselves.

The author possesses such unusual powers of description that the reader feels the heat and the odours of the South. Only a vivid imagination could create the befuddled thoughts of Milton or Peyton's mad tormented dreams. We can only hope that in his next novel, Mr. Stryon will find more characters like the simple coloured folk, flocking to 'Daddy Faith' in unquestioning devotion, to relieve his Weltschmerz. M.M.

WOMAN AT THE WINDOW, by Nelia Gardner White (Macmillan Co. of Canada, Ltd.).

THE FACT THAT this novel first appeared in a magazine "The Ladies Home Journal" would suggest that it is, primarily, a woman's book. It is also a book which is not easily put down, so be advised and don't start it until you have a few long hours of leisure ahead of you. One is inclined to draw a parallel between "Woman at the Window" and "The Sign of the Ram". In both cases the chief character is a woman, accidentally crippled, whose enormous vitality imprisoned by a wheel chair, is forced to discover outlets in the misdirection and control of the other wretched individuals whose lives centre upon theirs. However in this book Anna does have a choice, and a chance of being returned to normal health, and therefore the way is left open to conjecture on a happier ending. Anna is, of course, the Woman at the Window sitting for long hours with a Witchball reflecting the passing world in the street beneath her. She is fortunate in possessing an adoring husband, devoted servants, self-effacing mother-in-law and a clever and unnaturally quiet small boy. The story commences with the arrival of 'Liz' the plain sister, to act as nurse-companion to Alla. Liz was reluctant to come as she has always bored Anna and felt that their temperaments would clash, but she agrees to stay for a short while; gradually Anna's needs become her only interest and Anna finds another life to live instead of her own. Then Liz falls in love with, and threatens to encroach upon, a romance that Anna uses to assuage her lust for power. It is when Hux, the man in question, shows signs of transferring the sterile love he has had for Anna for seven years into a more fruitful channel that the trouble starts. Exhorted by the one-time fiancee of her husband to take a good look at herself in her 'Witchball' instead of the 'passing show' Anna, like the Lady of Shallot "left the web and left the loom and"—well, anyway, Nelia Gardner White has ended her story on a very hopeful note and it is a very readable story too. ENGLISH INNS ILLUSTRATED, by General Sir Colville Wemyss (Ryerson).

THIS ADMIRABLE BOOK is composed of pictures of representative English—not Welsh or Scottish—inns, with brief but sufficient commentary on their history and nature. It will probably not convert members of the W.C.T.U. to admiration for what they so depressingly call "outlets for alcohol", but most other people will find it a powerful argument for the inn, and a saddening commentary upon our own large, gloomy and spiritless beverage rooms. It is as plain as day that these inns are not drinking-dens, but places of rest and good-fellowship; some of them are quaint, many are beautiful, and all have an air of decency and propriety which is not accidental, but a true indication of what they stand for in English life.

Look at the pictures carefully, and you will be impressed by the fine signs which many of these inns possess. There has been a great improvement in the painting of inn signs during the past twenty years, and these new ones, combined with the old beauties which are to be found in Larwood and Hotten's wonderful book on the subject, make us wonder whether the craft of advertisement has not been more cleverly practised in this relatively small field than anywhere else. I recommend this book highly for anyone who is fond of England, or its inns. R.D.

AND HERE IS our Christmas quotation: "Because in this month of December, when napkins fly about, and slim spoons, wax candles, and paper, and tapering jars of dried damsons, I have sent you nothing but my homely little books, I may perhaps seem stingy or discourteous. I hate the craft accursed arts of giving presents; gifts like hooks — who does not know that greedy sea-bream is deceived by the lure? Every time a poor man gives nothing to a rich friend, Quintianus, he is generous". The author? The Roman poet Martial, who lived at the very beginning of the Christian era, and who appears to have experienced something not unlike a modern Christmas. A Canadian Christmas Carol

First recorded Christmas carol in Canada was one said to have been written over 300 years ago by Father Jean de Brebeuf, missionary to the Indian tribes of Huronia, the district which lies between the southern shores of Georgian Bay and Lake Simcoe.

The tune is reported to have been sung in France to a carol called "Une Jeune Pucelle," (A Young Maiden). Its opening phrases are similar to those of the famous English carol, "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen."

Father Jean de Brebeuf wrote in 1642: "The Indians have a particular devotion for the night that was enlightened in honor of the manger of the Infant Jesus. . . Even those who were at a distance of more than two days' journey met at a given place to sing hymns in honor of the newborn Child."

Huron Indian Carol

Jesus Ahatonhia

Circa 1641

Within a lodge of broken bark the tender Babe was found.
A ragged robe of rabbit skin enwrapped His beauty 'round.
And as the hunter braves drew nigh,
The angel song rang loud and high:
"Jesus, your King, is born; Jesus is born; in excelsis gloria!"

The earliest moon of winter time is not so round and fair
As was the ring of glory on the helpless Infant there
While Chiefs from afar before Him knelt,
With gifts of fox and beaver pelt.
"Jesus, your King, is born; Jesus is born, in excelsis gloria!"

O children of the forest free, O sons of Manitou,
The Holy Child of earth and heav'n is born today for you.
Come, kneel before the radiant Boy
Who brings you beauty, peace and joy.
"Jesus, your King, is born; Jesus is born; in excelsis gloria!"

PUNISHMENT

Little Johnny started the day by introducing the cat to the canary. Next he upset the bowl of goldfish, twisted a knob off the television set, took grandpa's watch to pieces, and let the bath overflow.

"The little fiend!" his mother said when she was told. "I'll punish him for that. Now he shan't go to Sunday school!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. (Ps. 100: 1, 3.)

Moreover the Lord spake again unto Ahaz, saying, Ask thee a sign of the Lord thy God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above.

But Ahaz said, I will not ask, neither will I tempt the Lord. And he said, Hear ye now, O house of David; is it a small thing for you to weary men, but will ye weary my God also? Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel. (Isa. 7: 10-14.)

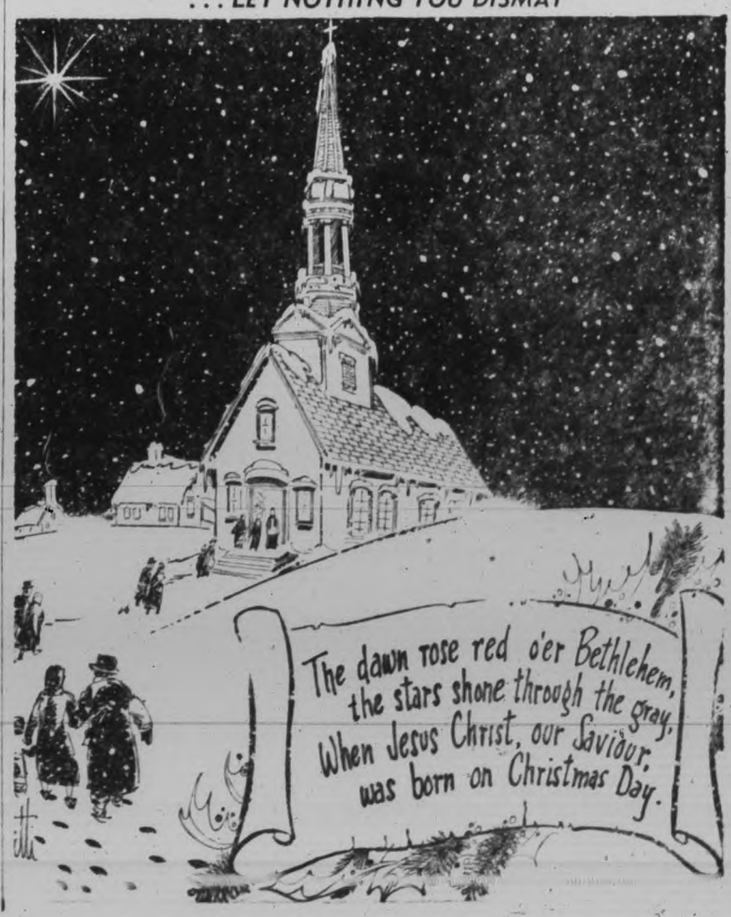
And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary



And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary: for thou hast found favour with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS

And the angel answered and said unto her, The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of theee shall be called the Son of God. (Luke 1: 26, 27, 30, 31, 35.)

I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come. (John 16: 12, 13.)

. . . LET NOTHING YOU DISMAY

For the past ten days or more personal Christmas cards have been arriving at my desk in moderate quantities. They are of all sizes; a whopper from Kit Kitney of the Winnipeg Tribune that measures a yard square, to calling-card size.

There are outdoor magazines by the dozen and the occasional girlie-girlie calendars; the latter are not popular at home.

Following the habit of all irregular correspondents, some of the cards are miniature once-a-year letters. And not all of them are of the happy, merry, well-wishing type that one would expect at this time of the year.

Listen to a few lulus:

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Dere Niche: Remember that time last May you and me was spearin' 'lunge down to Twisted Lake Reserve and we each caught two bruisers? How come you had me bury them in my icehouse and then never came for yours? The Game Warden came, though, and it cost me plenty. Who tipped him off? I ain't that dumb, so, am enclosing a bill for $23.50 for which I want the cash by Jan. 1. Or else. It makes me feel miserable to do this and hope you feel the same.

Billie Branch.

My Dear Nephew Nicholas:

I have been cooped up in the house with one ailment and another for some weeks. Even now, I don't feel like going down to the bank to draw your usual Christmas present. Things are awfully expensive these days, aren't they? But I suppose you young people don't realize just what this means. Anyway, all kinds of love and kisses and a very merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Your,

Auntie Macasser.

P.S.: Forgot to tell you I have changed my will, again.

Mr. Nicholls: My husband and I have often laughed since we came back to our home in Ohio about the time you misdirected us to Skin 'em Lodge last summer. After we left the main highway and took the country road, a tote road, and carried all our stuff over the three-mile portage it was midnight. We just had to sit on the shore for the rest of the night until Skin 'em heard us hollering at daylight.

Though the camp had no screens on the windows and there were no fish in the lake, we did unload a lot of money. We wonder if Skin 'em had any more guests, other than ourselves, for the rest of the season? We would send the old geezer a card, too, if we thought he could read. But we DO hope that you can read between the lines. So nice meeting you. Next summer we are staying at home.

Ezra and Minnie Whiffle.

Nichals: The gun you borrowed for the deer hunt, and sent back with your youngest daughter, was minus the firing pin. Or did you know? In any case, I sent it to the gunsmith who has just returned it in perfect working order once again. The repairs came to $10.85. Be seeing you. No best wishes from me, scum.

Percy Prongbuck.

Nick: Bet you don't remember me. I'm the guy that drove you home the night after the big stag party and let you out at your door. Boy, were you weaving! Just as I drove off I could see your wife waiting to help you in. Were you ever a card that night.

Greetings from a friend.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Nickles: I have a job for you at the Canadian Sportsmen's Show, come spring. We need someone to hold the bait casting contest targets in the pool. Of course, it would mean having to stay under water for about twenty minutes at a stretch. Have been racking my brains for a chap who is exceptionally long winded and you are just the man for the job. Greetings. Let me know.

Loyal Kelly.

Being only human I decided to send cards to all these friends of mine. Little did I realize that the hour was so late—until I reached the book store.

The shop was a shambles. It looked like Nicholls Oval after an industrial picnic. The affable owner gazed at me goggle-eyed; he was all in, poor chap, and waved weakly at the card display racks.

Oh boy, what luck! Lots of cards.

There were cards for kiddies emblazoned with puppies, penguins, pandas, cows, Donald Ducks. Cards showing pheasants and peasants and golden horseshoes.

Cards with the following messages:

With Sincere Sympathy
A Little Announcement
Glad You're Better
A Hospital's Tiresome
Happy New Year, Honey

I was getting a bit panicky.

"Where are your CHRISTMAS cards," I demanded.

My friend whispered hoarsely that there were none left. Hadn't been for two days. Everything in town sold out, too.

Could I do something with a few leftover seals? A few torn sheets of gift wrappings? Some remnants of ribbon and tinsel?

"I MUST SEND MY FRIENDS CHRISTMAS CARDS," I roared.

He smiled at me as one would to a feeble-minded child and left me alone, gibbering to myself.

Why did everyone out on the street seem so dog-goned happy, I wondered. Signs and shop windows were blazing with light. Traffic churned along merrily. Everything looked like Christmas, even the red and green traffic lights. Everyone sounded so merry. No one saw me sneaking up to the dark newsroom.

I brooded over the keyboard of my typewriter for some time. What would my friends think of me. No Christmas cards.

Nothing else for it but to have the boys in the composing room set up this message in good bold type:

A Very Merry Christmas To You All

And hope that some of you will see it.

England was merry England, when Old Christmas brought his sports again.

Eagles Claw Down Hawks To Yank Out 10-5 Win In Keen Senior "B" Game

Downing Belleville Hawks 10-5 here last night before a slim crowd, the Eagles crashed their way right back into the thick of the hot Central Ontario senior "B" group hockey race. They racked up a 3-1 lead in the first frame, played on even terms with Belleville in the 2-2 middle chukker and finished strong for a 5-2 margin in the third. It was a very fast, rugged but fairly clean tilt, with the Eagles drawing five of the eight penalties.

TOODIE SHINES — Toodie Greenlaw sparkled for Eagles last night in their 10-5 senior "B" win here over Belleville Hawks. Greenlaw scored four of the goals and aided on another in a nifty performance.

Poor travelling conditions made the Quinte crowd a little late for the tilt but there weren't enough customers on hand to object loudly. Those present saw a swell scrap, speedy throughout, and with some good hockey dished up. The losers fought right to the finish, but Eagles earned the win on hurry-up play and good checking. Both goalies had plenty to do and came up with a flock of fine saves. Hawks lost Jerry Desjardins late in the first period when he suffered a sprained ankle after a collision.

Toodie Shone

Toodie Greenlaw proved the Eagles' sparkplug in this encounter as he lit the lamp four times in a nifty showing, and aided on another goal. Bill Crowley clicked for two goals and an assist, Bob Parnall also sinking the disc twice. Single goals were marked to Reg. Stewart, who also helped on three in another starry effort, and Freddy Mortimer, who had two assists. Bert Hill and Jim Munro got a pair of assists each, with single ones going to Bergen Payne, George Brabin and Doug Mortimer. Keith McDonald scored a pair for Hawks, Red Doran, Peter Jones and Don Barrett getting one each. Jones and Vern Goyer aided on one apiece, and Jerry Moher was in on a pair.

Greenlaw scored early from the Mortimer brothers on a passup play shortly before Doug Mortimer went off for slashing. Crowley just missed on a breakaway before Doug was back. Greenlaw later made it 2-0 on an in-close scramble. Desjardins went off hurt and Jones got right in to give Hawks a tally by himself. Stewart got that one back near the period's close from Fred Mortimer and Crowley as he hit an empty net after Leforte sprawled to save on one shot.

Roughing Up

McDonald was off in the second for holding when Greenlaw rapped in another from Stewart and Munro as they ganged up hotly. Wootton got the nod next for tripping. Crowley took Hill's forward pass to tear in and score on a partial breakaway with the Hawks around Nicholls' doorstep. McDonald then dented the twine, aided by Moher and Goyer, as Belleville pressed hard. Crowley was chased for interference and Eagles were shy two briefly, but no damage was done in their absence. They were back when Doug Mortimer got the finger for elbowing and he got back in time to see Day and Stewart climb the wall for high-sticking as it roughened up somewhat. Doran got through neatly to score from Jones after checking and recovering the rubber. McDonald went over for tripping at the finish.

Early in the third, McDonald got in with Moher's pass to hit the net, but Greenlaw got it right back from Stewart on good passing. Parnall added another from Munro on a passup, with Barrett clicking on a solo seconds later.

Crowley tore in fast with Hill's pass as play swept up and down hotly, and Fred Mortimer threw in one more on a play out of the corner with Greenlaw and Stewart. The Eagles kept pounding right down to the finish and wound it up with a nice piece of combination by Brabin, Payne and Parnall, the latter being the payoff man. Teams:

Belleville: Goal, Leforte; defence, Semark and Bastedo; centre, Goyer; wings, McDonald and Moher; alternates, Barrett, Desjardins, Day, Doran, Jones, Wardhaugh and Reeves.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery and Wootton; centre, Parnall; wings, Fennell and Crowley; alternates, F. Mortimer, Stewart, Hill, Greenlaw, Payne, Brabin, D. Mortimer and Munroe.

Connie Mack Celebrates 89th Birthday

Connie, whose tall, gaunt figure hasn't changed much in the last quarter century, is no longer active manager of the team he guided for so long. He resigned as manager in 1950 after 50 years in that spot and now holds the title of president of Philadlephia Athletics.

He no longer handles any of the business end of the club's affairs either, depending entirely on general manager Art Ehlers and his successor Jimmy Dykes.

But Connie still goes to Shibe Park every day he is able, arriving at 9 am and staying until 1 pm.

Mr. Baseball strictly is baseball fan No. 1 now and he loves it.

"I'm as happy as I ever was," he said. "I thought at first I would miss being down in the dugout. I really enjoy watching the game as a spectator and I'm looking forward to watching games for many more seasons."

Pleased With Showing

Mack is particularly pleased with the A's showing in the last month and a half of the 1951 season—when many experts considered the club the best in the American League despite their lowly position in the standings.

After today's birthday party, Connie plans to leave next week for Fort Myers, Fla. His son, Connie Jr., is in the shrimp business there. Connie is looking forward to his first trip in a shrimp boat.

And when the shrimp season is finished, the grand old man of baseball will turn his attention to the business closest to his heart—baseball and the 1952 season.

West Indies Gain Slight Advantage

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 22 (Reuters).—West Indies cricketers gained a slight advantage over Australia on the opening day of the third test match today, but both teams floundered on a treacherous pitch.

Australia won the toss and was tumbled out in its first innings for a mere 88 runs. The West Indies bettered this with 105 and dismissed two of Australia's second-innings batsmen for 20 runs before play ended.

Lindsay Hassett, the Australian captain, withheld his batting strength in the second innings, hoping that the pitch will recover from the rain damage by Monday, when play resumes.

Most successful first innings bowlers of the first innings both were medium pacers. Frank Worrell, West Indies, took six for 38 and Australia's Bill Johnston six for 62.

Lindsay Kin Blank IOOF In Junior "B" Puck Fray

Lindsay Kinsmen were in top form Friday night on home ice to hand Oddfellows a 9-0 defeat in a regular Junior "B" hockey struggle before a rather small crowd.

Bobby Haxton, the blond Oshawa boy who starred in last year's playoffs, led the Kin parade with four goals and one assist, to prove the individual star for his team; while Doug Powell snared a pair of markers and drew one assist. Copeland, Marshall and Deeth were the other marksmen the latter two also Oshawa imports. Peterborough played without the services of their star centre Brian (Red) Robinson who was unable to make the trip, also Ken Floyd and Dick McCracken, out with injuries and this partly accounted for their ineffectiveness on attack.

But the league-leaders were really hot and played it hard all the way to earn the verdict. The Scugog squad added four in the first period, added two in the mid-session and tallied thrice in the finale while Links were unable to penetrate the armor of McGuire as the latter turned in a great game between the pipes. In fact, Paul deserved more than passing mention for his stellar display which proved a big factor in his teams success. Oddfellows had their moments on the attack, particularly when Kin were shorthanded but the agile custodian proved unbeatable on Oddfellows' best scoring attempts.

A Free-for-all

It was a fast, rugged game throughout with the second period the most hectic of all when Bus Jensen and Copeland hooked up in a fastic battle and soon the players of both teams threw sticks and gloves away to engage in a short Donnybrook. For this, referee Smith handed majors to Marshall, Copeland, Jensen and Heffernan, minors to Armstrong and goalie Red Wasson who was allegedly struck over the head by Copeland's stick during a scramble. Order was restored however before too mch damage resulted. Despite the score the actual play was not too one-sided but Kinsmen took full advantage of their scoring opportunities when it counted, whereas Oddfellows' attack lacked its usual zip and many chances were missed.

IOOF—Goal, Wasson; defence, Armstrong and Clapper; centre, Stewart; wings, Buckton and Ferguson; alts., Twist, Coyle, Heffernan, Jensen, Kimball, Bigford, Sullivan, Wilson.

Charles Scores TKO Against Kahut In 8th

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, headed back for the east and a re-match with Joe Walcott in quest of his lost heavyweight title, punched durable Joe Kahut of Woodburn, Ore., into submission here Friday night, scoring a technical knockout in the eighth round. It was a scheduled 12-round fight.

The former champ, weighing 189 pounds, hardly worked up a good sweat as he battered the plodding Kahut with sharp, telling punches.

Kahut, at 186, attempted to connect with lethal overhand right-hand punches as he forced the fighting in the opening two rounds. But he got a taste of what was to come in the first when Charles retaliated with fierce counter-punches.

The Oregon slugger made his best showing late in the second round when he nailed Charles with three hard punches to the head without a return.

A crowd of 6,724 paid $31,310 to see the fight. It was the largest gate in Portland boxing history.

RYBA SIGNED AGAIN

Mike Ryba will continue as a coach with the St. Louis Cardinals next season. The club announced Friday that Ryba's contract was renewed at the request of Eddie Stanky, the club's new manager.

CHET NICHOLS Boston Braves southpaw pitcher, gets in hot-stove session with his Dad, Chet, Sr., at their Pawtucket, R.I. home. In his freshman year last season, Chet had best earned run average in the National League. The 21-year-old was coached by his Dad during sandlot days. Pop was a former relief hurler with the Giants.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A fellow who decided he had a better chance in sports in Peterborough than in Oshawa last spring — and came here — is doing okay. George Brabin had been a good junior baseballer and hockeyist, but he didn't figure he'd get a chance in senior company in the Motor City. He packed his suitcase, came up and got a job in this city. Well, he made the Petes' senior ball club all right and went on to lead the Viaduct League in hitting. A couple of pro clubs want to get a look at him next spring, we know. He's also playing hockey regularly with the senior "B" Eagles and is one of the leading point-getters. Oshawa's loss was our gain.

While thinking the other day of Charlie Westbrook, who died this week, we remembered Eddie Wright. Both were local hockey officials here in the days of Bailey, Parker, McLeod, Dwyer, Collins, Ranger, etc. And Eddie managed the Petes in OHA company in the early 30s, too, when fellows like Ted LeBarr, Scotty Maudsley, Archie Weir and a raft more were burning up the ice lanes. We lost track of Eddie later, when he moved from here. Oldtimers will recall him in his George St. barbershop, which was a hockey hotbed at the time Peterborough was taking a senior OHA title—what is equivalent to senior "A" today. Next thing to professional hockey.

One Can Dream, Anyway

Naturally one can't tell you much about the materials required (in the dim future) for our shelved Memorial Centre, but we note an AHL item on what went into the fine Hershey arena. The builders used 210 carloads of sand, 25,000 barrels of cement, 9,600 tons of crushed stone, 1,100 tons of steel, 20 miles of piping, 100,000 square feet of cork, 40 miles of electrical cable and wiring, and 10 miles of wrought iron pipe to carry the brine for surface freezing. Lots of other stuff, also, but this will give figure filberts a few facts to toy around with — until we can give facts on the local Centre, say about 1958.

* * * * * *

Latest gimmick on puck publicity is the piece that some NHL-ers figure the puck is being fixed so that a player can put "stuff" on it. That an accomplished player can curve it on a hot shot, or put a rise or drop on it, like a pitcher does with a baseball. Sounds to us like strictly padded-cell palaver, but it might give manufacturers of the rubber discs (or NHL moguls) a thought. Heaven help the poor goalie then. He has a rough enough time of it now with fast-changing players always piling up in front of him and flinging sizzling hunks of hard rubber at him from all angles and through defencemen's legs. But at least incoming forwards aren't throwing hooks at him. It's a wonder life insurance companies haven't put the ban on hockey goalies.

* * * * * *

Eagles Outflew Hawks

Not many on deck at the arena last p.m., but those there saw a speedy senior "B" struggle. And they saw the Eagles at their best, in their oldtime fighting form. They hustled the Hawks hard all through and definitely earned that 10-5 win. Bumped them a bit, too, though it was a pretty clean contest, and kept the Hawks—who also battled hard—a little off-balance and wary going in. Nicholls turned in a steady chore again in goal, and the home defence was solid. Ditto the forwards, with the second line really hot. Toodie Greenlaw came up with his best job of the season, with Reg Stewart and Freddy Mortimer also shining. Parnall, Crowley, Munro and Hill were others going well, but the club clicked as a unit and kept right in the thick of the keen race.

* * * * * *

'Twas a sad story that came out of Lindsay last night as the leading Kin of that centre daubed the Oddfellows with a 9-0 coat of whitewash in a junior "B" joust. Lindsay is at Kingston tonight, and the Vics meet the IOOF-ers next Friday. Though minus Red Robinson, Ken Floyd and Dick McCracken, this didn't account for the locals' one-sided reverse as the classy Lindsayites—bolstered by several good Oshawa juniors—turned in a driving performance and also had ace goaltending. A free-for-all in the middle heat drew four majors. A rough enough number, too, we hear in Belleville where the Hawklets turned back Kingston juniors 6-3.

Jockey Rides 300 Winners

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP).—Jockey Charlie Burr, the 17-year-old lad from Kansas, was proud and happy today about riding 300 winning horses in a year, but he wasn't letting the achievement go to his head.

He was out at Tropical Park as usual, a smile on his face as he prepared for another day of racing.

There was little to indicate that the slender, dark-haired youth had just become the seventh jockey in American turf history to score 300 or more victories in 12 months.

Burr didn't say much about it himself. He felt he'd covered the subject when he stood in the winner's circle before the cheering crowd Friday and received a silver plate from racing secretary Gerald Brady to commemorate the occasion.

"It's a wonderful feeling to join those six other riders," he said, his lean face breaking into a broad grin.

"I'm tickled to death. I thought I wouldn't make it after coming in the seventh. But Four No Trump ran a fine race. I saw the opening on the inside and we made it."

The little Kansan—he weighs just 100 pounds—won the eighth race aboard J. Steele's Four No-trump, a 14-to-1 shot.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Official averages released Friday proved that baseball fans knew all along—that Ralph Kiner and Stan Musial are the top two sluggers of the National League. Kiner, Pittsburgh's home run king of the majors, captured the loop's slugging title with a robust .627 percentage, beating out Musial by 13 points. The St. Louis Cardinals star banged out .614 to become the only other player to top .600.

Musial's .614 in his 10th season brought his lifetime slugging percentage to .584, a league record. The old mark of .578 was held by Johnny Mize, former Cardinal and Giants first baseman.

Dan Bucceroni, lanky 3 to 1 underdog from Philadelphia Friday night scored a big upset by winning a unanimous decision over highly-ranked Roland La Starza of New York in a heavyweight 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. La Starza weighed 186¾, Bucceroni 181½.

Keeping the short-armed La Starza at long range during the middle rounds, Bucceroni piled up a wide lead on points that stood up against a good closing surge by the Bronx butcher boy.

It was the second loss for the 24-year-old La Starza in 49 pro fights. Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass., contender, was the only one to beat him before Friday night.

Turk Broda Writes Finish To NHL Career, Will Receive Many Presents

By The Canadian Press

Toronto's fabulous fat man tonight in effect writes "finale" to a tremendous goalkeeping career. It's to be quite an occasion, with thousands of dollars in gifts, including a new car, for Turk Broda, who gave way to Al Rollins in the goal crease of Toronto Maple Leafs. The fans feel he's earned this tribute. To many, the dropping of the roly-poly goalie after 13 seasons with the Toronto club seemed almost like the loss of an institution.

Typical of the way the turkey came through in the pinches were his standout efforts in Stanley Cup playoffs. The Leafs won only two NHL championships during his tenure as netminder, yet fought through the playoffs to win the Stanley Cup five times. Twice he won the Vezina trophy, awarded to the NHL goalie who plays the most games with a team having the fewest goals scored against it.

Tonight's occasion, "Turk Broda Night," at Maple Leaf Gardens, will see him walk out onto the ice between the second and third period of the Boston at Toronto contest.

Will Accept Gifts

There he'll accept the gifts and donations that have been piling up around the Gardens for him, his wife, Betty, and their three daughters.

One large department store has built a model dining room to be wheeled right out on the ice. The centre piece is a dining room suite that includes a set of dishes, sterling silver, flatwear, silver tea service and crystal ware.

The Leafs take on Boston again on Sunday night. The other Saturday night contest sees Chicago Black Hawks meeting Montreal Canadiens.

Sunday night features a full schedule, with Montreal meeting Detroit Red Wings and Chicago going to New York Rangers.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Reginald (Red) Horner turned professional with Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL 23 years ago tonight, immediately taking the ice for his third game in two days including amateur contests. Horner, one of hockey's most bruising defencemen, spent 12 seasons with Leafs. In the regular season of 1935-36 he set an NHL penalty record with 167 minutes in the box.

Know Full Joy Of Christmas

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Frequently emphasized is the extent to which Christmas has become for much of the world, and for many people, Christless.

It is for many a commercialized Christmas, or a pleasure-devoted Christmas, or a home - cooking Christmas (very good in itself), or a stuffed-turkey Christmas, a Christmas in which Christ, to Whom it owes its origin, has little or no significance, place or part.

On the other hand are the many for whom Christmas has never lost its meaning, for whom it is, and will always be, the Mass of Christ.

Christmas as a season of festivity and gift-giving, even in its less distinctively Christian aspects, is a boon to all who live in lands where Christianity has any hold, but it is only those for whom Christ is its center and its meaning who know its full joy.

The Pilgrim Fathers, who landed at Plymouth four days before Christmas, did not observe it, because they regarded it as a "pagan festival." And thereby they missed a normal joy and happiness in that day that present-day Christians of less austere ways could not forego.

But such was the intensity of their Christian faith that it sustained them through that dread first winter, which saw half of the one-hundred-and-two who came in the Mayflower die.

An ideal Christmas for us would be to have the strength and power of such Pilgrim faith in the Christ of Christmas, and at the same time to secure that human joy and festivity that they missed.

As we go back to the first Christmas, the coming of the Savior, we must not forget the background and the setting of that divine event, the devout souls, like Simeon, the aged priest, and Anna the Prophetess, the inheritors of the long-foretold prophecies and hope of the coming of the Messiah.

When Paul asked the question, "What advantage hath the Jew?" He replied that it was "much every way: chiefly, because that unto them were committed the oracles of God."

Paul was no less a Jew because he believed that as a Christian he still worshipped the God of his fathers (Acts 24:14).

Those professing Christians, who betray Christ and all that He taught, by anti-Semitism, might well ponder Paul's words. They are justified by the facts.

The outrageous acts and attitudes of many so-called Christians toward Jews estranged many Jews from all that Christians celebrate in Christmas.

But today, discovering how true Christians love and honor them, many Jews, though they may not become Christian believers, are discovering values in the New Testament that they had not formerly acknowledged.

We ought all, Christians and Jews, to make a great deal more of our common heritage.

Hamilton Bows To Indians Teepees Edge Barrie 7-6

By The Canadian Press.

Hamilton Tigers and Brantford Redmen took a crack at the top two teams on the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A list Friday night, and didn't budge either of them.

Brantford, in fact, dropped to fifth place in the list when it lost at home 5-3 to the second place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen. At Stratford, Hamilton lost 5-1 to the first place Stratford Indians.

Owen Sound Mercurys took sole possession of fourth place by beating Sarnia Sailors 5-3. The win put the Mercurys two points ahead of Sarnia and one up on Brantford.

In the Junior OHA series, Barrie fans saw St. Catharines Teepees come up from a deficit of 6-1 midway in the second period to whip the Flyers 7-6 in overtime.

Greenshirts Downed

Some 2,900 fans at Kitchener were disappointed to see the Galt Black Hawks beat the home town Greenshirts 7-5. Guelph fans had better luck watching Ken Laufman of the Biltmores — the league's leading scorer—put in four more goals to help his team to a 9-3 win over Oshawa Generals. The win put Guelph in a first-place tie with Toronto Marlboros, idle Friday night.

Sudbury Miners beat the North Bay Black Hawks 8-1 at Sudbury to break a six-game losing streak for the Miners in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A loop.

Doug Verity, with three goals, was the leading scorer for the Dutchmen at Brantford. Jim Pernfuss and Harry Psutka got one apiece. For Brantford, Don Oberholtzer scored twice and Ferguson once.

Goals Get By

In the Hamilton-Stratford clash Hamilton goalie Art Child turned aside 49 shots but Indians Don Heinbuch, Jack White, Bruce Burdett, Mickey Roth and Dinny Flanagan each got one past him. Murray Comfort scored the only Tiger goal.

Ray McCallum and Mike Bukacheski each scored two goals for Owen Sound against Sarnia and Art Hayward placed the fifth. Ollie Haddon, Val Lardner and Jim Wilson scored for the Sailors.

Carl Boone scored the St. Catharines overtime goal—his second—that gave the Teepees the game at Barrie. Gord Myles scored three of the other St. Kitts' goals and Brian Cullin and Orin Gould put in one each. Doug Mohns, with three goals, and Chuck Woods, Hilary Menard and Bob White scored for Barrie.

Bill McIntosh scored three of Galt's seven goals at Kitchener and Peter Conacher, Ken Wharram, Jim McBurney and Alfred Horne took care of the rest. Orv Tessier and Duke Edmundson scored two apiece for Kitchener and Collins put in a single.

In the Guelph-Oshawa game, Ron Murphy and Bill McCreary shot in two apiece to back up Laufman's four-goal showing, and Ray Ross scored one. Oshawa goals were scored by Fred Etcher Harry Sinden and Bob Attersley.

Radio Station Fees May Rise

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP)—Canadian radio stations would be asked to pay almost $300,000 more in copyright fees next year under a proposal outlined Friday to the Copyright Appeal Board.

H. E. Manning of Toronto, counsel for the Composers Authors and Publishers Association of Canada, outlined the plan as the three-man appeal board continued hearings on copyright fees proposed for 1952. The board is headed by Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson, president of the Exchequer Court.

Mr. Manning said it was proposed to charge radio stations $602,420 in 1952, compared with $304,802 this yeary for use of works in the repertoire of CAPAC. However, if the stations took advantage of a discount they would pay $548,160.

The increase sought by CAPAC is opposed by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, whose membership includes most of the privately-owned stations in Canada. The CBC has indicated that it will not offer any major objection to the proposed increase.

Mr. Manning said the CBC would pay $176,420, before discount, compared with $152,421 this year. The private stations as a group would pay $426,000, before discount, compared with $152,421. After discount, the CBC would pay $160,160 and private stations $388,000.

Two Writers Win Awards For Articles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (CP).—The American Association for the Advancement of Science has chosen a New York magazine editor and a Minneapolis newspaperman as the top science writeers of 1951 in the United States.

The association announced Dec. 13 that $1,000 awards will go to John Lear, an associate editor of Collier's Magazine, and Victor Cohn, science writer for The Minneapolis Tribune.

Lear won his award with "Atomic Miracle," an article which appeared in Collier's April 21 issue. It described the pioneer medical research being done with nuclear reactions in the hospital at Brookhaven National Laboratory.

Cohn scored with a series of articles on the problems and opportunities of old age, which appeared in the Tribune from Jan. 15 to 31.

Trying To Refloat British Freighter

SYDNEY, NS, Dec. 22 (CP)—Attempts were to be made today to refloat the British freighter Kaltkon, beached Friday night after she was brought here by the salvage tug foundation Josephine.

The 1,500-ton freighter grounded Wednesday on Newfoundland's southwest coast but managed to free herself. The Josephine went to her aid and arrived here Friday night, towing the Baltkon stern first. She was taking water fast and had to be beached.

Pumps will be put aboard today and the vessel will be moved into drydock here once she is refloated.

20 Sailors Brave Sea As Ship Splits In Half

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Dec. 22 — (Reuters)—The master and about 19 crew members of the 7,120-ton London freighter Prolock Hill today braved a broiling sea aboard the two halves of their broken, stranded ship. Three of their shipmates were drowned and three were missing.

The Famagusta Harbor master said there was no immediate danger for the seamen. The storm which drove the ship onto the sandbanks off Famagusta Friday raged unabated, and the greatest danger was that it would pull the wreck off the gripping sands.

The storm kept lifeboats from the broken vessel. Twenty-seven men were rescued from the wreck, Friday 20 of them plucked from the surf by British soldiers who formed a human chain to save them from a capsized lighter.

Apsley Guild Sponsors Christmas Tree, Supper

APSLEY, Dec. 22 (ENS)—On Tuesday evening the annual Christmas tree and supper for the Sunday school scholars of St. George's Anglican Church was held in the parish hall. This event was sponsored by the Ladies' Guild and in spite of the inclement weather and many children being shut in with sickness, there was a good attendance.

Following the supper the Christmas tree delighted the children.

Each child who attended Sunday school and the cradle roll children were given a parcel containing two gifts and a bag of candy.

Burned Down House But Didn't Get Pay

SUDBURY, Dec. 22 (CP) — Because John W. Hull was only paid $20 instead of an agreed $100 for burning down a house, he went to police. Friday he was found guilty of arson and remanded a week for sentence.

A statement by Hull, read in court by Constable Ross Stenabaugh, said that Michael Dominie of Bowlands Bay, 15 miles north of here, agreed to pay Hull $100 if he would burn Dominie's house so that the insurance could be collected. Hull set fire to the house when the owner was absent Sept. 6.

After some time, Dominic paid Hull $20, the statement said, but nothing more. Nov. 19 Hull went to police with his story.

Burned Cat In Bag

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP)—Three juveniles admitted Friday in juvenile court that on Dec. 8 they stuffed a cat in a burlap bag, drenched it in fuel oil and then set the bag afire, killing the cat. The 15-year-old leader of the trio said they got the idea from a movie cartoon. Deputy Juvenile Court Judge J. P. Balbarrie ordered a mental examination and remanded the boys in custody for sentence.

Not Responsible

LONDON, Dec. 22 (CP) — The British food ministry announced Friday that it will cease to be responsible for sale of Commonwealth sugar to Canadian refineries after 1952. The statement, in the announcement of a new Commonwealth sugar agreement, said that after 1952 Commonwealth producers will resume direct contact with their Canadian customers through their normal trade channels for the first time in 12 years.

Rural League Opens With Two Fast Tilts

KEENE, Dec. 22 (ENS)—The Otonabee Rural League opened last night at the Otonabee rink in Keene with Keene and Assumption playing and Indian River and Downers Corners before a fair crowd on a hard, fast sheet of ice. The first game ended in a five-all tie and Downer's ran away with the nightcap nine to three. The Indian River team had a fair share of the play but could not get through a sound defence put up by Downer's. Keene got away to an early lead but after the Keene Road boys settled down it was nip and tuck to the finish in the first game. Jack Nelson with two, Doug Whalen, Houle and Shelton were the Keene scorers with Houle also getting an assist while Dick Crowley and Roy MacFarlane were the main snipers for Assumption with the former getting a goal and two assists and the latter two goals and one assist. Armitage and Jack Fitzgerald also scored, Fred Clancy receiving an assist on Fitzgerald's goal. Harold Steenburgh and Bob Locke were the big guns for Downer's with Steenburgh banging in three, two unassisted and Locke scored one and assisted on two. Grant Burns was right behind with two goals with Harold Burns, Ed Close and Gord Barker scoring one each. Buck McIlmoyle got an assist. The Downer's team presented a solid defence after a couple of first period lapses. Indian River goals went to Harold Hope, Arch Davidson and Walter Fife with Chub Edwards drawing an assist. Arch Davidson played a nice game for the losers.

All four teams showed newcomers to the league and they will be an asset, and a pleasing feature was the showing of the younger lads including Bob Locke, Chub Edwards, Arch Davidson, Grant Shelton, Doug Whalen, Colby, Jack Nelson, Grant Burns, Dick Crowley etc.

The next doubleheader will be run off at Keene on Christmas Eve, with Keene playing Westwood at seven and Hiawatha at Downer's Corners at nine. The nine o'clock game should be a thriller as these two teams always put up a battle and a packed house is expected Monday.

Teams:

Keene—A. Nelson, Ren Whalen, McCarthy, Adamson, Doug Whalen, Renwick, Shelton, Foley, Houle, Brown, J. Nelson, Manbeck, Wood, Bryan.

Assumption — Clancy, Gilbert, D. Fitzgerald, J. Fitzgerald, Carey, V. Fitzgerald, Smith, MacFarlane, Crowley, Armitage.

Indian River—O. Colby, Miller, Craib, Kempt, A. Davidson, G. Davidson, Shearer, V. Colby, H. Hope, Edwards, B. Fife, Don Hope, Elmhirst, W. Fife.

Downer's Corners — Mitchell, Batten, Close, Buck, McIlmoyle, Humphreys, H. Steenburgh, W. Steenburgh, H. Burns, G. Burns, Locke, B. McIlmoyle, Barker.

The nine-month peak was $7,092,000,000, and the September total of $848,000,000 was a one-month record. For the first nine months of 1950, the total was $6,053,000,000. The September figure compared with the previous high of $833,000,000 in August.

New Cold Wave In US Midwest

CHICAGO, Dec. 22 (CP) The first day of the winter season howled into the snow-covered and frigid midwestern United States today on a new fall of snow and biting cold.

There appeared no immediate relief in the central part of the country. But some higher temperatures appeared in prospect in the eastern States.

The fresh onslaught followed a week of snow and ice and sub-zero temperatures over wide areas east of the Rockies. Deaths attributed to the series of storms and cold which struck a week ago mounted to 260.

The winter season's official opening today is 11:01 am EST.

Transportation in many midwest cities was tied up. Thousands of motorists were forced to abandon automobiles in the snow-clogged roads.

More than 250 persons were rescued Friday night from snow-stalled automobiles on highways about 45 miles southwest of Chicago.

The mercury tumbled rapidly Friday over the north-central region as a fresh mass of frigid air from western Canada pushed across the border. Snow pelted areas from central Minnesota eastward through Michigan.

Banks We'coming Saturday Closing

TORONTO, Dec. 22 (CP)—L. G. Gillett, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, said today chartered banks welcome passage by parliament of legislation amending the Bills of Exchange Act, permitting the closing of branch banks Saturday.

"The banks will not be hasty in closing branches and there is no intention of closing simultaneously all branches across Canada," Mr. Gillett said in a statement. "It is our thought to initiate Saturday closings only in the larger centres and this with a minimum of public inconvenience."

The legislation was sought by the banks in order to benefit staffs, he said.

"Our aim is to put our staffs on an equal footing with other employees in areas where the five-day week operates . . ."

Hollywood Trying To Honor Every State With Movie Pictures

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22—(AP)—If Hollywood keeps working at it, every state in the union will be honored in a film title.

Latest state to get the nod is "Minnesota," which is the title of a Republican mining saga located in the Mesabi Range. The Gopher State joins the select company with other picture titles such as "Arizona," "Arkansas Traveler," "California," "Colorado," "A Connecticut Yankee," "Florida Special," "Idaho," "Home In Indiana," "Kansas Cyclone," "In Old Kentcuky," "Louisiana Purchase," "Maryland," "The Michigan Kid," "Mississippi," "In Old Missouri," "Montana," "Nevada," "New York," "New Mexico," "Oklahoma Kid," "Oregon Trail," "Tennessee Johnson," "Texas," "Utah," "Virginia" and "Wyoming."

Most popular state for having its cities in titles appears to be Texas. There have been such picutres as "Dallas," "Fort Worth," "San Antonio," "El Paso," "Abilene Town," "Corpus Christi Bandits," "In Old Amarillo." Not to mention "Mourning Becomes Electra" (population 4,934).

That ends our geography lesson for today.

Wanger's Failures

Film folks still talk about the Walter Wanger-Joan Bennett affair. There are many fears that the ensuing trial will be one of the hottest Hollywood has ever seen.

One observer, contemplating Wanger's financial disaster, remarked that the producer made a prime error: that of putting all his eggs in one basket. Wanger apparently invested his entire bankroll in "Joan of Arc" with the expectation that it would be a bonanza. But its initial take was disappointing. Then Ingrid Bergman got into the news. The chances were nil of making a profit on a picture depicting her as a saint . . .

Under-Rated Film

I finally caught up with "Red Badge of Courage," and I feel that it is the most under-rated, badly-handled picture of the year. After holding it for a year, MGM cut the film down to a fast 69 minutes and then released it on the lower half of a double bill, without even a press preview.

Yet it is already cropping up on "10 best picture" lists and evoking high praise from discriminating movie-goers. It is a superb study of courage and cowardice in battle, and perhaps the most realistic film of the civil war ever made. Perhaps it isn't for mass appeal, but then it should have been exhibited with taste and distinction, as such films as "Cyrano," "The River" and "Red Shoes."

SHARE YOUR CHRISTMAS WITH SOMEONE. There are plenty of lonely people at Christmas time and while this festival is considered a family affair one or two more in your home can be made happy on Christmas day. These two children are admiring the creche or scene of the first Christmas.

Sharing Your Christmas With Someone Without Spoiling Home Atmosphere

By NANCY CLEAVER

"The door is on the latch tonight,
The hearth-fire is aglow,
I seem to hear soft passing feet—
The Christ child in the snow.
My heart is open wide to-night
For stranger, kith or kin,
I wouldn't bar a single door
Where love might enter in."
(Kate Douglas Wiggin)

Christmas is a family festival, but it is quite possible, without spoiling the home atmosphere of fun and informality to share the good times with a guest. The children may have a little chum who would enjoy joining in carol singing or who would love to listen to a Christmas story. There may be an orphan from an orphanage, or a ward from the Children's Shelter or an elderly relative, or an old friend who would appreciate eating supper and spending the evening as a guest some time during December when Christmas is "in the air".

Think of the folks you know in your own area, or even those you don't know very well. Is there not some person who especially needs a friendly invitation this Christmas?

Christmas is the children's festival and no child should be disappointed on the birthday of the Christ child. Perhaps there is a child in your community whom you could remember with a gift or a treat, or invite to your home. A little Syrian girl in the Mission in Montreal made this sad comment on her experience with December 25th. "Santa Claus does not come to poor people. I'm six years old and he has never come to us."

During the past year you may have listened to a musical number on a program or on the radio by a group of recently arrived immigrants. Had you thought of offering your hospitality to some of these new settlers so they would not feel like "a stranger in a strange land" this Christmastide?

Perhaps you could get in touch with a couple with their children who have come from Europe to make their home here (let's not continue to call them "displaced persons", or worse still, "D.P.'s!)

Why not extend your hospitality to someone you know who may find this season rather hard? Maybe sorrow or loss has come to some neighbor's home, or someone you know is anxious about a loved one who is far away. Perhaps the teacher, who works so hard on your child's education might be really glad to receive your invitation to join your family circle for an evening in December.

This Christmas, all grownups are conscious of the world picture, of the suffering in other parts of the world. Through the Red Cross and through the churches, much can be done in a practical way to relieve some of the misery and heartache of other people in distress.

Families, who like Good King Wenceslas, share with others, especially at Christmas time, are happier. This memory of service to the needy can be a very special one for a child. He'll remember this along with the singing of carols, decorating the house and the tree, and entertaining guests. When he is grown, he will likely be eager to have the Christmas in his own home repeat in part the pattern of the December when he was small.

Parents who put thought and time and effort on the worthy celebration of the birthday of the Christ Child, realize that the unseen world can be very real to a little child. It is not hard for the very young to catch a glimpse of the wonder and mystery of God sending His son to earth in the form of a helpless babe on the first Christmas night. At this holy season, Christian parents, have a sense of fellowship with other mothers and fathers scattered over the face of the earth. They belong to a great company who long to give their children happy memories of Christmas time.

Your Garden:

Many Gifts For Gardeners Available At Christmas

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

What would you as a gardener or your garden-minded friend like for Christmas? Unless one has gardened seriously one is apt to choose unwisely since there are many unsuitable plants, ornaments and tools offered at the shops.

There are three distinct types of garden gifts: First, the type that is useful and practical, such as tools, manure and fertilizer; that which is ornamental, like a bird-bath, sundial, or a bird house, and the type that actually makes a garden, like trees, shrubs, flowers, seeds and books.

Since tools are the very foundation, the very beginning of gardening, let us start with the spade. This tool is invariably needed in early spring when digging the soil in the vegetable garden is the prime chore.

The simplest job in the garden, digging, is hard work if one attempts to do it with the wrong tool. Spading with a shovel, or shoveling with a spade, makes the effort a hardship. Heavy soils call for a sharp sturdy spade, while light soils are better handled with a four-tine spading fork. The spading fork is most useful for cultivating the soil in shrub border.

Then there is the pickaxe, a favorite tool of the old gardener for breaking up soil too hard for the spade, and for lifting obstacles imbedded in soil. Other important tools are the rake, trowel, cultivator, pruning shears, leaf rake, fertilizer and lawn seed spreader and dust gun sprayer.

Remember that the good gardener uses good tools. The very best cannot be too good, and any tool that increases the results while diminishing the labor is worth-while.

The giving of a tree, shrub, flower or seed calls for discrimination since most gardeners will themselves purchase the usual varieties. A gift in this class calls for something new or unusual.

First to come to mind would be an order for the three 1952 All-America selection roses, Vogue, Fashion and Helen Traubel. A Christmas rose or two, or better yet three, could be ordered now and delivered for immediate planting, with the hope that the weather on Christmas day will be mild and the plants in full bloom.

What would be more thrilling than an order for the delightful late summer flowering Franklinia, a small tree with stunning white camellia-like flowers whose season extends over a period of six weeks?

Bulbs, other than amaryllis and paper-white narcissus should not be considered unless they are the sorts which if potted soon can be forced for indoor bloom.

The selection of plants, bulbs or seeds should be governed by discretion and the gardener's floral taste as well as his gardening opportunities should guide the choosing. The living Christmas tree idea is splendid, but many a garden cannot provide adequate space for one without crowding out some established specimen.

Caution must be entertained when considering a garden ornament, unless you know beyond a doubt all the factors that will enter into its disposal, as well as the gardener's preference. Maybe a good book is the answer.

Gardening Questions

Q—I am enclosing a branch of my lilac. How can I control the scale on it, which seems to be killing my entire tree?—W. C. F.

A—Your lilac is badly infested with oyster-shell scale insects. To control these cut out and burn the most badly infested branches and every year in spring, just before the leaf buds expand, apply a dormant-strength miscible oil spray (dilution 1 to 16 parts of water.) In June and again in July spray with Black-Leaf 40 diluted in accordance with the manufacturer's directions.

Above are some gifts-for-the-gardener items in the three classes into which they may be divided. Type One includes practical gifts, such as tools and fertilizer. Next comes those that are decorative, such as bird baths, bird houses, sun dials and garden furniture. In Type Three are gifts that actually make the garden, such as seeds, shrubs and flowers.

Saw Actress Smoke Marijuana

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP) — Mrs. Evyleen Cronin testified Friday that she saw her former employer, Tallulah Bankhead, take "deep breaths" of a marijuana cigarette at a cabaret in Evansville, Ind.

The former maid-secretary to the actress told a general sessions court that the incident took place while Miss Bankhead was on tour last year with the show "Private Lives."

Mrs. Cronin, 59, charged with raising amounts of the actress' cheques, said she accompanied Miss Bankhead, William Langford and Earl Smith, whom she described as a piano player, to an Evansville cabaret where marijauna cigarettes were brought out.

She testified that Miss Bankhead, Langford and Smith "took deep breaths" of the cigarettes. The former maid-secretary said she later paid a $55 bill out of her own pocket, and that when Miss Bankhead expressed a desire for more cigarettes "Bill" paid for them.

Mrs. Cronin is charged with raising the amounts on 26 of Miss Bankhead's cheques for a total of $4,284.

Called Police

Earlier, Harry Blaisdell, wealthy manufacturer, testified that he called police to his Marblehead, Mass., home in which he had leased quarters to Miss Bankhead and her theatrical troupe, when he heard swearing and screaming there early one morning.

Blaisdell was not permitted to tell, beyond his statement of swearing and screaming, why he sent for police. Judge Harold A. Stevens also upheld a prosecution objection to a question as to whether he had seen Miss Bankhead strike police.

Defence counsel Fred B. Morritt's inquiry was under constant attack by Assistant District Attorney Jerome Kidder, who described defence questioning as a collateral attack on Miss Bankhead.

Kidder said the defence had passed its opportunity to question Miss Bankhead on any "vicious or immoral acts" during her appearance on the stand as a prosecution witness.

Whether Mooing Cow Gives Less Milk Than Contented Bossy Becomes Issue In UN

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP) — Whether a cow that moos a lot gives less milk than a quiet, contented bossy has become an issue in the United Nations political committee.

British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd started it Thursday by reminding the garrulous Soviet foreign minister, Andrei Vishinsky, that there was an old Russian proverb to the effect that the more a cow moos the less milk she gives.

Vishinsky snapped that there is no such Russian proverb and it would be a silly proverb anyhow, something like saying "the more a man talks, the less he is able to reproduce his kind."

Friday Lloyd apologized. It wasn't a Russian proverb, he said, but a Polish one.

He added:

"Perhaps Polish cows behave differently from Russian cows."

If this were true, Lloyd said, the "dangerous deviation should be corrected in the interest of Cominform solidarity."

Plan To Supply NZ Newsprint In Three Years

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, NZ (CP)—Plans to launch a newsprint industry in New Zealand which will be producing large supplies by the middle of 1954 have been submitted to the government by one New Zealand and two United States companies. The industry would be able to supply all the Dominion's newsprint needs and provide large quantities of newsprint, pulp and timber for export to South Pacific countries.

The proposal has been made in response to an invitation from the government to private industry to submit plans for the utilization of the huge state forest in the centre of the north island. This is the largest man-made forest in the world. The government had proposed that a town be built at Murupara, in the forest zone, for establishment of the industry.

The plan submitted by the three firms, however, provides for the industry to be centred at the existing town of Te Puke, which lies nearer the east coast and nearer the port which is to be built at Mt. Maunganui for handling the plant's products.

Three Firms

The three firms are Fletcher Construction Company, biggest construction organization in New Zealand, Merritt, Chapman and Scott Corporation, which has built many pulp and paper mills in America, and the Raymond Concrete Pile Company, of the United States. They propose forming a company to develop and exploit the forest in association with the government, which will supply the timber, build a railway, and take part in port and other development work.

The proposal is now being examined in detail by government experts and leading businessmen called in as advisers. Committees are working at high pressure in order to reach a decision as soon as possible, as the firms concerned have priorities on certain scarce construction materials.

Experts of the companies submitting the plan are confident that a great new industrial centre can be established and put into operation in the area within two and a half years. They see its output as providing a challenge to dairy produce, meat and wool, which have for many years been the basis of New Zealand's export wealth. The estimate that the annual output from the industry will be 60,000 tons of newsprint, 35,000 tons of bleached kraft pulp, and 40,000,000 board feet of timber.

Natives Offer Gifts To Volcano

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Natives of Ambryn Island in the New Hebrides group of the South Pacific are "feeding" food and tribal offerings to an active volcano in an effort to stop its eruptions, according to George O'Brien who has just returned here from the island.

"Natives fashion special shoes out of coconut shells to climb over the lava and hot ashes," he said. "Then they throw into the live crater anything they consider valuable. The are trying this method because they think the white man's prayers have failed."

The volcano, Mount Marram, threatens the island with desolation and thousands of natives have been evacuated by inter-island steamers. Some white men also fled the island, but various groups remain trying to appease the volcano.

Experts fear the smouldering peak may wreck the whole island in a final eruption some day, but even if there is no major outbreak the island is considered useless for years to come.

Talented BC Actor In New London Role

LONDON — (CP) — Bernard Braden, versatile stage, screen radio and television actor from Vancouver, has taken over the role of an undertaker in one of this season's stage hits, "The Biggest Thief In Town."

Braden succeeds J. Edward Bromberg, United States character actor who came to Britain on special invitation to play the part. Bromberg, 49, was found dead in his room Dec. 6. Death was believed due to natural causes.

Pressure Of Business Forces Canadian Diplomat T. C. Davis In Germany To Be His Own Stenographer

By DOUGLAS HOW

BONN, Germany (CP) — To the known and numerous talents of Hon. T. C. (Tommy) Davis, Canadian ambassador to Germany, you can add one more.

The affable gentleman from Saskatchewan who has been a lawyer, judge, legislator, provincial cabinet minister and diplomat is a typist too.

He's been proving it here in Bonn, capital of West Germany. He's had to.

He says he learned to type in those distant days when he was a young lawyer in Prince Albert, Sask., and recent circumstances have revived the talent and put it to work.

The ambassador has been pressed into duty as a makeshift stenographer for two reasons.

One is that the embassy, with only himself and two other Canadians of diplomatic rank on its staff, has had its work sharply increased due to the negotiations and discussions arising from the arrival of the 27th brigade in Germany.

Staff Shortage

The other is a temporary shortage of stenographers. Because of holidays, sickness and other reasons, the number of Canadian stenographers available at one time before Christmas was nil and since only Canadian typists are allowed to handle classified or secret documents and correspondence someone had to do the typing.

In a number of cases, it was Hon. T. C. Davis.

The other Canadian diplomats on his staff are Jean Chapdelaine of Montreal and Arthur Andrew of Halifax. There are also a number of other Canadians without diplomatic status.

Before the brigade came to Germany, the embassy was largely occupied in observing and reporting. The brigade has turned it into an operational embassy in a fairly big way and the biggest of all its files, even after only relatively few weeks, is the one—or several—on the negotiations and talks about the brigade's legal status and other complex matters involving its presence.

Sign Contract Strike Averted

MONTREAL, Dec. 22 (CP). — Threats of a pre-Christmas strike affecting 1,000 employees ended Friday with the signing of two labor contracts by Montreal Locomotive Works, Limited, and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

Winding up negotiations begun in August, the union accepted arbitration board recommendations covering increases to plant and office employees. Under the shop agreement, 800 hourly-rated workers will receive increases of 15 cents an hour, plus other benefits.

Under the staff employee contract 200 office workers will receive approximately the same hourly increase, working out at $25 more a month. They also gain added welfare insurance benefits.

In addition, the agreements cover vacations, paid holidays, seniority, and group welfare insurance.

600 Workers Back On Job

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 22 (CP)—Six hundred workers in the open hearth department of Algoma Steel Corporation returned to their jobs for the evening shift Friday, ending a 16-hour work stoppage.

No official reason has been given for the walkout, termed by some a wildcat strike.

The return to work followed a day-long meeting between company officials and representatives of the employees' union, Local 2251, United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

Thursday night's walkout followed a decision by union local officials for sympathetic action with workers at Algoma Contractors, which handles and supplies materials for the steel plant.

The steelworkers' union claimed several employees at Algoma Contractors were fired for trying to join a union.

Second Boost For Civil Service

OTTAWA, Dec. 22—(CP)—The Civil Service Commission Friday announced salary increases for some 14,000 civil servants across Canada, covering 400 classes of employees.

They are in addition to increases announced last Friday which affected some 90,000 civil servants.

Today's increases range between $200 and $350 a year, and cover lower grades in the professional groups. Translators, draftsmen, technical officers and technicians, income tax assessors, accounting and auditing classes, and the first two grades of administrative and treasury officers.

Still undealt with are about 1,200 classes of civil servants, involving some 10,000 persons, of whom 5,000 are employed in Ottawa. Commission officials said today the cases still under review should be completed by the end of the year, although the announcement may be delayed until later.

The increases are retroactive to last Dec. 1.

Name Magistrate To Settle Firemen's Fund

W. R. Philp, KC, local master, will now have to decide what firemen are eligible for the Peterborough Fire Department Pension Fund of more than $21,000.

That was the decision made by Justice J. M. King at the non-jury sittings of the supreme court.

To decide the disposition of this fund the firemen took the matter to court in the form of a "friendly action." But action got bogged down when it came to deciding just who were eligible for the fund.

The fund was started in 1933, 15 years before the firemen came under the pension fund provided by the city for its employees. The firemen closed their own fund in Dec. 1947 and none of them has yet received a cent from it.

Taken To Court

So they could get the money in some form the firemen decided on the "friendly action" with those firemen who believe they are eligible for the money acting as plaintiffs, and the two fund trustees—Chief George Smith, president, and Captain Albert Mason, secretary-treasurer—acting as defendants.

Justice King ruled that it must be considered a pension fund; also that firemen who left the department voluntarily or were discharged are not eligible.

He also ruled that other interested parties—firemen who joined the department after Dec. 1947, when the fund had closed; the city of Peterborough; and the various donors to the fund—should be represented.

The city has already disclaimed any interest in the money.

W. B. Gordon was appointed to represent the city and donors when the hearing before the master is held. John W. Corkery was appointed to represent the firemen who joined after the closing of the fund.

167 Vets Have VLA Homes

Thirteen lots, each of two acres, between Peterborough and Lakefield are all that remain available at present under the Veterans Land Act. Alan R. Macnab, regional supervisor, Kingston, was in the city recently to interview eight couples from the district who were interested in securing farms or small holdings. Some of them were from the Lindsay district; others from in and around Peterborough. "We have built or are building 167 houses for veterans in the immediate area of Peterborough," Major Macnab said, "and we have approximately 320 small holders established in new or previously built houses which they have purchased by the VLA plan of help and benefit.

Since the spring of 1946, the VLA administration has placed 650 veterans on farms and 850 others in small holdings in eastern Ontario, most of them of half an acre.

Said Major Macnab: "More than 99 per cent of those veterans are all paid up to date on their commitments. Some have paid off the entire cost of their dwelling properties."

The present remnant of thirteen two-acre lots is on the Northey farm, east of No. 28 Highway, one mile south of Lakefield, and about six or seven miles from Peterborough. The frontage of that farm was divided into 18 lots, each 700 feet in depth and 130 feet in width along the road. Five have been sold. Some houses are in course of construction.

The bulk of the 110 acres was taken for farming purposes by a veteran who qualified for that type of holding.

Financial Terms

The essence of the financial terms to the applicant is: the veteran pays 66 and two-thirds of the overall cost on a maximum of $6,000; the benfits to the veteran are represented by 23 and one-third. That part is paid by the federal government.

"I'd estimate that about 90 per cent of the veterans in new houses are doing much of the work themselves, generally with the exception of details such as electric wiring, heating and plumbing."

The public has noticed these rural subdivisions in the vicinity of the city during the last five years. Thirty-five of these veterans' homes have been constructed in two blocks on either side of the Warsaw Road, just east of the city. There are 17 houses on the north side of the road and 18 on the south side. They are laid out on streets which stem from the highway.

Other Projects

Fifteen other houses have been erected in the VLA project at the turn of No. 28 Highway approaching Lakefield. Four more comprise the smaller group on the old Hall and Fowler farm, just north of Scott's Corners on Highway 28 about six miles southwest of the city.

These houses cost the veteran occupants and owners $19.90 a month, extended over a period of 25 years. The interest charge is 3½ per cent, and the monthly payments is actually a credit accumulating until it wipes out the owner's debt, and the veteran comes into complete possession.

Some of the houses cost less

Licence Plates To Do Two Years

Owing to a shortage of steel, no new motor vehicle plates were manufactured for distribution in Ontario.

In their place, a yellow windshield stamp to be displayed on windshields will be used in conjunction with 1951 plates already in place.

Motor vehicles permits and drivers' licenses will go on sale at all issuing offices on Jan. 2.

A few 1952 plates will be issued, however. They will be for the use of motor vehicle manufacturers, dealers and for display on trailers. These plates will have a yellow background with black figures and letters, and the Crown which has been shown on Ontario plates for many years until this year.

Order for issue of plates in '53 will also have the Crown displayed for that year.

New Law In Force

Drinking Drivers May Land In Jail

People convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol now face stiffer penalties than ever before.

Realizing tne difficulty of obtaining conclusive proof in prosecuting drunk driving charges, Parliament amended the Criminal Code in July, making it an offence to drive a car if the driver's ability is impaired by alcohol.

It is much easier to obtain a conviction on this charge than a charge of drunk driving and the minimum fine is $50, with a maximum of $500 or three months imprisonment or both for a first offence. In addition, anyone convicted is liable to have his driver's licence suspended and his car impounded for three months.

Minimum Seven Days

A summary drunk driving conviction carries with it a minimum seven day jail sentence plus licence suspension and the impounding of the car involved.

If there has been an accident in which someone was killed or seriously injured, the crown may ask that the charge be taken as an indictable offence. The minimum penalty for a conviction of drunk driving in this case is 30 days in jail.

With the Christmas and holiday season approaching, city and provincial police are advising car owners to leave their cars home, if they intend to do any drinking.

This advice is accompanied by warnings that those who fail to heed their suggestion can expect to face the consequences if they are involved in an accident or caught behind the wheel of a car after they have been drinking.

"Those who intend to do any drinking should leave their cars at home and use a taxi," says Chief John Thompson and he adds that his men "will be out in full force to protect the public from drunken drivers."

More Precautions

Chief Thompson points out, that with this "new section in effect, there may be more prosecutions than in other years during the holiday season."

"As far as I am aware, the sections of the Criminal Code dealing with drunk driving and driving while impaired by alcohol will be strictly enforced," Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, declares and the magistrate adds that the law also provides that anyone who has "care or control" of a motor car is guilty of an offence if it is found his ability is impaired, whether the car is in motion or not.

OPP Inspector W. H. Stringer of District 8 Headquarters here, appeals to citizens to protect themselves and others from possible injury by not driving if they have had anything to drink.

Will Help Drivers

Emphasizing that the provincial police "are not the least bit happy to pick people up just for the sake of locking them up," Inspector Stringer says: "We are interested in some measure of prevention and will be glad to assist any citizen who calls us to prevent him from getting into trouble if he feels he is incapacitated, and unable to drive.

"Anyone who is drunk and apprehended at the wheel of a car however, is going to be our guest. There will be no punches pulled there."

Inspector Stringer stresses that OPP officers will help citizens to help themselves and with the cooperation of the public, there will be a minimum of trouble and the danger of serious accidents marring the holiday season will be reduced to a minimum.

Drake, Alias Duke, Given Duck—Or Drake By Lady With Memory For Deeds, Not Names

A countryman delivered a nice fat duck to photographer Duke on Thursday. It was from a lady acquaintance who was unable to deliver it herself. After ducking through his memory for the reason of this fine gift, Duke came up with the answer.

He went fishing one evening in a creek, a spot he had visited before, and had to drive through the farmer's yard and fields to get to the stream. Duke caught some nice trout and stopped at the farmhouse to thank the people. He found the lady of the house ill and in talking to her found she was fond of fish and cooked her a couple on her own stove.

Later in the summer he called again and was welcomed like a long-lost son.

"Oh, hello, Mr. Drake," said the lady," I want to thank you again for those fine fish."

"I'm glad you liked them Ma'am. My name is Duke."

The lady continued to eulogize Duke and in no time at all referred to him again as "kind Mr. Drake".

Until Morris received the fowl he had forgotten all about the incident. The parcel was marked "For Mr. Drake, A Merry Christmas".

So, Mr. Dra-duke will have a fine fat duck or drake on his festive board and in, our opinion, deserves it.

Wildcat Strike Continues 30 Employees Laid Off

The "wildcat" strike of the 22 CGE workers is continuing. The company has appealed to the men to return to work and make use of the grievance procedure as outlined in the union's agreement with the CGE. The union on the other hand has told the company that the work stoppage was unauthorized and was not participated in by the union.

The result was that on Friday night 30 employees were laid off an account of shortage of materials due to the work stoppage.

They walked off the job on Dec. 11 in sympathy with four of their number who were suspended on the night shift for refusing to do a welding job. The men said the company had changed this particular welding job from a "first class" to a "second class" one.

This brings less pay. The welders in Work Station "4" (structural steel) estimate that they lose an average of 12 cents an hour.

In a letter to CGE employees, explaining the company's position, J. E. Girven, works manager, called the wildcat strike "an illegal work stoppage". He said that the laid down grievance procedure was available to the men if they felt they had a complaint.

Several meetings—the last one Friday afternoon—have been held but the deadlock remains.

CGE officials said the work stoppage was a violation of Article 21 of the existing contract between the company and Local 524, UEW.

Union officials replied that the work stoppage was unauthorized and the union had no part in it. The decision was made by the men on their own.

Commenting on this "wildcat" aspect of the strike, C. R. Sullivan, UE area representative said: "Union officials met with the welders and recommended that they go back to work. At the same time the union has consistently told the company that they stand ready to negotiate a settlement."

Cec. Harvey, one of the weld-

House Fire Hits Crash Victim

$2,500 Damage Done To Home Of Burritt Bell.

Fire broke out in the home of Burritt Bell, 459 Park St., late Friday night and before it was extinguished it caused at least $2,500 damage.

It was the second stroke of bad luck that has come to the Bell family in five days.

Tuesday night Mr. Bell was taken to hospital after his small delivery truck was crushed between the caboose of a CNR train and a warehouse at Bethune St. He was trapped inside the crumpled vehicle for more than an hour.

Ironically, it was after his wife Thelma had been visiting him in hospital that the fire broke out.

Banked Fire

Mrs. Bell came home from the hospital and about 9:30 pm, with the assistance of a couple of friends, banked the coal furnace for the night. Then she went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Oswald Covert, Charlotte St., where she has been staying since her husband was hospitalized.

A workman noticed smoke coming from the house about 11:30 pm and he turned in the alarm.

Cause of the fire is believed to have been overheated pipes, but defective wiring may have been responsible.

The whole interior of the house will have to be done over as a result of the fire, water and smoke damage.

Up Through Floor

Flames ate through the basement floor and shot up through a broom cupboard in the hallway, adjoining the adults' bedroom. The floor was badly burned and many of the joists will have to be replaced before it is secure.

Both bedrooms have heavy smoke damage and so has the living room at the front of the house.

Today the interior of the trim, white-painted bungalow is a mess of charred timbers, piles of water-soaked clothing and furniture and smoke-streaked walls.

It is a heartbreaking sequel to some two years of work that Mr. Bell has put in on his home. A deft craftsman, he laid the floors and completed almost the whole interior of the house, with the Fire Chief Warns Care Can Avoid Xmas Disaster

"Every year fires turn the happy Christmas season into tragedy," said Fire Chief George Smith today in his annual warning about the fire hazard over the holiday period.

"Christmas fires occur because extra hazards are brought into homes, schools and public buildings. A little knowledge of these hazards and how to prevent fires will help keep Christmas safe and merry."

Chief Smith suggests that Peterborough residents follow these safety rules in the choice and setting up of the family Christmas tree:

Rules To Follow

The Christmas Tree—Remember your tree is very combustible—being filled with pitch and resin it ignites easily and burns furiously. Care and caution are necessary to keep your tree safe.

Selection—Choose a small tree instead of a large one. A small tree can be just as pretty and it is less hazardous. Be sure to obtain a freshly cut tree.

Setting-Up—Do not set up the tree until the day before Christmas. Keep it outdoors until ready to instal. Set up the tree in the coolest part of the house, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces. Do not block entrances or passage-ways.

Care of Tree—Cut off the base of the tree at an angle at least one inch above original cut. Stand the tree in a pail of water filled with coal or sand. Be sure the pail is kept filled with water to about one inch from the top. This method, when used with a freshly cut tree, reduces flammability as effectively as any fireproofing chemicals, retarding the drying out process of the tree.

Removal—The needles of your Christmas tree will fall when your tree is dried out. When needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it outdoors. Take your tree down as soon as possible after Christmas.

Avoid Candles

Lighting the Tree—Never use candles on or near the tree. Use standard electric lighting. First inspect every socket and wire to make sure it is in good condition. Discard sets with frayed wiring.

Be sure circuits are not overloaded for fires may start in the walls. If a fuse blows it is probably because the circuit is overloaded. Eliminate some of the appliances and replace the fuse with a new one of proper rating.

Inspect the tree from time to time. If needles near lights start turning brown, change the position of the lights. Be sure light bulbs are not too near combustibles. Provide guards for the lights and instal a switch some distance from the tree. Make certain all lighting is turned off before retiring or leaving the premises.

Decorations—Cotton, paper and proxylin for decorating the tree are dangerous. They will ignite easily and burn intensely. Decorate the tree lightly and use non-combustible materials such as metal, glass and asbestos.

Toys—Don't buy celluloid foils, toys and paper costumes. Adults should insist that all toys they give to children should be safe and incapable of causing fire, shock or explosion. It is dangerous to set up electric toys and trains under the Christmas tree.

Fire Screen

Fireplace—If you use your fireplace, be sure a substantial screen guard is provided to cover the entire opening securely. Do not use the fireplace unless the Christmas tree is at least eight feet away.

Rubbish—All gift wrappings, waste paper and rubbish should be taken outside and placed in a covered metal container.

Last December there was a sharp reduction in the number of alarms (not counting chimney fires and cars) turned into the Peterborough fire department.

In December, 1949, there were 31 alarms and property loss of $3,985. Last December there were nine alarms and the property loss was $780.

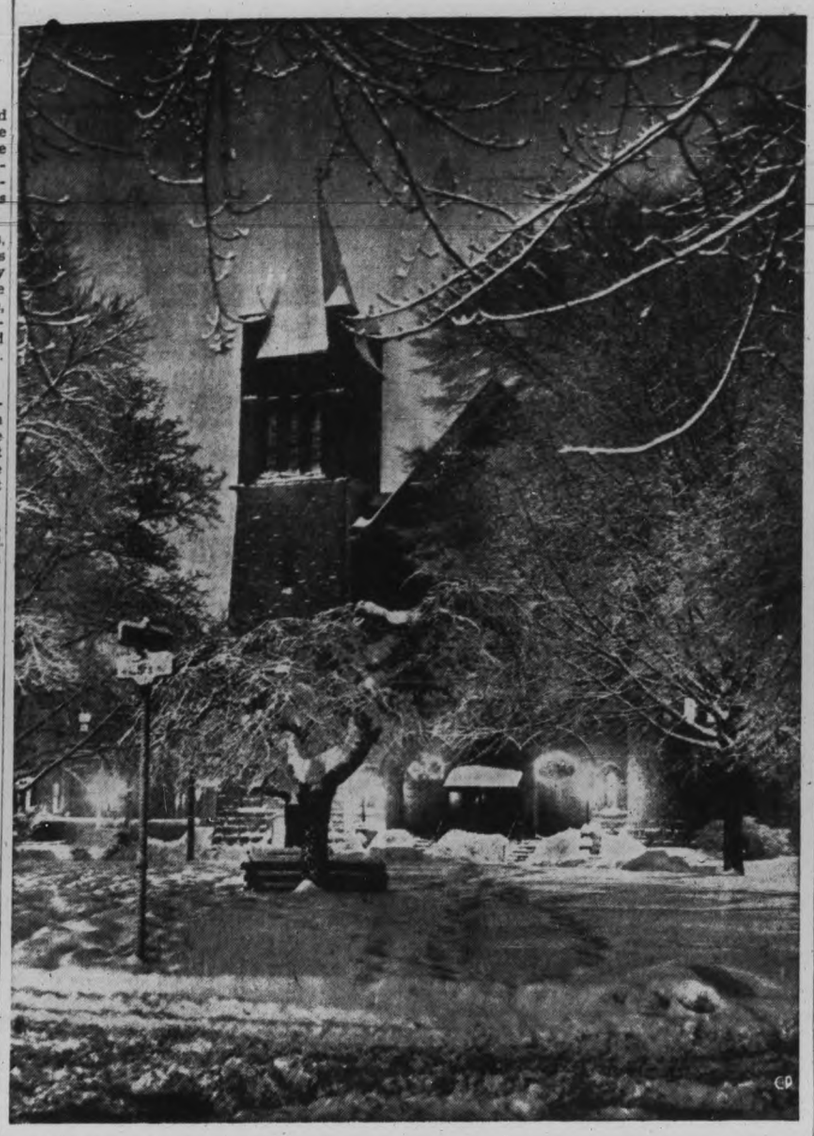
Hopes of further reducing these figures are already gone with the several large fires in the city during the last week or two.

"All the more reason to guard against fire ruining your Christmas," says Chief Smith. "Observe elementary fire precautions and use common sense over the holiday season."

Army Investigates Mystery Case

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The country's newest Enoch Arden case today began to assume the proportions of a first-rate mystery.

Principals in the case are Agnes Dixon Sasser, 22-year-old Atlanta, Ga., girl; Pte. Walter B. Dixon, who she said was her first husband, and Pte. William G. Sasser, her current husband.



Communist prisoner-of-war lists made public earlier in the week named Pte. Walter B. Dixon among the 3,-96 it says are in its prison camps in North Korea.

Earlier, Mrs. Sasser says, the army reported her husband killed in action, and the government sent her a $10,000 insurance payment.

But the army records don't show it. As a matter of fact, the army said Dixon never reported that he had a wife.

The army has begun an examination to determine the facts.

When Dixon's name and serial number were published in newspapers, Mrs. Sasser said the serial number was the same as that of her former husband.

NATURE'S ARTISTRY—The mid-week storm which swept southern Ontario, tying up city, town and highway traffic, left a few quiet corners such as this snow-blanketed section in Toronto. The stark branches of city trees were softened into lacy, filagree patterns by the heavy snowfall.

How To Avoid Hazards In Bathroom

Poor design and false economies in construction not only make the bathroom inconvenient but also greatly increase the possibility of injuries there. Approximately one of every 20 persons hospitalized by burns, scalds and explosions in the house is injured in the bath, and one of every six home poisonings occurs there, hospital records show.

Here are some points for making the bathroom safe:

1. Pipes should be of sufficient size to provide a good water supply even at peak periods of the day. Scalds resulting from sudden changes in water pressure will thus be prevented.

2. The bathroom door lock should open from the outside, in case someone becomes suddenly ill there or a small child locks himself in.

3. Since one of every three deaths from poisonings in the home is that of a child under five, a special locked compartment for poisons, drugs, headache remedies and laxatives should be provided in the bathroom.

4. Sanitary finishes for floor and walls are a "must" in the bath for both health and esthetic reasons. One of the most satisfactory materials is clay tile, since it is waterproof and easy to keep clean.

5. The automatic hot-water heater for the bathroom should be adjusted to about 125 degrees Fahrenheit, or below scalding.

6. A sturdy grab bar installed in the clay tile wainscot above the tub will prevent many dangerous falls. Such bars come in colors matching the tile, and can be easily installed when the bath is built or remodeled.

7. Light switches should be located beyond reach of the tub and wash basin, because of the danger of shock. For the same reason, electrical appliances should not be used in the bathroom.

8. If a cord is used for bathroom lights, be sure it has an insulating link so that no one touching it with wet hands will be injured.

Strike In Windsor Ford Plant Has Paralyzing Effect On City

By LESLIE WILSON

WINDSOR, Dec. 22—(CP)—Windsor's heart started beating again last week.

It started Friday when 9,000 Ford of Canada production workers, members of local 200, the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL) agreed to go back to work after a 12-day strike and the company agreed to accept them.

In this city of 121,000, the Ford works with its system of feeder plants is the heart. One in three persons is dependent upon it.

Six years ago Thursday the last major Ford strike ended after 99 days. It started as a local 200 strike, spread to UAW local 195, representing workers in 40 smaller industrial plants, and eventually involved 20,000 men. The strike which ended a week ago involved 12,000; the walkout of the 9,000 led to the layoff of 3,000 Ford and feeder plant workers.

There were similarities between the two strikes. Both threatened the economy of this major Canadian city. Both ended just before Christmas.

The 1945 strike—in which the workers wanted establishment of a 'union" shop in which every Ford production man should be required to join local 200—led to the adoption at Ford of the Rand formula, by which, although production men are not compelled to join the union, they must pay union dues through the check-off system.

Set Aside Cause

Last week's settlement set aside the immediate cause of the strike—the firing of 26 men whom the company termed ringleaders in wildcat work stoppages—and provided for the reopening of negotiations on a 1951 wage contract on the basis of a conciliation board report.

Both settlements attacked root causes of the strikes. Settlement of the first involved a compromise on a union-security issue. Settlement of the second came when both sides agreed to leave the 26 dismissed to arbitration and to re-open wage-contract negotiations broken off during the strike.

For six months local 200 has been seeking a 30-cent-an-hour increase on a basic rate of $1.32. A conciliation board last Dec. 4 recommended increases totalling 13 cents.

The 1945 strike was a legally-constituted strike. The strike which ended Dec. 14 was a wildcat strike for which union leaders did not admit responsibility.

Another difference was that while in 1945, the sympathies of most Windsor residents lay with the striking auotmobile workers, this month most people here said they thought the company justified in taking a firm stand against plant troublemakers.

Dog Sounds Alarm

THAMESFORD, Dec. 22 (CP).—Tippie, a black and white collie dog, roused residents of this village, 14 miles east of London, to a $40,000 fire that destroyed the main building of the Riverside poultry plant Friday.

Shoplifting Charges

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 22 (CP)—Four shoplifting charges were laid against each of two young Guelph girls by city police Friday. Charged were Joan Edith Ross and Ilene Mary Close, both 16.

Year's Headlines Reflect Tension In World Affairs

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A group of men negotiating an armistice in Korea held the world's attention during a troubled and stormy 1951.

Scarcely a corner of the world failed to make news during the year. The violence of nature vied with political upheaval for front-page space.

Guns of assassins brought a resurgence of nationalism in the Middle East. Britain, facing economic difficulties at home found new troubles in Egypt and Iran. The west quickened its rearmament against Communism but reports of atomic explosions behind the Iron Curtain indicated that Russia was building her strength too.

There was good news also. Alarm which spread across the commonwealth in September at the news of the King's serious lung ailment turned to relief as he successfully underwent an operation and headed for recovery. Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh made a triumphal tour of Canada while Australia and New Zealand prepared to welcome them on another tour early next year.

Far East Issue

But the issue of peace or war in Korea kept the eyes of the world on the Far East. United Nations troops, driven back by invading Chinese late in 1950, surged back across Korea's 38th Parallel last March.

Three months later the Soviet delegate to the UN, Jakob Malik, made a radio speech in New York calling for a cease-fire in Korea. Trygve Lie, UN Secretary-General, observed in another broadcast that a Korean cease-fire might well be the prelude to a real world peace.

The first steps toward such a peace were taken when the Communists accepted the UN command's proposal for talks and the first cease-fire parley opened in the Korean town of Kaesong on July 10. Concessions from either side were hard won as the talks continued, off and on, month after month, with mingled despair and hope. But as the year drew to a close the parleys had brought almost a complete halt to ground fighting.

East Versus West

The larger struggle between East and West continued in the United Nations General Assembly at Paris where a western peace plan was ridiculed as a "dead mouse" by the Soviet Union. Later Russia treated western disarmament proposals in a more serious vein, but secret talks among the Big Four failed to resolve the basic issue.

In Britain, the Labor Party's six-year rule was brought to an end by the October 25 election victory of Winston Churchill's Conservatives. For those who thought the new Conservative regime would end Britain's economic troubles resulting from rearmament and world inflation, Churchill had sobering words. He told Britons their country was heading towards bankruptcy and proposed harsh economic restrictions to stop it.

Britain's chief trouble abroad began in oil-rich Iran in March when an assassin from a fanatical sect killed the pro-British premier, Gen. Ali Razmara. The killing opened the way for nationalization of the oil industry and Britain pulled out of Iran, cutting loose a lucrative source of dollar income.

The assassination July 20 of the pro-British King Abdullah of Jordan seemed another blow to British support in the Middle East.

Break Treaties

In Egypt the Nationalist ruling party abrogated treaties allowing Britain to keep troops in the Suez Canal area and sharing rule over the Sudan. The British troops stayed in Suez, but the struggles that followed with Egyptians led to Egypt's recall of her ambassador from London.

Other events during the year included the return to power of Prime Minister Menzies' Coalition Government in Australia and the re-election of the National Government in New Zealand. Peiping announced incorporation of little-known Tibet into Red China. The western nations ended their state of war with Germany and Japan. The Atlantic Council set an European defence goal of 100 divisions by 1954.

Nature made news in 195. when 4,000 died in a volcanic explosion in New Guinea in January. Near the end of the year a similar blast in Camiguin Island in the Philippines killed at least 800. In the United States, only 27 died, but the damage was estimated at $1,000,000,000 in the huge Arkansas flood in July.

Negro Entertainer Files Damage Suit

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP).—Josephine Baker, Negro entertainer, filed a $400,000 damage suit Friday against columnist Walter Winchell, the Hearst Corporation and King Features.

She charged that Winchell "maliciously, wantonly and recklessly printed and published" items attacking her Oct. 25 and on six other occasions.

The singer and dancer complained that Winchell's items implied she was a Fascist, a Communist, an anti-semite, and enemy of people of her own race" and "a person of low, doubtful character."

She charged that Winchell's statements concerning her were "wholly false" and intended to hold her to public contempt."

Accused Manslaughter

JACKSON, Mich., Dec. 22—(AP).—Businessman Edward G. Spencer was accused formally of manslaughter on Friday in the death-by-freezing in a car of his pretty young wife and ex-secretary Loretta, 21. The 44-year-old trucking-firm executive was held in $5,00 bond for examination on January 11.

Big Sale

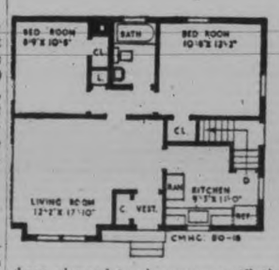
NEW YORK, Dec. 22 — (AP)—Sale of the world's tallest building, the Empire State, was completed Friday in a $51,500,000 transaction. Roger L. Stevens, Detroit real eseate man, handed a token cheque to a representative of the sellers, the heirs of the late financier and Democratic national chairman John J. Raskob.

Not Enough Jobs

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 — (CP). — There are not enough jobs to go around for all of Canada's immigrants these days. The onset of the winter season unemployment has left a slowly-growing number without work, but immigration officials say the situation will be eased as the customary winter reduction of the flow of new Canadians takes effect.

Home Owners To Sue Ottawa

ROCHESTER, NY, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Lake Ontario Landowners' Association Friday night announced plans to sue the Canadian government for "millions of dollars" for damage to property on the southern shore of Lake Ontario.



President Norman Apterby said a meeting has been scheduled here Jan. 17 to draw up final plans for the suits. The group is made up of landowners of the Lake Shore from Youngstown to Clayton.

The suits will be based on a provision in the 1902 treaty between the United States and Canada covering the construction of Gut Dam in the St. Lawrence River near Ogdensburg. This provision permits US citizens to sue for damages to property caused by construction or operation of the dam, he said.

Apterby claimed that operation of the dam has raised the level of property damage.

There are an estimated 3,700 property owners along the lake shore who are in a position to file claims, Apterby said.

This bungalow provides a very comfortable home for a smal family. It has an interesting exterior appearance and a well designed floor plan which makes excellent use of all available space—an item to interest many prospective house builders.

The large living room provides adequate space for family activities. As shown in the sketch of the floor plan there is room for a breakfast table in the kitchen while careful arrangement of living room furniture would allow space for dining on special occasions.

The window arrangement has been planned to give cross ventilation in the master bedroom, the living room and the kitchen. The window over the kitchen sink provides bright natural light for the counter area.

There is direct access to the basement from the side grade entrance. This arrangement simplifies carrying out ashes or bringing in supplies since it overcomes traffic through the kitchen or other parts of the house.

The house is 30 feet by 24 feet and, for estimating purposes, the area is 732 square feet and cubic contents 15,228 cubic feet.

Working drawings for this plan, known as Design No. 50-18, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: Cheery greetings, dear friend. Although I don't know you personally, but through reading your column one feels acquainted. I enjoy it immensely —your recipes are to our liking and always turn out grand. You have such a variety, too—one is sure to please. One just can't go wrong trying your recipes as you explain them so well.

Thanks for getting some Christmas recipes in early, too. I would like sponge candy recipe. Would you also have a recipe for peppermint patties and homemade chocolates? Also a recipe for homemade maple candy with nuts, they are round as if dropped, not cut. That recipe for Quick Macaroons was delightful and different... we are very fond of doughnuts. When it comes to school parties, etc., the one request I get is for doughnuts. For the Hallowe'en party our 7 year-old Ronnie was asked "Could your mother make doughnuts". He replied "Well I really don't know what to say, she hasn't made any for so long". I proved to him I still could to the school children's delight. Last week I made my fruit cake and after the family sampled and gave their O.K. on it I said "Wait till it ripens—it will still be much better." Ronnie said "Why—is it still green?"

Could you tell me the proper method of shaping tea - ball doughnuts. Mrs. M. A. M.

Porcupines

(Contributed by Mrs. M. A. M.)

One cup chopped dates, 1 cup walnuts chopped, 1 cup cocoanut, ½ cup white sugar, 1 beaten egg, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix together. Drop on greased cookie sheet. Bake 12 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr. I advise making a double batch!

Mayonnaise

Beat 3 eggs. Add ¾ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon mustard, 4 tablespoons flour, salt and ½ cup vinegar, and lastly add 1½ cup boiling water. Boil stirring until thickened. Take off burner and add 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

ANSWER: Such a cheery helpful letter! Thank you for the recipes. Have I neglected to mention Marianne is home now and is a full-fledged nursery school teacher? The night she received her first pay cheque she had it cashed, then crashed into the house and threw ten dollar bills all over the kitchen floor shouting "Mom, we're rolling in dough!" A first pay cheque is a wonderful thrill. I hope nothing ever dampens her ardour for her work.

The Sponge Candy was in the column for Dec. 15. I hope you did not miss it. Fondant, Gloria Creams and Chocolate Dipping were in Dec. 6th. For peppermint patties flavor fondant with peppermint oil and shape in flat rounds and dip as directed in Dec 6th column.

I have the recipe for that maple candy. It has 3 variations:

Maple Nut Creams

Use either of these variations for the sugar: 3 cups brown sugar OR maple sugar grated OR 2 cups brown sugar and 1 cup maple syrup; and 1 cup cream, 1 cup whole pecans or walnuts and if just brown sugar is used 1 teaspoon maple flavouring. Mix sugar and cream (and syrup if used) and cook until it forms a soft ball —exactly 238 deg. Fahr. is my recommendation. Cool to 110 deg. Fahr. then beat until creamy, add nuts and flavoring and drop from teaspoon onto buttered plate. If desired up to 2 tablespoons butter may be added when candy is left to cool before beating.

Teaball Doughnuts

Three eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted fat, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups flour, freshly grated nutmeg is optional. Beat eggs, add sugar and milk. Sift dry ingredients together and add liquids to them. Beat well and add melted fat. Add enough flour to make this batter so stiff it will support a spoon in standing position. Drop by teaspoonfuls into deep fat at 365 deg. Fahr. Turn once and when brown skim out onto unglazed paper. Roll in powdered sugar.

NOTE: The same method of shaping and frying may be used for yeast doughnut dough.

Write whenever you need me.

Historical Facts About Perfume

When Tutankhamen's Egyptian tomb was opened, alabaster vases of unguents still were fragrant after being placed there nearly 8,300 years earlier.

Babylonian warriors combed their hair with aromatic oils before going into battle.

During the days of Madame de Pompadour, perfumes were in great favor. In fact, they formed an important part of the lady's household expenses, reported to have been $100,000 in a single year.

Years after Josephine's death, the Empress' apartment was reputed to be pungently fragrant with musk.

During Louis XV reign, strolling perfumers sold fragrance with musical accompaniment. Arrayed in lavish red coats with gilt lacings, these perfumers would address a street crowd from an equally lavish carriage.

Louis XIV has been called "the sweetest smelling monarch" due to the fact that he used so much perfume at all times.

Emperor Otho was such a devotee of the perfumer's art that his equipment for a military campaign included a complete arsenal of essences and cosmetics.

It was a conceit of the 16th century to put perfumes in tiny bottles which were enclosed in small cases that resembled books, the covers of which were stamped in gold or in colors.

Cardinal Richelieu loved elegant clothes, elegantly scented. He believed in the revivifying effect of fragrances and used a perfume bellows to scent his luxurious apartments.

During the reign of Charles II of England, ambergris, musk and sandalwood were powdered, mixed together, and enclosed in small bags to be worn on the person or used as sachets among clothing.

Beauty shops did a thriving business in the old Roman days.

'Twas the Night Before Christmas

'TWAS the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there.
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads.
And mamma in her 'kerchief and I in my cap
Had just settled our brain for a long winter's nap —
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
Gave a lustre of midday to objects below;
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver so lively and quick
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick!
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name!
"Now Dasher! Now Dancer! Now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet, on, Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew,
With a sleigh full of toys — and St. Nicholas, too.
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack.
His eyes how they twinkled, his dimples how merry,
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry;
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowl full of jelly.
He was chubby and plump — a right jolly old elf;
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself,
A wink in his eye and twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod up the chimney he rose,
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight
"Happy Christmas to all and to all a goodnight!"

Dance Corsage Customs

What to do about flowers for dances and other gala events bothers most boys, especially at this time of year in Peterborough when there is a round of parties. Here are the answers, according to popular customs and the expert advice of florists:

SHOULD YOU HAVE THE FLOWERS SENT ON AHEAD? It is customary and complimentary to deliver in person. Call for whatever you ordered the afternoon of the dance. No need to put the flowers on ice; store in a cool place example the open window in your bedroom, until party-going time.

SHOULD THE BOY PIN THE CORSAGE ON THE GIRL? Optional. Unless he is at ease and deft, girls prefer to do this, before leaving home or after arrival at the dance, depending on whether the flowers can be placed in a way in which they will look well without being crushed by the wrap.

WHERE SHOULD FLOWERS BE WORN? Shoulder corsages are usually placed at the left, stems down. Coiffure corsages are worn in the center of the hair, tiara fashion, or on the right side if that fits with the hair-do. The wrist corsage, now often mounted on a plastic clip to simplify placement, goes on the left wrist. Naturally you vary these rules to suit the girl and the gown; nobody pays attention to left or right as long as the flowers appear well-placed and do not interfere with free-swinging grace during dancing.

WHAT FLOWER-COLORS ARE TOP FASHION THIS SEASON? Pink, rose, or orchid, with white gowns. Green or brown (orchids) with gold gowns. Pale pink with black gowns. Yellow to highlight blond hair; dark red to dramatize a brunette.

PIKE'S FINE MILAN STRAW in a tri-color combination of cocoa, green and beige is highlighted with a single talisman rose. A tricorne influence worn straight as a die.

TINY BUTTONS on this trim suit in viscose rayon Melbourne flannel are self covered. The skirt is slim below the unusual waistline of the jacket.

New Attendant For Princess

LONDON, Dec. 22 (Reuters)—Princess Margaret is to have a new lady-in-waiting, Buckingham Palace announced last night.

A lady-in-waiting is a combination of chaperone, companion, private secretary and general guide, philosopher and friend.

She performs such duties as carrying about any cash the Princess may need—the Royal family never touches money.

Miss Iris Peake, 28, is to succeed Miss Jennifer Bevan as the lady-in-waiting. Miss Bevan is leaving to be married next month.

Miss Peake is a daughter of Osbert Peake, the minister of the National Insurance.

Paris Half-Season Collections HaveNarrowLook

Daytime clothes in the half-season collections of most of the Paris couturiers have for the most part a narrow look to the skirts, with interest centring in the bodice.

Castillo, designing for Lanvin, shows a black silk of great simplicity with straight skirt and long narrow sleeves, the fabric twisted into a big bow at the bosom.

A scarf collar is draped very high across and down to the waist in a fine black wool by Paquin, in which the sleeves are also long and plain. And black crepe is back in a button front dress by Jacques Griffe, trimmed only with a little velvet collar and two large pockets hanging from the waist.

Black again in a fine wool from Maggy Bouff with a scarf collar that travels down one side into a free-swinging panel accentuating the narrow skirt.

Marcel Roches tops a straight skirt in black ottoman with a decollete velvet top and a short curved ottoman bottom with long sleeves. M. Rochas also designed the accompanying beret of ottoman and velvet.

A cocktail dress by Rochas is also narrow and plain, with a narrow stand-away collar framing the decolletage, the whole in beige lace on taffeta.

Institute Honors Mrs. Ward Glenn

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 22 (ENS) The Women's Institute met in the community hall with Mrs. Steve Deline hostess. The hall was tastefully decorated with green and red streamers and a large decorated tree.

Mrs. Ward Glenn, one of the members, who has left the community to reside in Campbellford, was presented with two cups and saucers.

The address was read by the secretary, Mrs. Earl Greenly, and the presentation was made by Mrs. Harry Mann.

Gift fruit baskets are to be given to the sick and aged. A caretaker is to be hired to look after hall fires for winter months.

Greetings were read from the district president, Mrs. Shearer, of Halls Glen. Appreciations were read from Thomas Brown, George Brownsell and Walter Lewis for fruit and cards. Reports of the Toronto convention were read by attending members, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Eric Little, Mrs. Ross Pollock and Mrs. Harry Mann.

Mrs. Ward Glenn was named delegate to meet the delegation from Seymour West WI re Campbellford lending library.

Mrs. Hank Openshaw, convener, presented the following program: sing-song of carols with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Eric Little; readings, Mrs. Jack Henry, Mrs. Robert Prentice; nut guessing contest, won by Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin; Mrs. Earl Greenly won the jumbled names contest; Mrs. Jack Henry won the Christmas carol contest.

There was an exchange of gifts and candy among the members and guests. Lunch was served by Mrs. Deline, assisted by Mrs. Ross Pollock and Mrs. McKeown.

Fashion Flashes

There's nothing to beat the all-white dance dress, especially when it has a discreet bit of glitter. White crusty lace, sprinkled with tiny dewdrop rhinestones, flares out in a widening tunic over a skirt fashioned of layers of white nylon tulle.

Making an impression with fashion-wise women is the all-fabric town coat. Black fleece is used for a wonderful coat cut on loose, square, boxy lines with a forward-moving loop collar and scarf and a dropped shoulder line. The coat is lined with shocking pink taffeta with a very faint grey stripe.

Tulles To Brocades

LONDON, Eng.—Rayon fabrics range from fine tulle and lace to heavy brocades and yarn-dyed satins. The clothes are mostly designed for the grand occasion with sequin and jewel embroidery highlighting the lustrous quality of the fabric. Worth, with nostalgic glance to the 'nineties, uses ball and fringe trimming to accent a jacquard double cloth.

Crossen, Baltimore.

Following the ceremony the bride donned a winter white coat with brown accessories for a honeymoon in the USA.

On their return they will live in Roseneath.

DOROTHY DIX

Children Can Be Very Cruel At Play

DEAR MISS DIX: We have one child a girl 9½ years old. She has been sick quite a bit of her life, and is just beginning to carry on with school work. She has been very slow in school but with a good teacher this year is getting along well now. Her problem is that she is very self - conscious about being the oldest child in her class. The children in the neighborhood, who are her own age, make nasty remarks to her. She has consequently got into the habit of staying in the house all the time. We live in a nice neighborhood, have our own home, and my daughter wants for nothing except championship. She goes to church and Sunday school, and any child is welcome in our home. I have taught her to be nice to other children, but they won't let her enter into their games. How can I help her make friends?

WORRIED MOTHER.

ANSWER: Your problem stems from the mothers of the other youngsters in the neighborhood. Realizing that your child has a handicap, they should teach their own children to be particularly nice to her. No mother is doing a good job of training her family unless she teaches them the fundamental virtues of kindness and compassion. Children themselves seem to have an unnatural bent for cruelty to any of their kind who does not conform to a set pattern. Physical weakness seems to be the chief object of their taunts, although it should be the principal source of their charity.

Talk To Their Mothers

Could you talk to any of the mothers in your section and have them co-operate in getting companionship for your little girl? In addition to her Sunday School and church activities, could you get her into a girl scout or similar group where she would associate more closely with other girls? If there is no such group in your neighborhood, why not organize one yourself? As the lead, you would have very direct, yet discreet, supervision over the child and her friends, and could more easily guide the activities to include her.

As your daughter's health improves, she'll make more rapid strides in school, so that in a short time the disparity in grade will lessen. Companionship difficulties will then disappear. In the meantime, do everything you can to encourage her in group play and to change the attitude of the other children towards her.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have discovered, and had my husband confess, that he has been having an affair with his secretary for the past two years. He refuses to give her up. We have two children, aged 5 and 1. When his superiors at work heard the gossip about him, they threatened to dismiss him, so in order to save his job he forced me to take the woman into my home. She is still here and my husband says if I don't like it I can get out. I have asked her to leave her job and go elsewhere, but she only laughs at me. I could never part with my children, but can't stand this situation much longer.

AUDREY D.

ANSWER: You made a fatal error in agreeing to your husband's demands that you take his secretary into your house. Job or no job, you should never have let her come. Now she is really the mistress of the home. She won't leave, you can't put her out, so you're involved in an impossible mess. I advise you to consult the pastor of your church, and a lawyer. Don't let your husband know you are seeking advice from any source; get opinions from these men and follow whatever advice they give you. You and your children cannot live under these abnormal conditions, and only legal aid can show you the way out.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 17 years old and going with a boy the same age. I have also been writing to a soldier who is 21. I am engaged to the boy my own age, but would like to continue the correspondence. Do you think it would be right?

T. A. T.

ANSWER: Both you and your fiance are too young to be engaged. Furthermore the fact that you are anxious to correspond with another boy surely indicates that you don't particularly care for the one you're engaged to. Break the engagement, and send your letters wherever you want them to go. This is much the safest and happiest course for you now. There's plenty of time to find the boy you'll love too much to have thoughts for anyone else.

Women Back In Uniform In Armed Forces

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Women went back into uniform in 1951. And judging from the way they hustled to the recruiting offices, they didn't mind at all.

By year's end the R.C.A.F. had signed up 1,833 airwomen and the navy had filled its quota of 150 full-time reservists. Three times as many as were needed applied to the navy for the 500 part-time reservist openings.

The army reports recruiting satisfactory with 600 in uniform out of a quota of 1,500 part-time reserve women. Officials said the girls were "a bit piqued" because they couldn't go active.

Forty-eight thousand women served in the forces in Canada and outside during the second world war. Defence department officials regard the present peacetime response as encouraging.

Girls who five years ago packed away their uniforms and returned to industry, the home, or school, returned to the recruiting offices. Their younges sisters — the 18 and 20-year-olds — were equally anxious to wear uniform.

Young Recruits

Young recruits composed a good number of the airwomen, required to be between 18 and 29 years of age. Wartime WDS were accepted up to 40 years of age.

The first of the three services to begin recruiting women for its regular forces, the RCAF began its campaign June 1. By early December there were 124 nursing sisters and messing officers, 59 other officers and 1,650 other ranks. All were on active full-time service although the end of the year found most of them on courses either at the Manning Depot at St. Johns, Que. or at basic training centres such as Clinton, Ont., (radar), Aylmer, Ont., (technical ground trades), and other points from Gimli, Man., to Summerside, PEI.

The airwomen trained for 26 different trades, including aircraft control assistants, radar technicians, medical, dental and laboratory assistants, clerks and drivers.

Nursing Sisters

Then there were the nursing sisters attached to the RCAF who found it takes courage to belong to the Air Force. Last July five of them were the first to undergo training in parachuting and wilderness rescue work.

Meanwhile the Navy placed 53 of its feminine recruits at Coverdale, NB. These had completed initial training at HMCS Cornwallis. Twenty-five were scheduled to go to HMCS Cornwallis in January and another 25 in February.

The Navy also got two or three times its quota of 500 part-time reservists who train one night a week in various trades and alongside men in the Reserve.

Plays Feature Party At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Dec. 22 (ENS)— The audijorium of the school was filled to capacity for the annual Christmas program put on by the pupils of the public school on Thursday afternoon. The Rev. W. H. Heustin acted as chairman.

For their share of the entertainment, Grades 1 and 2 under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Henry Gray, gave the operatta, "Santa Claus in Mother Goose Land". Large murals of the houses on the main street of Mother Goose Land, painted by girls of senior room, made a charming background for the colorful costumes of Mother Goose characters, Santa Claus, the brownies and kewpies. The large red sled in which Santa had been, was made and painted by a senior boy, George Dawson. There were eight choruses by the group and a vocal duet by Bobby Powell and Billie Bland.

Under the direction of their teacher, Miss Jean Burnham, Grades 3, 4 and 5 presented two playets—"Patrick's Present" and one about a man who did not believe in celebrating Christmas.

Mr. Percy Hamilton, the principal, directed the program put on by Grades 6, 7 and 8.

Three choruses: "Deck the Halls" and "Silent Night" in two parts, and "While Shepherds Watched their Flocks at Night" were sung by the whole group with James Gay at the piano. The play, "A Mouse to the Rescue", was presented by the senior grades.

A Star Drill by ten girls carrying wands tipped by stars to the music of "Star of the East", which they sang, completed the program.

At the beginning of the program, Helen Ingham was at the piano for "O Canada", and Helen Wright accompanied "God Save The King" at the close.

Miss Helen Black, high school principal, is spending the Christmas vacation in New York City. Miss Rita De Guire has gone to her home in Alexandria, and Harry Williams to his home in Glen Williams.

Mary Baldwin is spending a few days with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Don Baldwin and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Joy in Toronto.

What's Right?

At a party you notice that a friend has a run in her stocking.

WRONG: Tell her about it.

RIGHT: Don't mention it. If it were something she could do something about, it would be kind to tell her. Since she can't it is more considerate to appear not to notice it.

House Fire

exception of plastering.

The house is partly insured.

Bruce Bell, father of Mr. Bell, and other assistants are going to clean up the premises before Mr. Bell gets home from hospital either late today or Sunday.

Throughout the night he kept the furnace fire going so the pipes wouldn't freeze.

Considerable damage was also done in the basement, though a valuable supply of tools—including a wood lathe, metal lathe, and circular saw—were unharmed.

than $6,000, Mr. Macnab said. Most of them are around that figure. But, later construction costs have advanced entailing expenditure to $7,500, and some up to $9,500 or $10,000.

But the basic plan of benefit remains at $6,000. The veteran is expected to pay down $600. Then, the government makes $6,000 available to him. If the veteran decides on a $7,500 house, the terms are simply $600 down plus $1,500, and the department provides $6,000 to his credit. Increases in building costs were unforeseen when the Act was drafted. Amendments to conform with the new and advancing conditions were regarded as too complicating, particularly in bookkeeping.

These benefits are offered to the veteran who did not accept the early forms of gratuities. He can repay the sums he received, then obtain the property assistance. An essential condition is this: the house or farm plan is open to veterans with at least 365 paid days of service or a disability pension.

Moving Out of City

Mr. Macnab said that some veterans who bought urban properties on their own initiative have been selling them to build in the country on the VLA lots.

First subdivisions were in half-acres. That area has been increased to two acres, mainly for the purpose of enabling the purchaser to earn from his land a larger supplementary income. Growing small fruits is one source of income which some veterans have adopted, thereby paying their local taxes and their monthly $19.92.

There is no levy on the veteran for administration costs. That item is assumed by the government.

There is also provision for property improvement, at no cost to the purchaser. For instance, top soil for the houses on the Wood acres was bought in quantity and distributed at cost, and at a saving, to the individual veterans who wished to make lawns and flower and vegetable gardens.

Administration items comprise: appraisal of the land prior to purchase by the VLA department. It is tested for fertility and tilth. Legal fees, supervision, consultation about plans and so on, are all without charge to the veteran.

Help With Advice

Harry Conroy of the Kingston office discussed with VLA home owners of this locality various details of land use and management, what to grow for income ends, and how to get the best results. A whole chapter of provisions pertains to house plans, and standards, estimates of cost, engaging of contractors.

Some of the ex-service investors increase their instalment payments; others turn in lump sums from time to time. The Act, Mr. Macnab said, provides for reasonable elasticity for the veteran's advantage. However, possession is usually witheld for ten years, a broad precaution to discourage speculation. The VLA houses are for ownership. However, if a man has to move from one place to another, the necessary allowance for sale is made in that eventuality.

Mr. Macnab said there was as yet no information as to how long the VLA would continue in effect. Veterans who are interested and can qualify are requested to write the Regional Supervisor, VLA, Kingston, Ont.

Wildcat Strike

ers, gave the view of the strikers: "This welding job has been a first-class job for at least 2½ years. On Dec. 7 the company cut prices on this job 13 cents an hour and called it a second-class job. The welders actually started work and spent the next four days discussing the change.

Received Ruling

"On Dec. 10 the company told us that they had to weld at the reduced price or be suspended. The men walked off the job.

"If the company succeeds in doing this to the welding trade then all prices in the shop will be subject to change," said Mr. Harvey.

Mr. Girven said that Wednesday the company wrote to the welders and "expressed the desire that reason would prevail and that they should return to work on the following day and make use of the grievance procedure."

The welders refused.

A collection was taken up for them at the plant gate earlier this week.

Tow Truck Needed To Separate Cars

A tow truck was needed to separate two cars which collided at Hunter and Burnham Streets shortly before 1 am today.

Harold J. Black, 231 Euclid Ave., was driving east on Hunter St. and was in collision with a car driven by Chester Schofeild, 48 Lansdowne St. Schofeild was travelling north on Burnham St.

Total damage to the cars was estimated at $160. Damage to the car driven by Schofield was estimated at $100. The grill, left fender and bumper were damaged.

Black's car received approximately $60 damage to the front fender and grill.

Constable Wilfred H. Perry investigated.

SLIPPERY STREETS

There were slides and spills for more than a few Christmas shoppers on George street's slippery sidewalks this morning. The low temperatures plus the tramping of thousands of feet had turned the last two days snowfall into ice.

School Concert At Westwood

WESTWOOD, Dec. 22 (ENS)—The Christmas tree and concert of Asphodel school area was held Monday evening in Westwood Community Hall, under the direction and supervision of the teacher, Miss Marjorie Huffman.

Chairman for the evening was trustee Gordon Warner and the musical director was Donald Pollock of Havelock.

Speeches of congratulation to the teacher and pupils were given by Reeve James Hamphries, Irwin Russell, Walter Middlebrook, Max Humphries and Donald Pollock.

Chorus for the evening included "Toytown Jamboree" and "Toyland Village" by the whole school of 34 voices; and a closing "Good Night" chorus by the juniors. Recitations were given by Billie Whitred, Melvyn Russell, Carl Breckenridge, Ann Whitred, Bobbie Middlebrook, and Lyle Tarleton.

Instrumental numbers included a piano duet by Sharon Cardwell and Margaret Reed; and a piano solo by Isobel Wilson. Little Barbara Russell sang "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer".

Two monologues were given, by Bobbie Shelton and Roy McMillan. A Christmas tableau, "The First Christmas Eve" was staged, and included a recitation by Barbara Whitred and a solo by Rose Simpson.

The senior girls presented a drill "Roses". Tumbling and acrobatic stunts by the boys were well applauded.

Five plays by various age groups completed the program: "Christmas Helpers" by Grade 2; "Reading the News" by seniors; "Christmas Time" by juniors; "The Wedding at Wayback" and "The Spelling Class".

At the close of the program Santa Claus entered and gifts, candy and popcorn were distributed from the decoraed and lighted Christmas tree.

Miss Huffman thanked all who had helped in any way, and paid special tribute to the musical teacher, Mr. Pollock.

The school figures count 60 per cent toward selection of the US Olympic team.

Double Trouble

Harry Oakman, local aerial photographer, is a hard man to stop. Though forced to land his aircraft in a farmer's field he continued on his way to Toronto by thumbing a ride. Harry took some photographs of the United States' airliner carrying 44 passengers and three crewmen that crash-landed after getting lost in a snowstorm, a half mile west of Cobourg. After getting all the aerial photographs he wanted he headed for Toronto, but met the same fate as the United States' airliner. He found that he couldn't push his Piper Cub aircraft through a snowstorm so he landed in a farmer's field, just north of Dunbarton on Highway 2. He "squatted down" without personal injury or damage to the aircraft. Then he tied up the aircraft, ran out to the highway, and hitchhiked his way to the Queen City.

Show Royal Color Film For Christmas

OTTAWA (CP). — Canadians who only caught glimpse of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh in their recent coast to coast tour, now will be able to see the entire journey on the screen.

Thousands who struggled in the crowds to get a peek at the royal couple can see a 55-minute color film entitled "Royal Journey" produced by the National Film Board. It will be shown in all major Canadian cities during Christmas week.

The film was photographed by a basic camera unit and two auxiliary units which followed the royal progress across the country. In all there were nearly a score of persons in the field for photographic and electrical work.

The production got under way when director David Bairstow, on location in Ungava, was ordered to return to the NFB laboratories in Ottawa to undertake direction of the "Royal Journey."

In Ottawa Mr. Bairstow was briefed by executive producer Tom Daly, 33-year-old Toronto University graduate. It was decided the film should be laid out in sequences, each having its own special theme.

Different Themes

In Quebec City the theme was the color pageantry of the ancient capital. In Ottawa the ceremonies were photographed against the background of the Peace Tower and the National War Memorial. Toronto's surging crowd disclosed the traditional loyalty of one of the great cities of the New World. At Niagara, the falls told their own breath-taking story. The undefended border was Windsor's theme.

The grafting of ancient arts in the young nation was shown in the Winnipeg ballet scenes where the royal couple appeared in full evening dress. Regina tells of the RCMP and wheat. Calgary's Stampede is the voice of the west. In British Columbia the camera rides with the royal train through the Rockies.

Nautical Touch

In Vancouver, the theme was nautical with the Duke aboard "HMCS Crusader," and an injection of a more solemn note with the reading by the Duke of the lesson at the church service Sunday morning. In Victoria the camera follows the royal couple as they view totem poles and Indian dances. In Edmonton it was oil and in Montreal another vast welcoming crowd showing their love for their Princess and her prince charming. In Washington, the theme was Canada's good neighbor; at Ste. Agathe it was winter holiday. In the Maritimes, Sydney and the destroyer "Ontario" in a whipping gale underlined the navy theme, once more. In Newfoundland the waves of Portugal Cove waved out their farewell as the camera caught vanishing glimpses of the tender taking the royal couple to the Empress of Scotland.

One of director Bairstow's problems was that the actors in the film could not be controlled. They were the Canadian people. It was Daly's job to avoid the affect of a glorified newsreel.

The technical processes—cutting, editing, color correction, scoring, commentary—all had to be stepped up in order to meet the Christmas season deadline. The five-reel film was completed in less time than normally allotted to one reeler. This meant long hours of night work and Saturday and Sunday overtime for laboratory technicians.

"Royal Journey's" chief camera man was Osmond H. Borradaile, who comes from Winnipeg. At present he is dividing his time between film work and his herd of dairy cattle near Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley.

Experienced Man

Borradaile, who filmed such notable pictures as "Sabu," "Elephant Boy" and "Four Feathers" was called out of retirement for the job. Photographing "Royal Journey," Borradaile had the advantage of personal acquaintance with the Princess, having photographed her on numerous occasions since her childhood, at Buckingham Palace.

During the Royal couple's holiday in the Laurentians Borradaile hired a horse and cutter and followed the pair along woodland trails. On one occasion Princess Elizabeth walked back to Borradaile's sleigh and inquired how the photography was progressing. This scene shows the Princess patting the nose on the horse.

Borradaile has an anecdote about Prince Philip at Niagara Falls. Borradaile took off his drenched slicker and tossed it to a photographer behind him.

"What did you get?" Borradaile asked.

"I got bloody wet," said the other photographer. It was the Duke of Edinburgh.

Collect Animal Life 34,000 Ft. Under Ocean

WELLINGTON, NZ, Dec. 22 — (Reuters)—The Danish research ship Galathea arrived here today carrying samples of animal life dredged from 34 feet below the ocean.

The vessel fished "deeper than ever before" in the Philippine deep, an ocean crevice in the southern Philippines, the expedition leader said.

"Our expedition has successfully accomplished its main purpose," Dr. Anton Brunn added.

It will be another nine months before the Galathea gets home.

The expedition will study the Kermadec deep northeast of New Zealand in February, and will do a sub-Antarctic trawl at Campbell island before returning to Denmark.

"Tho' I've wandered, still my

dear Old Stony
In the heart of the Kawarthas

Says Children Make Carol Singing Racket

TORONTO, Dec. 22 (CP)—Police Chief Robert Weatherup of suburban New Toronto likes Christmas carols but . . .

He said Friday that unorganized groups of children are turning the carol singing tradition into a racket. They go from door to door operating a sort of shell-out system.

"If they don't get paid, they sauce the people," he said. "Their services would be much more appreciated if they would shovel sidewalks."

The chief said he offered a boy $1 to shovel his sidewalk and was told:

"I could make more singing carols."

Doesn't Like Service Slugs Bus Inspector

OSHAWA, Dec. 22 (CP) — Vincent McCabe has his own way of drawing attention to his complaints of inadequate bus service for suburban Oshawa residents. He punched a bus company inspector in the jaw.

He was fined $5 and costs on a charge of assault.

McCabe said he "knew he was going to be up for assaulting some of these drivers" and said he didn't see why he had to walk half a mile to catch a bus every morning.

Magistrate Frank S. Ebbs told McCabe he should have spoken to city council instead of slugging the inspector.

Christmas Spirit Slows Down Stock Exchange

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Christmas spirit reached into the Toronto Stock Exchange this week and pushed business thoughts well into the background.

Activity dwindled Friday to the slowest pace since the week of July 16.

Prices eased. The list of issues traded shrank from an average of about 450 to slightly more than 300 by the weekend.

Penny golds attracted speculative interest while a few senior issues showed strength. Lower prices base metals and western oils showed activity.

Toronto opened the week with a fair warning of what was to follow. All sections traded irregularly in a lacklustre market. Golds, however, strengthened. In Montreal, golds attracted moderate support but papers and industrials slowed.

Industrials opened slightly higher in Toronto Tuesday but weak final-hour suport erased most gains. Industrials and papers eased in Montreal.

Selected industrials issues edged higher in Toronto Wednesday. Base metals strengthened. Montreal papers and industrials dipped slightly.

Prices Waver

Toronto prices wavered irregularly Thursday and in Montreal, industrials and papers were firm.

New York opened the week with irregular price trends in quiet dealings. Thursday's attempt to continue an upturn begun Tuesday failed. Prices closed lower Friday on a quiet pre-holiday market.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 1.19 at 337.56, golds up 1.31 at 84.49, base metals down 1.26 at 191.31, and western oils down .45 at 125.38.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .13 at 29.95, utilities down .8 at 86.4, industrials down 2.8 at 224.4, combined down 2.1 at 178.4, papers down 3.92 at 787.38, and golds up 1.32 at 68.98.

Tax-Collections Show Jump In November

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (CP)—Corporation and personal-income-tax collections jumped in November, boosting the government's budgetary surplus by $30,000,000 for the month and bringing the eight-month total for the 1951-52 fiscal year to $634,700,000, a treasury statement disclosed Friday.

The eight-month surplus was 21 times higher than the $30,000,000 forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31 next. Recently, Mr. Abbott, noting the sharp increase in the surplus, revised his forecast and said it may be about $250,000,000 or $300,000,000.

During November, revenues totalled $308,100,000, an increase of more than $50,000,000 for the $251,900,000 in November, last year, and bringing total revenues for the eight-month period to $2,468,000,000 — a $681,000,000-gain from $1,787,000,000 in the first eight months of the last fiscal year.

Spending Up

Government spending during the month increased to $278,000,000, sharply higher than the $209,200,000 in November, 1950, pushing the eight-month total to $1,833,251,000—a half-billion-dollar increase over the $1,381,036,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Most of the increase in spending was stimulated by an expanded rearmament effort.

The big boost in revenues, said the treasury statement, was mainly due to higher corporation and personal-income-tax collection.

In Good Condition

FLIN FLON, Man., Dec. 22 — (CP). — A rugged Indian bush worker who survived a fire that killed two other men was reported in "fairly good" condition in hospital Friday. He is John Morin of Island Falls, Man., who floundered nearly 18 miles through deep snow and 40-below-zero weather, clad only in his underwear, to get help when an early-morning explosion and fire razed a wood-cutting crew's living caboose.

Light Musicals Broadway's Top Offerings

By GLADYS LENNON

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—(CP)—Broadway audiences in 1951 were in a mood to be amused—preferably by music—and a variety of light musical fare was offered them.

Foremost of the year's musicals, Rogers and Hammerstein's "The King And I," opened in late March with a fine cast headed by Gertrude Lawrence and Yul Brynner. Based on Margaret Landon's novel, "Anna And The King Of Siam," it concerns the experiences of a young Englishwoman who went to Siam in the early 1860s to teach the King's children.

More recent popular musicals are "Top Banana," starring Phil Silvers as a former burlesque comedian in television, and "Paint Your Wagon," a fast-moving show in western mining-camp setting.

George Abbott's production of "A Tree Grows In Brooklyn," based on the Betty Smith novel, brought laurels to Shirley Booth, a seasoned actress in her first musical-comedy role, for her portrayal of Aunt Cissy.

Holdovers

Holdovers in the musical field are "South Pacific"—now past its 1,000th performance — with Martha Wright replacing Mary Martin and Roger Rico, bass from the Paris Grand Opera, in the role originally played by Ezio Pinza; "Guys and Dolls," based on a Damon Runyan story; and Irving Berlin's "Call Me Madam" starring Ethel Merman.

The damand for light musical fare showed up, too, at the Metropolitan Opera House in sold-out houses for performances of "Die Fledermaus," one of Rudolph Bing's additions to the repertory in his first season as general manager. Its popularity encouraged Bing, enterprising successor to Edward Johnson, of Guelph, to form a second Met company to take the Strauss opera on tour.

Among additions to the Met roster in the current season is Montreal-born George London. Recently with the Vienna State Opera, he made his Met debut on opening night as Amonasro in a completely revamped production of "Aida." Critical comment was scarce, but Virgil Thomson of the New York Herald Tribune acclaimed him for "beauty of voice, perfection of musical style and a stage power—both of personal presence and by dramatic skill—of the very first order."

Other Good Shows

Non-musical comedies which survived the summer doldrums and are continuing are F. Hugh Herbert's "The Moon Is Blue," starring Barbara Bel Geddes as a young girl on a pick-up date, "Stalag 17," a comedy melodrama of life in a Second World War prison camp, and last year's hit, "Affairs of State."

A fall success is "The Four-poster," a two-player comedy by Jan De Hertog in which the plot revolves around an ancient four-poster bed. Canadian-born Hume Cronyn and his real-life wife, Jessica Tandy, won plaudits for the "grace, skill and wit" with which they hold the audience.

Of plays in serious vein, none achieved "hit" proportions. Most successful were Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo," which won the Antoinette Perry award as the outstanding play of the 1950-51 season, and Sidney Kingsley's "Darkness at Noon," an anti-Communist drama based on an Arthur Koestler novel, starring Claude Rains.

First Performance

The year marked the first Broadway performance of a professional drama in a church — Christopher Fry's "A Sleep of Prisoners." Written for presentation in churches during the Festival of Britain, and dealing with a group of prisoners of war housed in a church, it played a limited engagement here before starting a tour of United States and Canadian cities. The four-man cast included Toronto-born Don Harron, along with three members of the original English cast.

The presentation of most interest to Canadians, though among the year's shortest runs, was the English-language version of Gratien Gelinas' "Ti-Coq" which opened here in February after successful runs in Montreal, Toronto and Chicago.

Critics generally approved the acting of the French-Canadian cast, headed by author-director Gelinas—billed simply as Fridolin—in the title role, but the play drew adverse criticism. Then a financial tangle led to closing after three performances of the first all-Canadian production on Broadway.

A musical drama by former-Winnipeger Cecil Broadhurst, "Jotham Valley," was presented for a short Broadway run by Moral Re-armament, Inc., with a cast including several Canadians. Critics refrained from comment other than characterizing it as frankly propaganda, seeming "a bit awkward surrounded by a successful commercial theatre."

Churchill Faces Big Task At Year-End

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 22 (CP)—Britain acknowledged in 1951 that she could not carry out her £4,700,000,000 rearmament program in the three years originally allotted, but will arm as quickly as she can "with the idea of deterrents rather than the idea of danger."

The announcement came from Prime Minister Winston Churchill at the close of a year in which the British lion found its tail energetically twisted in Iran and Egypt, looked uneasily at growing United States air strength in East Anglia and came into conflict with her own western partners over the question of arms standardization and military commands under the North Atlantic Treaty.

As 1951 drew to a close, Britain also found herself under growing criticism in Europe and the United States for her stand-offish attitude toward European federation.

On the credit side, the United Kingdom won recognition in an official North Atlantic report as one of the few countries judged to be contributing all possible support to the common defence effort. This report said it was felt Canada could do more.

Domestically, the country showed its determination to be prepared with announcement that the wartime home guard is to be revived and that a naval mine-watching organization will be recruited.

Far-flung Battlefronts

British troops were on the move throughout the year. In Korea, exploits of the gallant Gloucestershire Regiment and the King's Own Scottish Borderers went far to support a statement by Field Marshal William Slim, chief of the general staff, that the British soldier is the best in the world. First man to win the Victoria Cross in Korea was Maj. Kenneth Muir, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, who received the award posthumously.

Paratroops flew into Iran in mid-summer but were flown out again as the Iranian government insisted on its law nationalizing the oil fields and the refinery built by the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Company. Loss of the oil revenues caused a sharp strain on Britain's balance of payments.

In the steaming jungles of Malaya, the "bandits" who for more than three years have been waging guerrilla warfare in the rubber-rich peninsula intensified operations, ambushed and killed the resident High Commissioner, Sir Henry Gurney, and caused planters to abandon outlying estates. Oliver Lyttleton, Colonial Minister in Britain's new Conservative government, flew to Malaya to investigate conditions on the spot and came back with a seven-point plan to make things really hot for the terrorists.

Tension Boils Over

Tension in Egypt, caused by Egypt's decision to break her treaty with Britain and to claim sovereignty over the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, boiled over into crowd demonstrations of anti-British feeling, occasional riots and the shootings and stabbing of British soldiers. But Britain said it would stay on in the Canal Zone.

The year's final review of British defence was given to the House of Commons early in December by Premier Churchill. His general message was that the danger of war seems to be reduced, although the country will not be able completely to fill all its target under the original three-year £4,700,000,000 arms budget.

Home Defence

On home defence, the prime minister said the country should conjure up for any potential paratroopers the picture of "the back of a hedgehog rather than the paunch of a rabbit."

He said the greatest concern in rearmament is caused by the slow progress in developing the RAF particularly in the supply of the latest machines. In this respect it had been previously been hinted that aircraft construction was lagging, largely because of a lack of skilled manpower. One of the country's big problems is to find the 500,000 workers needed for various armament factories.

On the vexed question of a supreme commander for Allied forces in the Atlantic, Churchill showed himself still unconvinced by American arguments. Churchill said it wasn't a question of national pride but of good working arrangements on which salvation might depend.

Churchill closed with an unexpected tribute to the "sterling patriotism" of Emanuel Shinwell, former Socialist defence minister and long one of his principal foes in parliament. The kind words to Shinwell coupled with Churchill's soft treatment of former labor minister Aneurin Bevan, led political observers to believe one of the premier's principal objectives is to win national support of defence policy.

He may also be seeking to clear himself of charges of "war-mongering"—charges levelled by some Socialists before the October general election, and criticized by many responsible commentators as among the most unscrupulous in modern British politics.

Call Employers Unfair At Risk

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 22 — (AP)—Kentucky's court of appeals ruled Friday that labor unions call employers "unfair" at their own risk.

The court also held that newspapers publish such charges of unfairness at the risk of libel suits.

In refusing to reconsider and reverse its previous approval of $5,000 damages awarded against the Paducah Central Labor Union and $1,000 against Paducah Newspapers, Inc., the appellate court said labor has no "special immunity" to call anyone "unfair," and that each case must be decided on its merits by a jury.

The opinion set out that Gerald Wise, about the time he opened a place called "Wise's Ice Cream Castle" in Pducah, hired a Negro to clean up and paint.

Appellate court commissioner Watson Clay added that "apparently the painting job was offensive to the local painters' union."

Some six weeks later the Central Labor Union published a notice to labor unions in the Paducah Sun - Democrat that Wise's Ice Cream Castle and a lunch stand, not involved in this suit, "are unfair to you."

Wise sued the Central Labor Union and the newspaper, claiming a "substantial loss of business" as a result of the ad.

Religious Meaning

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP)— James Cardinal McGuigan, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto, in a year-end message on Friday night urged Canadians not to overlook the religious meaning of Christmas.

Trying To See Girl He Loved, Eluding Police Brings Youth $90 Worth Of Trouble

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 22 (CP) Between trying to see the girl he loved and eluding police, Allen Neal, 24, worked himself into $90 worth of trouble on three consecutive days last month.

Nov. 24 he was refused permission to see the girl, a nurse at a hospital here. He drove to the hospital armed with a loaded rifle. A friend took the rifle away from him.

Nov. 25 a detective went to see Neal. Neal got into his automobile, drove off and finally eluded police pursuers in a 60-miles-an-hour chase after colliding with a parked car.

Nov. 26 Neal again tried to get to see his girl. Police Sgt. D. McLeod found him hiding under an empty hospital bed on the second floor.

"He was beside himself," said McLeod.

Yesterday Neal was fined $50 for having an offensive weapon, $40 for dangerous driving and was put on $1,000 bond to keep the peace.

Egypt Enters Into Talks With Russia

Egyptian Paper Hints Country Seeking Arms Unsuccessfully

CAIRO, Dec. 24. (Reuters)—Egypt has entered into comprehensive secret talks with Russia, the newspaper Al Gomhour Al Misri reported today. It hinted that Egypt has tried to get arms from Russia, so far without success.

Talks have already taken place between Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah El Din Pasha and Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia, the newspaper said.

"It is confidently understood that the Russian side was frank and that it cast doubts upon the Egyptian policy which was still bound to the Imperialist wheel," Al Gomhour Al Misri said.

"It was pointed out that Russia would not be so naive as to supply Egypt with arms which later might possibly be used against the Russians."

(Britain contends that one reason for refusing to withdraw from Egypt is that the country would then be open to Russian attack. Egypt has refused to join an Eastern Mediterranean Defence Pact.

Another Egyptian newspaper, Al Misri, said the Egyptian Foreign Minister had recently stated in Paris that he noted "a slight change in the British attitude."

He said, however, that "Egypt will accept nothing short of unqualified recognition of her full rights, and the same applies to a considerable extent to our relations with the United States," Al Misri reported.

A British patrol was fired on by Egyptians in the Suez Canal zone last night, a British spokesman said today. They returned fire and hit three Egyptians.

Gov't To Carry Subsidy At Rates Settled In '47

OTTAWA, Dec. 24. (CP)—The government has decided to continue its program of aid for Canada's gold mining industry for another two years at current rates of payment, Finance Minister Abbott announced today. The Federal subsidy program was to have terminated Dec. 31. Legislation to cover the extension to the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act, said Mr. Abbott in a statement, will be introduced at the next session of parliament. The aid program, aimed mainly at marginal mines producing low-grade ore and facing high production costs, was launched four years ago.

The subsidy is based on the following complicated formula:

The rate of assistance is one-half of the amount by which the average cost of production for each ounce of gold exceeds $22, with the maximum rate being $11.50 an ounce.

This rate of assistance is applied to the number of ounces of gold by which the number of ounces produced and sold in 1951 exceeds one-half of the number of ounces produced in the base year.

Under an extension announced last June, mine operators can choose 1948, 1949 or 1950 as their base production year, assistance formerly based on production in 1949.

Where a mine has been unable to increase production in comparison with the base year, the rate of assistance will be applied to one-half of the number of ounces produced and sold in 1951.

Under the formula, eligible mines get an average return of about $2.90 an ounce this year.

Mine operators who elect to sell gold on the so-called "free" or premium market are not eligible for subsidies, which this year may total about $11,500,000—an increase of about $2,000,000 in 1950, $12,500,000 in 1949 and $10,500,000 in 1948.

Mr. Abbott said that the international monetary fund, the multination organization to stabilize currencies and exchange rates, has been consulted on the proposal to extend the federal aid and "has raised no objection."

Free Market Sales

Mines which elect to sell gold on the free markets—where the price for gold ranges higher than the official price of $35 per fine ounce, United States funds—in 1952 or 1953 and forego the sub-

Bright Sun, Cold Forecast For Christmas

By The Canadian Press

Across most of Canada there will be enough snow for Santa Claus' reindeer to leave hoof-prints tonight.

Snow covers nearly all of the country and weather forecasters predicted sunny, cold weather almost from coast to coast tomorrow to maintain the traditional Canadian Christmas.

The weekend saw an extra-heavy movement of holiday travellers, but that was expected to slacken today. Chief activity is last-minute shopping, and stores predicted a heavier rush than Saturday.

Meanwhile Canadians in every province warmed up to tomorrow's celebrations. The Christmas spirit cropped up time and again in kind acts.

Some women in Quebec collected toys and food and threw a party for 309 lonesome immigrants at the grey stone immigration quarters beside the St. Lawrence river. A similar party was held in Hamilton's Armenian community centre for 181 new Canadians.

Yuletide Gift

Residents of Wheatley, Ont., took up a collection and sent one of the town's favorite citizens, Mrs. Barbara McNeilage, 74-year-old widow, on a plane trip to her native Scotland to visit her relatives.

The weather will continue cold in the Maritimes, although last week's rain washed away much of the snow. But homes were brightly decorated despite the bare ground.

On the west coast, hundreds of fishermen have returned to their homes, leaving their boats at anchor with Christmas trees at the masthead. Some 13,500 lumbermen and construction workers crowded into Vancouver from the interior.

One Survives, 119 Dead In Mine Blast

Rescued Miner Said Seriously Hurt, Found 550 Feet Down

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Dec. 24. (AP)—One survivor was rescued from the West Frankfort mine disaster today and mine superintendent John R. Foster, setting the final death toll at 119, said there "were no more alive."

Rescued from the mine 550 feet below the surface was Cecil Sanders, 44, of Benton. He was taken to the United Mine Workers hospital in serious condition.

Foster said:

"There are five men down there—no more alive. We believe that is all."

With 119 dead, the West Frankford blast is the nation's worst mine disaster in 23 years.

Earlier a report said some others trapped below may still be alive. However, later inspection led to Foster's statement that no more survivors were in the explosion which rocked the sprawling mine last Friday night.

At the hospital, Sanders' wife and 23-year-old son, Paul, were waiting.

"Prayed For This"

Mrs. Sanders talked briefly with her husband and then to friends and hospital attendants.

"Oh, my God, we've prayed and prayed for this," she muttered. She referred repeatedly to the "miracle."

Paul, who talked with his father earlier when he was brought to the surface, said he "seemed to be in good shape."

Helsie Sanders, the elder Sanders' cousin, said he understood Cecil Sanders was lying down in an air passage when rescuers came across him, at about 5:45 am CST (6:45 am EST).

The tunnel in which Sanders was found was said to have been parrallel and about one-quarter mile away from a pasasgeway in which 22 bodies were found earlier. How Sanders escaped death was not learned.

A 12-man Federal team, headed by interior secretary Oscar Chapman, yesterday started an

Reds Reject Appeal From Gen. Ridgway

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 24. (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's appeal to the Communist high command to open North Korean prison camps to the International Red Cross was rejected today, a Communist correspondent at Panmunjom said. However the Reds proposed, and the UN quickly agreed, to establish a post office in neutral Panmunjom so prisoners of both sides could send and receive mail. Details were to be worked out later. With only three days remaining until the provisional cease-fire line agreement expires, there appeared slim chance that negotiators would be able to agree on a Korean armistice before the deadline.

Along the quiet, wintry battle front Allied troops beat back a series of minor Red probing attacks. But for the most part soldiers attended religious services and put the finishing touches on preparations for Christmas celebrations. There was little air action except for strikes against Communist railways and supply facilities.

Six hundred soldiers jammed a new chapel near the front Monday and heard Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, celebrate mass.

Continue Haggling

The prisoner-of-war sub-committee continued its haggling over lists of prisoners exchanged last Tuesday. The sub-committee working on the problem of how to police a truce reported no progress.

Both groups scheduled meetings for Tuesday, Christmas Day, at 11 am (9 pm EST Monday) in a last-minute attempt to reach agreement.

Red negotiators delivered a letter presumably containing the answer to Ridgway's inspection

Damage $250,000 In Kingston Fire

KINGSTON, Dec. 24 — (CP) —A six-hour fire yesterday gutted a business block on this city's main business street, causing an estimated $250,000 in damage.

The stone building the Mahood Block, had been rebuilt after a 1944 fire destroyed all but the walls.

The entire city fire department fought the Sunday morning blaze that destroyed the Canadian National Telegraph, Express and Railway Ticker Offices, Tip Top Tailors' store and the Industrial Acceptance Corporation Office.

Three neighboring stores suffered heavy smoke and water damage.

Only one man was in the building—Marvin Lane, a CN telegraph operator. He was sleeping after completing his night duties and escaped after he awakened to smell smoke.

It was feared for a time that the stone front of the building would fall, and heavy store signs were removed after the roof caved in. Fire Chief C. V. Brightman said he belived the fire started in the rear of the Express Office.

'World's Best' Boss

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 24. (AP)—Pottery owner Lou Reese has found a successful formula for becoming "the best boss in the world." Amid rousing cheers, Reese passed out new bill folds bulging with crisp new greenbacks to his 1,050 employees Saturday night at the annual Yule party of the Scio Pottery Co.

Children Burn Santa In Effigy

DIJON, France, Dec. 24 —(AP) — Santa Claus was burned in effigy on the steps of Dijon Cathedral yesterday. About 250 children cheered.

A figure wearing the traditional red costume and white beard was hoisted to the wrought-iron grille of the great gothic church.

A young man in a top hat called out:

Does Santa Claus deserve death?"

"Yes, yes!" roared the children and pelted Santa with orange peels.

A fire was set and Santa Claus perished in the flames. Only his gloves remained.

The children belong to the Roman Catholic Patronate of St. Benigne Parish, the cathedral's parish. After the ceremony, an anonymous communique was posted on the church door. It read in part:

"United in all the Christian homes of the parish, 250 children who want to fight against lies have burned Santa Claus. This is not a vaudevile act, but a protest against lies . . "

Several French Catholic prelates, including Jules-Geraud Cardinal Saliege of Toulouse recently denounced the "paganization" of Christmas, specifically assailing Santa Claus.

Israel Floods Severe

JERUSALEM, Dec. 24 (AP) — Damage caused by floods in Israel last week has been estimated at between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000, a government spokesman said Sunday night.

Memory 'Vague' Soldier Claims

SEOUL, Dec. 24 — (CP) — Gnr. Robert Walter Stirling of Vancouver told an army court-martial today it "could be possible" that charges against him are true.

A member of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, Stirling testified in his own defence on assault causing bodily harm and molesting Korean civilians.

Stirling said he had been drinking heavily Sept. 30, the date of the alleged offences, and had only a vague recollection of what happened to him.

"I know I fired shots and the sound kind of sobered me up," he said, recounting two visits to a Korean house. He is accused of wounding a Korean civilian in the night visit.

Capt. E. W. Berthiaume of Yarmouth, NS, an officer in Stirling's battery, said in character evidence Stirling "was an average soldier."

"He was not a trouble maker but he was not a model soldier."

LONDON, Dec. 24 — (CP) — Memories of their Canadian tour still fresh in their minds, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh selected for their personal Christmas cards this year a photograph of themselves driving in an open car between lines of cheering Canadians.

The scene depicted is reminiscent of the enthusiastic acclaim extended to the royal couple in every community visited on their tour of the Dominion.

While no attempt has been made to identify the photograph, its background indicates it may have been taken in Charlottetown, PEI as the princess and her consort were leaving the province's experimenetal farm.

Veterinaries Waging Battle To Save Europe's Meat Stock

LONDON, Dec. 24. (AP)—Western Europe's veterinary authorities are fighting to save the continent's meat supply from an epidemic of livestock-destroying foot-and-mouth disease. The battle has been going on for almost two months. Thousands of animals have been destroyed.

This outbreak, the worst in many years, must be stamped out before spring or the food supply of many countries will be jeopardized. The bacon ration in Britain has been reduced from four to three ounces a week partly as a result of the disease.

Serious as the picture is, information collected by the Associated Press reveals that in many countries the authorities feel the epidemic has passed its peak and soon will recede.

Foot-and-mouth disease is a highly-contagious sickness of animals. Outbreaks can be checked only by the slaughter of all diseased animals, complete disinfection of all places where the sick animal had been, and vaccination of unaffected cattle.

Fire Threatens Business Block

HEARST, Dec. 24. (CP)—For more than nine hours firemen Sunday fought flames which threatened to destroy the Chalykoff business block in this Northern Ontario lumbering centre.

Damage was estimate at $100,000. No one was injured.

The blaze swept through Bourdon's drug store, the town's only pharmacy, and damaged the Chalykoff dry goods store.

The L. P. Ainsley grocery store and two apartments on the second floor of the building also were damaged.

The fire is believed to have broken out in the basement of the drug-store.

Interned US Fliers Must Pay Fines of $20,000—Hungary

BUDAPEST, Dec. 24—(AP)—Hungary has ruled the four United States fliers forced down in their C-47 cargo plane by Soviet fighters Nov. 19 must pay fines of 360,000 forints (about $30,000) each or spend three months in jail.

The government, in announcing that Sunday, said the men confessed to violating the Hungarian border and asquiesced in the verdict against them in military court.

(Their plane got lost while en route from Germany to Yugoslavia with cargo for the US Embassy in Belgrade, American authorities announced after they disappeared.

(Hungary and Russia later disclosed they were being held and their plane was impounded.

Officials of the American legation here were trying to contact the Hungarian foreign ministry today to find out who is supposed to pay the fines, where the money has to be paid, and how.

Reports telephoned from the Budapest American Legation to US authorities in Vienna said it was doubtful whether the four could be bailed out before Christmas.

The military court said the C-47 and all its equipment had been confiscated and that the equipment proved the fliers meant to help spies and diversionists in Communist Hungary.

The government said the four admitted they violated the Hungarian border near Gyula November 19. It said they failed to give a "satisfactory explanation" of why they had military maps of some parts of Russia and the People's Democracies, why they had "superfluous numbers" of parachutes and a radio transmitter and bundles of blankets in the plane.

All He Asks—Chance To Work

Lonely Young Refugee Says His Yule Prayer Peterboro Will Open Door For New Life

By JEAN E. STENTON

As people in Peterborough sit down at their gaily-decorated tables Tuesday, a young man will sit alone in a small room leafing through a dictionary and yearning wistfully for a friendly voice uttering the word "Weinachten."—(Christmas).

The story of Hans Roemer of Heidelberg, one of Peterborough's newest citizens, is the story of thousands of DP's uprooted and cast upon the sympathy of the world, as a result of a situation not of his or their making.

The German nation which was once secure in its might and a mecca for scholars from all over the world, today is broken and harried. Millions of her people are dead; other hosts of her nationals are scattered about. They are searching the world for security—in the very world they pulled down to ruin.

Canada is one of the few countries which has opened its doors to the ever-increasing flood of refugees.

Hans is a young man paying the penalty of mistakes in national policy which happened before he was born. When the Kaiser's army marched into Belgium the die was cast for his unborn generation.

In Plane Factory

When the Second World War came, Hans Roemer was thrust into a Messerschmitt plane factory. After the war, he and his brother operated a cabinet making shop. Gradually as economic conditions grew worse and opportunity for advancement diminished the young man made a valiant effort to defeat fate. Cutting himself off from the ties of the past, he applied for a new chance to live and was accepted by the Canadian government.

Coming to Canada demanded courage. He not only is living in an alien land which has been an enemy country in two wars, but his very nationality and even his accent is a bar to the sympathy of many.

Accepting this, he still chose Canada. He didn't have to come. It was an act of his own initiative in a place where initiative has been almost extinguished. This country was his one beam of hope left in a tottering world.

Leaving home and his loved ones has been a small part of the demands made on this man's spirit. There is the almost insurmountable difficulty of language and finances. Hans speaks only a few words of English, but he studies every day to enlarge his vocabulary. With limited finances, he must pay Ottawa back the money he was advanced for his passage.

Pope Asks Again For Peace In 13th Christmas Message

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24 (AP)—The Pope urged the world today to look toward the babe of Bethlehem rather than to force of arms to achieve true peace.

It was his 13th Christmas message since he became Pope in 1939, and, as in all of them, his appeal was for peace.

From the heart-warming intimacy of the Christ child, he said, one steps into "a world that is far from Christ." It was like stepping into a "gust of freezing air."

The world more than ever was divided into two camps over which hangs the threat of war modernized with weapons of "monstrous cruelty."

Yet, he said, disarmament "which we always have desired", would be an "unstable guarantee of lasting peace if it is not accompanied by abolition of weapons of hate and cupidity and of over-weening lust for prestige."

He spoke in a strong voice. His message was given in reply to yuletide greetings of the College of Cardinals and was devoted almost entirely to peace and his belief in how it could be obtained.

He addressed himself to the Roman Catholic faithful of all continents and also to "those who are one with us in faith in God." Again, as in all his Christmas messages, he spoke of the need of social reform that would provide for material needs of men as a basic measure for enduring peace.

Events he declared have reached such a critical stage "that we are, forced to recognize that the world is split into two opposition camps and that all men are divided into two clearly-separated groups which subsequently are loath to concede to anyone any sort of liberty to maintain a position of policitial neutrality."

Death Visits Party For Poor Of Mexico

TIJUANA, Mexico, Dec. 24 (AP)—Screams of dying children and women left this city gripped today in the horror of a Christmas party fire that took a toll officially estimated at 41 or more lives. Burned and broken remains were still being examined in an effort to complete an accurate count. Unofficial estimates ranged up to 90 or more. District Attorney Francisco Gastanon Jr. who announced the official estimate, said he believed it was the highest toll of deaths in a single fire in the history of Mexico.

Eighty-eight who escaped from the three-storey building downstairs through a single doorway were treated for burns. Officials said the only fire escape was not only locked but boarded up.

Thirty-three were still in the hospital, five or six on the verge of death, doctors said.

Among the 33 were 19 children. Officials said this probably indicates the ratio of little ones among the dead.

Only 26 of the bodies had been identified early today.

Joy Becomes Terror

The annual party for needy children was in full swing when its joy was turned to terror at 11:15 pm Saturday.

There were different accounts of how the fire started. Fire Chief Gill Chidez said that someone was criminally responsible. He did not elaborate. Everyone agreed the flames spread with terrible speed from near the location of a Christmas tree.

As panic took hold among the 300 or 400 people in the hall of the old Coliseum building, three blocks from Tijuana's gay main street, the lights went out. "Then all was madness," said Luis Alarid, radio station announced. "A lot of people were trampled to death before they were burned."

Bodies In Rest Rooms

Many of the bodies were found in two rest rooms into which the victims apparently had been pushed by the crowds surging toward the exits.

Others piled up and died on the stairway.

The confusion was increased by frantic mothers and fathers trying to get into the building to save children. Firemen arrived but there was no pressure in the water mains.

Some of the survivors said two rowdies knocked over the Christmas tree on the stage and that the flames apparently started from shorted electric lights.

3 Fire Calls In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 24 — (ESS)—Two fire calls in quick succession Saturday afternoon gave Campbellford another fire scare, but both were chimney fires and although whipped by strong winds were put out before damage could be done.

This morning a third fire alarm was sounded but the fire truck was not allowed to go out of the town to where the fire was about three miles east of Campbellford. One of the Saturday fires was close by the one this morning and the fire truck didn't go to it either.

The first alarm was turned in when flames shot high into the air from the chimney of Douglas Stanley's home on Bridge St. A high wind threatened to carry sparks to nearby roofs, but it was put out by firemen before serious trouble developed.

About the same time a call came in from the home of Donald Todd, RR 5 Campbellford, where an overheated pipe started a fire in the chimney. A snow plow cleared a way to the house so that neighbors could reach the house and help put out the blaze.

The fire this morning was at the home of William H. Little, RR 5 Campbellford. A mattress was discovered burning in a bedroom. It was dragged out before any damage could be done.

appeal to UN delegates at Panmunjom Monday. Its contents were not officially disclosed. But Alan Winnington, correspondent for the Communist London Daily Worker, told UN reporters the appeal was rejected.

Winnington said the Red high command deemed Red Cross inspection of prison camps "unnecessary in view of the humanitarian treatment" given prisoners by the Communists.

He said the Communists did agree, however, to permit visits after the armistice is signed if North Korean and Chinese Red Cross representatives are included in the inspection teams.

UN negotiators promptly rejected a re-worded Communist plan for supervising an armistice. The new plan made no change in the Communist position on airfield construction and troop rotation.

Asks Accounting

Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby meanwhile continued to press the Reds for a "factual definite accounting" of 50,000 prisoners of war the UN says the Communists hold but failed to list on the roster given the Allies last Tuesday.

North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Jo said the Reds permitted prisoners who wanted to go home and "lead a cosy life." He called it part of the Communist "revolutionary prisoner policy."

Lee said many prisoners were released at the front and others escaped while being moved at night under light guard.

This brought a sharp retort from Libby.

"Surely you don't contend you have mislaid 50,000 men in this manner," he said.

sidies will be able to do so at quarterly intervals.

"The government has decided," said Mr. Abbott, "that mines should have the opportunity at quarterly intervals of electing to take advantage of the premium market and to forego assistance under the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act.

"A mine may make its election effective the first day of any quarter of 1952 or 1953, but once the election has been made, it will be binding for the remaining portion of that year.

"The election may be made at any time before the expiration of 30 days after the elected date. For example, if a mine receiving assistance under the act decides to take advantage of sales to premium markets on April 1, 1952, it will have until April 30 to make its election, but it will receive no assistance under the act for the last nine months of 1952.

At the end of 1952, however, all mines will have a new opportunity to make a new choice in respect of 1953."

Mr. Abbott said a number of mines took advantage of the right to sell on the free market opened to them last October.

"However, despite this new outlet the higher cost units in the industry continue to face a difficult situation as a result of steadily rising costs.

"Last week a delegation representing the mines presented a brief to my colleague (Mines Minister) Mr. Prudham and to myself in which they pointed out the very serious consequences which would face the industry if the emergency gold mining assistance act were to terminate as scheduled at the end of 1951."

Troops Celebrate Christmas In Five Shifts

By BILL BOSS

WEST SECTOR, Korea, Dec. 24 (CP)—A United Nations infantry company commanded by Capt. Clement Buffard Sunday became the first front-line troops in this sector to celebrate Christmas.

(No hometown was given for Capt. Buffard. Censorship precludes mention of troops' nationality in forward positions until some days after events reported. But Boss has been with the Canadians.)

Because UN positions in this area are too exposed to permit a simultaneous Christmas dinner for all the men in the line, a five-day scheme has been worked out to enable a selected number daily to be replaced long enough for all of them to eat turkey, mince pie, plum pudding and the trimmings in a leisurely manner.

After the meal they will see a movie, get some sleep and then return to the trenches, allowing others their turn.

Buffard pulled his men off their posts at dawn yesterday. They shaved and showered and then slept preparatory to a feast at high noon at rear headquarters. They went to bed after the evening movie and by tomorrow's dawn they'll be looking out over No Man's Land again.

This DP came to Canada because this land has generously thrown open her doors to the homeless refugees. Though in his early 30's, he is willing to struggle with the language and customs in the hope of carving out a new and better life.

Has Something To Offer

Hans does not come empty handed. He has skills to offer. Like many Europeans he is a master of more than one trade. A skilled machinist, he is also a cabinet maker, carpenter, does wood inlay work and electrical work. But he is willing to do anything from digging ditches up. At the moment he has found a temporary place in a small machine shop.

He does not want something for nothing. Like other DPs Canada has sheltered, this German wants to be assimilated and taken in. All he asks is an opportunity to place his foot at the bottom of the ladder where he can work and try to win a place for himself.

Roemer was one of thousands who applied for sanctuary here last June. His passage on a 12,000 ton Panamanian ship which made a rough crossing with 1,900 people aboard.

He has high praise for Canadian immigration officials for their help and encouragement and he has faith in Peterborough and its people. Canada is only 100 years old or less industrially. Yet, in the upheaval he is ironically coming from a country whose history and achievements go back centuries.

So while Peterborough enjoys its tasty Christmas dinners and hearty good fellowship, Hans will sit alone with a prayer in his heart that the coming year will give him his chance if he works long and hard.

Will Peterborough open its heart and give this typical DP the chance he asks? The chance to work and be a good citizen? Or will he see his faith and courage shattered anew? Only time can decide if the book will have a happy ending for Hans.

Pope Fails To Mention Additional Cardinals

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24 — (AP)— The Pope made no reference in his Christmas message today to the possibility he might bring the College of Cardinals up to its full strength of 70.

Some vatican sources had expressed the belief he would take this occasion to fill the 21 vacancies in the college. At Christmas time in 1945 he created 32 new cardinals.

(There is speculation in vatican circles that a cardinal might be appointed to represent French-Canadians who have been without a cardinal since the death of Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve in 1947.

(Persons close to ecclesiastical circles in Quebec speculated that Archbishop Maurice Roy might receive the red hat).

Pilgrim's Traditional Route To Bethlehem Marked By 1951's New Landmarks Of War

JERUSALEM, Dec. 24 — (Reuters)—Pilgrims following the traditional four-mile route to Bethlehem from Jerusalem will pass new land marks this year—concrete dragons' teeth, lines of barbed wire and a death-trap of mines.

Since last Christmas, Bethlehem has been incorporated into the enlarged Hashemite Jordan kingdom, ruled by King Abdullah Ibn Hussein.

His desert legion sentries will mount guard tonight over the oldest shrine of christendom as pilgrims, expected to number upwards of 2,500, brave icy winds to attend sacred midnight celebrations.

The pilgrims will march through the cold night air of the Judeah Hills past the well of the Magi. It was this well which, legend says, mirrored the Star of Bethlehem for the three wise men.

In the east of Bethlehem stands the Church of the Nativity with the star shining above its roof.

Inside, the eyes of the pilgrims will be on the entrances to the grotto in the east of the church. Two worn semi-spiral stairways lead down below the floor to the traditional birthplace of Christ.

The grotto is a small cave lighted by 52 silver lamps to guide the select few who can enter with the Roman Catholic Bishop, Msgr. Albert Cori, who will conduct tonight's service.

Santa Claus Ends Party Visits

Santa Claus, leg-weary even before his Christmas ride tonight, completed his tour of visits Saturday to the stores, Sunday schools, public schools and industrial plants.

His first stop was Saturday morning at the Capitol Theatre when the Canada Packers employees were holding the annual Christmas tree. He stopped long Christmas present, oranges and enough to give each child a pre-candy.

His visit there was the climax to the program which included numbers by the foremen's orchestra, a novel idea this year to brighten the program.

St. Nicholas greeted the last of the more than 7,000 children at industrials parties, held in the past week, with a visit to the Brinton - Peterborough Carpet Company Saturday afternoon. The children went back to school for several hours, the party held in St. John's school auditorium. There he presented gifts, fruit and candy.

Missionary Remembers 42 Christmases In China

In the quieter moments preparing for Christmas, most of the people of Peterborough and the district round about will be thinking back to other Christmases.

Some of them will be remembered with sadness and some with happy memories. But most of them will have the Canadian scene as their setting, with snow, nippy temperature, and the family noisily at hand.

Not so for Miss Ethel Wallace. She is remembering 42 Christmases spent in China, most of them in Foochow, an island of small communities not far from Singapore.

Miss Wallace, just recently returned from China where she was a missionary teaching in a college on the island. Now she is living with her brother, William Wallace, at his home, Forest Hill, at Gore's Landing. Mr. Wallace is a road contractor who came from Toronto some 10 years ago to make his home on the shore of Rice Lake.

Like Home

Christmas at the college on Foochow Island was as much like Christmas at home as the missionaries could make it. It was necessarily a high point in the year of the men and women who were trying to convert Chinese to the Christian faith.

Each Christmas Eve a concert and party was held at the college. Children came from all over the huge island which was connected with the mainland by the Bridge of the Ten Thousand Ages. They came in groups of 40 or 50, marching together from their homes in the small communities on the island.

Some 400 children would assemble, some from Christian homes and many from pagan homes. Chinese have a much higher sense of the dramatic, said Miss Wallace. The missionaries took advantage of this talent by having their students put on well acted, short plays for the children. Canadian students couldn't begin to put on as fine a show, said Miss Wallace.

Thec hildren sang carols which the missionaries taught them, illustrating the story in pantomime. The children clapped their hands in time with the music and had a wonderful time taking part. For each child who was not a regular student at the college, there was a present of a mandarin orange and candy.

For the big Christmas dinner the next day, there was one course of Chinese food and then there was a Canadian style Christmas dinner with some kind of fowl. The missionaries were even able to have a Christmas tree. Evergreens were cut from the sides of the mountain on the island.

There was also a shrub like a holly tree for decorating the dining hall of the college as well as an attractive wine called chicken's foot.

Communists

These Christmases make up the happy memories Miss Wallace has of her years in China. When the Chinese Communist Party began to flex its muscles, missionaries began to have a much more difficult time. For a short time, Miss Wallace came back to Canada and then two years ago went back to China, this time to Singapore where she would be able to learn how her former friends of Foochow were getting on. She wanted to know whether Sunday Schools were still being held in the temples throughout the island and whether the college still offered its social services to the communities. But many things were changed.

In Singapore she taught at a British government school where young people of many religions studied. There were Hindus, Buddhists, Mohammedans. And there was no Christmas celebration.

Christmas At Home

But there was a large sect of Chinese Christians in the city, and these people celebrated Christmas in their own homes.

Now that Miss Wallace is back in Canada, she thinks she will never return to China. The Communist rule is strong and the years are advancing.

But the Wallace family has not given up its work in the East. Her niece, William Wallace's daughter Katherine Wallace, was last heard from with the Red Cross at Abadan, but is now believed to be somewhere near the Suez Canal.

Red Writer Says Gen. Dean Preferred Death To Capture

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Dec. 24 (Reuters)—A Communist newspaperman here told Allied correspondents Sunday that Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the American 24th Infantry Division in the first month of the Korean War, planned to shoot himself with his last bullet rather than be captured.

But Dean was betrayed into an ambush by a Korean guide and was overpowered before he could pull the trigger, the Commander said.

He maintained Dean told him this Friday in an interview at a prison camp near Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Dean was listed by the Communists as an American prisoner of war last Tuesday. He had been missing since the fourth week of fighting in Korea. On July 19, 1950, he was last seen as he set out to round up stragglers of the hard-pressed US forces falling back from Taejon, deep inside South Korea.

Unconfirmed reports reached Allied field headquarters that he had been murdered by North Korean troops unaware of his rank.

Dean was subsequently awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, the highest US military decoration.

Crowds Fill City Churches For Christmas

Peterborough turned out in crowds Christmas Sunday to take part in probably the most significant services in the Christian year.

In every church in the city, Christmas songs and the Christmas message celebrated the birth of Christ. Some church services kept to the regular pattern with singing of many carols and Christmas hymns adding to the general Christmas spirit.

Choirs sang specially prepared music in what amounted to a second Christmas Sunday for many of the churches. A large number held special holiday services a week bofore.

Anglican and Roman Catholic churches have planned communion services and midnight masses respectively for tonight, Christmas Eve.

Special Events

Murray Street Baptist Church presented a Christmas vespers service by candlelight in which the choir presented selections from Handel's Messiah.

At St. Paul's presbyterian church a carolfest and pageant of the nativity was presented by members of the YPS.

George St. United Church also presented "The Nativity," a Christmas pageant in two scenes.

The Elim Tabernacle choir presented a Christmas story cantata, "While Shepherds Watched."

Music of the high mass which will be sung at the Church of the Sacred Heart tonight, beginning at midnight, in celebration of the feast of the nativity of Christ, has been composed by the organist, Mr. Herbert Michel. It is in four parts for a mixed choir, and is in the major keys of C and G.

Mr. Michel received his musical education in Nuremberg and Regensberg, Bavaria, and was recommended to the late Monsignor J. J. O'Brien by Monsignor Ronan of Toronto, who met Mr. Michel while taking a special course in music in Rome. After the death of John Armstrong, the organist at the Sacred Heart church was Sister Armand of St. Cicilia's convent, taking the console in a temporary capacity.

Heavy Outbreak

Europe has experienced numerous identified outbreaks of the disease for several centuries.

There is no information on the incidence of the disease behind the Iron Curtain.

Presumably the outbreak is heavy in East Germany for that government has called for strict observance of measures to combat the disease.

Switzerland has been one of the hardest-hit countries. Its federal veterinary office described this as the most severe outbreak since 1938. Up to Nov. 20 some 2,000 head of livestock had been destroyed.

Britain has had 75 outbreaks in the period from Nov. 14 to Dec. 19. Most of these have occurred in Norfolk, Suffolk and the east riding of Yorkshire. Authorities have destroyed 4,327 cattle, 2,322 sheep, 1,870 pigs and four goats.

The health ministry said this was "the worst year for the disease since 1947 when there were 104 outbreaks resulting the destruction of 5,485 cattle."

Rich Discovery

VIENNA, Dec. 24. (Reuters)—Children playing near the ruins of an old Austrian castle found a two-pound lump of metal which local authorities say is pure gold. The children found the gold near Taxenbach castle, about 30 miles south of Salzberg. Local experts suggested it might be part of the treasures of the castle which was destroyed during the peasants' war in the 16th century.

Disagreement Fading As Talks Near

Churchill Said Ready To Go Slow On Big Four Proposal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. — (AP)—A major source of disagreement between President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill was reported today to be fading away in advance of Churchill's arrival here next month.

The issue is Churchill's frequently-repeated proposal for a Big-Four meeting including Truman and Stalin to try to reach some understanding with Russia.

Word circulating among officials involved in preparations for the Washington talks is that Churchill most certainly will not press his proposal now and may not bring it up at all.

Officials said presumably two considerations figured in Churchill's reported decision:

Truman Vetoes It

1—Truman is dead set against taking part in any such session, believing that the time is not ripe and the West not yet strong enough to make it fruitful for peace.

2—In view of Russia's behavior on disarmament and other issues in the United Nations meeting in Paris, as well as Russia's continued general conduct in world affairs, it is difficult to figure out what issues might be taken up between the chiefs of state of East and West with some hope of strong desire and good will on both sides for agreement.

Churchill cautioned the British people Saturday night against attaching "exaggerated importance and hope" to his meeting with Truman. He said the talks would include "the whole field" and that he hoped they would produce an atmosphere in which the two countries may "work together easily and intimately . . . as we used to."

Must Fight Alone.

Churchill's Britain will have to battle alone, without counting on American dollars, in what he called a three-year fight against national bankruptcy.

"I have nothing to propose to you that is easy," he said.

The British leader is due to sail for the United States on Dec. 29 aboard the Queen Mary. He will be accompanied by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden; Lord Ismay, Secretary for Commonwealth Relations; and Lord Cherdead only a few hours.

Youngsters Of North Have Party On Railway

Christmas parties for youngsters at school are as much a part of the holiday celebration as turkey, present and Santa Claus.

And that goes for the children isolated in the bleak country around Kutatush and other settlements in northern Ontario.

For many of these northern points the centre of activity at Christmas and at other times of the year is a school on wheels. It is a railway school which is hauled from place to place through the north on the transcontinental line and parked on sidings.

The teacher is Fred Sloman. Recently he held a Christmas party in his school for the children of Kukatush, four school students and two pre-school age tots.

The mercury was down to 25 below zero, but everyone was there for the party—including Mr. Sloman's two dogs, two cats and two five-day-old kittens.

First some of the small fry went into the nearby bush and cut down a Christmas tree. In the meantime, others had been making paper streamers and Yuletide decorations and in the car's living quarters, Mr. Sloman and the mothers were busy making wreaths and preparing other things for the party.

The children made themselves a fireplace—not standard equipment in railroad schools.

On the blackboard was written "Merry Christmas" in 14 languages including Ojibway Indian. The youngsters sang carols and ate candy and cookies.

Children of the north want pretty much the same sort of presents from Santa that youngsters in southern cities and farms want. Henry Barkhouse for example wants a ranger's gun, while his seven-year-old sister wants a doll, "one that goes in a suitcase".

Joan, 6, another youngster and her five-year-old sister want a puppy to replace their dog that got lost in the Kukatush wilderness.

And wives want the same sort of things. Mrs. Bessette wants a new fur coat. At least she's nearer the source than most.

IT'S NEARLY FINISHED—Youngsters at Kukatush, in Northern Ontario, put the finishing touches to their Christmas tree in preparation for a party in their railway school car, while their teacher, Fred Sloman, gives it an approving inspection. Four students and two pre-school children, constituting Kukatush's younger set, attended the party, the highlight of the year for them. The settlement is located 560 miles from Montreal on the CNR transcontinental line.

Flames Destroy Craft In St. John Harbor

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Dec. 24—(CP)—Flames followed an explosion in the motor vessel Lady Latour Saturday night and destroyed both the St. John River pleasure cruiser and another craft, the Blue Water III. A smaller vessel, the Bayman, was damaged slightly.

A spokesman for the Inter-City Navigation Company, operators of the Lady Latour and Blue Water, estimated the loss at $100,000.

It was Saint John's fourth major fire of the week and raised the fire loss in that period to about $300,000. The Latour was owned by Chester Ferris, Sarnia.

HISTORIC POST

West Point in New York state, site of the US military academy, was first used as a military post in 1778.

Many Strange Customs Used To Celebrate Christmas

Christmas means much the same to all Christians all over the world, but it is often celebrated in strikingly different ways.

The reason often is that pre-Christian festivals and habits were carried over into the Christian celebration, which in no way detracts from the reverent spirit or the sincerity in the celebration of the birth of Christ.

In Scandinavian countries, for instance, people kindled fires to defy King Frost; drank great horns of mead and told weird tales of werewolves and valkyrie—maidens who searched for souls and conveyed them to Valhalla.

Those were the days when the ancient Druids observed the season with strange ceremonies in the roofless temples of Stonehenge and Avebury in England, sacrificed white bulls, and worshipped mistletoe entwined around oak.

There are no superstitions today so fantastic as that in Norway where it was once believed that those who dared to go out into the winter darkness on Christmas night could see through windows the people destined to die during the coming year—sitting headless in their chairs. The danger of midnight cavorting in those days was the dread of Oskenelen, a cavalcade of unblessed spirits, who tore through the air trying feverishly to carry away foolhardy adventurers.

But the passing of the years has brought new customs and others have been modified in countries throughout the world. Although many are familiar enough, there are some we would find a little strange.

St. Nicholas

For instance, in Czechoslovakia on December 6, the start of the three-week celebration is observed in honor of Svaty Mikulas, or St. Nicholas, who takes the place of Santa Claus in the hearts of Czech children. St. Nick is believed to come down a golden cord from heaven, conducted by a white-clad angel.

Attached to him by a rattling chain is an evil spirit named Cert, clad in a black hood. Three friends of the family dress up like Svaty Mikulas, the angel and the evil spirit, and on arrival at the household the children must rush to a table to say their prayers.

If they know their prayers they are rewarded with gifts from the angel; if not, the evil spirit is on hand to hand out a whipping.

In France, a great celebration is that of the Fete des Rois or the Feast of the Kings. On January 6, a dinner is given, usually in a restaurant. The principal food is cake in which a China bean has been hidden. The cake is divided into the number attending the party and the finder of the bean is crowned King of the Twelfth Night. He chooses a queen and both proceed to direct members of the party to play up to their ridiculous wishes. If a woman finds the bean she chooses a king and the procedure is the same.

Patron Saint

Present-giving is quite an event in Holland. As with Czechoslovakia and several other European countries the present-bearer is St. Nicholas instead of Santa Claus.

The presents from St. Nick — who, by the way, is the patron saint of children, bankers, pawnbrokers, maidens, mariners, scholars and thieves — must be hidden and disguised as much as possible to add to the fun of the surprise. Each gift is accompanied by rhymes explaining the gifts and to whom it is supposed to reach.

Small gifts are almost invariably wrapped in huge packing cases, the several layers of paper each labelled with a name. The parcel thus travels through several hands before reaching its final destination.

Throw Crockery In Denmark

Householders in Denmark save all their old and broken crockery —to throw at the doors of their favorite friends on New Year's Eve. In the spirit intended the thrower is usually invited in for refreshment. And the most popular citizen of the community is he who has the most crockery on his doorstep on New Year's Day.

Almost all countries have one thing in common—they prepare special foods for Christmas. Some of these festive dishes may seem a bit strange to Canadians.

A typical Armenian meal on Christmas Eve, for instance—that is the day Armenians in Persia and India hold most holy—includes fried fish, lettuce and spinach. Their belief is that Mary ate spinach the night before Jesus' birth.

In Greece, special loaves of bread are baked at Christmastime. Each is marked with a cross, like our own hot-cross buns, and the first segment is cut for the Virgin Mary. Then other pieces are cut in honor of the homestead, family animals, furniture, and finally for members of the family—according to age.

After the dinner, two olive leaves, representing a girl of the family and her sweetheart, are placed in the embers of the Yule log. If the leaves turn toward each other as they burn, the young lovers will soon be married ;if they turn away, there is a long wait in store. Whether young love heeds these forecasts is another matter.

Feed the Horse

In Belgium, Christmas Day is almost entirely a religious celebration. December 6 is the day that the youngsters deal with St. Nicholas. During the previous evening the old gentleman in bishop's dress, visits the children and promises to bring presents on the morrow. As soon as he leaves the house, they put out their biggest boots, baskets and plates. Then they leave water, hay, carrots and a potato for St. Nicholas' gray horse. Canadian children might be equally considerate of Santa Claus' reindeer!

12-Course Meal

Ukrainian immigrants have brought a delightful custom to Canada—that of preparing for the Nativity with a 12-course meal, one course for each of the Apostles. Under Orthodox rules there is a 39-day fast before Christmas. On Christmas Eve no food is eaten until the first star appears. Each member of the Ukrainian family must be gentle and polite, for they believe that peace and affection at Christmastime will endure throughout the following year.

Hunting the Wren

A Scandinavian drummer-boy was responsible for one enduring Christmas custom—the Irish wren hunt. A Viking force which had invaded southwest Ireland in 830 AD was resting after one of the meals on Christmas Day. A dozing drummer-boy was roused by the sound of a wren pecking at the crumbs left on his drumhead. He looked up, saw Irish troops stealing up on the sleeping army, and sounded the alarm. The Vikings rallied and drove off the attackers.

Ever since then, Irish boys have gone out on Christmas morning to kill wrens. Their mission accomplished, the Wren Boys wrap the dead birds in ribbon and holly and carry them from door to door, singing carols and collecting money. These wrens, however, are not eaten.

And so it continues. During the Yuletide season a hundred and one different customs will be observed throughout the world from sunny Australia to the icy Arctic.

Flees Snowbound Car 230,000 Cigarettes

MONTREAL, Dec. 24—(CP)—The RCMP reported Sunday night finding 230,000 untaxed American cigarets in an automobile from which the driver fled.

Two officers reported seeing the car Saturday night stuck in the snow along a country road just north of the United States border. When police approached, the driver ran south across the border.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed . . . And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth into Judaea, unto the city of David which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David), to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered, and she brought forth her firstborn son; and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto him, Fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

SAINT LUKE

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod, the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the king heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet:

And thou, Bethlehem, in the land of Juda,
Art not the least among the princes of Juda:
For out of thee shall come a Governor,
That shall rule my people Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

Food At Christmas

No serious student of eating can be in any doubt that we lack the hearty appetites and imperturbable digestions of our ancestors. There are good reasons for it: we know that it is unhealthy to eat too much, and our economic condition is such that we do not have to gormandize today because we fear that there may be nothing to eat tomorrow; furthermore, our houses are heated far better than the houses of our forebears, and we do not have to eat food which will keep us warm in draughty corridors, unheated bedrooms, and in those corners of the living rooms to which the heat of the fire has not penetrated. The only form of central heating our ancestors knew was that which was provided by a full—perhaps an over-full—stomach. They ate and drank hugely because they were cold more often than they were comfortably warm.

Because of these things, we do not eat so much at Christmas as our great-great-grandfathers did, and we look askance at some of the recipes which were dear to them. Those recipes depended upon the labour of a staff of servants, or at least of a house full of daughters who were ready to spend the week before Christmas toiling in the kitchen. And it must be said also that we could not afford to eat on the grand scale affected by our forefathers; when they made a chicken pie they used not only a chicken, but also a pound and a half of lamb, to give it body. The recipe for Christmas pudding used in the royal kitchen in the reign of George I calls for, among other ingredients, a pound of eggs, weighed in their shells; an early nineteenth century American recipe for a pumpkin pie calls casually for six eggs, and a dark fruitcake demanded ten eggs. We spend that egg money on coal, and take our heat externally.

The English Folk Cookery Association has made available a great many recipes from an earlier day, but we doubt if they will ever again come into general favour. Beefsteak pudding sounds delicious, but the modern housewife usually stops short of adding a dozen oysters when she makes it. And as for stewed tripe—well, we have never eaten stewed tripe, although we know one housewife who makes it, but we do not suppose that she adds cow-heels to it: the cow-heels, we presume, had somewhat the effect of modern gelatin, which is a refined form of the same thing. The famous old restaurant called Simpsons' on the Strand, in London, used to make it at Christmas time until the outbreak of the last war, but we never had courage to ask them if they used genuine cow-heels; being traditionalists, they probably did so.

Our Christmas dishes are suited to the modern stomach, and to the modern centrally heated house. Anyone desirous of reviving the culinary glories of an earlier day would be well advised to turn his thermostat down to about 50 degrees Fahrenheit before he tackles the stewed tripe, the beefsteak pudding, the dark fruitcake and the mulled port.

Go It While You're Young

Everybody knows Jingle Bells, but few people know the name of its author. He was one J. Pierpont, of whom we personally know no more than that, except that he wrote three verses for his song, only one of which has survived in popular use. But the forgotten verses have a genial air which we admire, and for the pleasure of our readers at this time we reprint them here:

A day or two ago
I thought I'd take a ride,
And soon Miss Fanny Bright
Was seated by my side.
The horse was lean and lank;
Misfortune seem'd his lot;
He got into a drifted bank,
And we, we got up-sot.

Now the ground is white;
Go it while you're young;
Take the girls to-night,
And sing this sleighing song.
Just get a bob-tail'd bay,
Two-forty for his speed;
Then hitch him to an open sleigh,
And crack! you'll take the lead.

It is a pity that these verses have fallen into oblivion and we suggest that they be restored to use.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

WE NEED to be reminded at times that Christmas was originally a religious festival, not merely a sales promotion stunt. Even the pagan festivities which were incorporated into the Christian observance were religious in character. Modern man is too inclined to equate religion with gloom: the Christmas carols are amongst the few survivals of the spirit of gaiety allied with religion. In days past Christmas had by no means a monopoly of carols; there were carols sung at Easter, Whitsun, Lent, and other seasons. Some of these have been revived, yet there are few signs of carols becoming popular apart from Christmas, and even the Christmas carols narrowly escaped total oblivion. Curiously enough the revival in Christmas carols was due largely to two writers, neither of them particularly addicted to music—an American and an Englishman. Previous to them carols had almost died out except in the country districts. The earnest believers frowned on them for their levity, and for the lack of scriptural authority of certain of the legends. The cultivated classes smiled at their crude phraseology and homespun doggerel. Musicians ignored the catchy little tunes. Then came Washington Irving and Charles Dickens, who reinstated carol singing as a picturesque and completely respectable activity. An epidemic of carol-writing broke out. Pious ladies with literary leanings collaborated with cathedral organists in producing primly sentimental effusions of little or no value. A few of these are still, alas, current. Naturally amongst all these misses there were a few hits, which succeeded in translating the carol into nineteenth century terms without missing the joyous character of the traditional carols. As a whole, though, the nineteenth century achieved little of value in carols. They were lacking in gaiety, too didactic and sentimental; the music, too, was stodgy and stuffy. Some useful pioneer work was done in the direction of saving old carols from oblivion, though it is obvious that the real nature of the carol escaped the compilers of nineteenth century carol books.

THE essential feature of the carol is its frankly "popular" nature. I use the word popular in its original sense—of the people. It was not primarily the product of the educated classes. Another important fact about carols is that most of them are in a dancing rhythm. The connection of the carol with the dance may go back into the mists of antiquity. Some scholars assure us that the very name carol is derived from two Greek words, choros (the Greek chorus which danced and sang in the ancient Greek plays) and aulos (a wind instrument something like a primitive oboe). Be that as it may, carols certainly formed an integral part of the medieval Mystery Plays, in which the stories of the Bible and the teachings of the Church were represented in dramatic form. These mystery plays were immensely popular up to the Reformation and have left their imprint even on many surnames, such as King, Pope, Wiseman and so on. Even Punch and Judy were originally Pontius Pilate and Judas Iscariot, though I have heard of no convincing explanation of the latter's change of sex! It must be remembered that the hymn as we know it today did not exist in the Middle Ages: the ancient Office Hymns were all in Latin and being Plainsong could not be danced to. Besides that the wording was austere and learned, even for those with a smattering of Latin. Several of the Carols, to be sure, were written in Latin, but of a much simpler variety, immune from abstruse dogma. Many carols were written in macaronic verse, that is to say a mixture of Latin and the "vulgar tongue"—presumably by the parish priest.

THE twentieth century opened well for carols. A tremendous amount of old material was rediscovered, and the real nature of the carol was understood by a few people. Valuable work was done in translating carols from German, French, Italian, Russian and other sources, and in fact it looked almost as if the imports might very well swamp the native product in the English-speaking world. Then came two world wars, and the minds of men were preoccupied with grimmer things than peace on earth, goodwill towards men. Perhaps that is why comparatively few carols of merit have been produced in this century. Some beautiful setting of carols have been written by men such as Pater Warlock, but they are rather elaborate and can only be sung by a well-trained choir: for this reason they can scarcely be classified as carols in the full sense of the word, though they reflect something of the spirit of the old carols.

A FEW days ago I took part in a lively discussion on the subject of credit restrictions in so far as they affect musical instruments. Some people disapprove of credit restrictions altogether. Others approve of them so long as they do not stand in the way of them buying (or selling) any particular article in which they happen to be interested. I will not touch on the arguments for or against credit restrictions in general, though it is only fair to point out that a considerable proportion of the population would never dream of buying anything that they could not pay for in cash. The argument against credit restrictions on the sale of musical instruments is as follows. A good piano or other instrument is an expensive item. It is a mistake to start a beginner on a poor instrument. Music is of great value culturally and educationally. The American government, which has imposed fairly severe credit restrictions on many goods has specifically exempted musical instruments, thus recognizing the importance of the art of music.

AGAINST these arguments it may be said that the credit restrictions are not really too severe, and that there are many other important activities that are also being hampered by the same restrictions. It must be realized that credit buying is actually the most expensive way of doing things. The carrying charges imposed on the instalment system are actually considerably greater than the interest charged on a bank loan. There is also the danger, if payments lapse, of losing everything. While a good instrument is most desirable for a beginner an inferior instrument need not necessarily be as harmful to his musical development as is generally supposed. Very few of the great performers or composers had the advantage of learning on the best instruments of the time. Many, in fact, had to be content with wheezy old village organs and broken-winded old spinets. I leave it to my readers to decide for themselves whether they think that credit buying restrictions should be retained on musical instruments. I am by no means convinced that they ought to be taken off; but I am open to reason, and if any of my readers feels in duty bound to convert me I would be grateful for a letter; and if any new points of interest are raised that I have omitted in this article I will certainly devote some space to them in a future issue of these notes.

The Nativity

The Christmas story has long been the inspiration of artists. This celebrated painting by Federigo Barocci (1528-1612) is adapted above to the needs of a newspaper press by our staff artist George Cobb.

Christmas With Mr. Pickwick

(Abridged From Pickwick Papers, By Charles Dickens.)

AS BRISK as bees, if not altogether as light as fairies, did the four Pickwickians assemble on the morning of the twenty-second day of December in the year of grace in which these, their faithfully-recorded adventures were undertaken and accomplished. Christmas was close at hand, in all his bluff and hearty honesty; it was the season of hospitality, merriment, and open-heartedness; the old year was preparing, like an ancient philosopher, to call his friends around him, and amidst the sound of feasting and revelry to pass gently and calmly away. Gay and merry was the time; and right gay and merry were at least four of the numerous hearts that were gladdened by its coming.

And numerous indeed are the hearts to which Christmas brings a brief season of happiness and enjoyment. How many families, whose members have been dispersed and scattered far and wide, in the restless struggles of life, are then reunited, and meet once again in that happy state of companionship and mutual goodwill, which is a source of such pure and unalloyed delight; and one so incompatible with the cares and sorrows of the world, that the religious belief of the most civilized nations, and the rude traditions of the roughest savages, alike number it among the first joys of a future condition of existence, provided for the blessed and happy! How many old recollections, and how many dormant sympathies, does Christmas time awaken!

We write these words now, many miles distant from the spot at which, year after year, we met on that day, a merry and joyous circle. Many of the hearts that throbbed so gaily then, have ceased to beat; many of the looks that shone so brightly then, have ceased to glow; the hands we grasped, have grown cold; the eyes we sought, have hid their lustre in the grave; and yet the old house, the room, the merry voices and smiling faces, the jest, the laugh, the most minute and trivial circumstances connected with those happy meetings, crowd upon our mind at each recurrence of the season, as if the last assemblage had been but yesterday! Happy, happy Christmas, that can win us back to the delusions of our childish days; that can recall to the old man the pleasures of his youth; that can transport the sailor and the traveller, thousands of miles away, back to his own fireside and his quiet home!

"VERE does the mince-pie go, young opium-eater?" said Mr. Weller to the fat boy, as he assisted in laying out such articles of consumption as had not been duly arranged on the previous night.

The fat boy pointed to the destination of the pies.

"Wery good," said Sam, "stick a bit o' Christmas in 'em. T'other dish opposite. There; now we look compact and comfortable, as the father said ven he cut his little boy's head off, to cure him o' squintin'."

As Mr. Weller made the comparison, he fell back a step or two, to give full effect to it, and surveyed the preparations with the utmost satisfaction.

"Wardle," said Mr. Pickwick, almost as soon as they were all seated, "a glass of wine in honour of this happy occasion!"

"I shall be delighted, my boy," said Wardle.

"Joe—damn that boy, he's gone to sleep."

"No, I ain't, sir," replied the fat boy, starting up from a remote corner, where, like the patron saint of fat boys—the immortal Horner—he had been devouring a Christmas pie, though not with the coolness and deliberation which characterized that young gentleman's proceedings.

"Fill Mr. Pickwick's glass."

"Yes, sir."

The fat boy filled Mr. Pickwick's glass, and then retired behind his master's chair, from whence he watched the play of the knives and forks, and the progress of the choice morsels from the dishes to the mouths of the company, with a kind of dark and gloomy joy that was most impressive.

"God bless you, old fellow!" said Mr. Pickwick.

"Same to you, my boy," replied Wardle; and they pledged each other, heartily.

"Mrs. Wardle," said Mr. Pickwick, "we old folks must have a glass of wine together, in honour of this joyful event."

The old lady was in a state of great grandeur just then, for she was sitting at the top of the table in the brocaded gown, with her newly-married granddaughter on one side, and Mr. Pickwick on the other, to do the carving. Mr. Pickwick had not spoken in a very loud tone, but she understood him at once, and drank of a full glass of wine to his long life and happiness.

THE fiddles and harp began in real earnest. Away went Mr. Pickwick—hands across—down the middle to the very end of the room, and half-way up the chimney, back again to the door—pousette everywhere—loud stamp on the ground—ready for the next couple—off again—all the figure over once more—another stamp to beat out the time—next couple, and the next, and the next again—never was such going; at last, after they had reached the bottom of the dance, and full fourteen couple after the old lady had retired in an exhausted state, and the clergyman's wife had been substituted in her stead, did that gentleman, when there was no demand whatever on his exertions, keep perpetually dancing in his place, to keep time to the music, smiling on his partner all the while with a blandness of demeanour which baffles all description.

Long before Mr. Pickwick was weary of dancing, the newly-married couple had retired from the scene. There was a glorious supper downstairs, notwithstanding, and a good long sitting after it; and when Mr. Pickwick awoke, late the next morning, he had a confused recollection of having, severally confidentially, invited somewhere about five-and-forty people to dine with him at the George and Vulture, the very first time they came to London; which Mr. Pickwick rightly considered a pretty certain indication of his having taken something besides exercise, on the previous night.

DON'T ASK

A successful business man was giving an address on "Commercial Acumen" to a class of students. In speaking of his career, he mentioned a certain company that had been wound up on account of its shady practices.

"Of course," he said, "as soon as I realized there were possibilities of dishonest profit being made, I got out of it."

"How much?" asked a student.

Letters To The Editor

RETURNING CHRISTMAS TO CHRIST

Sir: The students of St. Peter's School, who have been working in co-operation with the Catholic High School across Canada to bring Christ back into Christmas were deeply gratified to see displayed in the window of Miss Florence Leach the beautiful crib depicting the scene of the Nativity.

Canada is a Christian country, and yet too often the real spirit of this great day is forgotten. Miss Leach is helping keep "Christ in Christmas" and the members of the Students' Council of St. Peter's High School wish to offer her our heartfelt congratulations.

Sincerely yours,
BARBARA DOLEMAN, Sec.

DON'T LOSE CHRISTMAS IN XMAS

Sir: In the hustle and bustle of Christmas shopping and festivities, we are so apt to forget the "why" of Christmas, and to lose the true spirit of Christmas.

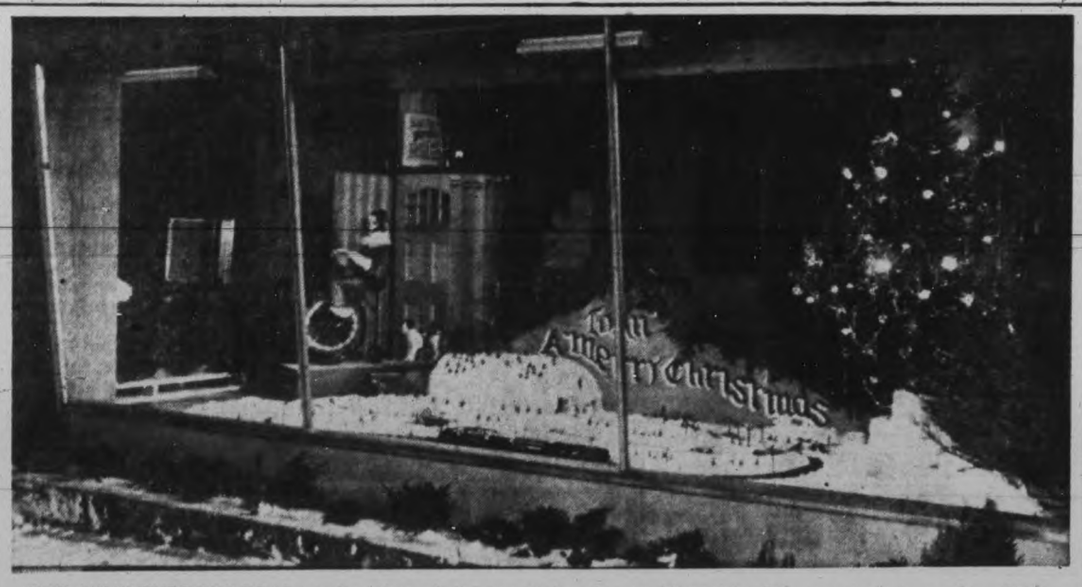
Let us not spend this coming Dec. 25 with only an "X" to our credit, but to see that the Christ in Christmas is given first place in our homes.

Why not impress on our children that gifts, candies, parties, good food, are only secondary in the celebrating of Christmas?

Let each and every parent not fail to give thanks in the hearing of our children (before gifts are opened) for the most free and greatest gift to us all, His Son, God's Son.

If we do this, and try always to do His will before our own, Peace and Goodwill would spread so quickly in the earth that we never again would have our hearts fail in fear for the things coming to pass.

Do not lose sight of the fact of the promise that times and seasons shall change, and they are changing. Don't be caught in the mad whirl of the modern worldly Xmas, but let us be able to say honestly that the true Christ spirit was with us this "Christ"mas.



Signed,
"FOR HIM"

Old Yule Custom Serving Of Boar's Head

Of the customs that grew up around the Christmas festival in Merrie England, the serving of the boar's head was one of the most stirring. It endures to this day at Queen's College, Oxford where the 50-pound tusked head—a lemon in its grinning jaws—is borne in on a great silver dish, escorted by trumpeters and candle bearers. It is served up with a wonderous flourish of music and mustard at the high table where sit the dons.

In the olden days there was an appropriate chant, half carol and half ritual, that the gentlemen used to bellow at the moment the dish touched the board:

Then set down the swineyard,
The foe to the vineyard,
Let Bacchus crown his fall.
Let this boar's head and mustard
Stand for pig, goose and custard,
And so ye are welcome all.

Party Leaders Spend Christmas At Their Homes

OTTAWA, Dec. 24 (CP)—Canada's political leaders, wearied by a long series of battles in the Commons, plan to spend Christmas at home with their families.

Most of them, including the members of the federal cabinet, will spend the holiday season in Ottawa, but a few, including Prime Minister St. Laurent, will be away for a few days.

The Prime Minister left Saturday morning for Quebec to spend Christmas there with Mrs. St. Laurent and their children and grandchildren. Mrs. St. Laurent has been at their Quebec home for the last week baking Christmas pies and attending to the other festive trimmings.

The three opposition party leaders in the Commons—George Drew, M. J. Coldwell and Solon Low — will celebrate Christmas with their families in Ottawa. All of them, along with Mr. St. Laurent, make their homes in the capital.

Virtually all of the cabinet will spend Christmas week with their families in Ottawa.

Defence Minister Claxton will be here for Christmas, but will take off Thursday next on a flight to Japan and Korea to visit Canadian troops at the fighting front. He just recently returned from a visit to the troops in Europe.

Only four of the 20-odd cabinet ministers will be at homes away from the capital. Postmaster General Rinfret will be at St. Adele, Que., State Secretary Bradley at Bonavista, Nfld., Fisheries Minister Mayhew at Victoria and Revenue Minister McCann at Renfrew, Ont.

External Affairs Minister Pearson and Mrs. Pearson will celebrate Christmas Day in Ottawa with their family, but will be in London, Ont., the following day for the marriage of their son, Geoffrey, to Miss Landon Mckenzie, of London.

Britons Hear Grim Message From Churchill

LONDON, Dec. 24 (CP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill had a grim Christmas message for Britons this weekend when he told them that hardships are ahead if Britain is to avoid national bankruptcy.

Churchill's radio address from his country home at Westerham Saturday night was reminiscent of his "blood, sweat and tears" speech of the early war years.

He told the British people they cannot go on counting on US aid to make them comfortable. Apart from aid for defence and rearmament, "you must not expect the Americans to solve our problems for us," he said.

He warned that his coming visit to the United States and Canada should not give rise to "any exaggerated hope."

Unless Britain puts her house in order, she will not only lose her chance to participate in international defence, but will not even keep her people alive, he said.

Unpleasant Measures

He forecast for the domestic scene further "unpleasant proposals" to follow the "certain number of unpleasant things that have been done already."

His government is determined to make Britain solvent, able to earn her living and pay her own way, he said. But this would be a long task. The hardships already imposed "are only the beginning of what lies ahead."

His aim in North America will be to create confidence that Britain is determined to "play our full part throughout the international scene and that, given the time we need, we have the power to do so."

"If war comes, it will be because of world forces beyond British control. On the whole, I do not think it will come," he said.

He pledged the government to do the utmost to "preserve the British Comomnwealth and Empire as an independent factor in world affairs."

On the other hand, Britain could not become a burden on the sterling area and "we must not plunge into further indebtedness to our colonial empire."

In an appeal for an end to "party brawling" in British politics, he praised the former Socialist government for its defiance of Communism, its close association with the US and its "attempt to form a solid front in Western Europe against aggression."

SHERRIDON, Man., Dec. 24 (CP)—A bushworker who walked 16 miles through sub-zero weather clad only in underwear and with charred overalls wrapped around his feet Sunday was reported in good condition in hospital.

The man's brother, Arthur Bighetty, and Gilbert Chartrand, another bushworker, were burned to death Wednesday when fire destroyed their caboose near Lynn Lake, 165 miles north of Sherridon. Dugald Bighetty and another survivor John Morin, started toward Lynn Lake after the fire.

Both suffered frostbite before their were found and flown to Sherridon hospital.

Sherridon is about 400 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

City Pays Damages

QUEBEC, Dec. 24 (CP) — The city Saturday was ordered to pay $3,701 damages to Charles Edouard Giguere whose son suffered burns at a fire department Christmas party Dec. 23, 1948. Troops On Ship Celebrate Early ABOARD TSS COLUMBIA AT SEA, Dec. 24 — (CP)— Christmas came early to some 700 Canadian troops en route for service in Europe with Canada's 27th Brigade.

Today great steaming plates loaded with turkey, cranberry sauce and all the trimmings, Christmas pudding smothered in white brandy sauce, cigarets and "liquid cheer" were piped up by the ship's cook.

It was all "on the house"—that is, the shipping company.

The troopship, bearing the last draft of the brigade which will serve with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's force under Gen. Eisenhower, was bedecked with holly, streamers and decorated Christmas trees.

Van Doos Said Fairly Treated

MONTREAL, Dec. 24 — (CP) — Lt.-Col. Jacquese Dextraze, commander of Quebec's famous Royal 22nd Regiment (Van Doos), Saturday branded as false reports that French-speaking troops were badly treated in the Korean war.

Col. Dextraze, who just flew in from the battle-front, said "Our troops were not used for any menial tasks, nor were they placed in the most dangerous front-line postions.

"There has never been any question of our French-Canadian troops being mistreated. No Canadian would stand for mistreatment— let alone French-Canadians."

Col. Dextraze was one of more than 70 Korean veterans who arrived by plane here Saturday en route to their homes across Canada for Christmas.

Canadian Forces Hear Christmas Message

OTTAWA, Dec. 24— (CP) — The following message has been dispatched by Defence Minister Claxton to the armed forces of Canada:

Christmas, 1951, finds our Canadian forces spread from Korea to the Continent of Europe. These overseas forces represent part of Canada's contribution to the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and indicate Canada's determination to play her part in meeting aggression, in partnership with her democratic allies.

All of us at home have been called upon to increase our effort in building up expanding defence establishments and providing reenforcements for our overseas units. The wholehearted support and cooperation of all services has been most gratifying, and I know we shall continue working as a team toward the common goal.

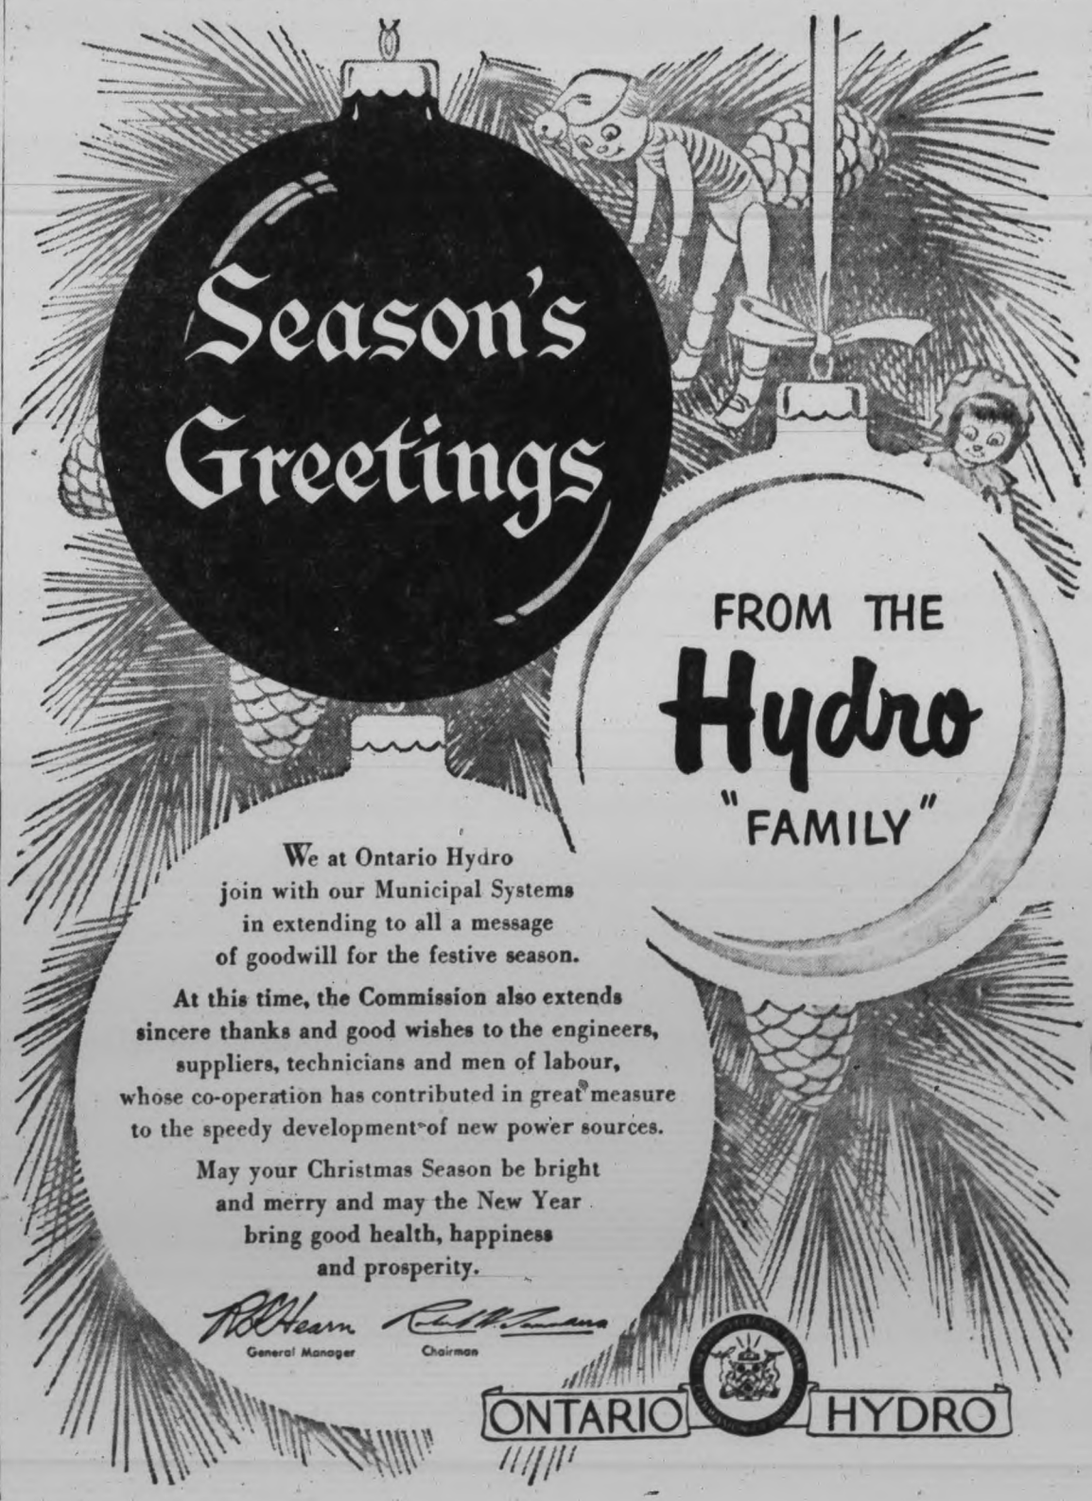
To the navy, army, air force, Defence Research Board and all civilian members of the department, I extend my very best wishes for a happy Christmas, and a hope that the New Year may bring us nearer freedom and security in an unsettled world.

Find Bodies On Ship, Five Said Canadians

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 24—(CP)—The bodies of 10 persons—five of them Canadians—were recovered Sunday from the fire-swept motorship Erria.

One body remained to be found. Searchers said the body of Steward A. S. Iversen of Copenhagen was likely on a lower deck, where the fire still smouldered last night.

All but two of the bodies recovered were in the lounge of the Danish vessel, which caught fire Thursday.



The body of six-year-old Elizabeth Brunlees was found seated on the lap of her dead mother, Mrs. Kathleen Brunlees of White Horse, YT.

The other Canadian dead were from Vancouver.

Mother, Children Die

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 24 (AP)—A 24-year-old mother and three of her four small children died Sunday in a fire that destroyed their small home in neraby Austintown. The mother, Mrs. Margaret Youngblood, managed to push five-year-old Donald out of the door, and he ran naked to a neighbor's house for help. Before the child could awaken anyone, the house was a mass of flames. The bodies of Mrs. Youngblood and the three children were found in the embers.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Merry Christmas, folks. We extend our best to sports' fans and readers, to officials and athletes, to everyone interested in sports. To those who aren't interested—the back of the hand! Our thanks for the many more cards and gifts received. Couldn't get around to sending cards to everyone we'd like to remember, and also we're notoriously absent-minded. Pass good friends right on the street without a nod. Frequently. Guess the old mind is thinking of last night's game or tomorrow's column or something. But hope you'll understand. Anyway, season's greetings to all of you fine folks.

* * * * * *

Tomorrow aft, a raft of kids will be wending their ways to sleigh hills, ski slopes, and skating rinks. Peterborough youth will be on the prowl on the best day of the year. Future athletic stars will be getting their start. Years ago we did likewise. Ate a Christmas dinner that would flounder a lumberjack and then jogged merrily off to bobsled on Cox's Hill or skate and play shinny on the canal or maybe at Poverty Pond. Over Ashburnham way not too long after that proud centre agreed to take in Peterborough and make this a decent community. Ah, yes. Christmas is fun—but especially for the kids.

Fun Around The District

Not the least fun at this time of year occurs in the village rinks of the district. Keen rivalry exists and some exciting hockey whiles away cold winter nights for many people. Such is the case in the Otonabee Rural Puck Loop operating at Keene. Half a dozen teams in hectic action twice weekly and the winner this year will enter ORHA intermediate "C" playdowns. Jim McCarthy's league is going now, and there's a twin bill at Keene tonight: Keene vs. Westwood, and Hiawatha vs. Downer's Corners. Other teams in are Assumption and Indian River. They mix it at seven and nine each Monday and Thursday after supper. Oodles of action and fun for all.

* * * * * *

OHA senior "B" schedule resumes here on Wednesday night at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Opponents are the two top-place teams, Belleville Hawks and the Petes. That's the night after Christmas, and folks can now forget their shopping and start to enjoy life again. Red Doran's classy Quinte speedsters will be trying to shuffle ahead of Jim Ellis' outfit, and the latter will have the same idea—taking over the top rung alone. Bound to be a fast-stepping senior puck battle, each squad boasting plenty of talent in the warmish Central Ontario group race. Kingston and Eagles are crowding the leaders plenty, too.

Lighting Lamps For E's

Scoring marks for the Eagles after 11 loop games are in this e'en. They show Freddy Mortimer atop the pack with 19 points, while Bert Hill, Reg Stewart and George Brabin are tied next with 16 points apiece. One in front of Toodie Greenlaw, with Bob Parnall next, and then Dootch Vitarelli and Bill Crowley tied with a point a game, though Dootch hasn't played them all. Jim Munro with nine has a neat mark for a defenceman, and Keith Montgomery—colorful stickhandling blue-line bumper—is doing okay, also, with six. Some of the Eagles saw little action owing to injuries or transfers, and several more are presently getting tryouts with the Vitarelli crew.

* * * * * *

Perhaps this para belongs properly in Nick's outdoor column, but anyway we want to warn some of our more lawless friends to lay off the deer shooting tonight. No pot shots at Prancer, Blitzen, Rudolf, Olive and the rest. Sure, the rhyme on Rudolf distinctly mentions: "Olive, the other reindeer." They're strictly out of season at this time of year, and there'll be extra games wardens on duty to enforce this. And don't tell us that, like the barber's cat, we're full of wind and hair tonic. But who wants to go shooting this p.m.? After all, it's a time for peace on earth and goodwill toward men—except in Korea, East vs. West Germany, the backside of the Iron Curtain, Egypt and sundry other hot spots. 'And, of course, the Petes-Eagles' games. Yes, indeed.

St. Mike's Win 2 Weekenders To Cinch Third

By The Canadian Press.

The sparkling Toronto St. Michael's College club had a soft touch and a tough struggle during the week-end and came up with two important wins in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A games.

St. Mike's fired four straight goals in the last period at Windsor Saturday night to down the last-place Spitfires 7-3. Back in Toronto Sunday they edged their city cousins, the first-place Marlboros 6-3.

The wins jumped St. Michael's ahead of Galt into third place. Marlboros earned a 6-5 decision in Waterloo Saturday over the Hurricanes to break a first-place tie with Guelph Biltmores, but were unable to extend their lead Sunday although the Bilts were idle.

In two other OHA junior games Saturday, St. Catharines Teepees defeated Oshawa Generals 2-0 at Oshawa to break a sixth-place tie with Barrie Flyers, and Galt Black Hawks earned a 7-2 win over Kitchener.

Indians Move Up

Stratford Indians Saturday pushed farther into the lead in the OHA Senior A circuit with a 3-2 win over third-place Hamilton Tigers at Hamilton. Weather conditions forced postponement of a scheduled meeting between Owen Sound and Sarnia.

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds lengthened their lead in the Northern Ontario Senior A group with a 17-7 trouncing of Sudbury Wolves. North Bay Black Hawks scored five goals in 10 minutes to defeat Sudbury Miners 7-4.

Windsor Spitfires, who gave up goalie Terry Sawchuk to Detroit Red Wings, may have found another good netminder. Fifteen-year-old Dennis Riggin kicked out 31 shots by St. Michael's in the last two periods and was given credit for keeping the Toronto score from double figures.

Bill Dineen fired two St. Mike's goals and Mike Ratchford, Ron Wallace, Ted Topazzini, Knox, and Marc Reaume added singles. Bobby Brown, Bob Rawlyk, and Robby Robertson scored for Windsor.

Both fans and players forgot sport immediately after the Marlboro-Waterloo game. A crowd of fans, angered at a last-period penalty to the Hurricanes' Paul Oliver, jumped referee Hugh Barlow as he left the ice and mauled him badly before police got him to the dressing-room under escort. Several players from both teams were in on the scuffle.

Lou Bendon scored twice for Marlies and Ted Reid, Parker Macdonald, Wally Maxwell, and Charlie Lumsden got singles. The Waterloo scorers were Oliver, Ron Murphy, Rio Caron, Jerry Horton, and Johnny Wood.

Buddy Boone got both the Teepee goals in the St. Catharines-Oshawa joust.

Lead Galt to Win

Ken Wharram with three goals, and Jim McBurney with two led Galt to its win over Kitchener. Pete Conacher and Bill McIntosh got the others, while Orville Tessier scored both Greenshirt markers.

In Sunday's Toronto game, Jim Logan scored twice to lead St. Mike's and Neil Buchanan, Bill Dineen, Ted Toppazzini and Art Clune got the rest. Marlboro goals were scored by Parker Macdonald, with two, and Eric Nesterenko with one.

The Senior A game saw White, Dinny Flanagan, and Ron Aitken notch the Stratford goals. Ron Kemp and Doug Maher tallied for Hamilton.

The two OHA circuits remain quiet until Wednesday. Sarnia will play in Stratford in the Senior A loop then and Junior A games will see Marlboros at Windsor and Galt at Waterloo.

Hawks Clip Vics 6-3 In Wild One

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 24.—In a wild and wooly OHA Junior "B" fixture in the Belleville Memorial Arena Saturday night, the Belleville Hawks defeated the Kingston Vics, 6-3. The win gave the locals a firm grip on second place in the standing, nine points ahead of the third place Kingston crew.

The game was enlivened by a free-for-all in the second period with six players serving major penalties for their efforts. Following the skirmish, Kingston coach, Max Jackson, was ejected from the game for stepping out onto the ice and pushing Linesman Bill Holway.

The things of yesterday,
The names of fellow pilgrims
We met upon the way.
The lighted inns of friendship,
The hospitality,

The merry company.
And when the little children
Are gathered 'round the tree,
Their bright and eager faces
Bring back to memory
The Christmases of childhood,
And as we think of them,

'Night' For Turk Gives Broda $7,000 In Gifts

By GERRY LOUGHEED.

TORONTO, Dec. 24 — (CP).— They fattened up the Turkey for Christmas with about $7000 worth of dressing Saturday night.

The bird was pudgy Walter (Turk) Broda, 37-year-old goalie with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. The dressing was presents from admirers from coast to coast.

The directors of Maple Leaf Gardens broke a long-standing rule against "nights" for individual hockey players by honoring the balding veteran of 13 seasons with the Leafs. And the 12,472 fans showed their approval by clapping virtually every minute of the between-periods presentation.

Their show of affection for the great performer now in the twilight of his hockey career made the game itself, Toronto's 3-2 victory over Boston Bruins, a sidelight.

Wallet to Auto

Broda's gifts included everything from a wallet to a new automobile.

The wallet was from patients at Muskoka Hospital in Gravenhurst, the automobile from a brewing company. That typified the scope of his friends.

A few of the other presents included: An eight-piece dining-room suite (from the Gardens), 85 pieces of sterling silver flatware, a 56-piece set of dishes, a grandfather's clock (from the Broda Fan Club), a chesterfield suite (from his team-mates), silver tea service, a pair of diamond socks (from the boys of Queen Mary Hospital, Weston), a set of souvenir ashtrays (from Lewis Hollett of Newfoundland), an armchair (from Toronto hockey writers), and a five-day free trip to Nelson, BC, next July from the citizens of Nelson.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Lester Patrick was named president of New York Rangers of the National League and president of Madison Square Gardens 18 years ago today. Hockey player, coach and executive, a master ice strategist, he received a great tribute from a large gathering of hockey notables at Kingston, Ont., in 1947 when presented with the scroll of membership in hockey's Hall of Fame.

Way back in ring history Tommy Burns, the Canadian claimant to the world's heavyweight title, was beaten by Jack Johnson in 14 rounds at Sydney, Australia, 43 years ago today. Burns, under his real name of Noah Brusso, a native of Hanover, Ont., held the unofficial title from 1906 to 1908 but Johnson won the "official" title later by defeating James J. Jeffries at Reno, Nevada.

Sawchuk Goose-Eggs Habs As Wings Win 4-0, Stretch Lead To 11 Points

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings was the only National Hockey League Club to pick up ground in weekend games. The league-leading Wings played a single, a 4-0 shutout over Montreal Canadiens Sunday night that gave goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk his seventh goose egg of the season. Second-place Toronto Maple Leafs played a double-header with Boston Bruins, winning 3-2 at home Saturday and losing 4-2 to coach Lynn Patrick's surprisingly-strong Bruins at Beantown on Sunday night.

Canadiens also split. They walloped Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 at Montreal Saturday and then bumped into the hot Sawchuk. The Hawks dropped into last place Sunday as they were beaten 3-2 by the Rangers at New York Sunday night.

Max Bentley led the weekend goal-scorers with four— two in each game.

His double Saturday saved the evening for 12,472 Toronto fans who turned out to honor the veteran goalie Turk Broda, given a night by Leaf officials. Max opened the scoring and with the game tied 2-2 early in the third period, he pushed another past Sugar Jim Henry.

A crowd of 12,022 saw the Wings blank Canadiens. The victory boosted Detroit's lead to 11 points.

Seventh Straight.

It was the seventh consecutive game Detroit has played Montreal this season without losing. They've whipped Dick Irvin's team six times and the other ended in a tie.

Sawchuk was the hero of the game. Canadiens took the play for the middle 40 minutes but the league's leading goalkeeper made 33 saves, a dozen of them outstanding, as he kicked out labelled shots.

Maurice Richard aggravated an old groin injury—and left the game early the first period. Marty Pavelich, Metro Prystai, Gordie Howe and Red Kelly were Wing marksmen.

The Boston-Toronto Saturday game was one of the best in Maple Leaf Gardens this season. Bruins led 2-1 at the end of the second period on goals by Sullivan and Ezinicki and they were true value for the margin until Harry Watson and Bentley scored within 3½ minutes in the final session.

Rookie Jack McIntyre, robbed a couple of times in the Saturday tilt against the Leafs, came up with a two-goal effort in the Sunday game, Sullivan and Dunc Fisher netted the others.

Wally Hergesheimer, rookie Ranger, scored twice in the New York victory over Chicago. Don Raleigh netted the other Ranger tally while Pete Babando and Al Dewsbury scored for the Hawks.

Argos Planning '52 Campaign In Football

TORONTO, Dec. 24 — (CP).— It isn't Christmas yet, but Toronto Argonauts are going all out in preparation for the 1952 football season.

President Bob Moran and Coach Frank Clair said Saturday that they are getting in touch with players in the United States "every day" as they line up their team for next year.

Moran said Clair "will attend the coaches' skull session in the US again this year and will establish important contacts regarding players while there."

After a post-season huddle, Clair and Moran decided to invite all Argo US imports back for another season with the exception of Marvin (Stretch) Whaley.

Alan Pfeifer is waiting to be inducted into the US Army and won't be back until his service is completed.

Of Joe Krol, veteran Canadian back, Moran said:

"Joe wants to play. If he proves good enough, he'll be signed to a contract."

Moran said the Argos will invite at least a dozen imports to their training camp.

Signing of players for next season starts January 15.

Mohawks In Tie As Stanowski Breaks Left Leg

By The Canadian Press

Two American Hockey League clubs fought to a 3-3 overtime tie Sunday night with the game winding up with a broken leg.

Cincinnati Mohawks and Indianapolis Capitals failed to score in overtime. A Mohawk defenceman, Winnipeg's Wally Stanowski, caught his skates in the boards after 47 seconds of the overtime period and was taken off the ice with his left leg broken above the ankle.

In other Sunday games, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis Flyers 3-1 and Syracuse Warriors downed Providence Reds 3-2. Cleveland Barons whipped Buffalo Bisons 6-5 in a penalty-ridden game before 5,000 fans.

Jean-Paul Denis and Jack McLeod put the visiting Mohawks ahead 2-0 in the first period but the Caps came back with a pair of goals by Enio Sclisizzi and Earl Reibel.

Gus Schwartz put the Mohawks ahead 3-2 with less than two minutes of the third period left. But 24 seconds later Bert Geisebrecht tied up the score for the last time.

Two In 41 Seconds

At Providence, a pair of goals in 41 seconds of the first period gave Syracuse their victory over Providence before 3,448 fans.

Ken Hayden and Doug McMurdy drove the two tallies. McMurdy scored another goal in the second period.

This was the Warriors' eighth victory in their last nine games. They won seven straight until losing 3-2 to the Reds in Syracuse Saturday night.

Jack Stoddard, league's leading scorer, figured in both Providence tallies.

Two goals while the hometown St. Louis Flyers were shorthanded in the second period gave Pittsburgh the victory.

The Western Division leaders were trailing 1-0 at the time of their spurt. Roy Kelly had scored.

Four minutes after Brent McNab began serving time, Gordie Hannigan banged in a goal from a scrimmage. Then John McLelland who also scored in the third period, golfed in a 15-foot shot.

At Buffalo 21 penalties were called. The Barons broke a 5-5 tie in the third period when Vic Lynn set up the winning goal for Cal Stearns.

The Bisons, at one time trailing by 4-0, tied the count in the third period on two goals by Lorne Davis.

It was Buffalo coach Leroy Goldsworthy's last home game before going to his new position as year-round golf professional in Vancouver.

Cleveland's other scorers were Fred Thurier with a pair and Joe Carveth and Phil Samis with one each. Sid McNabney, Stan Long and Eddie Mazur added the other Buffalo goals.

In the other Saturday games, Pittsburgh slapped a 6-2 defeat on Buffalo, Cleveland defeated St. Louis 4-2 and Hershey Bears defeated Cincinnati 7-2 for their fourth straight victory.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The University of Western Ontario has its Mustangs and Colts, to designate its senior and intermediate football teams, McMaster has its Marauders and Buccaneers, McGill, the Redmen and Indians, Queen's, the Gails and Comets. What has U. of T. got? Just plain "Blues".

So from now, an announcement said, Toronto's senior teams will be known as the Blues, as heretofore, but the intermediate teams will be known as the Junior Varsity—or JV's or Jay-Vees. The announcement did not indicate a preference. It said:

"Out go the Intermediates, seconds, Little Blues and Baby Blues and in come Junior Varsity, JV or Jay-Vee teams."

Three Czechoslovakians who last played hockey togehter in Europe two years ago make up one forward line of a team in the intermediate group of the Toronto Hockey League.

Darry Tirik, Otto Kratochvil and Boris Janda were on the Czech team that almost defeated Canada's Sudbury Wolves in the world hockey championships two years ago. They came to Canada seven months ago.

National champion Sonya Klopfer of Long Island City, New York, Saturday night in Indianapolis won the top spot in women's single on the United States olympic ice skating team.

Two other girls also made the olympic team— Tenley Albright of Newton Center, Mass., who placed second, and Virginia Baxter of Detroit, third.

Both Miss Kopfer and Miss Albright are 16 years old and Miss Baxter is 18.

Cahrlie Burr, the leading United States Jockey, rode his 301 st winner in the eighth race at Miami's Tropical Park Saturday.

The 17-year-old Arkansas City Kans., rider booted Buffer home in front of his field to pay $19.10, $9.10, and $5.10.

Burr, who rode his 300 th winner Friday, is the seventh Jockey to enter the select circle.

A 17-tournament winter schedule with an aggregate of $150,000 in purses was announced on Saturday in Chicago by the Professional Golfers' Association of the Unfied States.

The tour begins with the $17,500 Los Angeles open January 4-7 and closes with the $10,000 Greensboro, NC Open Invitation April 11-14.

All tournaments except the Los Angeles Open are worth $10,000.

A four-day ski-jumping school will be held at the Chicopee Ski Club at Kitchener from Dec. 26-30. Costs of running the school are paid by the Ontario Government and instruction is free. The instructor is Pete Petterson, born and trained in Norway, who has been conducting similar schools in Ontario for the last few years.

Outfielder Bert Haas and first baseman George Byam, last season with Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League, are going to St. Paul Saints of the American Association, it was announced Sunday night in Montreal.

A new weightlifting class first uesd in this year's world championships will be included in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki beginning July 19.

Oscar State of London, secretary of the British Empire Weight-Lifting Association, said Saturday he had been notified by the Helsinki organization committee that the program will include the 198¼ pound class.

The victorious Los Angeles Rams collected $2,108.44 each for winning the National Football League championship from Cleveland Browns Sunday. Each losing Cleveland player got $1,483.12.

Hockey's Big Seven

Rams Cop Title Beat Browns By 24-17 Score

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24 (AP)—Pro football's three master passers met in Memorial Coliseum Saturday, but two of them ganged up on the third. As a result, the Los Angeles Rams are the new champions of the National Foootball League.

It was just about a standoff between Otto Graham, of Cleveland's Browns, and Bob Waterfield, of the Rams. Between them they had fashioned a 17-17 tie in the waning minutes of a great ball game.

Then young Norman Van Brocklin, the Flying Dutchman from Oregon, took over from Waterfield. And on one great toss, gathered in by Tommy Fears for a net gain of 73 yards, the Rams busted a long-standing jinx wide open and whipped the Browns 24-17.

It was the Rams' first victory over Cleveland in five tries, and their firrst championship since 1945—although they have been in the playoff three years running.

Despite a bruising clash which left 59,475 spectators limp, the Rams still had a little left — enough to pack their 275-pound coach, Jumbo Joy Stydahar, off the field on their shoulders. "Great, great—great guys," muttered the mammoth one.

It was a game full of highlights and tense moments. The record crowd saw passing wizardry, fine running, a 52-yard field goal, a touchdown called back by a penalty, just about everything a football game can offer.

Check Yule Decorations

LONDON, Dec. 24 (Reuters) — British customs officials are checking all parcels of Christmas tree glass balls arriving from the United States. Reason—when a parcel burst open in a London post office some balls broke. Inside each was a pair of nylons.

Weekend Stars

Goalie Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings, who Sunday night registered his seventh shutout of the season, blanking Montreal Canadiens 4-0.

Defenceman Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens for his two goals and one assist Saturday as his team downed Chicago Black Hawks 5-1.

Toronto Maple Leafs' Max Bentley who scored two goals Saturday to pace the Leafs to a 3-2 victory over Boston Bruins.

Boston's Jack McIntyre who scored two goals Sunday night as his team defeated Toronto 4-2.

Wally Hergesheimer of New York, who tallied twice Sunday night in Rangers' 3-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks.

Lady Pool Shark Fazes Experts

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 24 — (AP)—A tiny, twinkle-eyed Japanese woman has former billiard champion Welker Cochran ecstatic over her prospects in the world three-cushion tournament opening here Mareh 5.

"She's the most marvellous thing I ever saw," said Cochran after watching Masako Katsura in a private exhibition. "She's liable to beat anybody, even Willie Hoppe."

Miss Katsura, wife of Air Force Sgt. Vernon Greenleaf, will be the first woman ever to compete in the tournament. She arrived Friday with her husband from Japan.

She was invited to compete in the tourney against nine of the worlds' best billiard players after Cochran watched her click off strings of 300 and 400 at caroms; switch to balkline "and make almost unbelievable shots," then score consistently at three cushions.

Miss Katsura, 38, was three times runner-up for the Japanese three-cushion championship.

Her opponents will include the Hoppe! Joe Chamaco Mexican National champ and runner-up to perennial world champion, Hoppe in the world tourney last year, and Art Rubin of New York and Joe Procita, third and fourth in the 1950 tourney.

Dictator In Syria Begins Juggling To Keep Alive

By TOM STONE

DAMASCUS, Dec. 24—(AP)—Col. Adib Shishekly, Syria's Napoleon-sized dictator, is trying to wiggle out of a dangerous corner that could cost him his life.

Within the last 2½ years, two other ambition Syrian army men have met violent death after forging to the top of the government through coup d'etats.

Shishelky, even though he holds a tight grip on the government, isn't taking any chances.

He rides through the streets of Damascus in a long-slung armor-plated limousine. He smiles at the populace through bullet-proof glass.

Shishekly, 44, and a man of quick, confident decisions, is well liked by many in the army to which he has devoted his life, and by the Syrian people he says he is trying to help.

May Meet Same Fate

Others outside say "two others who tried to rule Syria with an iron fist were slain. Who can say he won't meet the same fate?"

Shishekly staged a swiftly-executed coup d'etat against the Populist Party government Nov. 29, which left one of the Arab world's key countries without a president, a premier, a cabinet or a parliament.

It was a bloodless affair, but it was a dramatic demonstration of Shishekly's strongman tactics.

Shishekly's henchmen, most of them junior army officers, rounded up new pro-Russian Premier Marouf Dawalbi, the cabinet and other top political figures and threw them in a makeshift jail.

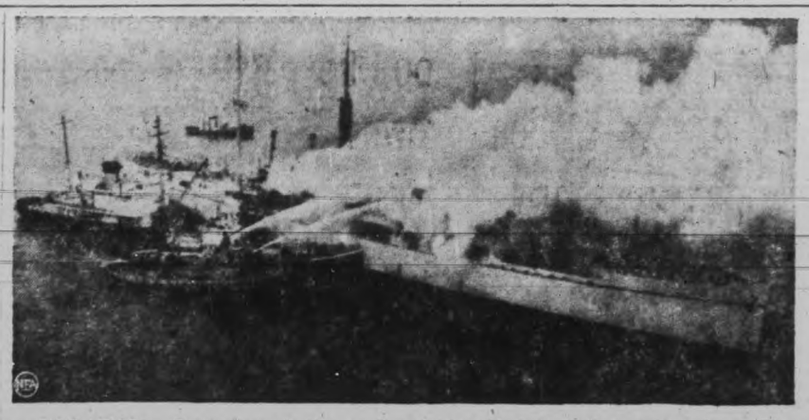
The coup was completed within an hour.

What caused Dawalibi, President Hachem Atassi and the cabinet to resign, is still one of the secrets of the coup, but once they had given in, Shishekly followed up with an order dissolving parliament, and a promise to the people that he would form a new and honest government.

Not Too Prominent

His first move indicated he didn't want to stay there; that he wanted to direct the country's political destiny without being too prominent in the public eye.

He named Col. Fawzi Selo former defence minister, as head of the temporary government "until parliamentary life is restored."



Many Syrians doubt whether that will ever be while Shishekly is alive.

In western quarters, Shishekly is consistently described as "a pro-western follower."

Those who know him personally commend him, among other things, for not making himself rich at the country's expense and refusing to rise faster than normal military promotions permit.

What effect his move will have on Middle East affairs depends a lot on whether the country is headed by a dictator or by a constitutional government.

Shishekly is calling the shots.

FIRE AT SEA—Fireboats and other craft pour stream of water into the Danish motorship Erria, lying off Astoria, Ore., in a futile effort to halt a raging fire. The vessel, bound from Portland to Los Angeles, caught fire off Astoria. Eleven persons are missing in the blaze.

FAMOUS FLIGHT

Twin engines of the plane that Alcock and Brown flew over the Atlantic in 1919 had a total of only 720 horsepower.

AIDS PILOTS

An electronic fuel gauge for United States air forces tells the pilot how much gasoline he has in terms of flying time left.

Teak Industry Beginning To Get On Feet In Burma

By FRED HAMPSON.

RANGOON, Dec. 24 (AP). — Despite interruptions, dangers and the depredations of insurgent warfare, the teak industry is beginning to get back on its feet in Burma.

It still has a long way to go to equal the 450,000 tons (approximately 270,000,000 board feet) prewar production, however.

Tung Ngwe, a Burma government forest conservator at a teak lumbermill and yard at Ahlone village near Rangoon, won't estimate what percentage of prewar teak was being produced now. But he doubted it was much more than one-tenth.

This is not due only to troubled conditions and the aftermath of the Second World War. It takes time to get teak production moving.

In the first place, you don't just send timber fallers out to fell teak trees and bring them to the mill. You send girdlers out to start girdling them. Girdling is cutting a slash around the base of the tree. Girdling kills the tree.

Why kill the tree first? Because in its live state it's too heavy. The logs won't float.

They kill the tree first and let it season on the stump for at least three years before they fell it. By that time it is dried out enough for an elephant to haul or heave on to a cold deck from where it is railed or rafted to a mill.

Limits Production

Also, said Tung Ngwe, the new Burma government is logging teak on a sustained yield basis which limits production to what is added by natural growth. There is still a lot of teak in Burma, but the government means to see that the forests are not depleted by too-fast cutting.

Teak is exported throughout the world for such special use as ship decking and fittings and furniture.

In Burma, teak is an all-purpose wood—used even for fence-posts and railroad ties.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity. (Controlled tests prove.)

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's—be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Sheel but it's nice to extend warm and friendly greetings to all you wonderful people!

Star of the Magi Believed Super Nova or New Star

By V. A. MADGE
(Member, the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada)

Almost 2,000 years ago, in the days of Herod the king, the wise men from the east saw a star, and "When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy." Almost everyone knows the story of the wise men, the Christmas Star, and the gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh — the beautiful story of all the wondrous things symbolized in the star that shone over Bethlehem so many years ago; the story of the birth of the Messiah.

Astronomers have frequently been asked if there is not some astronomical explanation of the star that guided the wise men of the east. Astronomy being a more-or-less exact science, the astronomer can only give consideration to possible astronomical sources of the Christmas Star and must leave the contemplation of a miraculous apparition to others. The astronomers must adhere to facts and, fortunately or unfortunately, exact facts do not seem to be available.

Some astronomers have said that the star of the Magi may have been a brilliant comet, or a large meteor, or a planet, or the conjunction of two or more planets, or the appearance of a Nova. In fact, Kepler wrote about the Star of Bethlehem to compare it with his Nova of 1604.

It is hardly likely that the wise men would have considered a comet as a sign of the Messiah's birth, for in ancient times comets were looked upon as harbingers of evil, famines, deaths, and the dissolution of empires. Meteors too were objects of terror to the people of early days. The wise men would not have accepted as the sign for which they had been waiting anything of terror or evil.

It has often been suggested that Venus, the brightest of the planets, was the star that guided the wise men to Bethlehem. Venus and the other planets visible to the naked eye must have been familiar objects to the wise men, as it was part of their regular duty to watch the sky for omens; and it does not seem that they would have accepted such familiar objects as the sign for which they had been waiting.

The astronomer Kepler, investigated the possibility of a conjunction of planets and the possibility of a Nova as the Star of Bethlehem. After reading the book Verificacio seu Theoremeta de anno ortus et mortis Domini" by Laurence Suslyga, Kepler, in 1606, wrote, "If the author is correct, in order to reckon the age of Christ, four years must be added to the Epoch of Christianity now in use." "It would follow, therefore, that Christ was born over two years after the great conjunction of the three Superior Planets in the first part of Aries or the end of Pisces, occurring for the sixth time since the foundation of the world." "Hence the star which led the Magi to the manger of Christ, if it occurred two years before the birth of Christ, could be compared with our star." This clearly indicates that Keplar thought of a Nova similar to his Nova of 1604 as a possible Star of Bethlehem, and not the great conjunction of planets about which so much has been written with verification of the time of the conjunction.

Many astronomers now believe that the Star of Bethlehem was a particularly bright Nova. These are, in general, stars that have exploded. These Novae are commonly called "New Stars" as, generally, they blaze out where no star has ever been seen before and then fade out, often without trace of where they once appeared.

In ancient times, new stars were accepted as the symbol expressing nature's delight at some happy event of the greatest importance that was soon to occur. New stars heralded the births of kings throughout ancient history. Is there any reason why the birth of the Messiah should not have been announced through a similar sign —a sign well understood by every well-informed man of that period."

Although the wise men must have known much about the heavenly bodies, they mentioned nothing about seeing a brilliant comet, or a large meteor, or a well-balanced planet, or the conjunction of a group of planets. They said "we have seen His star in the east and are coming to worship Him." Let us accept as the ultimate truth the wise men's statement of having seen a star—probably a super Nova whose real message meant and still means so much to mankind.

TO THE CURATOR of McGill's Redpath Museum, this prehistoric monster is known as a glyptodon, early ancestor of the modern armadillo, but to Ruth Gottlieb, it's just "Ohmygosh!" Ruth, along with other Grade VII pupils from Montreal visited the museum on an education tour.

Scot Private Tells How Silent Night Stilled War Guns

It was Christmas Eve, 1914, between Armentiers and Arras, while Gordon Highlanders huddled in trenches when somebody remembered the day.

"Jim, let's sing," one said to Private James Sutherland-Watt of Norfolk, Va.

Jim pleaded off, but someone else started "Silent Night, Holy Night," and soon Jim and the whole Scot regiment had joined in.

When the last refrain subsided, from the opposite trenches arose other voices — attuned in "Stille Nacht." Then all night long Christmas carols rang from trench to trench in strange tongues while cannon and flares from other sectors lit the sky.

At the customary "zero" hour, the British soldiers saw gray-clad figures making their way out of the opposite trenches. A few shots were fired. Then it was seen that the Germans carried no arms. Scots leaped from their trenches, likewise unarmed, only to be ordered back.

Find Severe Lack of Coal Hits Russ Industry Hard

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, Dec. 24 (AP) — A slowdown has hit Russian zone industry for lack of coal.

The Communist-controlled land is discovering that big words are a poor substitute for fuel in the furnaces of industry.

The so-called five-year plan which the Red regime promised would make East Germany strong and independent was moved back in schedule by months.

The east zone's 18,000,000 people are caught in a two-way squeeze. West Germany is using most of its huge coal output for itself and for Western European recovery and defence needs.

Eastward, the Poles were reported as reluctant to help out, despite Soviet prodding. Much Polish coal is moving into the Soviet Union, anyway.

Poor Producer

The Soviet zone of Germany is a poor coal producer by itself. According to official figures, the entire workings turned out only 2,-800,000 tons of hard coal in 1950.

West Germany's Rhur is pumping out that much coal in a week. In November alone, the Ruhr pits produced 10,310,000 tons.

East Germany once drew on both the Ruhr and also on its own province of Silesia for a completely adequate supply of industrial coal. Silesia, now part of Poland, is producing for only the Poles and the Russians, except for a few handouts Red leaders give the East Germans.

The East-West German trade once included provision for hundreds of thousands of tons of Ruhr hard coal to cross the east zone frontier. This was cut months ago after Russian refusal to guarantee safe conduct for West Berlin's exports and imports.

Fired For Attitude

Coal shipments eastward halted completely in mid-November.

Nervous Communist industry leaders demanded increased quotas of output from workers without success. Mine foremen say there are too many obstacles and some have been fired for daring to challenge the Red leadership with the facts.

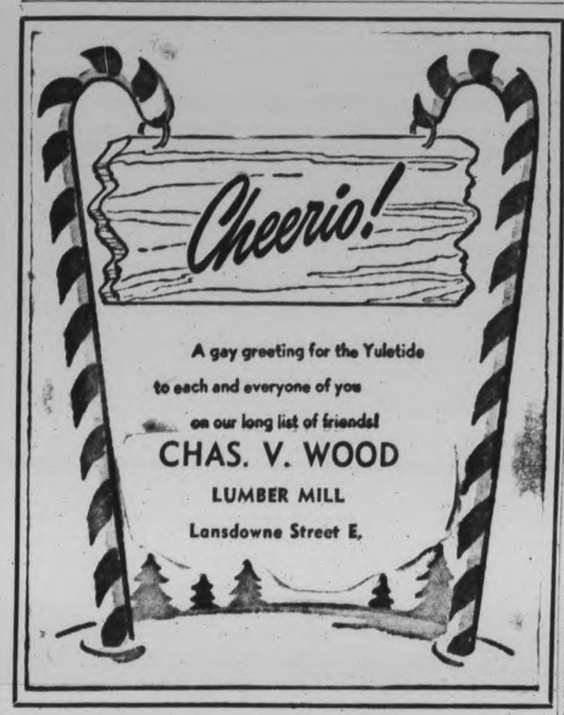
Expert miners list the obstacles as:

1. Lack of technical installations of the type necessary in any up-to-date mine.

2. Soil-shifting, a geological occurence that could be coped with if modern machinery were available.

3. Shockingly primitive ventilating systems.

All these factors contribute to a labor shortage. Despite conscription of workers, including women, the Communists have been unable to build any top-notch supply of coal mining labor.



Good wages are paid, by German standards, but too often the housing has been bad so that the high pay is little inducement.

UNKNOWN AREA

The Antarctic continent, as big as Europe and Australia combined has been only half explored and mapped.

In England, Boxing day — usually December 26—formerly was the day when the old squires distributed Christmas boxes to the help on their estates. It has since become a sort of legalized blackmail—an excuse for delivery boys, the postman and others who have served you during the year to call and collect a tip.

Oscar Awards Didn't Affect Walter Brennan

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 24 (AP)—The Oscar season is rolling around again, so it's time for a chat with Walter Brannan, the only actor who has won three of them.

Brennan won three of the first five academy awards presented for a supporting actor (the practice was started in 1936). I asked him what effect they had on his career.

"None that I could see," he replied. "I was under contract to Sam Goldwyn at the time and I didn't even receive congratulations from him. Later, someone asked him about it, and he said he'd do something about it. So the next time he saw me, he said, 'Say, Walter—I'm glad you won that prize.'"

But Brennan has managed to keep working regularly ever since receiving his Oscars. He now limits himself to two or three pictures a year.

There's nothjng pretentious about Brennan. He has no starring ambitions—and claimed he never has.

Capsule Review

"Decision Before Dawn" is movie-making at its best. No other medium could capture the sweep of Germany in the last days of the war. By using the real German cities and people, this film has created a stirring and realistic picture of a dying nation. The story concerns the infiltration of German lines by agents seeking military information for the allied forces. Two of the agents are former German soldiers and one is a United States officer. Their story makes a constantly exciting chase. Richard Baseheart and Gary Merrill, the only Hollywood actors in the cast, are fine. The German cast is excellent, particularly Oskar Werner, whose sensitive face evokes rare sympathy.

Pageant Presented At St. Paul's Church

A pageant of the nativity, "Why the Angels Sing for Joy" by Virginia A. Meyer, was presented on Sunday evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The presentation was by the Young People's Society and was directed by Roger Davis. Jean Leach was in charge of the costumes.

The first part of the evening service was given over to the singing of carols and then followed the pageant. The chairs in the choir loft had been removed making an excellent setting for the three scenes, "The Star in the East" or the appearance of the there magi, before King Herod; "The Vision" of the great light appearing before the shepherds and finally "The Adoration" or the visit of the magi and shephers to the babe in the manger.

Andrew Shedden was the arogant ruler Herod. James Davidson was his chief counsellor and Norma Bell one of his soldiers. The Wise Men were represented by Robert Oliver, Alex Ingram and Max Clark while the shepherds were Roger Davis, William Snowden and Carmer Bulmer. Bert Ross was the shepherd boy. Jean Leach was the angel or messenger, Jean Smith was Virgin Mary and Harry McFayden the kindly Joseph.

The solo parts were taken by Jean Smith, Alex Ingram, Robert Oliver and Max Clark.

Christmas Charity Of Religious Origin

Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat,
Please put a penny in the old man's hat;
If you haven't got a penny, a ha'penny will do—
If you haven't got a ha'penny, then God Bless You!

The above is a beggar's rhyme from Old England. It started with the ancient custom of giving alms at Christmas time.

The origin of this goes back to the belief that the Christ came to earth in various disguises in search of those who were kind and deserving, during the holiday season. It was feared that He might be unrecognized and ignored.

An old legend tells of the Christ Child going from door to door on Christmas Eve in his search of good Christians. His test was to plead for aid, and He was often turned away.

This story led to giving alms on Christmas Eve, and beggars were thus seldom refused.

Financial Crisis Churchill's Major Problem

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 24—(CP)—The return to power of Winston Churchill's Conservative party provided the decisive event of Britain's political year in 1951. If marked the end of the first epoch of Socialist majority rule and set new minds to work on another crisis in the country's financial fortunes.

In the Oct. 25 general election, the Conservatives gained a majority over all the other parties of nearly 20 seats in the House of Commons compared with a single-figure majority for Labor in the pre-election parliament.

The Conservative margin was smaller than many observers had expected but the first weeks of the new parliament suggested it would prove enough for effective government. Thus ending the melancholy deadlock between the two big parties which had existed since the stalemate election Feb. 23, 1950.

Churchill, prime minister for the first time by the votes of the people—he was summoned by parliament to be wartime premier—moved swiftly to name a new cabinet in which Anthony Eden as foreign secretary was No. 2 man. A novel feature of the 16-member cabinet was the appointment to important co-ordinating posts of non- party men such as Lord Ismay, Lord Cherwell and Lord Leathers.

Dubbed "Overlords"

Lord Woolton, Lord Reading and Lord De La Warr were other prominent Peers in the government, and promptly won the popular title of "overlords." Labor, in opposition for the first time since its 1945 victory at the polls, criticized the new Conservative cabinet as representing "government of the people, for big business, by the Lords."

The Conservatives, who broadly dominated British politics in the years between the two world wars came back to power at a time of financial crisis. At the opening of the 40th parliament Nov. 6, Churchill promised a "full and frank" statement on economic difficulties he described as worse than those encountered in the devaluation crisis of 1949 and in many ways worse than those of the convertibility crisis of 1947.

Next afternoon the 11-day-old Conservative administration announced drastic measures of austerity to ease the drain on her gold and dollar reserves—a reduction of nearly $1,000,000,000 in overseas spending, a curtailment of new building and strategic stockpiling, and fiscal steps to make money dearer for borrowers at home.

These were described as "first-aid" measures pending other plans for halting inflation which the government promised it would try to work out during a two-month adjournment of parliament starting early in December.

Richard Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, grimly said that unless Britain quickly stops living beyond her means her people would find themselves "bankrupt, idle and hungry."

On The Spot

It was an ironic situation for the Conservatives. Churchill, who had long campaigned on a cry of "set the people free," found himself obliged as Prime Minister to continue and occasionally to extend the Socialist apparatus of control and restriction. The Socialists charged the new government with breaking its election pledges. They said the Tories had promised red meat and then cut off Christmas food bonuses.

The government replied that the Socialists had left such a mess there was no other course. One Conservative member said the country had averted financial catastrophe under the Labor government by only a "hair's-breadth."

The Socialists under former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, awarded the Order of Merit during the year appeared generally to be biding their time in opposition. Although defeated in the October election, they had polled more votes than any other single party. Some supporters expressed hope their enforced absence from office would provide a breathing space in which to work out political theories replacing those which time and experience of political power had shown to be unworkable or inefficient.

Decisive Events

There were two other decisive events for British Socialism in 1951. One was the death April 14 of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who rose from obscurity to become one of Labor's great personalities. The other, which roughly coincided with Bevin's death, was the open schism within the party following the resignation of Aneurin (Nye) Bevan and two other ministers, Harold Wilson and John Freeman.

The three resigned in protest against the size of Britain's £4,700,000,000 three-year arms budget, which they said was too big.

They became a focus for Labor's traditionally-restive left-wing members, with possibly fateful consequences for the party. Some forecast Bevan as a future Labor Prime Minister but at year's end the moderate right-wing leaders, such as Attlee and Herbert Morrison, still were in command.

Highway Engineers Try Building Rubber Roads

By BOB McHUGH

BALTIMORE, Dec. 24—(AP)—The ribbons of concrete that carry traffic from coast to coast may some day turn into rubber bands.

Highway engineers in at least 13 states and some parts of Canada are keeping a critical eye on experimental strips of "rubber roads."

A 2,000-foot stretch of test road was laid 15 months ago in Baltimore. Today the highway engineer's office terms the rubber-asphalt road the "best we've got."

Supporters of the rubber-and-asphalt mix claim such roads provide a surface that is smoother and more resistant to skidding. They contend that because of elasticity, rubber roads resist the destructive expansion and contraction brought on by temperature changes.

Deputy Engineer William L. Chilcoate said the test road was constructed in this fashion.

The entire strip was laid out over a section of old pavement that had a concrete base with brick surfacing.

The road was levelled with asphaltic-concrete binder, and another course of binder was placed over the entire road to an approximate depth of one inch.

Sections of standard sheet asphalt pavement topping were poured at either end of the test strip to provide a comparison under identical traffic conditions.

Between those strips the rubber mix topping was laid. The proportion of rubber used was 5½ per cent to the weight of asphaltic cement required.

Laboratory tests are to be conducted each year to determine the hardness and elasticity of each piece of the test strip.

Chilcoate says a rubber road replacing a standard asphalt road with a life span of 20 years would have to last about 25 years to be economically desirable.

He puts the construction cost of rubber mix roads at 21 pe. cent higher than the standard asphalt variety.

Wandering Old Lady Hailed As Santa Claus In Italy

Santa Claus doesn't visit children in Italy. It isn't because they are all naughty, but because there is no Santa Clause—in Italy.

No one runs down to a well-decorated tree on Christmas morning to look for presents. Brighty colored flowers decorate the room instead of Christmas trees, and presents are not exchanged until January 6.

On that night, an old, old lady, La Befana, walks from house to house and leaves a present beside each little child she visits.

Exactly 1,940 years ago, according to the Italian legend, La Befana was very busy sweeping her kitchen when several men dressed like kings stopped in front of her cottage. They asked her where Bethlehem was, but she had never heard of it.

The men told her about a baby which had been born in Bethlehem, and mentioned a star which had been guiding them. The old lady wished she could accompany them when they left her in search of the infant Jesus.

But La Befana stayed home. It was getting too dark out, and besides, the baby could wait until tomorrow. Later that night she noticed the sky quivering with light. The clouds seemed to take the form of angels. All thought of sleep left her. Rising, she carefully wrapped two gifts for the Holy Baby, then ran out into the night in the direction the kings had gone.

Fast as she hurried, she had not reached Bethlehem when the star disappeared and dawn filled the sky. She frantically asked the way to Bethlethem, but no one could tell her.

And so La Befana has constantly traveled since that day, searching for the Christ Child. On the Epiphany, 12 days after Christmas, she goes from house to house, looking into the faces of babies. With each she leaves a gift, hoping that at last she will give her presents to the right child.

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER greets Prime Minister Winston Churhchill on the latter's arrival at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe near Paris. Gen. We are against tyranny and aggression in any form and in whatever form it is cloaked."

Wants To Use Hope, Crosby In New Film

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 24 (AP)—When "Guys and Dolls" hits the screen, you may see Bob Hope and Bing Crosby as Nathan Detroit and Sky Masterson, the Runyonesque gamblers.

That's the word from Paul Jones, one of the movies' top comedy makers. Jones made three of the successful Crosby-Hope "road" pictures. He's just finished Hope's latest, "My Favorite Spy".

With that boxoffice background, Jones is urging Paramount to buy the Broadway stage success.

He's going to New York soon to take another look at the show. He's already seen the touring company with Julie Oshins and Allan Jones in the gambler roles.

The veteran producer admits he's prejudiced in favor of Bing and Bob.

"Hope, desipite his antics before an audience or on the screen, is really a man of dignity, the greatest gentleman among all the comics."

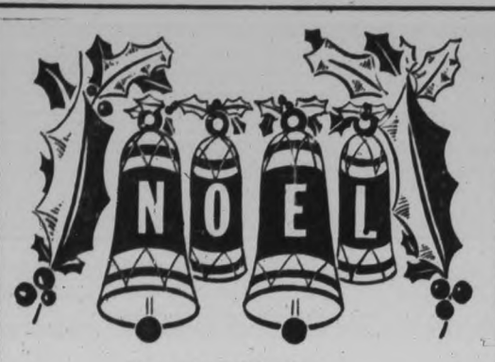
Of Crosby, Jones credits him with one of the happiest Christmases the Jones family ever had. Some years ago when Crosby produced a picture himself (The Great John L.), Jones helped edit and cut it. The work was purely the act of a friend helping another.

Didn't Forget

"I'd forgotten about it," recalls Jones, "but Bing hadn't. My wife and daughter and I were sitting around the house Christmas eve by ourselves, perhaps feeling a little lonely.

"Then I heard Bing singing 'Silent Night' with the four boys helping. There he was out in front of the house. He had brought me a watch in appreciation for the little help I had given him.

"It was a happy Christmas for us—and for the whole neighborhood which turned out for the show.



"After all, how many neighborhoods get such fancy Christmas caroling?"

Rising Import Costs Big British Problem

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 24—(CP)—The problem of providing western-style standards of living for a crowded population on two tiny islands dominated Britain's economic life in 1951 for the third time in six post-war years.

In 1950, Britain succeeded in paying her way in the world for the first time in decades. In 1951, the terms of trade turned against her and the word "crisis" found its way back into the financial vocabulary.

The adverse trend began to appear in the spring. Hugh Gaitskell, then chancellor of the exchequer, described the rise in import prices as one of the greatest in history. By election time, in October, the gap in the balance of payments had become a crucial political as well as economic factor.

Realized Importance

Although the crisis was not often mentioned in the electioneering speeches, most politicians accepted its importance. Oliver Lyttelton, who became colonial minister in the new Conservative government returned after the Oct. 25 election, said the ordinary man wouldn't know there was anything wrong until his children were crying around the breakfast table. Financial and trade journals talked of impending catastrophe.

What were the surface signs of Britain's difficulties? In October alone, the dollar deficit totalled $320,000,000. This was more than half the drain in the third quarter of 1951 and thus showed vividly how quickly the vital gold and dollar reserves were declining.

At the same time, the country's deficit with the European Payments Union—an organization formed after the Second World War to promote trade among Britain and continental countries—reached the high figure of £89,000,000 in October. The deficit in the third quarter was £183,000,000.

When the Conservatives came to power, Prime Minister Winston Churchill summed up the problem:

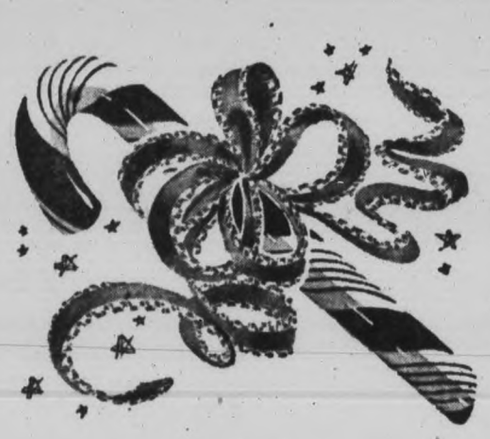
"Fifty million people now are crowded in our small island which produces food for only three-fifths of them and we have to earn the rest by exporting mainly manufactures overseas for which we must, first, import the raw materials.

"No community, enjoying such a high level of civilization, has ever been so economically precariously poised and with an ever larger and more formidable world growing up around us. Very soon severe competition from Germany and Japan must be expected in our export markets and all our united strength will be needed to maintain standards at home and our rank among the nations."

Economic diagnosticians largely blamed Britain's plight on the old enemy, inflation. They said the country's economy was overloaded, stretched too tautly, trying to do too much. As the year ended a fresh round of wage increases in industry threatened to accentuate home demand at the peril of vital exports for abroad. For the second year running, Britain was forced to import from a dollar country her most abundant resource—coal.

"First-Aid" Steps

Emergency measures announced by the Conservative government in November included a billion-dollar reduction in overseas buying, an increase in the bank rate designed to make borrowing harder, a curtailment of new building and strategic stockpiling and reduction by half of the £100 allowance for foreign travel.



But these were admitted to be merely "first-aid" measures, taken while the Churchill government plotted long-term moves to put the country back on its feet. Among these will be a new tax on excess profits and new drive for increased production by British industry. In December, industry's dollar exports council was extended and strengthened in a revived bid to step up sales in Canad and the United States.

Discussions continued into 1952 on the amount of financial aid Britain would receive from the United States. The negotiations coincided with reports that the United Kingdom was one of the few signatories to the Atlantic Pact which was doing all she could for the common defence.

The future of the iron and steel industry—nationalized by the Labor government—remained uncertain under the new Conservative administration. It was generally felt the Tories would seek some compromise enabling elements of private enterprise to be reintroduced into the industry.

Doctors Make Progress In Sclerosis Treatment

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (AP) The disease that short-circuits human nerves is losing its tag of hopeless.

The disease is multiple sclerosis. It destroys the insulation around human nerves and causes paralysis; or weakness if only part of the nerve signals are lost.

The trouble may hit the legs, arms, eyes, bladder, or muscular co-ordination. Some people have only one or two short-circuit effects. Usually the disease keeps progressing, hitting new spots.

It's as cruel as polio. It usually hits between the ages of 20 and 45. People in prime of life often become crippled, lose their jobs, become invalids.

Usually it proceeds mildly and slowly. The first signs might be just a slight dragging of the leg, or double vision. The disease runs up and down, getting better, then worse. Periods of improvement may last for years or only weeks.

Considered Hopeless

Five years ago multiple sclerosis, nicknamed MS was considered hopeless with death likely in a few years. No one knew how many people were affected; almost nothing was being done for them.

Then a handful of men and women, including some doctors, decided to war on MS.

Five years' work by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society has changed the picture.

Seven clinics have been set up for patients. Some 19,000 person joined the society. Nearly $450,000 has been spent on earmarked for research, to find the causes better treatments.

The number of victims still isn't actually known, but is estimated at about 250,000 men and women. It hits both sexes about equally.

Stricken people live much longer than believed, surveys show. The average life expectancy for MS patients is not much less than that of the general population.

The nerve disease itself doesn't kill directly. Deaths may follow complications or infections.

Cause Not Known

Cause of the disease still isn't known; there are only theories.

One is that it's due to the strangest of all allergies—that maybe people become allergic to their own brain tissue, to something in the insulating sheath around their nerves. This sheath is known as Myelin.

Climate may supply a clue, for the disease is more common in the north than south. The MS rate is 3½ times higher in Winnipeg, than in New Orleans.

The Wise Men of The East

CHRISTMAS, the time of "The Star of Bethlehem," birth of the Christ Child and the long-ago search of the Wise Men that ended in a Bethlehem manger and brought new hope to a world even then weary, should be accepted as the miracle that it was, rather than try and analyze it in the technical knowledge acquired in the present.

Always of interest, though, has been the appearance and following of the Star by the Three Wise Men or as some writers term them the Magi.

Biblical dictionaries and encyclopaedic works can seem to assure themselves definitely of the origin of the eastern sages who folowed the heavenly beacon with rich gifts of frankincense and myrrh. They are, generally referred to, as an offshoot of the Median priests and eastern astrologers.

The word Magi means august or reverend and was originally applied to a priestly caste that flourished under the Persian empire, where they were regarded not only as keepers of sacred things, but diviners, augurs and astrologers. They carried great influence in court and were placed in charge of the education of the young royal princes.

Zoroaster's Reforms

Zoroaster, religious zealot and reformer of ancient Persia, reorganized the magi and in place of a life he termed "too luxurious," inaugurated a rigorous monastic life that was divided into three classes. The herbeds, or disciples; mobeds, the masters, and the destur mobeds, or complete masters. Thus from the time of Zoroaster the life of the Magi became somewhat of a tribulation, simple and severe.

Their chief food was flour bread and vegetables. They wore white garments, slept on the ground, and practised rigorous self-discipline. Religious writers say the initiation into the Magi consisted of awful and mysterious ceremonies preceded by months of purification.

Influence of the Magi, which was all-powerful during the reign of the Sassanian Kings of Persia, began to wane and they gradually fell from positions of high caste and became wandering jugglers, fortune tellers and conjurers, giving their name to feats of itinerant magic.

The Three Kings

According to Scriptural writings, the particular three who followed the star were named Kaspar, Melchior, and Balthasar.

Dictionary of the Bible sticks to the theory that "astronomical reasons" rather than hope of finding a Saviour prompted the three to follow the brilliant planet which hovered over the lowly stable bed.

Storehouses Razed In Sarnia Blaze

SARNIA, Dec. 24— (CP) — Four flat car loads of charred and twisted rubble was all that remained today of a Canadian National Railways store house and office building that burned to the ground Saturday night.

N. A. Walford, general superintendent, said it was impossible as yet to make any accurate appraisal of damage.

The fire in the two-storey frame building was first noticed shortly after 8 pm. Smoke and flames filled the structure when firefighters of the Sarnia department arrived a few minutes later.

Despite near-zero temperatures fie fighters battled the blaze in an inferno of heat as the tinder-dry framework of the building collapsed.

WINDSOR, Dec. 24 (CP) — A 19-year-old Windsor youth, Jacques G. Desrosiers, is in police custody after allegedly walking into St. Michael's Catholic Church Saturday and starting out with $317 in church funds stored in a rear room.

WINDSOR, Dec. 24 (CP) — Three armed, masked men escaped Saturday night with $1,250 from the till of a Windsor food market and another masked bandit took $290 from a Windsor merchant as he was returning home from his confectionery store.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

TELEGRAMS

The local telegraph offices will be open on Christmas Day from nine till 10 in the morning and from five till six in the evening, the same as on Sundays and other holidays.

SNOW PLOW VANISHES

The CPR snow plow has been stirred into action. From the Raybestos siding, a shunting engine hauled it away to the main line, and presumably it has been battling along the deeper snow front since Friday evening.

WON MINK COAT

Winner of the $2 400 mink coat offered in aid of the Minden Rink Fund is Miss Marion Downey, of Bracebridge. The draw was made on Friday night and the proceeds go to help rebuild the Minden rink which collapsed in the heavy snowfall early in December.

PHONING TO GERMANY

Heribert Michel, organist and choir master at Sacret Heart Church, has a treat in store for him today. Arrangements have been made for him to contact his parents and family by telephone in Steinweisen, Germany.

SCORES TWO

George (Red) Sullivan, Peterborough's only player in the National Hockey League, celebrated Christmas weekend by scoring two goals for Boston Bruins. Both were tallied at the expense of Toronto Maple Leafs as Boston divided two games.

HUNTER STREET ILLUSION

From the higher ground at the corner of Rubidge St., the Christmas lights strung along Hunter St. gave the appearance of being radiant inlays of red and green in uniform pattern all the way to the bridge and its turn.

STAFF PARTY

City hall staff moved into the larger quarters of the board room at the city hall for their Christmast party this afternoon. The work was shortened for this occasion. Assessment department were hosts.

LATER ELECTIONS

Municipal nominations at Norwood are called for Friday, Dec. 28 between 7:30 and 8:30 pm; and for Asphodel township on Monday, Dec. 31 at 1 pm at Westwood. Election day in both municipalities is Monday, Jan. 7.

AFTER FOOD INDUSTRY

Belleville is reported to have offered Canada Bread Co. a site for one dollar. Port Hope is also after this food industry. It has been intimated that the company prefers to come to Peterborough, if the site they are interested in can be obtained. That was the last news on this prospect which is estimated as a $500,000 manufacturing plant. Nothing has developed since then.

CHRISTMAS DINNER ON HILL

People serving time in the county jail will enjoy a change in menu Tuesday when a special Christmas meal of roast pork with side dishes will be served. The dinner will be topped off with a hot piece of mincemeat pie. Other treats such as candy and oranges will be distributed to the inmates.

ALD. GRAHAM'S PARTY

Employees of the sanitation department declare that their party Friday night at the Legion Hall was just about the season's best. It was Ald. Graham's recognition of the work of the men of the department of which he has been chairman this year. Everything went along pleasantly. The men of Lawrence Salvage Co., also shared in it and the arranging of it. "It was really a fine gesture," one of the city staff said.

TO WOODS NEARBY

Some factory workers who had traded a Saturday at work for today's holiday laced up long boots and took off to the country today with guns. Possibly they were after foxes or rabbits, or both. Before the skis relegated them to disuse, snowshoes were the means of getting through the drifts along the south side of a woods on a sunny day like this eve of Christmas.

UP TO ITS KNEES in a white Christmas this year, the city presents many beautiful sights. All you have to do is look out your front window to see some of them.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Drivers Wary, Few Accidents On City Streets

Car drivers drove cautiously on slippery snow-covered streets during the pre-Christmas weekend and no serious accidents occurred in the city.

After his car went out of control on Park Street, early Sunday morning and crashed into a hydro pole John Buchan, 31, 756 Young St., was charged with careless driving.

Buchan told police he was going south on Park St., and lost control of the vehicle near Wolf St. After weaving from side to side, the car spun around at Townsend St., ploughed through a three-foot snow bank on the west side of Park St., and ended up against a hydro pole.

Parking Troubles.

Difficulty in getting cars in and out of parking places on downtown streets in Saturday's heavy traffic accounted for a flock of minor accidents.

Ten were reported, all resulting in less than $50 damage to the cars involved. The traffic tie-ups which followed these minor collisions were usually more serious than the accidents.

As a a result traffic police were kept busy keeping traffic moving and investigating complaints about cars blocking driveways and cars parked on streets where Works Department men were removing snow.

A steady line of cars crawled up Water St., Saturday afternoon. Snow piled on both sides of the street and cars parked bumper to bumper left hardly enough room for north and southbound cars to pass safely.

Drivers unwilling to risk a collision on account of the slippery street surface stopped when meeting oncoming traffic rather than take a chance on being involved in an accident.

The result was two lines of cars moving slowly in both directions mots of the afternoon.

Gold Strike

While dressing a turkey in his kitchen Saturday night, Bert Hamilton, 443 Park St., found two gold teeth in its crop. The problem that now faces Mr. Hamilton is to decide whether they are really gold nuggets that just look like teeth and what to do about it they are. If he could trace where the bird did its foraging, he might make a gold strike.

Wife Gets Christmas Gift She Wanted From Hubby With Assist From Neighbour

"Oh, just what I wanted!"

Those are cheering words for a worried husband to hear Christmas morning when his wife opens the present he had under the tree for her.

And he is likely to win such favor if he has a wife as smart as one Peterborough woman. She knew that her spouse, a good husband, but a very poor shopper, was trying desperately and vainly to think of something to give her.

She knew what she wanted but she didn't want to just come out and tell him. So she did what probably many wives have done before her. She phoned a neighbour and asked her if she would phone her husband and tell him that she just happened to hear the wife mention something she would like to have. The neighbour phoned and relayed the suggestion. If he wanted an idea of something to give his wife, maybe that would be an idea. The poor desperate man seized the suggestion with both hands and will be mighty pleased with himself when he hears his wife say "Oh, darling, just what I wanted."

Mail Through Post Office Tops 1 Million, Sets Record

The Christmas rush of cards and letters through the channels at the Peterborough post office set an official record for the second time last week when on Friday the count rose above the 1,000,000-mark for the first time. The first several days of the rush, December 12-13 indicated that the flow would be heavier this year and all the employees felt that the 1,000,000 would be reached. In recent years the cards and letters have increased an average of 40,000 a year.

Last year the 14-day total came within 26,000 of the record, but several slow days, December 23-24, failed to allow the count to go higher.

The 1,000,000 record was the second during the week. On Thursday the first was set when for the fourth day the daily mail was more than 100,000 cards and letters. The four days brought the total for the 12 days to 956,000 cards and letters.

Volume Drops

The mail dropped off sharply on Friday but was heavy enough 47,300, to set the flow over the 1,000,000 mark. Saturday and Sunday saw the incoming and outgoing mail through the cancellation machine drop again for the second and third times but sent the rush total higher to 195.

Today the sorting racks are bare but the postmen are still behind in delivering the load. The extra help that last week was sorting the cards and letters is today assisting the carriers to clear the boards.

The home delivery of parcels, now at the armouries sub-office, was stepped up today when five trucks were rushing about the snowy streets with last-minute deliveries. There, as in the letter-cards delivery, there is a slight backlog which is expected to be cleaned up today.

Postmaster Harry White said he would not guarantee that today's parcels, arriving throughout the day, could be delivered in time for Christmas.

The parcels this year were also more than usual as almost 5,000 alone have been sent to Peterborough homes. A similar total have been handled at the post office for other centres.

Yule Market Abustle With Shoppers

Shoppers flocked to the Market Hall Saturday morning with turkeys, geese, ducks and chickens uppermost in their minds.

Chickens were second in demand behind turkeys, but the market also offered everything from apples to knitted goods (sweaters and socks) artificial flowers and home-made candy.

Christmas cakes were on sale at $1.25 a piece.

Turkeys were selling for 49 to 75 cents a pound. Chickens ranged from 75 cents for spring chickens to 50 cents for year olds.

Russets, Baxters, MacIntosh, and Courtlands were available on the apple market. Prices ranged from 50 cents a six-quart basket for Baxters and Russets to 65 cents for MacIntosh and Courtlands.

Carrots were selling for 40 cents a six-quart basket; beets, 40 cents, and parsnips 45 cents.

Even Blueberries

Eggs were selling for 45 and 50 cents. And a quart box of blueberries could be purchased for 50 cents.

Right inside the front door one lad was offering two puppies, part collie and part police dog, for $3.00 each.

Few shoppers braved the morning's 11 above temperature to shop at the market square on George St. Approximately 50 people, vendors included, were on hand at 10 am.

Turkeys were the main feature here too. Chickens, apples, eggs and a few vegetables were also for sale.

Pork could be purchased with 35 cents a pound asked for the front quarters and 39 cents for the hind quarters.

Whale Hits Whaler

FREEMANTLE, Australia, Dec. 24—(Reuters) — The Japanese Antarctic whaler Seki Maru limped into harbor Sunday for repairs to her propeller, damaged 10 days ago when she hit a whale.

Bishop Berry To Wear New Dutch Vestments

New vestments recently received from Holland will be worn for the first time by Most Rev. Gerald Berry and the five priests assisting him in the celebration of Pontifical High Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral tonight beginning at midnight.

They are described as excellent products of a family of expert needleworkers in the city of Utrecht. This family conducts separate shops for the manufacture of fine porcelain and metal work, but the needlecraft is carried on under the direction of the wife and mother in her own modern studio in the centre of Utrecht.

When Bishop Berry was on his way home from Rome about two years ago he visited this family and ordered the vestments for the cathedral parish of St. Peter in Chains.

The miraculous release of St. Peter from prison by an angel, as depicted in the titular picture over the main altar at the cathedral, is represented in needlework on that chasuable which will be worn by Bishop Berry the new vestments were received in time for the celebration at the cathedral of the nativity of Jesus Christ.

Candidate Wants Record Straight

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 24 — (ENS) — William Nicholas who lost out in a bid for deputy-reeve in the election of Dec. 3, said today he had asked for a recount not because he thought he had won, but because he wanted to establish the correct majority on the record.

He said he has reason to believe Orcar Mason, former deputy-reeve, who won again, did not have as much a majority as the 41 votes that is now on the records.

The recount is scheduled for Jan. 3.

Trains, Buses Late; People Head Home

Unloading Mail Slows Trains Held Up In Toronto

All passenger trains are running late, due to the pre-Christmas rush of mail and express.

Railroad officials explain that it often takes an hour to load and unload express and mail at normal ten-minute stops. This, coupled with increasingly heavy passenger traffic, threw schedules off time all along the line.

Trains from Toronto are late in leaving the Union Station there, being held up to make connections with incoming trains from the east and west which are also running behind schedule.

Today, passengers waiting for the CNR Belleville-Toronto local, due at 7.13, had more than two hours to wait. It was 9.20 before it pulled into the station.

Monday morning, both the 1.35 train from Toronto and the 4.50 from Ottawa were about half an hour late in arriving.

Two Hours Behind

This was a big improvement over Friday and Saturday when peak passenger, mail and express loads resulted in all trains running from one to two hours behind schedule.

Saturday, the 5 o'clock CPR train to Toronto was half an hour late and was in two sections. The first section was made up in Havelock and most passengers passed up the older style coaches of the first section, taking a chance on getting a seat on the more modern train travelling behind.

It is expected that passenger travel which slumped somewhat Sunday compared with Friday and Saturday, will pick up considerably today, particularly toward night, as store-workers and others who are working today head for out-of-town points. It is likely that the early morning local from Belleville which arrived two hours late will be an indication of how trains will be running all day.

Colonial Coach Lines reported traffic "fairly heavy" over the weekend with all buses arriving from 15 minutes to a half hour late.

The midnight train from Toronto dumped 320 bags of parcels off at the station Sunday night. It was all western stuff, and from both sides of the border, funnelling into Toronto for distribution throughout the east.

That late deposit was more than the postal staff had anticipated in their calculations of the volume of mail business still remaining.

"That was only one train," J. P. Legros commented.

The nineteen bags of letters were milled into their slots for local distribution, but the heap of parcels may not be down to the final item or two until maybe 7 o'clock tonight.

LACHLIN MacKAY, who would have been 102 on Jan. 1, died Sunday in hospital. He was Peterborough's oldest citizen, having lived in the city about 38 years.

City's Oldest Citizen Dies Lachlin MacKay Nearly 102

Peterborough's oldest citizen, Lachlin MacKay, 335 Sherbrooke St., died Sunday morning in hospital just eight days before he would have been 102 years of age on Jan. 1. Mr. MacKay was born the same day Peterborough became an incorporated municipality. Two years ago he reached one of his greatest ambitions to live to be 100 and on the day said "I can hardly believe myself I'm 100."

Never Sick.

In all his 102 years he had never been sick a day in his life until four days before he went to hospital. Even at his advanced age he still had the steady strong grip that he had developed in his years as a blacksmith. When he was more than 100 he still got about and walked downtown to visit old friends.

Thanked Citizens.

He referred to the city as "Peterborough the good," because it had always been extremely considerate and generous to him ever since he came here with his wife about 38 years ago. Mrs. Mackay died at the age of 94 nine years ago.

Mr. Mackay met her in his home when she came there from Frankfort, Germany. About a year later the only English word she knew was "yes," but that was enough. They married. She soon learned to speak English with a Scottish flavor.

For years they lived in Scotland where Mr. Mackay worked as a blacksmith in a locomotive factory that turned out engines for the Rocky Mountain run.

Came To City.

When they came to Canada and Peterborough at the urging of their sons who had already made the crossing, Mr. Mackay worked in several plants in Peterborough before he retired at the age of 75.

The old couple lived in their own home refusing to move in with any of their children until Mrs. Mackay died.

Violinist.

Kay was an enthusiastic violinist and gave lessons. Three or ist and gave lessions. Three or four years ago he had to give up playing.

Mr. Mackay had 23 grandchildren, 28 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. A. Thompson (Margaret), and Mrs. L. Todd (Marie), both of Peterborough and three sons, Karl and John MacKay of Peterborough and Arthur of Detroit.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Nisbett Funeral Home. The Rev. J. H. Blackwood of the Assembly Gospel Hall will officiate. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Rev. Henry Cotton To Address Masons

Rev. Henry Cotton minister of St. Andrew's United Church will be the speaker this year at the annual banquet of the Festival of St. John the Baptist celebrated by the masons of Peterborough on Thursday. Previous to the dinner the officers of Corinthian and Peterborough lodges will be installed in the Masonic Temple. The installation ceremony is expected to be the last one performed in the old temple as sometime in 1952 the new temple in the Hamilton property on Reid St. is expected to be opened.

Car Hits Train 2 Escape Injury

COBOURG, Dec. 24 (ENS)—A CPR freight train almost demolished an automobile late Saturday night when the car ran into the side of the train. Nobody was hurt.

The driver of the automobile, Jack Stewart of 39 Humberside Ave., Toronto, was proceeding east and told police that he did not see the train until it was too late for him to stop. Passenger in the car was John Plunder, RCAF, Trenton, whose home is at 49 Florence Crescent, Toronto. Provincial Constable Vic Piper investigated.

God Bless All
Tired Folk Tonight

God bless all tired folk tonight
And give them dreamless sleep;
God bless all lonely, anxious folk
Who in the darkness weep.

God bless all little children though
They harass us by day;
And old folk, too, and careless folk
Who never kneel to pray.

God bless all those who try and fail,
And all who suffer pain;
God bless all those away from home,
And bring them back again.

God bless all honest, patient folk
In cottage and in hall;
And as we need His love and care,
God bless us one and all.

Jealousy Caused Daughter To Accept Mother's Suitor

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I had a miserable life with my former husband — am now divorced five years. Have a daughter 14 who is with me. I have been keeping company with one man for over two years. There has been no talk of marriage yet, but I do believe there will be. My daughter refuses to speak to Tom (my friend) and completely ignores him. Has no excuse but I think it is jealousy. I know the man will be a good husband for me and an excellent provider. We are both 35. I love my child and want to do right by her but I love Tom, too.

J. C. D.

ANSWER: Your daughter's trouble undoubtedly is jealousy; for the past five years she has become used to the idea of complete unity between you both. The idea of having her way of life upset is naturally abhorrent. If you are sincerely convinced that Tom will be a good father to her, and a good husband for you, you must set about assuring your child that her own best interests coincide with yours.

Be Frank With Her

First, discuss with her, frankly, the issues that led to your divorce, the reasons why the marriage had to be dissolved. Make her understand in what ways the second marriage will be to her advantage. At the moment she is obsessed with the idea of keeping you to herself; in a few years—or less—she will become interested in dating and nothing will then be less to her liking than a mother who is, in turn, dependent upon her for companionship. Remind her you are as deserving of happiness now as she will be in a few short years.

Youth can be very stubborn but is also surprisingly amenable to reason upon presentation of a just cause.

By withholding your confidence from the child, and keeping her ignorant of the facts pertaining to your former marriage, you have done her an injustice. At 14 she is entitled to share your problems. An awakening to the problems of adulthood, an era she is fast approaching, will undoubtedly convince the girl that her interests, as well as yours, will best be served by a happy remarriage for you.

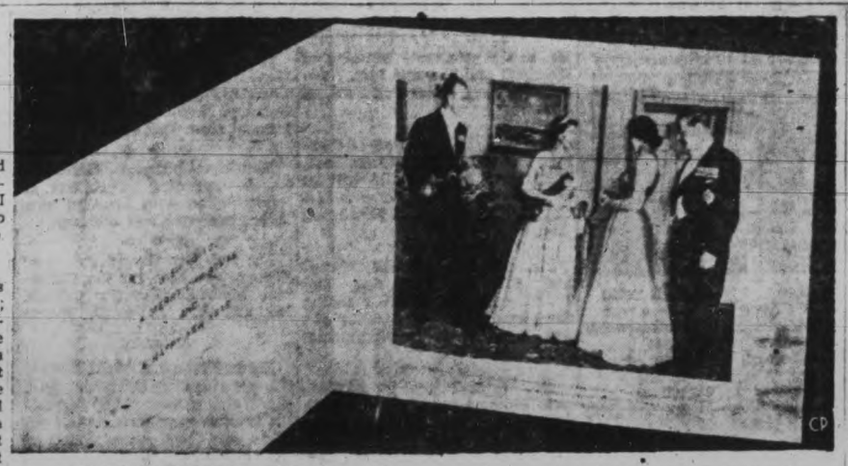
DEAR MISS DIX: A young man has asked me a question, and I don't know what to tell him. We have been going steady for about eight months and he thinks a lot of my father and mother. He wants to give them a Christmas present. Do you think he should?

ADELE



ANSWER: Your friend is very considerate to think of your parents this way. A Christmas gift from him will be a gracious gesture, particularly if he has been entertained at your home during the months you have gone together. The gifts should be simple; candy, flowers or a book always being welcome choices.

DEAR MISS DIX: During high school I kept company off and on with a boy my own age. He has been away from town for several months and in the meantime I met and became engaged to another boy. I am still uncertain as to which I prefer.

MARCIA

ANSWER: Where there is indecision in the choice of a mate, it is better to postpone the engagement and marriage rather than to rush into something you will regret later on. To marry one man while there is still a yearning spark for another is eminently unfair to your husband. Take time out to consider, Marcia, before you take a rash step.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Making Welcome Genuine Prepare For "Second Mile"

Have I your permission today—Christmas Eve—to step a little way out of my role of cook, and instead of trying to entice you to strive to be ever better cooks, have a friendly one-sided chat on entertaining your friends and putting your heart in it?—whether the food be biscuits or ambrosia.

Guests sense whether the welcome is genuine or not. Christmas is the ideal time to go "the second mile". Everybody in the family should go along to meet the out-of-town guests at the depot, or rush to the curb when a carful drives up in front of your house. Don't be an arm-chair receptionist.

At this time of year we forget completely the cynic who mutters into his overworked mouldy old beard, "They wouldn't come unless the food was better here than in their own house." Forget that tiring old line.

They come because they love you and you love them and both of you crave some top quality sociability.

These are the occasions you have been slaving all month for—over the cookies and cakes you have been making by the millions (if your letters are any guide).

So be quick to snap on the kettle and start passing those cookies—don't let the first part of a visit lag. Start some fun at once so that the entire visit is exciting.

The gal who wrote the following paragraph in a letter to me has the idea:

"Again I am coming to you for help. This time instead of ice cream recipes for Labor Day weekend guests I'd like to have some menu that would be dainty and 'different' when some friends come in unexpectedly for lunch and I am rushed for time . . "

I think I have the ideal little gem of a meal for her. Most of us can have or have all the required supplies on hand most of the time.

Lobster Newburg on Toasted Crackers or Toast Triangles
Stuffed Celery Sticks
Dills Carrot Slivers
Apricots on Blanc Mange
Swedish Cookies Tea

This little meal was served to me—out of two cans of lobster I had brought to my hostess when I came back from Halifax. She was thoughtful in producing something just perfect for the occasion from something I had given her months before. It was a pleasant experience all round.

Lobster Newburg

Two ½-pound cans lobster, 1 cup cream or 1 can evaporated milk and ¼ cup water, 2 beaten egg yolks, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, paprika. In top of double boiler put the coarsely broken up lobster (from which you have removed the flat bones) and 3 tablespoons of the butter and heat over boiling water. Stir the flour into the other tablespoon of butter in another small saucepan and when mixed stir the cream into them until thick. As soon as it boils remove from heat and pour over the beaten yolks. Quickly add the hot lobster, butter and seasonings, stir and serve at once. Do not reheat—it might curdle.

Superior Blanc Mange

In top of double boiler heat 2 cups milk. Mix together ¼ cup milk, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespons sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt; stir slowly into hot milk until thick. Cover and cook 30 minutes over boiling water, stirring every 10 minutes. Remove from heat and add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Chill in serving glasses; serve generously covered with canned apricots.

If we all remember Whose birthday it is we are celebrating we can't fail to have a MERRY CHRISTMAS.

The Home and School Association took the form of a Christmas party in the public school on Wednesday evening. Mrs. R. Frost president, occupied the chair and there was a good attendance of parents.

The meeting was closed with the National Anthem. Refreshments were served.

Plushiest Mode Seen In Years For This Holiday

NEW YORK—Holiday wardrobe of the girl who can take her pick may be pastel, bright red or white but she will almost certainly have sequins on her petticoats, gold embroidery on her skirt pockets and pearls on her cocktail dress collar. These little touches make the clothes this Christmas the "plushiest" in years.

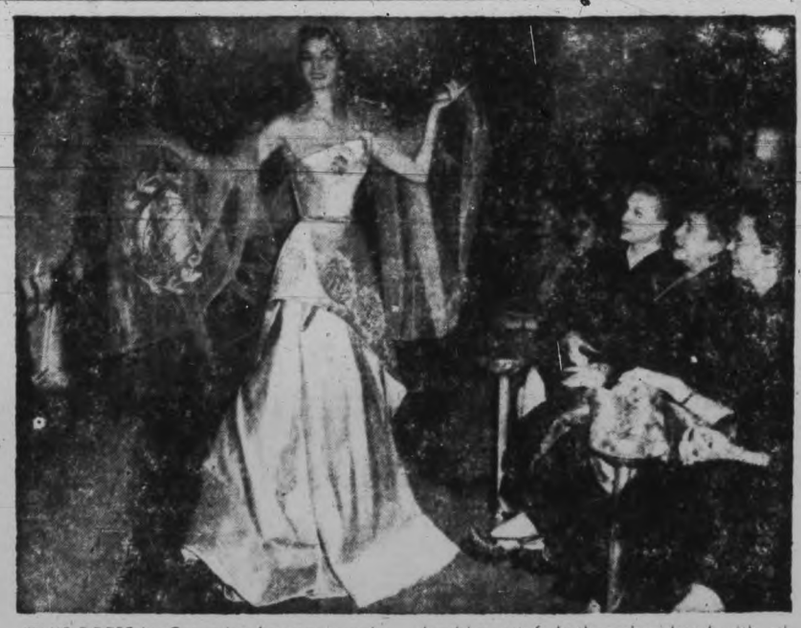
"Elegant fabrics" said one designer when asked the outstanding feature of her holiday line. One of her party costumes is a low-cut white imported silk faille dress with gold and pearl embroidery on the skirt pockets, worn under a white wool coat with the same embroidery on the collar.

"Lavish use of yardage" answered another to the same holiday question "Intricately cut full skirts and embroidered scarves are also important."

Tissue-weight taffeta, in shirtwaist versions with beaded collars and in bare-topped dresses with wide skirts gathered from dropped waistlines, are favorites of the teenage holiday partygoers.

New Look For Snuggies

With all of this emphasis on airy fabrics, someone was bound to come up with a solution for avoiding Christmas chillblains. So the snuggies have been given a new look, decorated with elaborate sequin designs, and put out in colors like deep purple and turquoise.



Even red flannel petticoats got a Yuletide touch with black lace ruffles at the bottom and a sequin heart at one side.

Warm Sweater Tops

Holiday separates give a girl a chance to keep warm, too, since sweater tops, sung-fitting and high-necked, are shown with cocktail hour skirts of satin, taffeta and velvet. To cover bare arms, since many of the knitted or wood jersey tops are sleeveless, there are lacy black wool stoles with jet black bangles or gold-embroidered white wool stoles.

Prices Chill

Jewel-encrusted sweaters highly fashionable in low cut styles or as cold weather cardigans over bare date dresses, help solve the draft problem too, only the prices migh chill holiday spirits. One cashmere cardigan with a wide band of gold and pearl beads down the front opening sells for $80.

THIS DRESS by Germaine Lecomte made a big hit when it was shown to wives of U.N. delegates in Paris. Named "U.N.", it is of light blue silk with a matching shoulder scarf, both embroidered with silver U.N. emblems, and it's completed by a second light blue scarf bearing the colors of the various U.N. member nations.

A FAN OF PLEATS falls from the waistline of this ice blue afternoon dress in viscose rayon shantung.

Canada's Clauses Busy At Yuletide

TORONTO — (CP)—Sandra Clause is all confused because of Santa Claus.

About this time of the year members of her family are besieged by telephone calls from youngsters and oldsters alike.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clause of Hamilton say they annually get their share of the seasonal calls. So does their six-year-old daughter Sandra—more popularly known as Santa.

Then there's Mr. Clare Claus of suburban Weston. He moved outside the city where "it costs 10 cents to phone."

He recalls the partying folk who would call up "and ask if I knew where Rudolph the Red-Nosed was."

Then there's Lorne Claus of Toronto who helps keep the district youngsters in line by threatening to report them to his famous "relative".

The Lorne Clauses are believed by many youngsters to know where the reindeer are kept.

Garnish The Festive Bird

To some it may seem like gilding the proverbial lily to talk about garnishing the festive bird for Christmas. However, food can and should be attractively dressed to appeal to the eye as well as to the appetite. Whether turkey, goose, chicken or duck is the star on the menu, its appeal is even greater if it presents a colorful picture when placed on the table.

Listed below are some simple garnishes which add colour and eye appeal to a well roasted bird.

Pale green canned pear halves filled with cranberry or red currant jelly look attractive arranged around the platter on parsley lettuce or endive. To tint pears let them stand over night in their own syrup to which has been added a few drops of green food colouring. A drop or two of peppermint flavouring may be added to the syrup also if desired. Drain well before filling with jelly.

Mock holly is made with green pepper and cranberries. Cut ovals of green pepper about two inches long. Notch the sides to make them look like holly leaves. Slip three cranberries (glace cherries may be used instead) onto a tooth pick and attach a green pepper holly leaf to either end of the pick. Make sevral of these "holly sprigs" and arrange on or around the roasted bird.

Large carrots or beets may be cooked and hollowed out to form cases. The carrots will look like little boats. Fill with vegetables of contrasting colour and arrange around the platter. Carrots may be filled with peas and beets with corn. This decoration serves the dual purpose of garnish and vegetables.

Fresh parsley is always a simple and effective garnish. Tuck a few cranberries into the sprigs of green after they have been arranged around the platter.

Never overload a platter with garnishes as they then become a hazard for the carver. Speaking of carvers here is a note especially for them. To maintain the eye appeal, when edible decorations are used as garnishes place some on each plate as the bird is served.

Removing Wishbone Makes Carving The Fowl Easier

If the wishbone is removed from the turkey or chicken before the bird is stuffed, it will mean that extra, even slices of white meat may be carved from the breast. Normally the knife strikes the wishbone and hinders the carver from slicing those last few pices of white meat neatly.

To remove the wishbone pull the neck skin back over the breast exposing the wishbone which extends from each shoulder in a "V" to the top of the breast oone or keel. Loosen the bone from the meat with the fingers or knife and cut it where it is joined at the shoulders and keel and lift out. If the family insist on having the wishbone to wish on, dry it out in the open. Its magic properties, if any, will be unimpaired.

Carving The Festive Bird

Too often carving the festive bird is considered a chore. Probably this is because the man of the house has just "picked up" the technique. Like anything else we do, "know how" helps. While men seldom glance at cooking columns this is one time the wise homemaker will mark this particular one and leave it for friend husband to read.

Before we get into the actual directions for carving turkey there are one or two hints the homemaker can follow to help the carver. Always remove any trussing cords or skewers before placing the bird on the platter. Arrange garnishes around the bird in such a way that they will be easy to remove to a side dish or else if left on the platter not interfere with the carving. Use a hot platter of generous size. Place the bird in front of the carver with the neck to the left. Place a heated plate or small platter near at hand to hold the meat as it is cut. It is a thoughtful homemaker who sees to it that there is no water glass or other hazard near the carver which might cause embarrassing accidents.

Now for the essentials for successful carving.

Be sure the knife is sharp. A long thin bladed knife is best and the fork used should have a guard. To hold the bird firmly insert the fork half way along the breast on the side of the bird farthest from the carver and pointing toward the rear.

Steps In Carving

1. Remove leg by cutting through skin between body and thigh and around hip joint. Place on another plate and separate thigh and drumstick by cutting down through the joint.

2. Hold drumstick upright at a convenient angle and slice down to get uniform slices.

3. Hold thigh firmly against plate with fork and cut slices parallel to bone.

4. Make a deep cut through white meat parallel to the wing and as close to it as possible.

5. Remove wing by cutting through joint at shoulder. Divide wing into two sections for serving.

6. Slice white meat beginning at the front and starting halfway up the breast. Cut thin slices down to the parallel cut made previously, and the slices will fall away from the turkey. Continue carving until enough meat has been sliced for first servings. Each slice will have an edging of browned skin.

Remove individual servings of dressing from an opening cut into the side of the bird where the leg was removed.

Find Women Keen In Civil Defence

VANCOUVER, Dec. 24—(CP)—A woman member of Vancouver's Civil Defence Board has found that women are keenly interested in civil defence.

The only woman of the local board, Mrs. Ethel Stead, surveys all women's organizations in the city to determine how best they can fit into the defence set-up.

Ever since she was employed by the board, Mrs. Stead has been slipping unassumingly into a key position in the plan. She has a flair for organizing and plenty of experience to do an able job.

For seven years she was British Columbia president of the Independent Order, Daughters of the Empire, with 3,500 women under her direction. As treasurer of war savings stamp sales during the war she reaped more than $100,000 from 40 downtown buildings.

Besides the civil defence work, she is on the executive board of the Community Chest, educational secretary of the IODE, and executive member of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Not to mention active membership in other women's groups.

"Women are interested in civil defence. I've found," she says. "They are extremely keen on taking their place—and there will be a place for them in all phases of civil defence."

Chinese Couple Revive Maritimes Folk Dancing

LOCKEPORT, N.S., Dec. 24 (CP)—Community folk-dancing and square-dancing has been revived on Nova Scotia's south shore, thanks to a Chinese-born physical training instructor and his American wife.

James and Helen Chan came here last year from Springfield College, Mass., after Mr. Chan accepted the position of physical instructor for the elementary and rural school here.

Since then they have completely revived folk and square dancing.

James Chan, born in North Vancouver, later moved to Hong Kong. He returned to the United States and studied at several folk training institutions.

Has Sponsors

All their classes and dancing sessions here are sponsored by the local Home and School Association.

"Ours is a wonderful and rare opportunity to see the miracle of folk and square dancing as it brings parents and young people together, rekindle the glow of courting days for the older folks and make grandparents realize they are not as old as they thought," says Mrs. Chan.

"In an age when movies and radios keep the masses sitting and watching, instead fo participating, there is particular need for folk and square dancing."

When working as a team the Chans wear colorful folk costumes and Mr. Chan does the calling. They have a large collection of folk recordings and a complete amplification system for holding dances or giving instruction.

SPENT $13 MILLION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24 (AP)—The Red Cross estimated Sunday it spent more than $13,768,000 for assistance to 24,033 families in last July's floods in the midwest United States. More than $5,000,000 came from the public after a special appeal following the disaster. The Red Cross added $8,768,000 from its emergency funds.

THERE'S NOTHING QUITE so flattering as the dressmaker suit and Beatrice Pines uses a multi-color cotton print for one of great charm. The straps, in halter effect, hold a gathered top.

Plans Reunion At London Home

LONDON — (CP)—War-bride Lilian Stolzenberg, 27, who six years ago left her village home near London to join her husband in Nanaimo, BC, has returned to Britain—to be near her husband.

Lilian married husband George in 1942, when he was in the Canadian army. This spring Sgt. George joined up again and was posted to Germany.

Now Lilian and her two daughters, Georgie, 4, and Janice, 1, have returned to her mother's home in Britain in the hopes that husband George will be there for Christmas celebrations. Both the children were born in Nanaimo.

—Sadly missed and ever remembered by her daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter, Ida, Bill and Helen Whibbs.

MORROW—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Edwin E. Morrow, who passed away Dec. 24, 1948.
Though his smile has gone forever,
And his hand we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories
Of the one we loved so much.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughter Maxine.

NIGH—In loving memory of Honey, Mrs. Florence Nigh who passed away Dec. 25, 1950.
Your last parting wish
We would like to have heard;
And breathed in your ear
Our last parting word.
Only those who have lost
Are able to tell
The pain in the heart
At not saying farewell.
—Always remembered by Carol.

NIGH—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. Florence Nigh, who passed away Dec. 25, 1950.
She always watched for each of us,
Anxious if we were late,
In winter by the window,
In summer by the gate.
And though we teased her lovingly,
Who took such loving care,
The long road home would seem more safe
Because she waited there.
Her thoughts were all so full of us,
She never could forget,
And so we know that where she is,
She is waiting yet;
Watching till we come home to her,
Anxious if we are late,
Watching from the heavenly window
Leaning on the heavenly gate.
—Ever remembered by Elsie and Ruby.

NILL—In loving memory of William Arthur Nill, who passed away Dec. 25th, 1949.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by wife Lillian, and families Dan and Maurine, Audrie and Bruce.

WHITTINGTON—In loving memory of Sgt. J. H. Whittington, killed in action in Italy Dec. 24, 1943.
I often think I see his smiling face
As he bade his last good-bye,
And he left his home forever,
In a distant land to die.
—Ever remembered by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brother.

NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house

Not a prospect was stirring, not even a mouse.

A sign on the house we'd written with care

In hopes that buyer soon would be there.

The children were nestled
all snug in their beds,

That we'd to sell before New Year's was not in their heads.

And mamma in her 'kerchief and I in my cap

Decided that buyers
were in a long winter's nap.

Then, there was a knock and our bones took a soar

A polite 'Hartshorn" agent walked through the door.

His talk was assuring
he knew what he was about

He had a "Hartshorn" listing before he went out.

As dry leaves before the wild hurricane fly,

Our worries were over and we heaved a great sigh.

'Cause he brought a prospect
the very next day,

And sold them our house
before he drove away.

And I heard him exclaim
as he drove out of sight:

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL
AND TO ALL A GOOD-NIGHT.

Snow Engulfs Farmers MaroonedForYuletide

COBOURG, Dec. 24 — (ENS). —Some farmers in Northumberland County will count themselves lucky if they can dig themselves out by Christmas. The recent heavy snowfall completely blocked township roads and farm lanes in many parts of the county, particularly around Roseneath where farmers were unable to drive into Cobourg to do their shopping on Saturday. The town streets have all been ploughed out although ice is making travelling precarious. Delayed by the storm, a large number of motorists, heading home for Christmas, passed through Cobourg on Saturday.

Young's Point School Concert

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 24 — (ENS). — In spite of the heavy snowstorm which heralded in the winter officially, a large crowd packed the little red schoolhouse for the annual Christmas concert.

The program opened with a Welcome recitation by small Neil Revoy and two songs, Winter Wonderland and Friendly Beasts, by the senior room. A beautiful nativity play, On the Road to Bethlehem, was presented by the junior room pupils all in appropriate costumes. Throughout the play many favorite carols were sung by the small actors.

A play was presented by Earl Dunford, Elmer Garrett, Marilyn Jones, John Dunford, Mary Garrett, Helen Traynor, Joyce McIlmoyle, and Beth Tedford, and entitled, Wanted a Housekeeper. Next item was a colorful drill by 10 junior boys in green and yellow caps and capes, as Drummer Boys. Another play by the juniors entitled Mary's Make-Believe Christmas, depicted a dream Christmas come true for a poor little girl who liked to make-believe. The girls of Grades 5 and 6 presented a Christmas wreath drill and sang Deck the Halls.

A humorous dialogue, The Bad Chair, was given by Winnifred Traynor, Linda Godfrey, George Graham, Doris Nicholson, and Reggie Coones. In a play called Homework, Beverley Freeburn as a high school student very cleverly enveigled all the other members of her family (Doug Lloyd, Dorothy Crapp, Bob Clark, and Leona McIlmoyle) into doing her homework for her.

Nine junior girls looked charming in a star drill, wearing colored skirts and white blouses trimmed with silver stars, and wearing star bands trimmed with tinsel on their heads. Each carried a colored wand topped by a large silver star. Carol Pelton was a lovely princess in the fairy tale Cinderella, and the supporting cast included Jim Dunford as the Prince, Gloria Bass as the stepmother, Ruth Tedford and Mary Ellen Young as the wicked stepsisters, Dorothy Clark as the fairy godmother, and Murray Dewdney, Eleanor Bass, and Marie Graham as attendants.

Two other short plays, Poor Uncle Abner and Merry Margaret, were presented by the juniors, also a wreath drill. Their closing chorus consisted of two short songs, The Jingle Tree and Silver Bells.

A festoon drill was well done by the Grade 7 and 8 girls, wearing white dresses trimmed with shiny tinsel. In the concert party John Godfrey was a dapper and efficient MC, and the contestants were Fred Dunford, Marilyn Freeburn, Gloria Bass, Sylvia Freeburn, and Loretta Ayotte. The final play was A Good Impression, enacted by Joan Freeburn, Edward Dunford, Keith Tedford, Gary Jones, and Wayne Heard. The closing chorus by the senior room was Jesus in a Manger, and Here Comes Santa Claus greeted the old gentleman with his pack of toys.

Gifts and a bag of candy for each pre-school child and those in public school were distributed by Santa and his helpers and the weary children retired to their homes for a well-earned Christmas vacation. The program was under the direction of Mr. G. C. Eliott and Miss Mary Spencer, teachers at the school. Mr. Charles Young, a member of the School Board, was chairman for the evening, and Mr. James Jones played the piano for drills and songs and between the numbers.

Request Continuance Of Street Lighting

NORWOOD, Dec. 24—(ENS)—Asphodel township council met in the community Hall, Westwood, with all members present. Communications included petitions from Belmont St., Norwood and Dummer Road, requesting the continuance of street lighting, the contract with the Hydro Commission having expired. The council decided to hold a meeting with ratepayers in these areas on December 27 at 8 pm in the council chambers, town hall, Norwood.

A petition was received from ratepayers adjoining the village of Hastings, asking that the township arrange for fire protection from the village of Hastings. The reeve was authorized to make the necessary arrangements.

Mr. Howard Gardner, tax collector, returned the 1950 tax roll, showing outstanding taxes of $346.46 from a roll of $44,375.66.

The school attendance officer, Edgar Clark, presented his report which showed an average attendance of 40 per cent from all the schools.

A grant of $10 was given to the Sick Children's Hospital.

Nominations will be held on December 31 at 1 pm in the community hall, Westwood.

UK Journalist Said Alive In Red Prison

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Dec. 24 (AP)—A Communist correspondent said today that British Journalist Michael Gigantis, who wrote under the name of Philip Deane, is alive.

Alan Winnigton, correspondent for the Communist London Daily Worker, said Gigantis is in good health in a North Korean civil internment camp.

Gigantis was correspondent for International News Service, the London Observer and radio Athens. He disappeared early in the war. His name was not on the Communists' list of war prisoners.

Archie Bowman Resigns Office

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 24 (ENS) —At the last meeting for 1951, of the Hamilton township council, held in the Coldsprings hall, Archie Bowman, clerk, retired from office.

Mr. Bowman, a life-long resident of the township, has been active in municipal affairs since 1918. In 1927 he served a three-year term on the township council, and since 1934 has been the township clerk.

All members were present at the meeting, Reeve Merwin Greer presiding.

Road accounts drawn, for half of December, were $1,460.26.

W. B. Kennedy tendered his resignation as tax collector, effective January 1.

Applications for township clerk were received from the following: R. D. P. Davidson, Clayton McGregor, W. B. Kennedy and Clarence Ash. W. B. Kennedy was appointed.

At the close of the meeting an address was read by councillor Gerald Mann to the retiring clerk.

The closing paragraph read: "For your devotion to duty, your steadfast loyalty to the good of the township, and the integrity which has marked all your dealings with the council and ratepayers, we say 'thank you,' and with these gifts go our very best wishes for your continued health and happiness."

The presentation of a radio and jewel was made by Reeve Greer, and Deputy-Reeve Brisbin.

Guard Stone Of Scone Seized Year Ago

LONDON, Dec. 24 — (AP) — Engnad is taking no chances on Scottish marauders walking off with her Stone of Scone this Christmas.

Detectives last night began a yuletide watch in Westminster Abbey, where Scottish Nationalists last Christmas seized the stone from under the King's coronation chair. The stone is concealed in a vault beneath the abbey.

The 336-pound block of masonry was brought to England by Edward I in 1296 from the old abbey of Scone in Perthshire, Scotland. It is regarded by Scottish Nationalists as the "Stone of Destiny."

Albert Charles White, 59, a lifelong resident of Bridgenorth, died at his home early today, after a short illness.

He operated an ice business in Bridgenorth for more than 30 years.

A member of Bridgenorth United Church, Mr. White was born in Smith township, son of the late Charles James White and Dinah Cobblestone.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Rigby; three daughters, Mrs. John Leahy (Geraldine) of Peterborough, and Clarissa and Dorothy White at home; and three sons; Norman, Clifford and James, all of Bridgenorth. Also surviving is one sister: Mrs. S. Forsythe, of Bridgenorth.

Perfect Demonstration

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 24 (AP)—A man demonstrated to his wife Sunday how he could pull a shotgun trigger with his toe—and then did it to commit suicide as soon as she had left the room. Dr. Fred Blix, coroner, said Hubert Allen Carroll, 39, killed himself while his wife was telephoning relatives for help after his demonstration.

Pension Cheques Burn In Railway Car Fire

BRANTFORD, Dec. 24 — (CP) —Fire broke out early Sunday in a mail car on a Canadian National Railways train bound from Toronto to London.

A dispatcher at Copetown who saw the fire flashed an alarm to Brantford and firemen were at the station when the train pulled in.

The burning car was uncoupled and firemen salvaged as much of the contents as possible.

Destroyed were many Christmas presents, thousands of Christmas cards and an uncounted number of old age pension cheques, done up in large bunles.

RCAF Personnel Overseas For Yuletide

OTTAWA, Dec. 24 — (CP). — Almost 500 RCAF officers and airmen will spend Christmas outside Canada, the largest number of Air Force personnel to be away since the immediate post-war period.

Majority of these will be spending the holiday season at North Luffenham, England, where the RCAF's new fighter wing is located. They comprise members of the wing staff itself and of 410 Cougar Squadron, the jet fighter unit which arrived at the base last month.

Others who will be away from home at Christmas are members of 426 Thunderbird Squadron, flying the Korean airlift, ground crew detachments at McChord Air Base near Tacoma, Wash., at Shemya, in the Aleutians, and at Haneda Airport, near Tokyo.

Major R. E. Drope Concert Chairman

HARWOOD, Dec. 24. (ENS)— The teachers, Ronald Crews and Miss Shirley Dawson; with their students, presented a Christmas program in the Harwood Community Hall on Thursday evening. Despite the heavy snow storm the hall was filled to its capacity.

Major R. E. Drope presided as chairman, and Mrs. R. J. Meggs was the pianist for the evening.

Bruce Sherwin gave an opening recitation. The juniors sang "Salute to Christmas", followed by the pageant "Let Us Adore Him" by the entire school. Recitation, "Santa's Romance," was given by Betty Isaac. Then the junior play "The Magic Christmas Tree." Carmen Burrison recited "This Year's Request."

The senior comedy was "Hiding the Christmas Presents" with the following characters: Fond parents, Pauline Drope and Eddie Stephens; their children, Barry Kerr, Margo Hornby, K. Riley and Helen Patch.

An exercise, "Santa Is Late", was presented by four children, L. Stevenson, B. Hornby, N. Patch and B. Houghton.

Mr. Crews was presented with a flash light by the Senior students, and Miss Dawson was presented with a gift.

Mrs. R. J. Meggs also received a gift.

Wm. Baker moved a vote of thanks to the teaching staff for the excellent concert.

Quints Spend Yuletide At Home With Family

NORTH BAY, Dec. 24. (CP)—It will be a family Christmas for the Dionne Quintuplets Tuesday.

The entire family, with the exception of Rose-Marie, a married sister living in Waterloo, will be around the table for a turkey dinner.

The 17-year-old quintuplets have received hundreds of greeting cards and messages from all parts of Canada, the United States, France, Germany, Italy and England.

There will be a wrist watch for each of the girls under the Christmas tree tomorrow—gifts from their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Dionne. The quints will give their father a tape-recording machine, and their mother, a set of kitchen knives.

Canadian Delegates Active Behind Scenes At Paris

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER.

PARIS, Dec. 24 — (CP). — Canada is not talking as much as usual at the current UN Assembly, but she is active behind the scenes.

Canadian representatives are stating Canada's views in the main Assembly and in committees on the major problems, but observers note they are not jumping into the debates as often as at previous sessions. It is believed the Canadian delegation is determined to keep talk at a minimum at the present session.

But their relative silence does not mean inactivity. Canada is consulted and has her private say on most major western proposals put before the Assembly.

Two Major Speeches

One indication of the Dominion's decision to say only what is necessary is the fact that External Affairs Minister Pearson spent little more than three weeks and made only two major speeches at the current session before returning to Ottawa. D. M. Johnson, a newcomer to the UN recently appointed head of Canada's permanent UN delegation, is acting head of the delegation in Paris with Justice Minister Garson to take over after Christmas.

Canada appears to be trying to set an example of brevity and conciseness in UN debates which are often attacked as much too long and windy. Canadian delegates never have been marked down as verbose and they give the impression of being bent on keeping the 1951 session as short as possible—they had favored a 1951 session in New York to cut out the extra expense of the move to Paris.

Part of the Canadian effort for streamlined debate appears to be directed at insuring that western proposals are as well-turned as possible before they are tabled.

Canada Consulted

The Canadian delegation was consulted [illegible] Big Three western powers [illegible] their new disarmament plan — which called, in part, for setting up a disarmament commission including Canada as a member. Canada had her say about the resolution before it went to committee.

And Canada had a hand in framing an amendment to the western proposal calling for a commission to investigate whether conditions are suitable in both East and West Germany for an all-German election. The amendment would broaden the terms of reference of the investigating commission to allow it to consult the Big Four powers on the question.

One reason why Canada has not spoken as much as usual is that so far the Assembly has discussed some major problems in which Canada is not directly involved—such as Yugoslavia's complaint against Soviet pressure, the Balkan situation and Russia's complaint against the US Mutual Security Act.

Round World Christmas Radio Biggest Broadcast Of The Year

By VIRGINIA MARLOW

The British Broadcasting Corporation is putting the finishing touches to the arrangements for one of its biggest operations of the year—the round the world broadcast on Christmas day.

Fittingly, the theme for Christmas day, 1951, is "The Gifts of Christmas", and foremost among those to be illustrated by radio journeys to far places of the globe is that of healing. For, after great anxiety shared by people everywhere, King George VI is so far restored to health that he will again come to the microphone in his own home on Christmas day to speak with his peoples and their friends of other lands.

The man who began in September to plan this universal journey through the ether, Laurence Gilliam, Feature Programs Chief of the B.B.C. will take his vast audience first to France—to a tiny church in Le Baux Provence. There, as they have done for centuries, shepherds will walk to midnight mass bringing with them lambs—to give thanks for the gift of new life.

Linking lands across the Atlantic and the Pacific—from the Americas to Australia, India, Pakiston, Ceylon, the Far East, to the coast and forests of Africa and Korea's embattled valleys—will be a commentary spoken by the famous English actor John Gielgud. The atmosphere will be set, and the changing scene painted for the listening world by music specially composed by William Alwyn, one of Britain's foremost young composers.

Across The Oceans

By contrast with the shepherds' mass we shall be brought to another service of worship far across the oceans—a Zulu service in the Bantu language at a church in Natal in the Union of South Africa. In thanksgiving for the gift of learning we shall turn, then, to a school for West Africans in Togoland. Back to the United Kingdom, in the dockland of Cardiff, Wales, the gift of tolerance will be exemplified by a Christmas party at which children of many faiths and races will be guests. Then to Italy, to Boys' Town, the educational settlement at Modena, to hear of the gift of friendship born in war. We shall hear of British prisoners who were aided to escape by Italians. In gratitude they have sent gifts to Boys' Town.

Hearts will warm when our radio journey takes us on to Jamaica, devastated by hurricanes and succored by people throughout the commonwealth. For Jamaica has gratitude for gifts of courage in adversity and the help of good neighbors. So also have the people of a village community in Behar, India, from whom we shall hear of the aid which rescued them from famine.

The gift of knowledge—here our link is with a South-East Asian girl studying social science in New Zealand, and Pakistan will tell us of the gift of inspiration, at a Mushaira—a feast of poetry—we hear the prize-winning poem on the theme of the 60 minutes of our world travels.

Home will be in the thoughts of all the men of the United Nations fighting in Korea. As a symbol for them all the program will link one of those men with his home in Britain. And, by the singing of Korean children at a Christmas party behind the battle lines, the hope for the supreme gift of peace will surely stir in the heart of every listener.

Our journey will take us to some 15 lands. The organization of such a broadcast is one of the B.B.C.'s biggest achievements. It involves the exchange of hundreds of telegrams, hours of overseas telephoning and travel by B.B.C. representatives to seek the people who take part. Recordings have been made and flown to London.

16½ Million Listeners

It is a great moment at midnight on Christmas Eve when Mr. Gilliam and his colleagues begin a "ghost run" of the entire program. Testing sometimes goes on until 4 a.m. Every item is recorded in case reception from any country might be interrupted on Christmas day.

Nearly 16½ million people throughout the world listened to last year's broadcast. This year, with King George VI once again able to join in this unsurpassed intercourse of nations, even that record total is expected to be exceeded.

So, at 2 p.m. (Greenwich Mean Time) on Christmas day, our 60-minute voyage of friendship, goodwill and thankfulness begins. An hour later a person will speak the introduction which will precede King George's message. Not until then is his identity revealed, and always it is a moment of deep emotion.

It brings to the waiting multitudes such men as 23-year-old Sergeant Dennis Bulpett who, in 1950, while on active service with the Royal Marine Commandos in Malaya, spoke the words which heralded the voice of the king he was serving so far from his own Christmas circle.

HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE, in spite of his recent illness, will make his annual Christmas broadcast. This Commonwealth broadcast engineered by the BBC this year is known by the title "The Gifts of Christmas" will be heard in Peterborough at 9 a.m. Tuesday and will end with the King's message at 10.00 o'clock.

Truck-Borne Thieves Strike At Sunderland

PEFFERLAW, Dec. 24—(CP)—Thieves travelling by truck robbed two stores in this district early Sunday.

On their first stop at the Co-Op farmers store in Sunderland, 30 miles north of Oshawa, they smashed open an empty safe and stole $200 worth of electrical appliances.

At the general store of Charles W. Bodley in Pefferlaw, 12 miles north of Sunderland, they smashed open a safe and removed $1,000 in cash, jewelery and cheques. More appliances and a potato sack of cigarets were also stolen.

GREAT LIBRARY

The library of the Shakespeare memorial at Stratford-on-Avon, England, contains about 10,000 volumes of Shakespeare editions and literature.

Train Rumbles In Window Of Lumber Firm

A mixed train going about its transport business in the show window of the Peterboroug Lumber Company, Monaghan Road, is recommended to parents as a scenic delight for the juniors of local families.

A typical Canadian winter landscape spreads an attractive background of 30 feet by 10 feet, representing the detailed work of Herb Smith, plant superintendent. He devoted every evening for a month and a half to designing this picturesque display.

Fifty feet of railway track wind about the countryside and past the little flag station.

Mr. Smith's conception includes telegraph poles, a frozen stream, bridges, level crossing with automatic traffic signals, and a mixed train which quite appropriately includes a flat car or two of logs. This type of train, combining freight and passenger service, is similar to the CPR local between Peterborough and Lindsay, that leaves here at 10.20 am every weekday, and arrives back in the late afternoon.

So, the PLC Christmas special comprises accommodation for freight and people.

Complete Signals

One of the level crossings is equipped with a signal light that flickers its warning of the approaching "mixed". Several trucks are on the highway. Elsewhere along the route is an automatic gate at a crossing, and finally the train disappears into a tunnel.

Herb Smith has done a fine job with an eye for its appeal to young folks. His train operates on a time schedule, something like this: 11.55 am to 12.20 pm; then 12.40 to 1.15 pm; and 4.55 pm to 5.20 pm; and finally every evening until 9.30 pm.

If parents motor down Monaghan Road to the PL plant with junior members of the family, they are certain of a action presentation. The night watchman will throw the switch any time people come along to see the mixed make its run through this Christmas land of Lilliput. He appreciates the landscaping of Herb Smith, and won't disappoint any visiting spectators, especially the young folks. Dad will like it, too.

Blind Man Gropes In "Dead" House

LINGAN, NS., Dec. 24 —(CP)—The bodies of two aged sisters were found Sunday night where they had lain dead "from two days to a week" while their blind and infirm brother groped helplessly about the home.

A whining, starving police dog was the only living thing at "Hermit's Nest," the bungalow in which David Gracie, 82, lived an eccentric, secluded life with his two spinster sisters.

Dead from malnutrition and exposure are Ellen, 81, and Mary, 83. Part of Ellen's left calf was eaten away, apparently by rats.

The scene within the barren, four-room home was grisly and desolate. The only sound as horrified neighbours viewed the remains was the lapping of the Atlantic close by.

The dog, almost mad from hunger and fear, was shot by RCMP officers.

David was taken to hospital, where his condition was described as critical.

Madoc Man Killed In Crash Four Others Seriously Hurt

Say Farouk Trying For UK Settlement, Riots Break Out

CAIRO, Dec. 26 (AP)—A clear indication from King Farouk that he wants a settlement with the West touched off violent anti-palace and anti-western demonstrations today. The king appears to be worried about the growing Communist activity and want alignment with the West in the cold war with Russia In Alexandria, police used tear gas to break up a student mob of 5,000 demonstrating against the appointment by the king of Dr. Hagez Afifi Pasha, strong pro-westerner, as chief of the royal cabinet and adviser to Farouk on foreign and domestic affairs. Seven police were reported injured there by missiles thrown by demonstrators. Two students were hurt. Earlier reports that police opened fire were denied.

In Cairo police dispersed a shouting crowd of students and were ordered on a state of alert against further outbursts. The press said a state of emergency already was in effect.

The Leftist and Communist-inspired section of the press stepped up its clamor for firmer government action against Britain, using the term "traitor" to describe any Egyptian advocating a settlement.

Wants Settlement

The appointment of Afifi and another pro-Westerner to places in the royal cabinet is interpreted to mean the king wants a settlement with the West based upon recognition of Egypt's national demands. The Egyptians seek ful control of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and want exacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal zone. The West, meanwhile, has been rebuffed in its invitation to Egypt to join a Middle East command for defence.

The appointments apparently were a jolt to the dominant Wafdist Party, whose leaders have insisted upon no compromise with Britain.

The king's nomination of Afifi to the post which is a liaison job between the palace and the government followed by 24 hours the publication of a photograph here showing Egyptians drinking a toast in Paris with Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia.

Premier Angered

The king was reported to be conferring with Wafdist Premier Mustafa el Nahas Pasha, who must have been angered by the palace appointment.

Indications are that the Wafd Party has not yet made up its mind what to do in the face of this challenge to its foreign policy from the palace itself. Western observers agree that Afifi is sure to seek a settlement of some sort with Britain and alignment with the West's defences.

Today, demonstrations were reported from a number of points.

King Farouk has picked two pro-Western top advisers.

Reds Account For 571 POW's, Died In N. Korea

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Communists today accounted for 726 more captured Americans, but said 571 of them had died.

The other 155 escaped or were released, they said. But not one of these has returned to Allied lines, a United Nations' command spokesman said.

The UN command called the report a "shocking disclosure."

None of the 726 was named in a prisoner list supplied by the Reds last week.

Communists said they were checking to see what happened to 332 other United States soldiers.

After studying the Red report of 1,058 names, the UN command said they were all Americans.

The Reds blamed allied planes and artillery for many of the 571 deaths. They died, the Reds said, of air attack, artillery fire and disease.

Hand Over Note

They made their report in a note. It was delivered during an unproductive armistice session on Wednesday during the closing hours of a 30-day Korean truce trial period.

At the same session the Communists delivered the first bundle of mail from allied prisoners in North Korea to their families. The number of letters was not reported. But the package was large enough to hold several hundred letters.

The Communist note also:

1. Rejected an Allied demand for an accounting of 50,000 South Korean troops missing in action.

2. Asked the Allies what happened to 44,205 Reds the Communists say were captured.

3. Charged the Allied list of Red captives submitted last week was 1,456 short of the announced total of 132,472.

Trying To Get Details

The letter, handed to Rear Admiral R. E. Libby at a Panmunjom session by North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho, said the Reds were trying to account for 1,058 American and other non-Korean troops.

Little Action On Korean Front

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 26 (AP)—Fresh snow and a lashing wind bogged action on the Korean war front today. Heavy overcast held air action to a minimum.

Ground fighting, relatively light for a month, may flare in renewed fury after Thursday.

A 30-day provisional cease-fire line—the present front—is due to expire then unless truce negotiators at Panmunjom come to terms on an armistice. There is little likelihood they will do that.

Only one sharp brief action marked Christmas day along the 145-mile shooting line.

In that fight, a Chinese battalion crashed against an Allied advance position on the eastern front as darkness fell. But the United Nations troops standing on snow-covered ground, stood fast against the assault.

Soldier In Korea Jailed For 7 Years

SEOUL, Dec. 26—(CP)—Gnr. Robert Walter Stirling of Vancouver today was convicted of attempted murder of a Korean civilian and sentenced to seven year's imprisonment. A court martial also pronounced him guilty of molesting Korean civilians but acquitted him of a charge of assault.

Counsel for Stirling, of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, indicated that the finding would be appealed.

Stirling was charged with wounding a Korean in the village of San San, southwest of Yonchon, Sept. 30.

Will Restrict Access To Bell Buildings

MONTREAL, Dec. 26 (CP). — The Bell Telephone Company is going to restrict access to a number of Bell buildings in Quebec and Ontario as a security measure it was announced today.

The new measure, which will affect all but those who work in or have business to transact in the buildings, also covers certain areas within the premises. The new security policy goes into operation in January.

The buildings which will be guarded include the Belmont Building, in Montreal, the O'Connor Building in Ottawa and the Adelaide - Elgin Building in Toronto.

Additional measures will also be taken to protect important cable locations and a study of emergency procedures now followed in the restoration of service after a disaster is being made to determine how they can be supplemented, the announcement said.

Lie Sees Improvement In General World Situation

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 26—(AP)—Trygvie Lie said tonight there has been a "slight improvement" in East-West relations and no worsening of the general world situation since the United Nations General Assembly opened in Paris Nov. 6.

In a Christmas-time broadcast to Scandinavians over the Danish, Norwegian and Swedish radio system the United Nations secretary-general said the tone of speeches in the UN this year were more moderate than usual.

Lie, a Norwegian, is here for Christmas vacation. The Assembly resumes in Paris after the holidays.

"This year," he said, "discussion has been less propagandistic and more sober and objective. The various points of view have of course been defended, and vesy often the differences in question have been sharp and disparate. But in spite of this I do feel that there has not been any further deterioration or sharpening of the world crisis during the present general assembly.

"In one main field—the so-called East-West conflict—there has been a slight improvement. Urged by the smaller states, the great powers agreed to sit down and negotiate and to compare their respective plans on atomic control and disarmament. And they do not merely disagree.

"To be sure, the unity as regards the more important principles did not go very far; but I venture to say that few, if any, could seriously have expected that the great powers during an eight-to-10-day conference in the Palais de Chaillot (the UN meeting place in Paris) should be able to agree on vital issues of principle which they have been fighting about for years."

Yule Fire Kills 5 At Kenora

2 Mothers, 3 Children Die In Flames After Stove Upsets

KENORA, Dec. 26 (CP)—The charred bodies of two mothers and their three children lay in a funeral home in this Northwestern Ontario town today. Victims of a Christmas morning fire that trapped them in their two-storey log and frame house.

Dead are Mrs. Louis Pero, 22, formerly of Fort William; her son Jackie, 3½, and her daughter Linda, 17 months; Mrs. Delia Haller, 39, and her three-year-old daughter Catharine.

Caesar Caron and his two young grandsons, Peter and George Caron, sleeping on the ground floor when the fire broke out, escaped.

Peter helped his grandfather from the building while George made a valiant attempt to reach those trapped upstairs. He was driven back by smoke and heat.

Driven Back

Steve Konoby, a neighbor, placed a ladder against the wall and tried to enter the burning home through a window, but the flames also drove him back.

"They never had a chance," said Coroner Dr. D. J. Mason. "The building was enveloped in flames by the time firemen arrived."

The alarm was turned in by a passerby at 8.30 am when he noticed smoke and flames shooting out of a side window, but Police Chief John Pike said the fire could have started as many as three hours earlier. He said an overheated stove may have caused the blaze.

The bodies were recovered from the smoking ruins three hours after firemen were called. Dr. Mason said a preliminary inquest will be held today.

US Holiday Toll Reaches 747

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 — (AP) — Violent accidents in the United States took a near-record toll over the four-day Christmas holiday.

Deaths in traffic accidents, fires and from miscellaneous causes from 6 pm Friday to Tuesday midnight (local time) reached 747 compared with the record accidental death toll of 761 in the four-day 1936 Christmas holiday.

Traffic accidents caused more than 500 fatalities. Fires caused 10 deaths and 139 persons were killed in violent accidents of miscellaneous nature.

This year's total exceeded the 1950 accidental deaths of 724 which occurred during a three-day holiday.

The accidental death toll does not include the 119 miners killed in a coal mine explosion in West Frankfort, Ill., last Friday night.

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT TODAY whether they feel like it or not. Six and one-quarter inches of snow fell from Sunday until Christmas night and driveways, that were not plugged by passing snow removal machinery, filled with drifts. Joyce Godfrey of Highway 28 had a good morning's work cut out for her and did a man-sized job.

Czechs Dicker To Purchase Iranian Oil

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 26 (AP). — Communist Czechoslovakia stepped up today as the first Iron Curtain customer to dicker for Iran's state-owned oil.

Iran needs the money badly. The government disclosed Tuesday night it is so broke it has called home 26 diplomats to save expenses abroad. They include ambassadors to Britain, Italy and India, the minister in Belgium, and 22 lesser officials.

Britain, ousted owner and operator of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company which Iran nationalized last spring, already has served firm notice in a diplomatic note she will look on Iranian oil sales to outsiders as illegal.

And the company, mainly owned by the British government, has publicly stated it will take all possible measures to halt sales until Iran settles satisfactorily with the company. These measures have not been specifically defined.

Follow Ultimatum

The British notices followed an ultimatum from Premier Mohammed Mossadegh that former western buyers of Iranian oil must bid for petroleum products within 10 days or he would look for customers wherever he could find them.

The ultimatum expired Saturday without a single western bid reported.

Czech Charge d'Affaires Jan Sabacky discussed an oil purchase agreement with Deputy Finance Minister Hossein Pirnia, Roads Minister Javad Busheri told a press conference Tuesday night.

He said Sabacky told him that Czechoslovakia formerly bought oil through the Anglo-Iranian Company.

Pirnia reported Sabacky promised the Czechs will send an official delegation to Tehran soon to sign an agreement. In reply to questions, Pirnia said prices — and methods of transporting the oil to Czechoslovakia — will be discussed after the delegation arrives.

$20,000 An Inch

DETROIT, Dec. 26 — (AP) — Detroit wrestled its way out of record-breaking snow today and kept the wheels turning. The world motor car capital had a rough time of it. Commissioner Carl D. Warner, forced to hire nearly 2,000 extra snow shovelers, estimated the snow-removal cost at $20,000 an inch.

Christmas Broadcast Shows King Not Very Strong Yet

LONDON, Dec. 26 (AP)—The King, in a voice still weak and hoarse made his customary Christmas Day broadcast to the Commonwealth Empire Tuesday and thanked God for his recovery and the many blessings conferred on his people in a "hard and cruel" age.

The five-minute broadcast was from a recording made Friday and was the 14th Christmas message of his reign. At times the King seemed almost out of breath and his voice dropped to a whisper. It was his first attempt to broadcast since he underwent an operation Sept. 23 for removal of all or part of one lung.

The King was at Sandringham Palace, 100 miles northwest of London, where the Royal Family gathering was the largest since the war. Only the Duke of Windsor among the immediate relatives was absent.

Early in the day he walked to the castle from the village church where he attended services. The crowds, glad at what seemed a step in his recovery, cheered him. Most of the other members of the Royal Family rode in cars.

In his speech, the King said he had come through his illness "by the grace of God and through the faithful skill of my doctors, surgeons and nurses."

"I have learned once again that it is in bad times that we value most highly the support and sympathy of our friends."

Although the time is difficult, he went on, the British people could count many blessings, "the chief one of which is that we are a friendly people."

"If there is anything that we can offer to the world today, perhaps it is the example of tolerance and understanding that runs like a golden thread through the great and diverse family of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

He had a special word for British servicemen "facing hardships and dangers" in Malaya and Korea, and said his thoughts were with them.

Production Line Rolls At Ford

WINDSOR, Dec. 26 (CP). — For the first time since the 12-day strike which began Dec. 3, production lines at Ford of Canada began to roll today.

Company officials said that "practically all" the 9,000 production men at work when the strike began are back on the job.

As the Ford workers filed in to work, plant security officers made an unusually careful scrutiny of their badges. It was reported that not all of the recently fired Ford workers—26 were fired Dec. 3, six Dec. 21—have turned in their identification.

The position of union-company negotiations on a 1951 wage contract remained indeterminate. No further meetings were scheduled. Negotiations broke down when the company refused to negotiate in the presence of two plant committee men fired Friday.

Company officials said Monday that the two men, Connie Steers and Norman Brooks, were no longer company employees and were not entitled to sit on the union negotiating committee. Steers and Brooks were fired for allegedly taking part Dec. 3 in the forced closing of the Ford powerhouse which the company said caused extensive damage.

Accident An Hour Toronto's Yule Record

TORONTO, Dec. 26—(CP)—A traffic accident an hour was Toronto's record during the long Christmas holiday weekend.

In the 116-hour period from noon Friday to 8 am today, police reported, 23 persons were injured in 116 accidents. Forty-one motorcars were impounded with their drivers charged with various offences such as driving when their ability to do so was impaired by alcohol.

Also, 175 "common drunks" were picked up.

Two Cars Collide West of Welcome, Victims Tossed Out

A Madoc man is dead and his wife and son, as well as two other men, are seriously injured after a two-car collision Tuesday morning on Highway 2. The fatally-injured man is John Trotter, 70, a retired Madoc farmer. Injured and in Civic hospital are Mrs. Trotter, 65, and their son Carl Trotter, 31, a hardware dealer. Gordon Farkasch, 41 Bruce St., Montreal, is in Port Hope hospital with cuts and bruises and he is being X-rayed today to determine if he has any skull injuries or broken bones.

Brought To Peterborough

Philip Davis, 35, St. Laurent, Que., a passenger in the Farkasch car, was brought to Civic hospital at 11 am today, along with Carl Trotter. He has a fractured left forearm and undetermined back injuries.

Mr. Trotter, Jr., has a fractured left thigh bone and severe cuts on the left leg and face.

Both men in Civic are reported to be in "fair" condition while Mrs. Trotter is "seriously ill."

Still Investigating

The collision occurred at 10.15 am Tuesday, slightly more than three miles west of Welcome on Highway 2. Cause of the accident is still being investigated by OPP Constable Jack McKendry, Bowmanville.

The westbound Trotter car crashed into the small English-model car driven by Farkasch. The impact wrecked both vehicles, Mr. Trotter was tossed onto the highway from the driver's seat and his son was tossed out the right door.

When police arrived, a couple of minutes after the accident, the two men were lying on the highway and Mrs. Trotter was stretched on the front seat in a semi-conscious condition.

Dies 10 Hours Later

Mr. Trotter Sr. died in Peterborough hospital some 10 hours after the crash. Death was caused by shock, from broken ribs and a fractured upper and lower jaw. No autopsy has been ordered.

Mrs. Trotter's injuries were described as a broken left leg, and bad cuts and bruises on the right arm and face. Her condition is "fair."

The small model car was so badly damaged that Farkasch and Davis were temporarily trapped inside. Police had to work some time to force the doors and let them out.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young is today consulting Crown Attorney H. R. Deyman, Cobourg, to determine whether there will be an inquest.

Say 220,000 Chinese Executed In 6 Months

HONG KONG, Dec. 26 (AP)—The Chinese newspaper Wan Kiu Yat Po said in a Canton dispatch today the Reds executed 220,000 people in Kwangtung province in the last half of 1951.

It said another 50,000 got death sentences suspended for two years, a Red Chinese innovation in terror tactics designed to make prisoners step up prison-camp work production and act as stool pigeons for Red jailers under threats of death at the end of their sentence.

Hong Kong observers recalled that the Kwangtung provincial Red governor, Yeh Chien Ying on last October 10 said the Reds executed 22,000 in the previous 10 months. The feeling here is that Yeh's figures were low and Wah Kiu's figures were high.

They're Fighting Words

Angry Glasgow Mayor Ready To Punch Critic

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND, Dec. 26(AP)—The mayor of Glasgow, Sir Victor Warren, stalked into a downtown square at high noon today looking for a fight.

The object of his wrath was an unknown who painted "traitor" on his house Tuesday night in red letters a foot high.

The mayor, confronted by the dripping epithet when he returned from a christmas party, vowed:

"If the little coward who did this will meet me at the cenotaph at 12 o'clock tomorrow with his pot of paint I'll wrap it 'round his neck."

A crowd of several hundred lined George Square when the clock struck noon. Sir Victor, bareheaded and brawny, walked into the square.

His critic did not appear.

Sir Victor waited 10 minutes and, amid cheers, left fuming.

The 48-year-old mayor — or Lord Provost—blamed the paint-smearing on agitators for Scottish Independence who want a home rule parliament.

He was critical of the home rule movement during a recent speaking tour of Canada and the United States.

In addition to "traitor," the painter decorated the front of Sir Victor's house with the words "London's office boy, Scotland's quisling."

US Will Pay $120,000 To Free Fliers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP) —Signs are that the United States government will turn down offers of private citizens to pay the $120,000 in fines which Communist Hungary has levied against four US airmen who strayed across its border.

Final decisions were still being formulated today but it seemed probable the government would provide the money, if necessary, to prevent the men from spending three months in jail—Hungary's alternative if the fines are not paid.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has informed Hungary that it will pay the $120,000 in fines imposed on four US airmen, provided they are released promptly.

All sorts of private offers to provide the money have been pouring into the State Department since Hungary announced Sunday that a military court convicted the four fliers of violating the border for the purpose of delivering spies. The court sentenced each to $30,0900 fine or three months in jail.

Robert Vogeler, an American who was a prisoner of the Hungarian Communist regime for two years, said in New York he will seek to co-ordinate private efforts to raise the $120,000 in fines levied against the four fliers.

The airmen got lost over Hungary Nov. 19 while flying supplies from Germany to the US Embassy in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Soviet fighters forced them to land their unarmed C-47 on Hungarian soil.

On Sunday the Hungarian government announced a military court had convicted the fliers of violating the Hungarian border and had fined them 360,000 florints (about $30,000 each) with the alternative of spending three months in jail.

Quake Disturbs Yule Festivities

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26 (AP) —The serenity and calm of Christmas in Southern California was rent by a late afternoon earthquake that was felt in six counties. No damage was caused.

Its epicentre was in the Pacific Ocean, south of San Clemente Island. Ocean depths there range up to 6,600 feet. Dr Charles Richter, California Institute of Technology seismologist, said the quake, which lasted between 20 and 30 seconds, was sufficiently strong to cause considerable damage if it had originated in a populous area.

Ridgway Authorized To Extend Talks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)— Gen. Matthew Ridgway has been authorized, if he sees fit, to extend for 30 days the agreement with the Communists that the existing battle line in Korea shall be the line for an armistice in event one can be negotiated.

Diplomatic officials who reported this today indicated they expect both sides to agree to a temporary extension while negotiations go forward on other details of the cease-fire.

A 30-day trial period of reaching an accord ends Thursday (today Washington time).

Officials stressed that at the moment the only thing at stake was to prevent renewal of large-scale fighting over Korean territory. Negotiations on exchange of prisoners and other issues were expected to go on, regardless.

Chinese Send UN Troops Christmas Gifts

WITH BRITISH COMMONWEALTH DIVISION, Korea, Dec. 26 (Reuters)—An intensive Chinese propaganda campaign aimed at sapping the morale of Commonwealth troops, backfired Tuesday when the Communist's decorated no-man's-land with a lavish Christmas tree—and the body of a dead Tommy.

Soldiers who crept from their foxholes to drag in the body brought the 10-foot-high tree along too. The soldier was shot by the same Chinese who erected the tree Christmas Eve.

The tree, covered with tinsel and trinkets, bore gifts of silk scarves and handkerchiefs. It also carried cards wishing British soldiers a merry Christmas and adding:

"Find a way out. It's no disgrace to quit fighting this unjust war."

Other cards on the tree showed a fat businessman beside a swimming pool with a bevy of scantily-dressed girls and was captioned: "Mr. Moneybags is in Florida this Christmas. Where are you? In Korea."

Among the cards were safe-conduct passes urging surrender.

Stock Markets Edge Upward On Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 26 — (CP) — Stock market prices edged upward today in slow early afternoon dealings.

Utilities and steels formed the market's strongest sections with a scattered list of fractional advances. Papers, agricultures, constructions, liquors, refining oils and textiles held gains and losses in balance. Foods and retail stores were unchanged but banks, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous industrials eased.

Volume for the first three hours was 667,000 shares.

In base metals Cobalt Lode, Harrison, Opemiska, Sherritt-Gordon and Steep Rock strengthened but Falconbridge, Mindamar, New Calumet, Quebec Manitou, United Asbestos and Yukeno slipped moderately.

Western oils showed little trend. Commonwealth Petroleum, Home Oil, Mid-Continent and Okalta posted slight advances. Federated Petroleum, North Canadian, Sapphire and Western Leaseholds eased.

Senior Golds were mixed. Giant Yellowknife and Sigma pushed higher but Lake Shore dipped fractions.

Secondary issues strengthened.

Say 2 South Koreans Helped Capture Dean

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 26 (AP)—Police today said two South Koreans led Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean into Communist captivity for $5 apiece.

Chief Investigation Officer Yoong Myong woon said they were arrested and freed on bail. They are under "strict surveillance."

The officer said the two received "30,000 won ($5) each from the Reds for enabling the Red army" to capture the US 24th Division commander near Chinan, about 35 miles south of Taejon, in August, 1950.

Yoong said the men are Han Doo kyoo, 38, and Choe Chong bong, 22.

Yoong said the men claimed they tried only to help Dean but encountered Reds who captured him.

Dean was reported missing after the fall of Taejon in July, 1950.

"Our investigations revealed that 726 of the prisoners of war were either killed by air attacks and artillery fire during escort from the front to the camps or escaped or were already released by our side or died of diseases.

"Continuous investigation of the remaining 322 is under way."

The letter asked the Allies to give "the source of the names of the individual prisoners" to "facilitate our investigation."

A UN command communique said the Reds' reports on the fate of 66 of 110 UN prisoners reported to the International Red Cross last summer but not listed last Wednesday in a trade of prisoners rosters with the allies.

Report All Escaped

"All but one 'have escaped,' the Communists claim," the communique reported. "The 66th soldier is listed by them as dead."

The communique gave no other details of the reported fate of the rest of the 726 men who were prisoners "at one time."

People Of Helgoland Plan Return To Island In March

BONN, Germany, Dec. 26 (AP)—The people of Helgoland, the 130-acre North Sea island that was Hitler's Gibraltar, will start returning to their bomb-battered and gale-swept homes in 1952.

They have waited seven years on the German mainland to take up again their trades of fishing and boarding summer visitors.

About 2,500 Halluner Moats, as they call themselves, want to go back. Their return will be spread over five years because they have the biggest mess in Europe to clear up first.

Hitler turned the island into a fortress just before the Second World War. Miles of underground ammunition stores were bored into the steep sandstone cliffs. A vast concrete U-boat pen was built into the harbor. Coastal and anti-aircraft guns were set up on the cliffs.

This made the island a wartime target for a British 1,000-bomber raid. After the war British engineers blew up 6,700 tons of old ammunition and explosives. This destroyed the fortifications and submarine hideout.

Since the war, the ruins have been used as a practice heavy-bombing target by British and American bombers based in Britain.

The debris of the massive armament is scattered everywhere.

Islanders and sympathizers time and again landed on the island in defiance of British orders to demonstrate against Allied bombing practice.

Finally the British government promised to give the island back by next March.

Reconstruction will cost an estimated 47,000,000 marks (about $11,000,000).

Prizes have been offered for the best ideas for replanning the isle. It will eventually have two harbors, a biological institute, an aquarium, a sanctuary for migrating birds, a 40-bed hospital, post office, fire station, savings bank, school, old-age home and seamen's home.

Goes Berserk Kills Policeman

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Dec. 26 (CP).—A man who went berserk over celebrating a lonesome Christmas, murdered a policeman, wounded another and then committed suicide Christmas morning.

Jean-Marie Trottier, 24, whose hobby was collecting firearms and swords, shot and killed constable Louis (children's policeman), Langevin, 58, and sent Sergeant Mathias Lachance to hospital with a bullet wound on the left temple.

The shooting occurred around 2 am, just as the city's French-speaking population gaily celebrated Christmas at traditional "reveillons" after attending midnight mass.

The whole city police force was alerted by the wounded Lachance's radio call for help. Orders were issued to shoot to kill.

It wasn't until five hours later that Trottier's body was found in a snow drift behind a house. He had propped the .303-calibre rifle betwen his knees and blown his head off after cutting down the policeman.

Verdicts of murder and suicide while of unsound mind were returned at a coroner's inquest.

Say Farouk

Has Precedent

There are precedents for him to fire Premier Mustapha el Nahas Pasha, head of the Wafdist (Nationalist) Party government. Farouk has done it twice before—in 1937, after forcing Nahas to disband his private "Blue Shirt" army of 10,000, and in 1944.

The Nahas government, violently anti-British now although he was the British choice for premier in 1942, cancelled treaties with Britain in mid-October. They permitted British troops to stay in Egypt to defend the canal, and provided for joint rule in the Sudan.

Political observers believed Farouk and Nahas' cabinet were splitting farther apart on conduct of foreign affairs, especially over Nahas' swift refusal last October to join Egypt with the Western powers and Turkey in a proposed Middle East defence command against Communism.

Farouk chose Hafez Afifi Pasha—former foreign minister and present head of the powerful Misr Bank (Bank of Egypt)—as chief of his royal cabinet. The royal cabinet is a group of intimate advisers, separate from the cabinet which administers the government.

To Be Adviser

Farouk also called in Abdel Fattah Amr Pasha, ambassador to London, Tuesday night, to act as adviser on foreign affairs while Amr is in Egypt. Amr was recalled from London by Nahas' cabinet as a protest against British military action in the Suez Canala zone.

Political sources looked for major developments to spring from Farouk's renewed plunge into policy. Some expected big moves in the next day or so; others thought they might take a month to mature.

Both Afifi and Amr were reported by political informants to favor a defence alliance with the West, with proper safeguards for Egyptian rights.

Nahas' cabinet took Farouk's appointments as a slap in the face.

They held an informal council on Farouk's intentions Tuesday at the home of the party strong man, Fouad Serag El Din, minister of interior and finance.

Their conclusions were secret. But rumors swept through government and newspaper circles that the whole Nahas cabinet had quit. The government denied the reports.

Afifi summoned newspaper editors and, among other things, told them he was asking God's help to return the Sudan "to its fatherland under the Egyptian crown."

Charlton Athletic Downs London Glamor Squad 3-2

LONDON, Dec. 26 (Reuters)—Harry Pawson, young amateur player for Charlton Athletic, today fought his way through Tottenham Hotspurs' crack professional forward line to score his team's third and winning goal against the London glamor squad. The sore was 3-2.

Charlton fans rose in excitement as Pawson slammed home the goal, avenging Charlton's 3-0 defeat by Tottenham at home Tuesday in the first leg of Britain's twin Christmas holiday games.

Other First Division games today were less exciting and none of the top teams, each with 31 points, scored a double victory. Arsenal, which beat Portsmouth 4-1 at home yesterday, could only draw 1-1 at Portsmouth today.

Manchester United, the third leader, drew 3-3 with Fulham in an away game. The Manchester team won 3-2 at home against Fulham Tuesday.

All three teams now have 32 points, but Arsenal holds a precarious first place with a better goal-average than Portsmouth or Manchester United.

Heads Division

Cardiff City now heads Division 2, after beating Swansea Town 3-0 at home today and drawing 1-1 at Swansea Tuesday.

Brighton scored a double victory against Crystal Palace today, heading the race in the Southern section of Division 3.

Lincoln City beat Wrexham 3-2 at home, keeping top place in the Northern section and making up for Wrexham's 4-2 home victory Tuesday.

Only 12 of the league teams gained double victories in the twin holiday matches. Apart from Brighton, they were Manchester City over Chelsea, Leeds over Leicester City, Coventry over Bury, Birmingham over Rotherham, Southampton over Brentford, Colchester over Gillingham, Newport over Shrewsbury, Reading over Aldershot, Norwich over Ipswich, Hartlepools over Mansfield, and Grimsby over Scunthorpe.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26 (AP) —New York City's population is expected to reach 8,280,000 in 1960, and 8,570,000 by 1970, the city department of planning's research division predicted today. The 1950 census showed 7,890,000 residents within the city limits.

Havelock Church Holds Special Service

HAVELOCK, Dec. 26 — A Christmas candlelight service was held in the Havelock United Church on Sunday evening, with a good attendance.

The church auditorium was beautifully illuminated by candle lights along the aisles, on the walls and in the choir loft.

The service began with a processional carol, with junior and senior choirs forming two processions and singing, along with the congregation "O Come, All Ye Faithful." The Young People's Union conducted the main part of the service, with the president, Robert J. Hill, in charge. Others who assisted in the prayer and scripture reading were Paul Newman and Gordon Bales.

The Rev. R. G. Newman, the minister, gave a short address entitled "Yule Fires on a Mountain," using the illustration of yule logs sapped by the mistletoe, and a burning candle to set forth the beauty and greatness achieved through suffering, and through being spent for others.

The junior choir, attired in white gowns, sang two selections, "There Will Always Be Christmas," and "The Children's King." The senior choir rendered two anthems, entitled "That Holy Night," and "Bethlehem." The director of both choirs was Donald Pollock, the organist. Mrs. R. G. Newman sang a solo, "O Holy Night."

A number of Christmas carols were sung by the congregation and choirs, and following the recessional carol, "The First Noel," the benediction was pronounced by Robert Hill.

At the morning service, special Christmas music was provided by the senior choir, which rendered two anthems, "The Song of Ages" and "There Were Shepherds."

The minister spoke on the subject "Christmas, a Revelation of God."

US To Reject Combined Staffs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—The United States probably will turn down any new proposal by Britain to revive the "combined chiefs-of-staff", the joint high command which shaped strategy in the Second World War.

There was belief here today that Prime Minister Churchill might have this plan in the portfolio of proposals he is bringing next month to talk with President Truman.

Defence headquarters holds that while the combined chiefs agency was highly useful in the prosecution of an actual, global war, with all its ramifications, such an Anglo-American command would not be needed to operate in a North Atlantic alliance.

The combined chiefs-of-staff was created in February, 1942, through agreement between Churchill and the late President Roosevelt.

For several years after the Second World War, CCS continued to function, although with diminished importance. About two years ago it ceased to exist.

Canadian Navy Keeps Busy In Korea Waters, Training

Ships of the RCN steamed some half million miles, served with United Nations forces in the Korean war zone, conducted training cruises in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, the Caribbean and Mediterranean Seas, during 1951.

In shipyards across Canada, craftsmen were busily fashioning new warships for the RCN. Some, including the first of 15 ultra-modern anti-submarine destroyer escorts, were launched during the year, while other ships were in varying stages of construction.

In naval shore establishments, facilities both with respect to training and accommodation were expanded and improved.

During 1951, the RCN shouldered heavier undertakings and commitments than ever before in peacetime. That these would continue to increase in size was foreshadowed by the announcement of a program aimed at producing a navy of 100 ships and 21,000 men by 1954.

Korean Operation

Throughout the year the navy maintained three destroyers in the Korean theatre. Screening of aircraft carriers, inshore bombardment and blockade patrols were among the varied tasks undertaken by these ships. During the first 11 months of the year, the Canadian destroyers came under fire from enemy shore batteries on a number of occasions, but through a combination of skill and good fortune sustained neither damage nor casualties.

In January, a system of reliefs came into effect, with HMCS Nootka steaming 12,000 miles to relieve the Sioux. The Cayuga was relieved in March by the Huron and the Athabaskan after nine months of service in the Far East, was replaced by the Sioux, returning for her second tour of duty in this area. The Cayuga returned to the theatre in July, relieving the Nootka, while the Athabaskan started her second tour in August, relieving the Huron. By the end of the year, the three "originals"—the Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskin—were once more together, though, of course not with their original ship's-companies.

Approximately 1,800 officers and men of the RCN have now served in the Korean theatre. The experience gained, both of actual war conditions and of working in the closest co-operation with ships of other countries of the United Nations, has been of the utmost value. The morale of all ships' companies—despite difficult conditions and the long periods of boredom inseparable from patrol operations in this area—has been uniformly high.

Training Cruises

The training cruises of the navy have ranged far afield, and have contributed overwhelmingly to the steady increase of efficiency in the fleet which led the retiring Chief of the Naval Staff to refer on November 29 to a navy "Close hauled and beating to windward".

Among the more important cruises were those of the cruiser, HMCS Ontario, from Esquimalt to the Antipodes and back, February 26-June 4; and of the aircraft carrier, HMCS Magnificent with destroyer Micmac to the Mediterranean for exercises August 7-October 24. The training value gained from these two cruises alone ranged from the elementary training of young seamen to advanced anti-submarine exercises, with naval aircraft occupying a position of high prominenee in conditions closely approximating those of actual combat.

Royal Visit

Participation by the RCN in the welcome to Their Royal Highnesses, the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada last autumn was a highlight of the year. Two RCN ships, HMCS Ontario and HMCS Crusader were honored with an opportunity to put to sea with the Princess, whose father and grandfather both followed the sea, and her sailor husband. The Crusader embarked the Royal Couple at Vancouver, October 21, and took them to Victoria. On completion of their three-day holiday on the island Their Royal Highnesses embarked in the Crusader at Nanaimo, October 26, and sailed aboard the destroyer to Vancouver.

On November 9 at Charlottetown the Royal Couple boarded HMCS Ontario for an overnight voyage to Sydney, Cape Breton. They also spent the following night on board the cruiser travelling from Sydney to St. John's, Nfld. It was during this passage to St. John's that the Royal Couple were guests at a mess dinner in the officers' wardroom and visited junior officers in the gun room enjoying an informal sing-song with them.

Naval guards of honor were mounted at Halifax and Esquimalt, during the visits of Their Royal Highnesses to naval establishments, and at many other points during the tour.

Personnel

Recruiting was open in all branches of the service throughout the year. In January the permanent force of the Navy had a strength of 10,199 officers and men. This was increased to 12,500 by year's end. Recruiting for the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve) was also "wide open", and the 12-month period saw that naval potential increased from a figure of 4,951 officers, University Naval Training Division Cadets and men to nearly 6,000.

A broadened scheme for the entry of officers into the RCN was introduced in June. The original three-year appointment plan put into effect during the winter of 1950-51 was extended to include applicants not active in RCN (Reserve), but who possess previous naval experience and the necessary qualifications for commissioned ranks.

In addition, officers receiving three year commissions are now eligible, after one year's service, to apply for permanent commissions in the RCN, providing they are not over 35 years of age on the date of transfer.

The "Wrens" returned to the navy in July when recruiting commenced for 150 women to serve, full time, as members of the Women's Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve) in naval radio stations. In September, recruiting was opened to women for reserve training in the 21 naval divisions across Canada. Once attested for service in the WRCN (R), the post war "Wrens" are taken on the reserve strength of the naval divisions nearest their homes, where they attend training on the same basis as the men.

By mid-December the first 53 Wrens recruited for full time duty as communicators had completed their basic training at HMCS Cornwallis and were undergoing a six months technical course at the Coverdale Naval Radio Station near Moncton, N. B.

New type uniforms for the men of the Canadian Navy were introduced during 1951, and contained some radical changes. Jacket type jumpers as opposed to the former "sweater type" provide a smarter fit, greater ease in dressing and more freedom of movement.

For naval aviation, the year was one of solid achievement. Avenger aircraft acquired from the United States were modified for their specialized anti-submarine role and came into service. The naval air squadrons were reorganized into two new air groups—the 30th Carrier Air Group and the 31st Support Air Group—each composed of an anti-submarine squadron and a fighter squadron.

The 30th Carrier Air Group was embarked in HMCS Magnificent and carried out a highly successful program of training, commencing with the Caribbean cruise in the spring, carrying on throughout the summer off Halifax and climaxed by advanced exercises in the Mediterranean in the fall.

The 31st Support Group was based ashore at HMCS Shearwater. In November the group's two squadrons flew as a unit from Shearwater to Rivers, Man., to participate in Exercise Assiniboine, a tri-service exercise which took place at Shilo, Man.

The RCN took another forward step in the field of naval aviation with the acquisition of three HTL-4 Bell helicopters. The three helicopters, at present based at the naval air station, HMCS Shearwater at Dartmouth, N.S., will be used aboard the RCN's new Arctic patrol vessel, HMCS Labrador, which was launched in December at Sorel, P.Q., as well as for training of helicopter pilots for her husband on the verandah.

HMCS ATHABASKAN steams out of the Japanese port which has served as a base of operations for the Canadian destroyers serving in the Korean theatre. Canada has maintained a division of three destroyers continuously in the war since August, 1950.—(National Defence Photo).

Christmas scenes decorated the panes of the lareg windows which form the south wall of the school, while through others could be seen the bright lights of the gaily decorated Christmas tree. J. D. Armstrong acted as chairman and from the opening numbers, the chorus, Hark the Herald Angels Sing, by the school, and an address of welcome by Sharon Armstrong, the program which consisted of drills, songs, plays and recitations.

Epidemic Of Measles Hits Bancroft Area

BANCROFT, Dec. 26—(ENS)—An epidemic of measles swept through Bancroft public school and North Hastings high school during the two weeks before school closed for the Christmas holidays.

The reddish rashes were breaking out so quickly that many pupils spent their spare minutes watching themselves or their neighbours to see who would be the next case. In North Hastings high school the staff were placing the fresh cases in the home economics room as the rural pupils had to wait in the school until bus time to go home and the number became so large that it was necessary to place the boys in the teachers' room.

Teachers also were affected. At one time three were at home with the disease. The hard luck case was Miss Catharine Gillespie of Teaswater, the home economics instructor who acted as the chief first aid worker and supervisor of the temporary ward for the past two weeks. She broke out with a first-class rash during the last day of school and consequently had to be quarantined for part of her holidays.

Christmas Spirit Warmed Hearts Throughout City

The man beside the window of the last seat with the parcel on his lap would not have recognized himself as an agent of Santa Claus, nor as personifying the spirit of Christmas. Sitting beside him as the bus started was a tall man with a small boy of four years, his cheeks as red as a McIntosh apple, and as round.

"That's a fine winter day," said the tall man, with an accent that was probably Dutch.

"We're getting an awful lot of snow," said the end man.

"But it's sunny and healthy, I think," said the T.M.

"I guess we have to expect it," Santa Claus agreed grudgingly. "The worst of our winters is you're likely to get cold weather right into April."

The boy spoke of his expectations of that evening. He was happy in the prospect of getting a truck.

"Talks just like a Canadian," doesn't he, Santa remarked. "You know, this Christmas idea is all right, but some get more things than they need, and others go short. There's a little boy like yours near us. I thought there mightn't be much for him. Family's kinda upset or something. I find out all he wants is a tow truck. So, I says to myself, he'll get one. I search around this afternoon, and Mister he's going to get a dilly."

S.C. lifted the parcel an inch or two indicating the content of its wrapper. "Just as I was saying, some get more than they need, but this little gaffer only wanted a tow truck."

The tall man got up as the bus neared Bolivar St. "Happy Christmas" was his parting wish to the man at the window who was probably not thinking of himself within the scope of that divine commendation: "Whatsoever ye do for one of these . . ."

A $64 Question

This other bus was crowded. Teenage youths sat and stood around the elderly man sitting on the end seat, a big brown bag on his lap.

"Did you get that one in a draw?" the boy next to him asked.

After a moment's silence, the man said: "That's no 25-cent turk. I bought it; 14 pounds."

It turned out that the family was arriving for Christmas and there was going to be quite a reunion.

Another silence and the man said: "I'll ask you this, if Mae West jumped off the Empire State building—I was just reading they sold it for $51,000,000; there's a real deal—well, if she jumped, what date would it be?"

Most of the people in the car heard it propounded. It was a quiet, good natured crowd at the back. Some of the elders might have had a beer or two.

"What's the answer?" the man pressed.

"I don't know," a tall boy replied. "It doesn't make sense."

"I knew you wouldn't," said the man. "That's one of those $64 questions."

"What date would it be?" the boy queried.

"It would be the end of May . . . Heh, Heh."

The woman's hat was shaped like a football player's kneepad, but, light and gay, like filigree of forget-me-nots. That suggests the pastel shade, and attractive; the kind of chapeau you not only notice but probably give the second look.

She was standing on the sidewalk, when Christmas Eve and morning were at odds, waiting She ran up the steps: "There are horses coming up the sidewalk."

"Whoa Napoleon," her husband laughed.

"All she had were two coffees," said a friend on the verandah.

"She's seeing reindeer; they've got loose on Santa Claus," quipped another.

"I tell you I saw horses," the lady insisted.

The road was brilliant in its reflection of the street lights. By contrast were pockets of comparative dim illumination away down the sidewalk. Out of one of those spots emerged a man on horseback, moving at a walk.

"I knew I saw horses," she called out ot the verandah audience, as her husband was getting into the family car.

"That's not a horse; it's a Palomino," the husband went along with his jest.

As his wife was putting the collection of gifts into the car, another horse and rider appeared from around the corner.

"All right," said the husband, "but I still say they're Palominos."

Passing in the middle of the road, the rider greeted the lady with a merry: "How's your old straw hat?"

"Did you hear that?" she said to her husband, "an old straw hat."

"That's just his way of telling you he liked it. Just satire. You didn't expect him to stop 'and make a little speech: 'What a lovely hat you're wearing, madam, this fine Christmas morning; looks like Paris'—even if it just George St."

Then, as the car passed the rider, she turned down the window and called out: "Merry Christmas yourself."

With the window closed again she said, talking to herself: "Old straw hat", "If that Palomino or whatever it is dumps him into a deep drift, I won't shed any tears."

"Any way," said the husband, with final tribute, "he noticed your hat, and that's something in his favor. It really looks swell on you dear."

Wildcatting At The C.G.E.

The serious wildcat strike at the Windsor Ford plant is being re-enacted on a small scale at the Peterborough C.G.E. Works. Although the walk-out of welders at the C.G.E. has not had the paralysing effect of the Ford strike, and only a couple of dozen men are involved directly, it is basically the same labour-management situation, and therefore just as important.

On December 10th four welders of the structural steel department refused to do their assigned jobs because some piece-work was re-classified. They were suspended one full shift. Following this the remaining welders left their jobs in protest. Neither the suspended welders nor the others who left their jobs returned to work.

* * *

The grievance procedure provided in the contract between company and union was not used. The Company discussed the situation with union officials (U.E.) and said that the action of the welders was a violation of the contract. The union said that the work stoppage was unauthorized and that the union had no part in it.

* * *

The company notified the welders to to report for work on or before December 20th. They did not do so. The work stoppage resulted in a disruption of the flow of material in the structural steel department and at the end of last week thirty men outside the welding department were laid off because of a shortage of material.

* * *

Those are the details of the illegal strike. They are important enough, but more important is the principle of it. The company has entered into contract with the union authorized to speak for all the men in the plant. It cannot wash its hands of the strike and at the same time keep its right to make contracts on behalf of the workers. There are two parties to the contract. If the management did not live up to the agreement, the union would quickly and rightly protest, and take action to bring management into line with its pledge. If the workers do not abide by the terms of the agreement the management is justified in taking action against them. If the union has insufficient authority over the workers it is not qualified to negotiate on their behalf. It is up to the union to prove its good faith and its capacity to make contracts with the company. U.E. must accept responsibility for the illegal walk-out of the welders.

* * *

A union must demonstrate that it has both the intention and the power to keep to terms of a contract. Otherwise a company is not justified in making an agreement. A contract is a farce if one of the contracting parties does not have the ability to keep to the terms. Wildcat strikes like the big one in Windsor and the small one in Peterborough are undermining the basis on which unions are accepted as negotiators, and are bringing into question the propriety of labour laws which establish unions as bargaining agents for an entire plant.

* * *

Unions must accept the responsibilities of their position, or lose it. They must not tolerate irresponsible strikes. If they do, as Mr. Walter Reuther, international president of the United Automobile Workers, realizes, they threaten their own existence. Mr. Reuther knows the danger to unionism of irresponsible walk-outs and he took a strong effective stand against the strike in Windsor. The management of the Peterborough C.G.E. plant can justifiably require a similar demonstration of union capacity from U.E.

A Man With Friends

A man named Henry Grunewald is considered a "mystery man" in Washington. Something is known about him. He is rated as the king of the "five-percenters"—the men who collected at least that amount for favours they are able to wangle; he is also known as the man who arranged to tap the telephone wire of Howard Hughes, reputedly for Senator Brewster, Maine Republican, and Pan American World Airways, at a time when Pan Am wanted to purchase Mr. Hughes' Trans World Airways. Above all, however, Mr. Grunewald—perhaps known better as "The Dutchman"—is known to have friends. They are powerful friends indeed, as may be gathered by the circumstances of his hearing before the United States Senate regarding the telephone-tapping incident.

The Senate wanted to find The Dutchman to ask him to testify. It had difficulty, but finally he was located and produced. The following is taken from the ensuing testimony:

"Do you read the papers?" demanded Chairman Matt Neely of West Virginia, in an effort to find out why Grunewald hid out in Virginia, 50 miles from Washington, and then claimed he didn't know the Senate was searching for him.

"Upon instruction of my doctor, I was told not to read anything," explained Grunewald.

"Since your doctor told you not to read anything, what has been your practice about reading? Have you discontinued reading?" asked Senator Harry Darby, Kansas Republican.

"Only when my side flares up," replied Grunewald.

"You don't read?" asked Darby incredulously.

"I read everything," snorted The Dutchman.

"How long have you been reading everything?" ask the Senator from Kansas.

"As a matter of fact, I haven't read anything yet, to be perfectly honest with you," fumbled Grunewald.

"Have you been reading lately?" Darby tried again.

"I haven't looked at the paper."

"How long has that been your practice that you have not even looked at a paper? . . .Can you look at a watch or a clock?" persisted Darby.

"Certainly, yes."

"And you can talk. They don't object to your talking. They just object to your reading," continued the Senator from Kansas. "Do you read the telephone book or look at anything like that? Is your disease so bad that they will not even let you look . . ."

It may be that, on the night following the day that the foregoing evidence was given, Mr. Grunewald or his lawyer may have thought there might be some trouble about getting a reputable physician to testify that he forbade reading as treatment for an inflamed intestine. At any rate, the Grunewald testimony was entirely changed the next day. So because of the change, and because of his original testimony, the Democratic members of the Senate committee, who formed a majority, recommended that he be cited for contempt. That recommendation was completely disregarded, and Mr. Grunewald went freely on his way, making friends and influencing people for a consideration of at least five per cent.

No Night Life For Queen Mary?

A highly respected newspaper well known to us had this recent heading over a story from London: "No Night Life For Queen Mary." The report stated that her doctors had advised the Dowager Queen, now aged 84 and in good health, not to undertake any evening engagements. That seems pretty sound advice to give a lady of Queen Mary's age—although some other exceptional old people in the public eye, of course of lesser rank, keep right on having evening engagements until their final one with the tolling of a bell. The late Sir William Mulock counted it an evening lost, even when he was ninety, if he did not dine out.

That is not what we started out to say. What we want to remark is that there are kinds and kinds of night life. Some people have a glorious time whooping the night away in a crowded cafe with a square yard of dance floor and an acre of bar-room tables. That is night life in some circles. Other people have a riotously good time all by themselves, feet on the fender, a book under the nose and a glass of orange juice at the elbow. That is the sort of night life which appeals to thousands of other lovers of the night.

Because Queen Mary has been advised not to accept evening engagements is no reason to believe that night life has ended for her. On the contrary. Queen Mary has lived all her life in the public eye. It has been part of her royal job to accept evening engagements—work before pleasure. Compared with the boredom she must frequently have experienced in that sort of night life, her stay-at-home evenings now can be uncloyed pleasure.

Queen Mary likes to tat; she delights in having her family about; she likes to listen to the radio, and she is an avid movie fan. These joys are hers—at home. No night life for Queen Mary? Nonsense! She can take in a movie every night now, instead of having to put up with the tiresome chatter of a government dinner.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Taxation without representation is tyranny—if your conscious of it. And taxation without reason is hideous—but what can we do about it?

Lili St. Cry, the Hollywood strip-teaser, says that men do not have to be rich to be fascinating. For those who lack fascination, though, it is admitted that riches are an advantage.

Price control is being applied to the purchase of brides in Uganda. About the subsequent expenditures of the brides, however, it is universally recognized that nothing can be done.

Yours Truly, Squiggle

By IVOR BROWN

ONE of the chief vexations of Christmas is the receipt of handsome cards—and how expensive!—carrying the usual greetings of the season and signed Peter, Tony, Pat or Pam. You know so many of these and Pat may be of either sex. To whom must one hurriedly return a card or, if too late, a New Year salutation? Why cannot they be more explicit in their signatures, especially as so many millions of parents, a generation ago, were Peter- (or Pat-) minded?

SOME of the signatures have also the vice of total illegibility. "All the best—Squiggle," is what one reads. The tiresome Squiggles, furthermore, have been at it all the year. They are the problem-children of every morning's post.

The most infuriating of these Squiggles is not the one afflicted with a wholly bad handwriting; it is he who becomes illegible only when he reaches his signature and gives you a shapeless scrawl instead. The old illiterate made his mark: the new literate makes his mess. Sometimes he writes, learnedly, with all the clarity of a typewriter correctly handled: but when it comes to his name, there is only the pen-splutter of an impatient zany.

WHEN Squiggle writes to me, which is often, I first give his signature my puzzled and enraged attention. Then my secretary takes on the job, and, if the letter is all in hand-writing, she carefully relates the scratches that conceal his name to the letters in the previous script. Perhaps, if he has to be answered, we decide that he is Popenjoy or Prendergast and chance it: or else we cut out his cryptogram and paste it on the envelope of reply. (I say "his" because women offend less often, but there are Mary Squiggles too.) Why should we be put to this drudgery? The Squiggles are public nuisances and deserve to be arrested for keeping others loitering.

WHY does a person who can write a legible letter end with an indecipherable splash like the writhing track of an ink-sodden wasp? There are two obvious and contradicting explanations. Either he is so vain that he thinks his name must be as widely known as Winston Churchill's, or he is so shy that he hesitates to sign himself at all and dithers with a slurred hint of his identity. But neither explanation is an excuse.

ABOMINABLE writing is most common among the most highly educated. The reason, I surmise, is the ruin wrought in youth by the instruction to take full notes at lectures without any previous training in orthodox shorthand. The student makes his own abbreviations and thus confusedly scribbles down the gist of what he, often too hopefully, believes will be recognizable by himself later on. This habit, lasting over several formative years, wrecks what may have been a reasonably clear hand. He emerges from his labour triumphantly but illegibly, Squiggle, B.A.

OR Squiggle, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P. Lecture-notes, I presume, have also caused the spidery or tipsy-looking chaos in which many doctors pass their Latin to the chemists. The latter know roughly what the doctor orders, having made up the concoctions a thousand times, and can make a harmless shot at Dr. Squiggle's routine cough-mixture. But it seems an odd way of serving the nation's health.

This kind of thorough-going cacography, though it has its perils, is less maddening than the conceit or coyness of him who can write a readable letter and denies you his name. A few specimens of the Squiggle tribe do help you out with capitals under the scrawl, and wise secretaries type their names under the signatures. But the number of self-concealers is very large.

FIRST cousins to the Squiggles are the Mum-Mums. They introduce us, at their otherwise delightful parties, as Mr. or Mrs. Mum-Mum to a swarm of other Mum-Mums. So we are left to bluff through our conversations with a silly pretence of knowing whom we address. No doubt we ought to say firmly, "My name is Grampian Norval. Now, Miss Anon, what exactly is yours?" But we do not. Round and round go our kindly and genially muttering hosts and hostesses, making Mum-Mums of us all.

IT is the habit of the bell-hops in hotels to page everybody, in their strident trebles, as Mr. Myah-Myah. They gain nothing, as a rule, by discovering the object of this search and so plainly regard the matter as a pointless routine. We expect no more in the lounge than an intermittent ululation, half moan, half scream, addressed to Mr. Myah-Myah. But surely Mrs. Mum-Mum might do better than the uncaring bell-hops. Her soirees, however cultural or cordial, would go even better without a form of introduction which is no more than a vocal replica of Squiggle's signature.

NO doubt I have sometimes been a Squiggle myself. But I try not to be. My anger with the Squiggles should be mitigated by the courtesy with which many of these correspondents seek, in the legible portions of their letters, to correct me, inform me, tell me truth, or tell me off. They give me matter for reflection and even for composition. Do I owe this article to them? But in future I shall not pore (nor pester my secretary with poring) over the squirming, secretive splotches which follow the "Yours truly." If answer is to be made I shall address it to A. Blank Squiggle, Esq. That, if he has an hotel or a college or community address, will cause trouble. But he has earned it. He has been warned.

The Red Coats Are Coming—Back

The Daily Mail said today Britons' spirits would get a lift if red coats were restored to all regiments of the British Army. — News item.

The huntsman wears a coat of red
To keep from being shot at.
The soldier's coat is drab instead
So shots go where he's not at.

The huntsman who mistakes a man
For fox or deer is sorry.
The soldier does the best he can
To kill his human quarry.

"Heigh-ho, the fox!" "Heigh-ho, the foe!"—
One gay, the other bitter.
I'd like my spirits lifted, though
Not borne upon a litter.

Letter To The Editor

ONWARD WITH ESPERANTO

Sir: During the year now coming to its close there took place two large international gatherings, having about the same number of participants and nations represented. One was the peace treaty conference at San Francisco, the other was the Universal Esperanto Congress at Munich. The first was well dealt with by the press; about the second little was heard.

In San Francisco the diversity of languages was a constant handicap among the statesmen. At the Esperanto Congress, two thousand people from forty different countries met for a week in an atmosphere of friendship and understanding which can exist only when all can converse in a common tongue.

At this season thoughts are turned to peace and good will to all men, and it is interesting to reflect on the extent to which language difficulties have been a barrier on the road to this ideal.

The language problem is one that has received the attention of philologists for many decades and there have been a number of suggestions for some kind of language planning. That one of the existing national languages should be adopted as a world language immediately occurs to one, and each nation would of course prefer to have its own language adopted by way of saving considerable trouble; but this attractive suggestion will not quite do, for very obvious reasons.

Some very useful work has been done by the inventors of a number of artificial languages, the most successful in this field being Jesperson and Zamenhof. The latter, who published his first Esperanto grammar in 1887, is still by far the leader and now has practically no competition.

Esperanto, which is a remarkably simple language, with a compact grammar and an ingenious vocabulary, has made progress throughout the world, being taught in many schools as a compulsory subject and in several universities. There are hundreds of publications in and about the language, in addition to which there is a large and growing literature in Esperanto, both original and translations. To mention just a few, there is an Esperanto edition of the Bible, published by the British and Foreign Bible Society; many of the plays of Shakespeare are now in Esperanto as well as the works of Cervantes, Dante, Goethe, Dickens and numerous other classics.

There have been nearly forty international congresses, in which Esperanto was the only language used, and that with outstanding success. No ear-phones, no tedious translations, the completeness and correctness of which may be open to question. Two world wars have not, surprisingly enough, held back the progress of this remarkable movement. The Esperanto Association of North America, one of the many national Esperanto organizations, recently held its forty-first congress, and it is probable that in 1952 or 1953 this congress will for the second time be held in Toronto, where we have a very active group of Esperantists from various countries of Europe.

Whether Esperanto is in fact the answer we do not of course know; but the writer, who learned the language some forty-five years ago and still speaks it fluently, has used it in several European countries and found that it actually does work.

If any of your readers would like to have more particulars of this interesting project I'm sure that they will receive every help from the Secretary of the Esperanto Association of North America, 114 West 16th Street, New York, N.Y., U.S.A., or from the Secretary of the Toronto Esperanto Society, Mr. W. D. B. Hackett, 11 Leona Drive, Lansing, Ontario.

Yours very truly,
D. W. M. JENKINS.

THOUGHTLESS TAXI DRIVERS

Sir: Although I am a car owner, I frequently require the service of a taxi. Each time the driver has remained in the car, and sounded the horn, instead of announcing his presence at the door.

A taxi driver, who has a steady customer in our neighborhood, always sounds the horn, and this is done between one and two a.m. waking us and several of our neighbours. How lazy and ignorant can a person get?

I drove taxi for seven years before coming to Peteborough, and never once did I sound the horn for my fare, regardless of the time or weather.

May I suggest to taxi owners, that they instruct their drivers to have some respect for people who are trying to get some much needed sleep.

Yours Truly,
"CONSIDERATE"

COMMENDS CHRISTMAS CONCERT

Sir: This being the season of Christmas concerts I would like to express my opinion of one I have just seen.

Having been invited to attend a concert presented by the S.S. 16 Otonabee school pupils held at the Union Church I went not in the least expecting the quality of entertainment provided, particularly attractive were the costumes worn by the children. The choral and group singing were very good.

The originality and wholesome gaiety was good to experience. I didn't realize Christmas concerts of the type presented by these pupils were still to be found in country communities.

It is a credit to the teachers and parents of that district to assist in such a delightful affair.

Yours truly,
READER.

ENJOYS EXAMINER'S BROADCASTS

Sir: May I express my sincere appreciation of the delightful musical programmes brought to us by you through CHEX. First the Searles Trio, and more recently the Coventry Singers. We have thoroughly enjoyed every programme and felt it well worth while to keep the children up late to share in it also. I only wish that it were possible to buy recordings of some of those lovely old carols, that we might become more familiar with them.

Sincerely,
J.M.G.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing. And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom. (II Tim. 4: 7, 8, 18.)

And after these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree. And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God: and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea, saying, Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads. And I heard the number of them which were sealed: and there were sealed an hundred and forty and four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.

After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands; and cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb.

And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the elders and the four beasts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God, saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen. (Rev. 7: 1-4, 9-12.)

Troops Observe Christmas In Front Lines

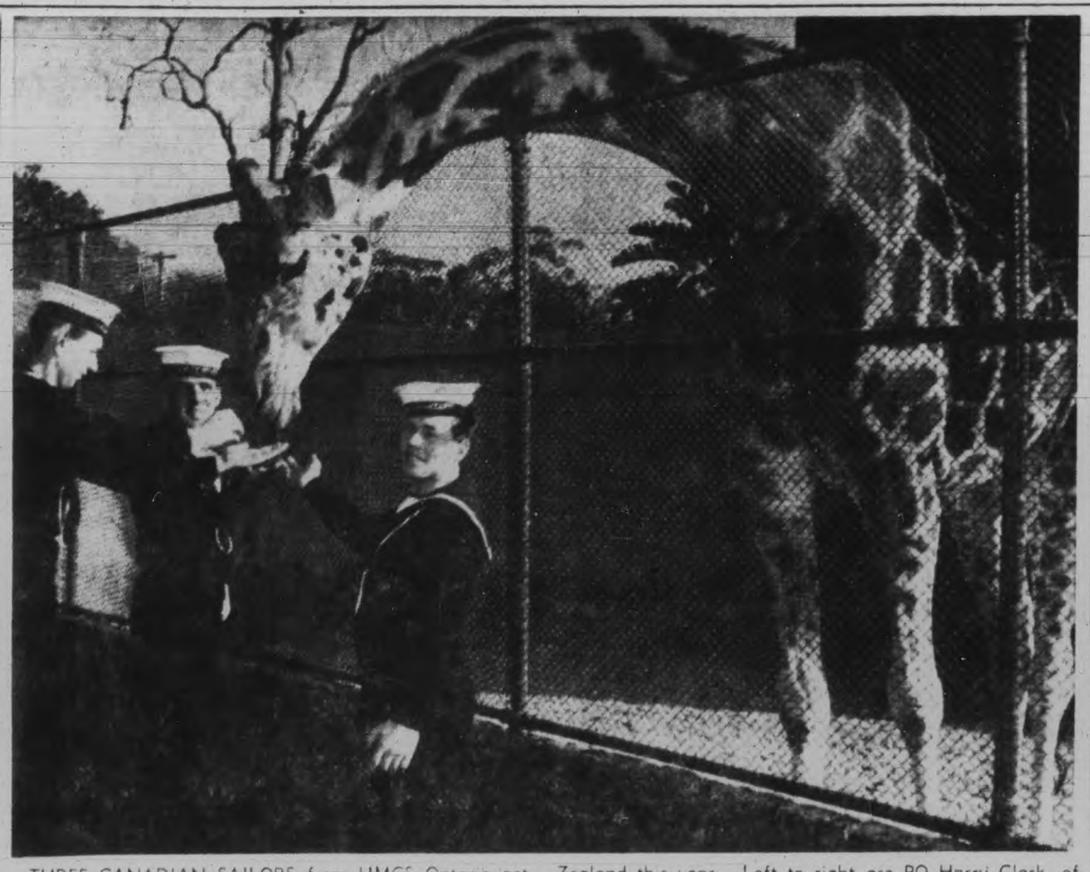
By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 26 (CP)—Despite a driving day-long drizzle, bleak, overcast skies and ankle-deep mud, most Canadian soldiers in Korea had a tip-top Christmas.

It was far from comfortable and far from home, but it was Christmas.

Even the Chinese Communists entered into the spirit of the thing and apart from one patrol clash the front was undisturbed throughout the day.

Wherever possible companies pulled back in turn, dined richly, then returned to the front to watch vigilantly while others celebrated briefly.



One Missed Out

Only the Royal 22nd Regiment missed out. Canadian and British troops who relieved the companies in the line to enable the Princess Patricias and the Royal Canadian Regiment to feast well Thursday gave the Van Doos their turn, allowing them to pull a few hundred yards back to eat before returning to their forward slit trenches.

Santa visited the units, too. The day was rendered complete by a postal delivery of Christmas parcels.

Most notable was a gift to the RCR from the A. Howse family, St. Thomas, addressed to Maj Jack Peterson. Arriving Tuesday, the parcel contained 16 parka hoods and gloves for Korean children.

"Since we hear that you have everything you need anyway, we feel you'll have more satisfaction from this kind of a gift than something for yourself," a message in the parcel said.

William Boyd (that's Hoppy) enterprises, embracing the myriad activities grown up with Bill's portrayal of the fabulous cowboy character, has been thrown onto the market. Asking price: about $8,000,000.

Asks Drastic Penalty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26 (AP)—Senator Charles W. Tobey (Rep.-NH) told a reporter today he is "thinking seriously" of asking Congress to impose the penalty of flogging for gross misconduct in federal office. Bancroft Teachers Voted Cost-Of-Living

BANCROFT, Dec. 26 (ENS)—Besides the regular annual increment of $100, a cost of living bonus will be given to the teachers on the staff of Bancroft-Faraday Public Schools in 1952. Final details of how the cost of living bonus would operate were not made but it will be $84 or $3.50 per day period for next year, as staff salaries are paid on a twice a month basis. However it was decided that the bonus would be paid for the advance in living costs during the calendar year 1951 in 1952 and that the 1953 payments would cover the fluctuations of 1952. This decision was reached by a committee of S. R. Walker, John Vance and Ralph Martin representing the board and Virginia Davidson, John Bleecker and Robert Watson representing the teachers.

Convict, Warden Meet Again In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26 (AP).—Two old friends met this week in Hollywood, where their life stories are being made into a film.

One is David Marshall Williams, inventor of the short-stroke piston in the carbine rifle and holder of 68 patents on gun inventions. The other is Capt. H. T. Peoples, who was his warden at Caledonia prison in North Carolina who allowed Williams to tinker with guns in the prison camp.

"Tom (Peoples) took a big chance on me," Williams admitted. "If one of those guns had gotten to one of the other prisoners and there had been trouble, Tom would have been on the other side of the cell."

Williams made his first gun at 10, fashioning a wooden affair with a match head to fire it. Later another gun got him in big trouble. A revenue agent was fatally shot in 1920 while raiding a still. Williams was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to 30 years in prison.

"I was sent to Caledonia, a prison for incorrigibles," he recalled. "They thought I was a tough character. I guess I was, too. But a man changes."

Part of the change started when Peoples became warden in 1921 and allowed Williams to experiment with gun inventions.

Williams was paroled in 1929, partly because of his gun inventions. In the following years he worked for gun companies. Last year he decided to publicize his previous history. The reason: his 15-year-old son.

"I didn't care for myself" he explained. "I like to have people like me, but it's not essential. With a kid it's different. He could be hurt if somebody gave him the wrong information. So I decided getting some good publicity might be the thing to do."

His life now is being filmed under the title "Carbine Williams" with James Stewart in the title role and Wendell Corey playing Peoples.

Last Friday, Globe and Mail sports columnist Al Nickleson used a story about Zoltan, 31, a former javelin thrower on the Hungarian Olympic team. Michael working in a tire factory here, heard of the story and called the sports writer, who arranged the reunion.

Labor Unity Suffers Blow As Employment High In '51

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Dec. 26—(CP)—Jobs and pay hit new all-time highs in Canada during 1951; but perhaps the major labor developments during the year were these:

1. A lessening of the newly-attained co-operation measures among the rival central labor organizations.

2. A struggle for internal power in the Canadian Congress of Labor, climaxed by the resignation of Pat Conroy, national secretary-treasurer.

3. An increase in the number of unemployed late in the year.

Early in 1951; the big central labor bodies—representing about 1,000,000 workers—got together in a national consultative committee designed to give them added strength in gaining common objectives.

But the largest group, the 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, later backed away from this stand. It left its executive with discretion to co-operate with the other groups on specific matters, but the move was a recession from what had appeared to be some progress in the direction of eventual labor unity.

Still An Objective

However, officials of the 350,000-member CCL, the next-largest body, let it be known later that organic unity is still an objective of the Congress.

The CCL provided one of the biggest individual labor stories of the year with the resignation of Pat Conroy and the events leading up to it. First, because of Mr. Conroy's status as an outstanding union leader; and, second, because it pointed up the differing ideas among some CCL leaders.

Mr. Conroy resigned when Sam Baron of Hamilton, whom he was backing for executive office, was defeated at the Congress convention. However, it has been surmised that his departure actually was prompted by the fact that international unions were getting a tighter grip on the CCL, which started out originally as an all-Canadian organization.

On the employment side, the number of Canadians at work struck an all-time peak of 5,343,000 in midsummer. The average wages of labor, too, reached new highs month after month.

Employment dropped off late in the year. By late December, the low unemployment figure of 124,000 in August had risen to 193,000 and was still moving up. But it was still below the year's high of 304,000 in February.

Buyer Resistance

Seasonal factors were playing a part in the rise of unemployment. Labor men also said some manufacturers of durable consumer goods were laying off employees, or putting them on a short work week, because of difficulty in selling their products.

As an apparent offshoot of that, a number of union leaders reported employers were showing more resistance to the granting of wage demands than earlier in the year.

On the wage front, unions for the most part concentrated on getting straight pay increases — rather than "fringe" benefits — in an attempt to keep up with rising prices. Labor held the view that wages generally were trailing living costs upward.

The big post-war issue of Communism in labor got relatively little public play during the year. The CCL rid itself of its last big left-wing stronghold by expelling the International Union of Fur and Leather Workers. But for the most part individual unions went on with a quiet housecleaning of Reds within their memberships.

The year was comparatively free from major industrial unrest. The largest strike hit the country in December when about 6,700 workers of the Ford Company's Windsor plants staged a "wildcat" walkout over the firing of 26 men for inciting work stoppages. The strike, coming after six months of wage negotiations, lasted 11 days. Another big strike kept about 3,000 men idle a month at the Hollinger Gold Mining Company in Timmins during late summer.

Senator Named Best-Dressed

NEW YORK, Dec. 26—(AP)—Republican Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts — described as the man with "the ideal look" — Tuesday topped the American Women's Institute's 1951 list of the 10 best dressed males in the United States.

The Institute polled its 100,000 women member fashion leaders in making its annual selections.

Others included:

State Secretary Dean Acheson —the impeccable look—"distinguished in appearance; his clothes have a professional blend of immaculate and precise smartness."

Boston Red Sox manager Lou Boudreau — the sports look — "wears clothes with a casual ease a shining example of our American sportsman."

Film and opera star Ezio Pinza —the handsome look—"a handsome man who wears clothes in a handsome manner, trim and smart."

Japanese Doctor Commits Hari-Kari

DETROIT, Dec. 26—(AP)—The body of a brilliant, 26-year-old Japanese surgeon and teacher was found in a semi-kneeling position on a blood-soaked bed in Receiving Hospital Tuesday.

He was identified as Dr. Minora Wada, of Tokyo.

Police said the young medical man apparently committed hari-kari—honorable suicide for the Japanese.

May Not Prick Finger To Obtain Blood Samples

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26 — (AP)—Instead of pricking your finger to get a sample of blood the doctor may be soon be saying:

"Spit in this spoon."

He will be using the saliva for some tests now only made on blood. These tests were explained today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, opening its 18th annual meeting, with thousands of scientists coming to Philadelphia for the rest of the week to make more than 1,000 scientific reports.

The saliva report was made by Frances Krasnow, of the Guggenheim Dental Clinic, New York city. She and associates discovered that saliva contains cholesterol in the same amounts that this chemical appears in your blood.

Cholesterol is a substance common in food, especially in eggs, and it is part of your body's chemical processes. This stuff gets out of order during arthritis and the rheumatic diseases. It is one of the causes—but not the main one—of hardening of the arteries.

Can Be Measured

Saliva of healthy persons contains less cholesterol that that of sick people. The difference, Dr. Krasnow said, is easily measurable.

When you have tooth decay or other dental troubles, there is more cholesterol in your saliva. When you have tooth troubles and also are sick, there is the largest amount of saliva cholesterol.

Dr. Krasnow said all this makes the spit a good diagnostic tool.

A new index for the dangers of radioactivity was reported from the Argonne Laboratory in Chicago of the US Atomic Energy Commission. The more primitive a living tissue is, the less it is harmed by radioactivity. Human beings are made largely of the complicated tissues.

This does not mean there is no hope for human beings to escape harm from radioactivity. The study serves to set up an additional method of judging how much radioactivity we can stand. At present that danger point for human beings is not known.

Famous French Horse Retired To Stud

PARIS, Dec. 26—(Reuters)—Tantieme the famous four-year-old French racehorse, has been retired to stud.

By his record, Tantieme is the greatest racehorse in Europe. By the money he has won, he also is the richest. He has won 83,308,568 francs (about $233,000).

At stud Tantieme will indirectly make even more millions than he did winning races by founding a dynasty of future winners.

His owner, Francois Dupre, has 50 other thoroughbreds and owns two of the largest hotels in Europe. Dupre would still be immensely rich if Tantieme had never brought him in a franc, instead of winning 12 of the 15 big races in which he ran.

Tantieme is described in the French equine Who's Who as "flawless" in appearance, uniform deep bay in color, of the most aristocratic ancestry, sweet in character, easy in movement, light on his feet, a powerful finisher and great-hearted.

France means to keep Tantieme to help retain the racing supremacy which French owners have held since the Second World War. Dupre refused an offer of 200,000,000 francs ($560,000) for Tantieme from a British syndicate.

West Indies Need 179 To Beat Australia

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 26—(Reuters) — The West Indies, making a great bid to win the third cricket test match against Australia, needed only 179 runs for victory with all their second-innings wickets standing when the second day's play ended today.

Left to get 233 runs to win, opening batsmen Jeff Stollmeyer and Roy Marshall scored 54 without being separated.

Australia, 23 runs behind on the first innings, were dismissed shortly after tea for 255 in their second knock, eight wickets falling today for the addition of 235 runs.

Spin bowler Doug Ring, who proved difficult to dismiss in the previous two tests, was top scorer with 67. Arthur Morris hit up 45, but it was not an inspiring knock.

Suspend Levandoski

SYDNEY, NS, Dec. 26 (CP)—Joe Levandoski, 30-year-old Sydney Millionaires' defenceman from Cobalt, Ont., has been suspended for two weeks effective yesterday, for refusing to play with his team Christmas Eve, club officials announced today.

He was one of three Sydney players not in uniform Monday night when Sydney was defeated 4-1 by Glace Bay Miners in a Maritime Major Hockey League game here. The others, Frank Bathgate, and Whip Whalen had "legitimate reasons for missing the game," officials said.

It was understood Levandoski refused to play because of salary issues.

Reds Subdue Buffalo 5-3

By The Canadian Press.

Providence Reds took over second place in the American Hockey League's eastern division Christmas by defeating Buffalo Bisons 5-3.

Syracuse Warriors won their ninth game in the last 10 starts when they downed Hershey Bears 5-2 in the only other Christmas effort.

Chuck Scherzav and Pete Kapusta paced the Reds' attack with two goals each. Ken Smith notched the other. Buffalo scorers were Les Hickey, Gordon Pennell and Don Ashbee.

Buffalo used goalkeeper Nick Pidsodny, recalled from Sydney, NS.

At Hershey, in the third period Norm Corcoran of the Bears scored three goals in less than eight minutes.

Kelly Burnett and Keith Allen scored for the Warriors in the opening period. In the second Kenny Hayden made it 3-0.

Burnett added his second in the final session and Harry Pidhirny wound up the Syracuse scoring.

Trade Couture To Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Dec. 26 (AP). — Cleveland Barons said today they had traded Fern Perreault and an amateur to Montreal Canadiens of the NHL for Gerald (Jerry) Couture, an experienced right wing.

The amateur is to be named at the end of the season.

Cleveland is in the American Hockey League.

Couture played with Detroit Red Wings before being traded last summer to Montreal.

Couture, a native of Saskatoon, had his best season in 1949-50 when he scored 24 goals and had seven assists for the Wings in reglar season play and picked up nine points in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Perreault, 24-year-old native of Chambly Basin, Que., made two brief appearances with New York Rangers since he broke into professional hockey in 1948. He scored 26 goals and got 30 assists for Cincinnati Mohawks in the AHL last season.

Figures Show Rogovin Best AL Pitcher

CHICAGO, Dec. 26 (AP)—The 1951 American League baseball season was a big one for pitchers with six hurlers crowding into the 20-game winning circle—the most since another half dozen made it in 1922.

Saul Rogovin, righthander traded to Chicago White Sox by Detroit Tigers early in the campaign, proved the most effective twirler in the major leagues. Official American League statistics released today showed him with an earned run average of 2.78.

Chet Nichols, rookie southpaw of the Boston Braves, topped the National League with an ERA of 2.88.

The earned run leader is determined under a new rule requiring appearance in 154 or more innings. Rogovin pitched 217 innings in 27 games and had a 12-8 record. He allowed only 79 runs, 67 of which were earned.

Lopat Qualifies

Eddie Lopat of the New York Yankees was the only other AL twirler to come in under the three-run mark per nine-inning game. He had 2.91.

Cleveland Indians contributed three 20-game winners. They were Bob Feller (22-8), Early Wynn (20-13) and Mike Garcia (20-13). New York had Lopat (21-9) and Vic Raschi (21-10). The sixth was the St. Louis Browns' Ned Garver (20-12).

Lopat is the only left-hander in the group.

Cleveland topped the team earned-run average for the fourth straight year with 3.38. Chicago was second with 3.50 and the world champion Yankees third with 3.56.

One of the league's busiest moundsmen was Ellis Kinder of Boston Red Sox who appeared in 63 games, three short of the record 66 set by Ed Walsh of the White Sox in 1908.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

The National Boxing Association Tuesday night gave former heavyweight champion Joe Louis a provisional rating as a "logical contender" for the title now held by Jersey Joe Walcott.

The NBA in Washington said only one member of its 23-man rating board voted to give Louis a rating but the majority favored a tentative rating for the Brown Bomber "In tribute to his contribution to boxing, well above the general sports level."

The experts also figured that Louis will voluntarily announce his retirement.

The NBA also listed Rocky Marciano of Massachusetts, Ezzard Charles of Ohio, and Clarence Henry of California among the "logical contenders" in the heavyweight division.

Other ratings included:

Middleweights—champion: Ray Robinson, New York; logical contender: Randolph Turpin, England.

Welterweights—champion: Kid Gavilan, Cuba; logical contender, Charles Hunez, France.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Now that the Christmas dinner, fun and expense have gone with the wind, let's settle down to the serious business of hockey again. After all, hockey may not be quite as exciting as Christmas—tho' it might if we had but one game a year—but neither is it as expensive. Anyway, there's an OHA senior "B" game at 8.30 this eve in Civic Arena between the two teams tied atop the heap, Belleville Hawks and the Petes. It adds up to a swell, speedy struggle, and should draw a hefty crowd, as folks must have a little dough left over from the shopping spree. It'll be a real battle for undisputed possession of first place.

* * * * * *

Speaking of speed in hockey, we note an item in Baz O'Meara's Montreal column. He said Dick Irvin saw a game from the Boston press box and remarked that play looked slow from 'way up high, though he agreed that you saw the patterns of play better. We've often noted that in large arenas, and even at the old Brock rink when we took in our hockey from the balcony. Civic Arena isn't a big place and fans are closer to the players. They see the speed, but most often miss out on pattern plays—that is the plotted rush with fellows playing positional hockey, and with the rival teams striving to block off possible plays emerging from that pattern.

* * * * * *

Someone Missed Out

You'd see what we meant if you could sit in a high press box, or even in a fan's seat well up in the Maple Leaf Gardens. The players don't look as large nor do they seem to step as fast, but you get a better picture of the game. You realize then what coaches think during a game, and why it is said that whenever a goal is scored someone has made a mistake on the defending team! Not the goalie, necessarily, nor even the defencemen at times. But someone has erred in letting that guy in there to score a goal. It's an interesting angle to watch for in a hockey game—and keen puck fans do notice these things.

* * * * * *

While on the subject of OHA games here, let's clear up a point. Various followers of Eagles and Petes have told us they didn't think much of this or that ref, and why didn't we pan 'em? Several reasons. For one thing, the guy is trying to make a few bucks and we won't knock him unless he's pretty bad. Again, home fans naturally dislike any official who gives a local player a penalty. Also, we get the rep of being a hard loser if we pin the blame on visiting refs for a local loss. Still more important, the clubs here put up with some indifferent refereeing because the referees don't travel too far for games and thus don't cost as much. If the local clubs are satisfied with the refereeing, then why should we kick?

* * * * * *

No More For A Spell

After tonight's tilt here, there won't be another OHA senior "B" game in Peterborough until Jan. 4, a week from this Friday. Meantime, both local clubs take to the road Friday p.m., the Petes going to Belleville, and Eagles to Kingston. Schedule isn't half over yet, as it runs till leap year night, Feb. 29, with playoffs following. No playoff arrangements have been made so far this Central Ontario grouping. Petes presently lead the loop with 12 points in 10 games Belleville having as many points but playing one game more. Kingston is close behind with 10 points in 10 contests, Eagles crowding up there, too, with eight in 11 tries.

* * * * * *

Our junior "B" Oddfellows rest until Friday when they take on the Kingston Vics here, and then they have Belleville up this way next Wednesday. No OHA jousts locally New Year's Eve. The junior schedule runs till Feb. 16, followed by playoffs. IOOF-ers are trailing the pack at this date but could catch fire from here in and burn up the circuit. Let us hope. Some group scoring figures out of Lindsay list Hec Lalonde of Belleville leading the snipers with 28 points. Red Robinson of the Triple Links is tied in third place with 21 points. Other Links mentioned further down are Buckton and Ferguson with 11 each, and Coyle with 10.

US-Australia Divide 2 Cup Matches

By GAYLE TALBOT.

SYDNEY, Australia Dec. 26—(AP).—American and Australian Davis Cup forces battled to a standstill in the first two singles matches before a crowd of 15,300 at White City Stadium today and the consensus now is that the challenge round will be decided by Thursday's doubles.

Vic Seixas sent the US team in front with a dull 6-3, 6-4, 9-7 victory over stage-stricken Mervyn Rose, but Frank Sedgman squared the issue with a brilliant triumph over 30-year-old Ted Schroeder, 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Frank Shields, captain of the US team, announced after the second match that he will stick with his doubles pair, Schroeder and Tony Trabert against Sedgman and Ken McGregor tomorrow "unless somebody comes up lame."

Although defeated, Schroeder rallied to win the third set and fought Sedgman to a bitter finish in the fourth.

He fought off four set and match points before Sedgman passed him cleanly at the net for the clincher.

Appeared Doomed

Schroeder appeared doomed to a straight-set defeat when he trailed 1-3, in the third set after dropping his service at Love but the Pacific coast star came off the grass fighting and from there on its was thrilling tennis.

Ted ripped through five of the next six games.

Shields said Sedgman played the greatest tennis he ever saw. Captain Harry Hopman of the Aussies wouldn't concede that, but said he was "quite satisfied" with Frank's form.

Actually for the greater part of the match Sedgman's tennis was brilliant in the extreme. Possibly no amateur who ever lived could have beaten him in the first two sets. He tailed off slightly in the third.

But the star was right back giving a beautiful demonstration of every shot in the game in the fourth set and nothing Schroeder could do was good enough to stem the tide.

At times during the match Rose became petulant and tossed the ball about the court and generally gave his countrymen a drab exhibition.

Sudbury Boxing Club Asks For Hearing On Suspension

SUDBURY, Dec. 26 — Shuck Martin, vice-president of the Northland Boxing Club, announced over the weekend that he was writing to May Meades of Toronto, president of the Central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, for a hearing on the clubs's recent suspension.

The Northland Club and four of its officers were temporarily suspended by the Central Ontario branch last week for using American boxer Bobby Rivers on a recent card at the Legion Memorial Hall. Under AAU regulations an American boxer is barred from fighting in Ontario without first securing an international permit.

Officers suspended in addition to Martin, were Johnny Teale, president; Bob Watson, secretary, and Ed Sophia, treasurer.

"I have already talked to Meades by long-distance telephone," Martin said, "and he seems to think that our suspension was premature. I understand that it was ordered by George Denniston and Harry Peace. I don't see how they can go ahead and order suspensions."

Denniston is the registration chairman of the Central Ontario branch while Peace serves as public relations chairman a new post created this autumn when Peace resigned as president of the branch.

Martin, who is vice-president of the Central Ontaio branch was not informed of the action taken to suspend the Northland Blub and its officers before the announcement was given to the press and radio.

"If there are any suspensions to be handed out, then I think that both Meades and myself should know about them," he said. "There seems to be some misunderstanding about who's running the branch," he added.

Hawks Slap Down Bruins 6-2 As Wings Edge Rangers 2-1

By The Canadian Press

The highest and lowest National Hockey League clubs won in Christmas night action. Chicago Black Hawks, behind the two-goal effort of centreman Jim MacFadden, slapped a 6-2 setback on Boston Bruins, while the high-flying Detroit Red Wings continued on the victory road, edging New York Rangers 2-1.

Chicago's victory, breaking a three-game losing streak, pulled them into a last-place tie with Rangers.

For Detroit, it was the 10th straight game without a loss and brought to 13 points the Wings' lead over the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs. Canadiens and Leafs didn't play Christmas.

Defenceman Bill Gadsby got one of the Hawks' counters and assisted in two more, while Bep Guidolin, George Gee and Bill Mosienko handled the others.

Fast Pace

Both Boston goals, notched by defenceman Hal Laycoe and rookie Jack McIntyre, came within one minute in the middle period.

Because of the holiday and a blizzard which snarled traffic, only 7,246 fans — the smallest Detroit crowd in 10 years—saw the Wings overcome a 1-0 deficit to win.

Don Raleigh put the Broadway Blueshirts out in front with his 11th goal of the season. Goalie Terry Sawchuk handled 23 shots, against Chuck Rayner's 26.

Detroit knotted the tally within one minute on Metro Prystai's short shop through Rayner's pads.

The clincher came while New York was shorthanded. Defenceman Hy Buller was sitting out one of the game's seven penalties when Glen Skov did the trick on a close-in shot.

Charley Gehringer, the great Detroit second baseman, topped the American League in both batting and fielding in records released 14 years ago today. Gehringer's batting average was .371 and he won the American League's most valuable player award that year.

BEING SHADOWED—Mildred Lamond rides a yearling under the shadow of the stewards' stand in an early-morning gallop at Florida's Hialeah Park. The colt will run its first race at nearby Tropical Park on its second birthday, Jan. 1, when the thoroughbred becomes eligible. All horses celebrate their birthday on New Year's Day.

Detroit Records 13-Point Lead Over Toronto

MONTREAL, Dec. 26 (CP). — Detroit Red Wings stand as a good example of team play in the National Hockey League.

Detroit has 48 points—20 wins and eight deadlocks in 32 starts—for a comfortable 13-point lead over Toronto Maple Leafs. Montreal Canadiens hold their third place with 30 points, five less than Toronto and one more than Boston Bruins. New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks are tied in the basement with 25 points each.

Terry Sawchuk, the Wings' starry goalie, has allowed only 56 goals past him in 32 games for a goals-against average of 1.75. His closest opponent for the Vezina Trophy—awarded to the best goaltender—is last years cup winner, Toronto Al Rollins, who has a 2.12 average.

Sawchuk also paces the netminders with the largest number of shutouts to his credit, seven — five more than anyone else.

Recovers First Place

Montreal's Elmer Lach has recovered first place in points.

Lach has 31 points—seven goals and 24 assists. Tied in second place, one point behind Lach, are teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Ted Kennedy of Toronto.

Sid Smith of Toronto is tied with New York's Don Raleigh for fourth place with 28 points each. One point behind are Howe and Bill Mosienko of Chicago.

Gus Kyle remains league badman with 81 minutes in penalties called against him. Toronto is the most penalized club with a total of 331 minutes.

NEW YORK Dec. 26 (AP). — Jack Stoddard and Ray Powell of Previdence Reds are staging their private battle for top scoring honors in the American Hockey League.

Stoddard leads the loop for the fourth straight week with 45 points, made up of 19 goals and 26 assists. Powell has compiled 44 points on 17 goals and 27 assists.

Land For Needy Sought In Tour Of India

NEW DEHLI—(CP)—An earnest preacher of the gospel of sharing land has arrived here after covering nearly 800 miles on foot in 61 days. Achary Vinoba Bhave, who started his campaign in Uttar Pradesh, is a disciple of the late Mahatma Gandhi.

At a press conference recently he said he was confident that the problem of redistribution of wealth, of which land was the most important, could be settled peacefully in India.

He has set his target at 50,000,000 acres and although he has achieved some results, it would take many years to achieve this goal at the present rate, he said.

Bhave said that if his appeal could reach every heart, the pace would quicken and a peaceful revolution would be the result. He said his work would be accomplished even if his target is not achieved, if the people accepted the view that land should be redistributed, because the proper atmosphere would have been created for changes by legislation.

15,000 Acres Donated

He said 15,000 acres of land were donated in Telengana and more than 5,000 of these have already been redistributed among the poor. Another 20,000 acres have been donated already in Northern India. President Rajendra Prasad himself offered a token acre in Bihar and an offer of 578 acres was received from Jhansi.

During his stay here Bhave has received gifts totalling 1,000 acres.

The land missionary explained his methods. At different villages a meeting is called where persons who own land and have no other occupation are asked to stand. If the others agree the person standing is in need of land, it is given to him. The basic request is for one acre of irrigated land, or five acres unirrigated, for each family.

Worthless Cheque Given For Board

Charged with issuing a worthless cheque, in payment for lodging, Douglas Clancy, 24, of 540 Lakeshore Avenue, Toronto Island, pleaded guilty in police court on Monday.

One of three men selling subscriptions to a national religious weekly here recently, Clancy admitted tendering a cheque for $8 on a Toronto bank on an account which had been closed in October.

Clancy claimed that he had given instructions for the cheque to be held until he could obtain cash to cover it, and had understood that his crew manager had paid the bill and torn up the cheque.

Detective-Sergeant Bud Clarke said that Clancy had no known record. He was picked up in Toronto by Queen City police and brought here by Constable Douglas Farthing Saturday.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said Clancy's action appeared to be more stupidity than criminal intent.

Magistrate W. R. Philp placed Clancy on suspended sentence for one year, under bond, and ordered him to pay $8 for the amount of the bad cheque, and $14.50 court costs and expenses in bringing him to Peterborough to face the charge.

If the costs are not paid, the Magistrate said Clancy would have to serve 10 days in county jail.

Get Only Son Back After Narrow Escape

HALIFAX, Dec. 26 (CP)—Two missionaries in Canada's north said a special prayer Tuesday. Their only son, near death two months ago, was home.

Two-year-old Ian Grubbs was bitten and mauled by starving huskies last October in the Eskimo settlement of Makkiovik Bay, 250 miles northeast of Goose Bay, Labrador.

An RCAF plane made a mercy dash to the settlement and took him to Montreal for treatment. Monday, after more than a month in hospital and still bearing livid scars, he boarded a plane which took him home for Christmas.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

King George Counts His Blessings In His Christmas Message

LONDON, Dec. 26 (Reuters) — The text of the King's Christmas message broadcast Tuesday:

As I speak to you today, I would like to wish you, wherever you may be, a happy Christmas. Though we live in hard and critical times, Christmas is, and always will be, a time when we can and should count our blessings—the blessings of home, the blessing of happy family gatherings and the blessing of the hopeful message of Christmas.

I myself have every cause for deep thankfulness. For not only—by the grace of God and through the faithful skill of my doctors, surgeons and nurses—have I come through my illness, but I learned once again that it is in bad times that we value most highly the support and sympathy of our friends.

From my peoples in these islands and in the British Commonwealth and Empire—as well as from many other countries—this support and sympathy has reached me, and I thank you now from my heart.

I trust that you yourselves realize how greatly your prayers and good wishes have helped and are helping me in my recovery.

Great Disappointment

It has been a great disappointto the Queen and myself that we have been compelled to give up for the second time the (Australian) tour which we had planned for next year.

We were looking forward to meeting my peoples in their own homes and realize that they will share our regret that this cannot be.

I am very glad that our daughter, Princess Elizabeth, with her husband, will be able to visit these countries and I know that their welcome there will be as warm as that which awaited us.

You are most of you now sitting at home among your families, listening to me as I speak from mine. At Christmas we feel that the old, simple things matter most. They do not change however much the world outside may seem to do so.

When we say that Christmas brings good cheer, we do not only think of material things, we think more of the feelings of friendliness and comradeship we have one for the other and I think that among all the blessings which we may count today, the chief one is that we are a friendly people.

Don't Think Alike

We do not all think alike, of course. We are such a large family of nations that this would be difficult. We each have our own ideas, but we have come to learn that differences of opinion are not the same as quarrels.

I wonder if we realize just how precious this spirit of friendliness and kindness is?

We are living in an age which is often hard and cruel, and if there is anything that we can offer to the world today, perhaps it is the example of tolerance and understanding that run, like a golden thread through the great and diverse family of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

I send a special message to all those who are far from their homes and families on this Christmas Day. There is nothing new in this: We are a home-loving, but we have never been a stay-at-home people.

But during the war we all looked forward so anxiously to the times when we should spend Christmas together at home, and now the troubles of the world are forcing so many of us to be away from our families and our homes.

The Queen and I join with all those of our people who are thinking today of the absent ones from the family circle, some of whom may be serving in foreign lands.

They may be the young men doing their national service. They may be the officers and men of my fighting services and of the merchant services.

I know that on Christmas Day they will be thinking of their families at home, and you will be remembering them.

But especially we are all thinking of our friends and our sons and brothers who are now facing hardships and dangers in Malaya and Korea, a 'Band of Brothers' drawn from all parts of my Dominions.

The Queen and I wish you all, near and far, a happy Christmas and a prosperous and peaceful New Year.

Norwood Institute Exchanges Gifts

NORWOOD, Dec. 26—(ENS)—The Norwood Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Albert Gill. Mrs. Fred Gardner read a Christmas poem. At the roll call the members answered by giving a Christmas card for shut-ins. The ladies decided to give a Christmas hamper to the Rusaw family who recently lost their home. Birthday corsages were presented to those having a birthday in December.

Mrs. Gill gave the highlights on the convention in Toronto in November. The Institute decided to send $10 for Greek relief and also hold a shower of used clothing at the January meeting.

Mrs. William Golloher gave an interesting article on the history of Christmas carols. Gifts were exchanged by the ladies.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Fred Patterson, Mrs. Gordon Parker, Mrs. Willis Preston, Mrs. Harry Rogers and Mrs. Robert Leeper.

CHANGED MEANING

The word "advertisement" in Shakespeare's time meant any kind of information or public statement.

Called Quisling

GLASGOW, Dec. 26 (Reuters) —Lord Provost Sir Warren, who told a Montreal audience about two weeks ago that Scots don't want self-government, Tuesday night was branded "Quisling." When he came home after an evening out, he found this slogan splashed in foot-high red-painted letters, on his white garden wall: "London's office boy, Scotland's Quisling—traitor."

What are YOU best at?

They showed a vet he'd be a bad grocer but a swell office manager (he now is). A "dumb" truck driver proved to be a top engineering prospect.

VOL. CIII. No. 148 WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1951

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CITY HALL HOLIDAY

City hall staff is enjoying an extra holiday today. It was boxing day and a municipal holiday, and was generally rated more acceptable than the day after New Year's.

TOWNSHIP ASSESSOR

Hugh M. Foster, RR 1, Port Hope, was appointed assessor of the township of Clarke for 1952. Mr. Foster will assess for 1953 under the county's equalized assessment plan. He will be paid $2.50 for each completed assessment card.

G FELLOW IMPROVING

Latest reports from Western hospital, Toronto, say that the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare, is resting comfortably, but is expected to remain in hospital for several weeks. Mr. Goodfellow suffered an attack of coronary thrombosis recently.

SALES DOWN

Port Hope merchants report that Christmas sales are down thousands of dollars as compared with last year. Two reasons given were the heavy snowfall and the fact that many of the townspeople were working on short time and didn't have the money to spend this year.

NEW LEGION HEAD

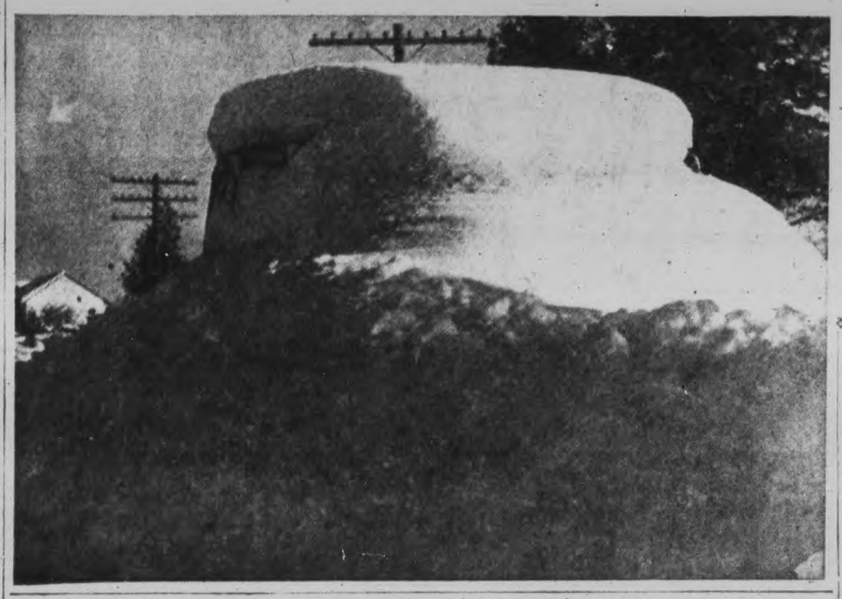
Clare D. Spence of Lindsay is the 1952 president of the Sir Sam Hughes Branch 67 of the Canadian Legion. The 1st vice president is William Burn and the 2nd vice president is J. Corrie. Installation of officers will be in mid January.

BIG SALE OF TOYS

Santa Claus left only odds and ends of toys in his depots around town. On the top floor of the Walker store you could have put the remnants in a big clothes basket. Stocks were not much heavier in CDS and Percivals about 4 pm Monday.

HOLD CHILDREN'S PARTY

Local 599, IUE (CIO-CCL) held their annual children's Christmas party in the Centre theatre. Altogether some 200 were entertained with movies and each child received a present. Eric May played Santa Claus. Harry Burnley, president of Local 599, welcomed everybody on behalf of the union.



ALL'S QUIET

Drunks, speedy and careless drivers must have stayed indoors over the Christmas holiday for the police department had a very quiet day for a holiday. Only one driver was taken into custody and two minor accidents, both skidding accidents due to the snow, were reported. There was no police court held today because of Boxing Day.

PLOWED ON HOLIDAY

An east wind with light snow, cut in on the Christmas afternoon of the men who contract to keep the city's sidewalks free of snow. They were called out for plow patrol in the afternoon. In fact walking was satisfactory through the holiday period. This group have seen more snow this month, than in most winters, according to estimates at the board of works yards.

TONS OF SNOW WERE TACKLED today, by hand, by mechanical pushers and loaders, by old-fashioned horse plows as people in cities, villages and in the country dug themselves out. A total of 31 inches of snow has fallen in this district from Dec. 9 until Christmas night, 6¼ of them since Sunday. A home-made horse plow is shown at Top Left on the Warsaw Road and a mechanical shovel, owned by the city, at Upper Right dumps snow from Inverlea Bridge into the Otonabee River below. What was once a car, Lower photo, is well and truly buried on Highway 28, south of Lakefield. Continuous snowfall and highway machinery have buried it completely; it has been under that mountain of white stuff for several days. —Examiner Staff Photos

Bethany Woman Homeless; Friends Fail To Save Home

BETHANY, Dec. 26 —(ENS)— The two-storey frame home of Miss Lila Davis burned to the ground here this morning.

Cause is thought to have been defective wiring in the attic. Damage is not settled, but the house was only partly covered by insurance. Miss Davis lived alone.

Miss Davis awoke shortly before 6 am to find her second-storey bedroom filled with smoke. She said she could hardly breathe. She ran downstairs and to the home of a neighbor, Lloyd Argue.

Neighbors Helped

Mr. Argue telephoned the alarm and from 45 to 50 neighbors answered the call to form a bucket brigade. They worked in vain as the fire had too strong a grip on the house to be quenched.

The house was burned to the ground in half an hour. Some of the workers saved furniture from the ground floor, but could take nothing from the second storey because of the thick smoke and heat.

Fortunately for nearby residents, there was no wind this morning, and the flames did not threaten houses close to the fire.

Miss Davis has gone to stay with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Boggs, who live near Manvers Station, west of Bethany.

Snow Conditions Best In Years

Sleighs, toboggans and skis, just delivered by Santa Claus, were broken in Christmas day on slopes throughout the Peterborough district as ideal snow conditions—the best in years—exist.

In fact the snow was so deep that a number of ski enthusiasts were turned back when they attempted to ski at the Peterborough Ski Club playground at Bethany.

Skiing was described as excellent throughout the district, both for hill and woods skiing. The snow is about 14 to 18 inches deep, a thick layer, powder snow on top, on the hills and 14 inches in the woods.

Over the week-end a number of skiers zoomed down the hills at Kemp's and Bethany as the club operated all the tows, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Night and day skiing has been planned for the remainder of the holidays for Kemp's and Bethany. The lights will be on at Kemp's Thursday night for three hours skiing while the tow will be operating also Thursday, Saturday, Sunday and New Year's Day.

Rail Express Arrives Late From Toronto

The peak of express volume was greater this year and it also came later, express company officials indicate.

CPR found it necessary to make deliveries on Sunday and the CNR were delivering Christmas Day.

Bad road conditions slowed up the service. In particular the snowstorm that tied up traffic in Toronto caused a delay greater than usual through that source.

"The trouble wasn't here, it was Toronto," commented W. A. Brown, CPR agent. "Volume was greater than usual and weather conditions made it difficult to deliver."

Mr. Brown said that the volume generally begins to swell about Dec. 14 but this time there was a delay. CNR officials concur. Flow was heaviest at the beginning of the week after a Saturday shopping spree by industrial workers who would be free and who also had the money.

Snow, Snow, Snow, Just Like the Good Old Days

The good old days of piles of snow and cold weather are back again—with a vengeance. Jim Harrison, official weather recorder at the filtration plant reported today that 31 inches of snow has fallen on the city and the surrounding district since Dec. 9. People who had relaxed at the beginning of the weekend and thought they were going to have a quiet white Christmas got a bit of a shock when snow started falling Sunday again. By the time it was finished Tuesday night another six and a quarter inches had been added.

Drivers in the city and in the country would have sworn there was a good deal more than that, especially at intersections. Many drivers came to grief at city corners.

Piled High

Plows had piled the snow high in drifts and cars that were forced to stop for other traffic often found themselves stuck. Some were abandoned. Tuesday stuck in drifts at corners.

No snow plows were out during Christmas day and the driving became pretty heavy. Street's showed the scars of battle where drivers had had to dig their way out of snow banks.

Street plows were out Monday all day from three am. But not the whole city was covered—or uncovered.

Provincial police said that highways were centre bare and there were no drifts reported. Some of the county roads had been cleared. Township roads were not in as good condition. The police said they saw plows of all sorts from all types of municipalities out at work Christmas day.

Throughout the prolonged sporadic snow storm, highways were bare along the centres and driving has not been too difficult.

Temperature Down

The temperature sank to eight degrees above zero during the night. By nine am it had climbed to 10 above and by noon it was 16 above. That was a warm temperature in comparison with a year ago when the thermometer registered a chilly 13 degrees below.

Forecasts for Thursday are not very encouraging. Occasional light snow is expected early in the morning and expected to end in the evening.

Yes sir, just like the good old days.

Heavy Demand, Snow, Slow Taxis

Increased travel during the holiday season has often made it impossible to get immediate taxi service.

Bad weather has further complicated the problem by increasing the demand for taxis and slowing vehicular traffic on city streets.

The companies were queried by The Examiner today on the demand for taxis. One dispatcher thought it was about the same as last year; and the other thought that the situation is a little better.

Tough Every Year

"It's tough every year at this time," said one taxi dispatcher. "Right now the roads are slowing things down."

Another dispatcher said she thought the situation had eased. Peak hours are noon, 5 pm, and the period between 10-11.30 pm.

Chances of getting a taxi in the early morning hours are better than a year ago, she estimated.

Passengers on the Toronto-Ottawa CPR train did a lot of complaining when the train pulled into the station at 2 am today. Generally the taximen are standing by the side of the station, actively bidding for fares.

But early today bad weather and the increased demand in other places in the city changed that picture. Many passengers were unable to get a cab and had to tote their luggage home by hand.

Day Of Rest After Holiday

Boxing Day was a day of rest in Peterborough. Stores, banks and other places of business remained shut.

Downtown Peterborough was quiet with few people on George St. and other shopping centre streets. It seemed like Sunday and in the restaurants few businessmen dropped in for their daily morning coffee session.

The Post Office was one of the few centres of activity as employees worked steadily to clear through the late batches of Christmas mail.

Today's shutdown was a welcome holiday for store employees who had to face one of the greatest onslaughts of late Christmas shoppers Monday. Crowds jammed George St. with icy sidewalks and streets proving a hazardous obstacle course.

City police reported a comparatively quiet Christmas today with only one minor accident on Christmas Day.

City's Snow Plow Men Start Work At 3 am

The city's snow plows took to the roads again this morning at 3 o'clock. First runs were made over the bus routes, which is routine procedure.

"I think we kept them in pretty fair shape," was the estimate of W. J. McKibben, superintendent, today. "Our plow men have been working from 3 am until 5 pm, and we didn't ask them to turn out on Christmas day."

Some of the side streets are still not in satisfactory condition, but, if the snow holds off for a few days, the department will have a chance to get around over the entire mileage.

Town Offers $5,000 To Break Contract

Belleville is willing to pay up to $5,000 for release from a contract to buy a monohearth incinerator from Francis Hankin Company of Toronto. The city is adopting the method of sanitary fill for the disposal of its garbage. Sanitary fill means nothing more than burying it in the ground.

The council is also involved in some dispute about industrial assessments, as recently reported.

Three manufacturing companies one of them the Corbin Lock Co., "claimed they had been promised fixed assessments by previous councils when they had constructed additions or commenced business, and they felt the council had a moral obligation to carry out the promises.

Ald. Porter said it was not a legal agreement, and also the present council had no moral obligation "because of the stupidity of previous councils."

There appears to be a suggestion of interference with assessment authority in this paragraph from the Belleville Intelligencer: "City Comptroller H. D. Bateman, who was assessment commissioner at the time the Corbin Lock addition had been constructed said he thought the assessment agreed on at that time had been comparable with the industrial assessment in the city. He had advised the company at that time that the assessment agreed on "should continue" until 1959.

The Corbin Co. is a competitor of Peterborough Lock Co.

FO John Greatrix Home After 11 Months In Europe

After 11 months of flying through the skies over Holland, Belgium, France and Germany in a jet fighter, F/O Johnny Greatrix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greatrix, 438 Park St., is home on leave. The former PCVS student and COSSA champion football player was one of two Peterborough men with the 421 Fighter Squadron (Red Indian) which trained in England under the RCAF.

F/O Al Marshall, son of Mrs. Fred Marshall, 285 Reid St., public relations officer with the Indians, is still in England. He is now with the Canadian joint staff in London.

Flying out of Odiham, England, the squadron spent most of its early training exercises over the continent. For the first several months the flyers saw Europe only from the air.

They were flying mostly Vampires (the 410 squadron is a Vampire squadron) and had flights in Meteors.

All the flights and exercises took place up at the 30,000-foot level although "some of the boys were well over the 47,000-mark."

F/O Greatrix passed quickly over the Vampire jet which he said was "pretty slow" averaging only about 540 miles an hour on training flights. The Meteors went up to the speed of sound.

Moved To Continent

A week in Germany at Celle, near Hanover, while on an exercise with BAFO (British Air Force of Occupation), gave F/O Greatrix a brief glimpse of Germany and its people.

He explained that Germany is "well off" adding that they seemed to have everything and seemed to be "as well off as we are in Canada".

When he compared the English people problems with the Germans', the jet pilot said "the Germans are much better off than the English".

F/O Greatrix described the situation in England now as "pretty grim" with the explanation that the people are labouring under increased rationing, "cuts all the time," higher taxes and a higher cost of living.

France Poor

A week's leave in France, spent mostly in Paris, gave him a glimpse of conditions there. The outlying districts, he described, as "poor" while "Paris is still a 24-hour-a-day city."

His first leave home terminates January 7 when he joins the new fighter squadron, the 430, at the RCAF station in North Bay. There the pilots will be flying Sabre jets, a new craft to F/O Greatrix.

When asked how fast those planes travel, F/O Greatrix said "You know what the newspapers say, over 600, but I expect to find out."

Police Ticket Cars Parked Overnight

The heavy snow along the city streets have prompted a new drive on all-night parking and abandoning cars on the streets.

The drive, started Monday, is aimed at cars which will obstruct the graders attempting to make the street passable. A number of these cars have been reported to the station and already an officer has been assigned to check the streets.

Car owners who leave their cars parked more than six hours will find parking tickets on the windshield to remind them to move. Cars left abandoned for a longer time will be towed away, under direction of the police. The owners then will pay the cost of towing.

USED CHILDREN TO SHOPLIFT

HAMILTON (CP) — A mother of four children, charged with contributing to the delinquency of three of her children, aged 6, 9 and 12, was remanded today for two weeks. Police charged that the woman used the children to help her shoplift from a downtown department store Saturday.

Nightmare Visions Of Extra Helpings Dance In Minds

Visions of sugarplums, turkey and similar goodies are no doubt dancing maliciously in the minds of not a few over-stuffed citizens.

Those citizens are regretting, silently and otherwise, the consumption of extra helpings. They wish with much sincerity that they had sternly turned down that third serving of turkey, that second piece of mince pie.

For quite a few centuries the extra helping has been an inconvenient and uncomfortable affliction upon mankind. Unfortunately it is an affliction that is not refusable on Christmas day.

Cause and Effect

The effects are well-known and common in this season. The Christmas diner's memory of them is unfortunately short-lasting only until the middle of January. The effects are vaguely recalled from last Christmas, but not clearly remembered until an hour or so after Christmas dinner.

The cause, of course, is that daring that prompts the diner to throw his plate around like a vaudeville juggler. It's the kind of daring that says without a spoken word: "I can eat more than you if only I do it fast enough."

And so, throwing caution to the winds and his digestion upon the laps of the gods, the Christmas diner plunges recklessly into a glutton's repast. He eats without regard for the carefully cooked turkey, with the hungry man's disregard for the niceties of the table.

After the second wedge of pie he places his fork gently on the plate, sips some coffee and sits back to await the coming of the effect.

Glazed Eyes

It isn't long coming. His eyes don the sheen of calves'-foot jelly, bulge out far enough to be knocked off with a stick, and his movements, if any, are neither quick nor sure.

The longing for sleep becomes practically irresistible. Conversation is limited to a sigh, a half-stifled burp, and an oft-repeated "Well, well, well."

There is almost always a reflex movement of the hand to the belt, a convulsive loosening of the trousers, another sigh, and a "Mercy on us."

And then comes sleep. The conglomeration of food in the stomach is forgotten. The eyes resume their normal position. The quiet clinking of dishes in the sink soothes the body into a sleep something like oblivion.

To the clatter of talk around the living room and the merry laughter of children and the rat-tat-tat of his son's new sub-machine gun, the sleeper regretfully rouses himself.

Christmas—at least the formal part of it—is past. Heigh-ho.

Fun With Lingerie Designers Create Pantalette

When designers first began to glamorize the petticoat, to give it rustling fabrics, jeweled trim and brilliant color, it quickly became the belle of the ball. Women found they could add a halter top and thus evolve a costume for dinner or even dancing.

This gave the designers further ideas. It led them to experiment with fabrics and treatments never used before for the petticoat, in an effort to give women petticoats both beautiful and versatile.

Further, they decided, why not have some fun with lingerie and create an old-fashioned pantalette for wear under the petticoat?

They've done just that. First, designer Shirley Wolff did a sanforized wool jersey petticoat that combines beauty and winter warmth. In holiday colors, red or green, it has a deep hem stiffened the width of the skirt to make it bell out. Gleaming on the hem is a hand holding a bouquet of sequined flowers, just for fun.

Another in a series of petticoats by this designer can rustle under a short dinner dress or go out on its own as an evening skirt. It's glowing ruby red taffeta piped in black velvet and decorated with a whimsical sequin butterfly.

A pair of pantalettes was created just as a fun fashion, for wear under a petticoat. They're full and ruffly, done in black or pastel nylon tricot, Ribbon bows cinch them in at the knees. They come with or without embroidered sentiment, to the wearer's liking. They are, in modern form, what grandmother called her drawers.

Ham Loaf Graces Holiday Feast

HAM loaf . . . golden rosy on top, oozing with meaty flavor . . . gives the feastly look and taste to your New Year's dinner. Color and flavor stand out in the loaf because it's made with condensed tomato soup.

For all its deluxe look, this meat combination lets you off easily on the grocery bill. The generous loaf takes care of a 8 holiday-size appetites. If the guests at your New Year's dinner count higher, make two loaves.

You'll have no problem in planning the other foods to go with this main course. One suggestion — baked sweet potatoes, buttered green beans with almonds, cranberry sauce, celery and pickle chips. Finish with a typical holiday pie, flavored a new way—like coffee-pumpkin pie or mincemeat-pineapple pie.

Holiday Ham Loaf

1 pound ground veal
1 pound ground smoked ham
1 cup bread crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons minced green pepper
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup ketchup
¼ cup water
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup

Combine ingredients in order given; mix thoroughly. Pack ham loaf firmly into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Pour off juice, loosen edges, and invert on platter. Garnish if desired with green pepper or pimiento or sliced stuffed olives and sprigs of parsley. Makes 8 servings. Serve with Tomato-Horseradish Sauce.

Tomato-Horseradish Sauce: Mix 2 tablespoons horseradish, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, a dash of powdered cloves, a sprinkle of black pepper and 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup. Heat thoroughly and serve hot with hot ham loaf or cold on ham loaf sandwiches.

SOUP SCOOPS

EASY SUPPER when you want a memorable though easily-prepared supper, is just the time to serve warmly inviting vegetable or cream of celery soup. Fleck it with sprigs of green parsley to carry the color scheme. A basket of hot cranberry muffins and a relish plate of cheese-stuffed celery and radishes makes happy eating with the hot soup. Have plenty of it to take care of all comers.

GOLD NUGGET BEANS: Sausage and the rich fruity flavor of apricots are pleasing additions to pork and beans. You simply fix these this way: Shape about ¼ pound of bulk sausage into small patties and brown in a skillet. Add these and ½ to 1 cup of chopped cooked apricots to 2 cans of pork and beans. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until heated through, about ½ hour. Makes 6 servings.

INTERNATIONAL SEASONING: From all over the world come the spices and herbs that go into the convenient condensed soups that grace your table. The delicious piquant flavors of these soups owe much of their charm to seasonings from afar. Among ingredients regularly used in the various soups are aromatic peppers from the Malabar Coast of India, cayenne pepper from East Africa, thyme and sweet marjoram from France.

ONIONS WITH OOMPH: New Year's dinner calls for onions in some form — here's a good way to serve them. Take about 2 pounds of small white onions which have been cooked. Put them in a casserole, then pour on a sauce made with 1 can of condensed cream of mushroom soup blended with ¼ cup of cream and ½ cup of chopped walnuts. Sprinkle on about ¼ cup of shredded cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

DOROTHY DIX

Marrying Younger Woman Regretted By Grandfather

DEAR MISS DIX: My experience, I hope, may save some other old gent from the heartbreaking mistake I made. At the age of 63, a widower for seven years, and a grandfather four times over I decided to remarry. Someone my own age. I was a young man to my way of thinking. So I married a woman of 40 who had never been married. This was to me miraculous. Such a woman—so attractive—so sweet—such a good cook and just waiting for me. Oh, how we can talk ourselves into something. I had a comfortable home with my son, his wife and two children. Nothing was too much for them to do for "Gramps." If I had only listened to them. They resented my marriage, and how right they were.

Dorothy Dix

Now after two years of marriage, I find myself tied to a woman who has completely changed since her wedding. She insists on my changing to her ways; everything must be done as she wants it. 'My comfort is secondary; my wishes ignored. So, may I warn other oldsters admit your age. Don't let a last fling throw you into a situation like mine.

UNHAPPY GRANDFATHER.

ANSWER: This is the substance of many letters along the same lines. Grandpa, at 50, 60 or later, decides he is too young to settle down, so he goes a-wooing. The object of his affection is a woman 20, 30 or more years his junior. Does that phase grandpop? Of course not. What difference does a few years make?

She Wanted Security

Alas and Alack. He discovers too soon—and too late—that a generation is difficult to span. His lady love has achieved security, which was her goal from the beginning. So now we have grandpa estranged partially or completely from his family, forced to adjust himself to a new life not to his liking, bidding farewell to the days of ease and comfort. Isn't it better to accept the years gracefully? This needn't mean idleness or stagnation; it simply means adapting oneself to the limitations exacted by Father Time. It definitely precludes romance with ladies a generation younger. December-May marriages are usually engineered by ladies looking for a soft berth. They set the standards for the marriage, while hamstrung grandpa meekly follows as best he can.

Congenial marriages do occur in middle—or even old—age but the partners are of the same generation, at least. Lonely oldsters very often establish a fine pattern of companionship in their later days; in many respects it offers aspects for younger married folk to emulate or aspire to. As an attempt to revive the romance of youth, however, a late-in-life match is doomed to utter disaster.

DEAR MISS DIX: Are the wedding gifts from a reception supposed to be taken the bride's home or to the couple's new home, which is all furnished? In this case, the bride's mother took them home with her, so when the couple returned from their wedding trip they had to transport the gifts to their new home.

G. R.

ANSWER: This seems like a very trivial matter for you to get so upset over. The bride's mother may very reasonably have thought the gifts would be safer with her than in an unoccupied house. She surely had no intention of retaining permanent possession of the gifts, so why all the hullabaloo?

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm very much in love with a girl and I'd like to know how I can get her to go out with me. Her mother and father think she's too young to go out on dates. I'm 19 and she's 14. Do you think I should ask her parents to let her go to a dance or show with me? K.S.

ANSWER: You ask her parents, if you wish, but I agree with them that the girl is too young for dating, especially with a boy as much older as you are.

Louis Heels Have Caught On For Winter Wear

Louis heels, which for many seasons tried to get a foot (or shoe) in the door, have caught fire for winter wear. It's a logical extension of the trend towards sleek and feminine footwear. In combination with tooled leather soles, Louis heels add a welcome touch of elegance and femininity to new upper patterns which are higher-riding and slimmer than in past seasons. The new tapered bases are in accord with this trend.

They're somewhat lower than in the past, ranging from one and a half to two and a half inches in height. Fashion soothsayers predict that there will be relatively few stilt heels in evidence, which should be a boon to fragile feminine feet.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Try Soup To Soothe Your Suffering Stomach

Well it's over and we survived it. It was fun though wasn't it? overstuffed feeling included.

In our house we have no leftover cold turkey to pick away at, for we all go to my brother's home for Christmas dinner. This has far more advantages than disadvantages, but what disadvantages it has show up mostly on the day after. (That "mostly" was stuck in when I thought of the minor detail of paying for the bird the week before).

My sister-in-law, who is one of the most thoughtful hostesses I know, asked me if I'd like the turkey bones for my famous turkey-bone soup (note the modesty), so not being one to miss an opportunity I promptly accepted them.

So that is to be the lesson for today.

Turkey-Bone Soup

By one who ought to know, for I've just made my Boxing Day supper from it. Marianne says soup is pouring out of her ears.

To the bones from half of the carcass add 3 quarts cold water, and 2 teaspoons salt, 6 peppercorns, 1 cup celery leaves, ¼ of a bay leaf, and simmer covered for 2 hours. Strain. Add to the broth any pieces of turkey meat that you catch in the strainer.

If you care to you may do what the French do, saute in 2 or 4 tablespoons of butter all of the vegetables which are now added, but I think it makes the finished soup too rich. This step takes about 5 minutes—vegetables must not be at all browned.

To the soup add 1 cup each finely chopped celery stalks; onion and carrot dice; 2 cups canned tomatoes, ½ cup each fine turnip dice and chopped parsley. If you have any on hand ¼ to ½ cup leftover cold porridge chopped up is a good addition. Also any leftover vegetable liquors you may have in the refrigerator such as spinach, potato or carrot—not more than 1½ cups of these though. Add 1/3 to ¼ cup rice and 2 tablespoons fine barley, and if desired ¼ to ½ cup lentils. Simmer until everything is tender. Taste for salt and pepper. If you have any on hand 1 teaspoon MSG (Accent) is a pleasant addition—it accents the turkey flavor.

We served this with buttered and oven - toasted two-day-old home-made rolls. For dessert we had individual fruit salads with banana pieces spread with mayonnaise and dipped in chopped nuts; pineapple rings, orange and grapefruit sections and 1 fig stuffed with cheese stuck in the centre. Pete stuck a whole cherry on top of that to add the spirit of Christmas.

The meal was on the skimpy side for a dinner, but elegant enough to do credit to Boxing Day.

It let us down easily too—if you understand what I mean and I think you do!

Black Bean Soup

(For the lady who asked for this recipe at the lecture.)

Soak 2 cups black beans in 2½ cups cold water overnight. Add 1 small onion sliced, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and simmer 2½ hours. If you have a ham bone use it in the soup too; if not, at end of 2½-hour cooking period add 2 tablespoons bacon fat. Press through strainer. It is now ready to serve, but sophisticated additions are wafer thin slices of lemon or hard cooked egg or smoked fried sausage on top of each serving. I have used 1 of each of these and it makes a very popular soup supper.

District Parties Held At Christmas

BETHANY UNITED CHURCH

BETHANY, Dec. 26 — (ENS) —The Christmas party for the children of the United Church Sunday School was held on Friday night. The super was provided by the parents and the program was given by the Sunday School members, with Rev. James Hampson as chairman. Christmas carols were sung. The small members of the beginners' and primary classes, Randy Longfield, Bobby Edmunds, Patricia Fallis, Jane Fallis, Ross Jordan, Bobby Patton each gave recitations. Leone Jordan sang and gave the welcome recitation. Phylis Bristow and Gayle Bristow sang two numbers, Here Comes Santa Claus and A Christmas Lullaby. The Jakeman sisters sang Deck the Halls with Boughs of Holly Creighton Carr and Marie Carr sang Silent Night with their own piano and guitar accompaniment. Neil Finney and Bruce Wright of the junior boys' class each gave recitations. Mr. Allan Beer sang two solos. Miss Gladys Bigelow sang Star of the East, and Mr. Norman Lowes, home from Toronto for the holidays, gave a piano instrumental, a Chopin ballad, which was much appreciated. Mr. A. H. Monk, Sunday School superintendent, thanked everyone for their help, those who had prepared the supper and entertainment, and who had decorated the Sunday School.

Santa Claus arrived in time to distribute the parcels on the Christmas tree, which included the Sunday School's gift to each junior child.

AT MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, Dec. 26 (ENS). —The Canadian Legion Branch 402 and the Millbrook Lions Club held their annual Christmas party in the Town Hall on Saturday evening. The children joined in singing Christmas carols led by Percy Hamilton, Lions president. Three films were shown by Wilfred Elson. As they left the hall each child was given an orange and a bag of candy.

On Sunday even the "Carols of Many Lands" service which St. Andrew's United Church choir presented in Knox Church, Peterborough two weeks ago was repeated in St. Andrew's. The church had been beautifully decorated with the chancel banked with evergreen, a lighted Christmas tree on either side, and each pew marked off with poinsettia. There were lighted candles on the altar table. Mrs. A. R. Payne and Donald Spicer were in charge of decorating the church.

Following the service the ladies of the Women's Association served refreshments to the choir, to Rev. A. M. Butler and Mrs. Butler, and to some members of the Church Board. Mrs. J. T. Crowley was convener of the committee in charge. Members of the board spoke in appreciation of the splendid work of the choir throughout the year, as did the minister. Special mention was made of the work of the choir leader, Mrs. G. A. Spicer, and the organist, Miss Estella Hetherington. On behalf of the church board A. R. Payne made the presentation of a honorarium to Mrs. Spicer.

AT MARMORA

MARMORA, Dec. 26 (ENS). — St. Paul's Anglican Sunday School held its annual Christmas party in the Parish Hall on Friday evening. Scholars and children of pre-Sunday School age with parents were present in goodly numbers to partake of the supper provided and served by ladies of the congregation. Carols were sung. The arrival of Santa Claus was hailed with meriment.

The White School House in Marmora Township was the venue for a pleasing Christmas entertainment on Friday evening. Despite the handicaps facing her through inclement weather and other adverse circumstances, the teacher Miss Vera Black went ahead with preparations which were crowned with success. The evening program for scholars and parents was an innovation. The installation of electricity in this, one of the oldest schools in the township this past year added its own brightness to the occasion. Hard though the going was, Santa Claus did not fail the happy audience. He carried on with a seasonable monologue and superintended the distribution of gifts, special prizes, and candy compatible with strictest educational regulations, assisted by senior boy scholars.

AT COLDSPRINGS

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 26 (ENS —A very impressive candlelight and white gift service was much enjoyed at St. Paul's United Church on Sunday evening. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Rev. P. C. Brown told the Christmas story, which was interspersed with the singing of Christmas carols led by the choir with Miss Edith Hoskin at the organ.

Special music was given by the choir. During the story and carol singing the Nativity Scene was presented. Mary and Joseph were portrayed by Norma Lang and Robert Turner, the angels Marlene Turk, Elaine and Viva Minifie, the shepherds Ivan West, Leslie Avery and Bruce McIntosh, and the wise men George Avery, Milton McIntosh and Ed. Morrison.

Indians Allowed In Pubs BC Town Jail Too Small

SMITHERS, B. C., Dec. 26—(CP)—Indians held a pre-Christmas party in Smither's three beer parlors Saturday.

Two hundred of them came to town, making their first appearance in the beer parlors.

The result was described as a "riot." There were scores of fights and lots of blood" said one eyewitness.

An Indian woman and 22 men were arrested and lodged in a jail built for eight prisoners.

"We would have arrested as many as 75 if the jail had been big enough," said a police officer.

It was the first report of serious trouble since British Columbia Indians were allowed in beer parlors Dec. 15.

There are only four police officers in this town of 1,200 which is 225 miles east of Prince Rupert.

"I saw fights on all corners," said Ed Corson Jr., a newspaper correspondent. "Squaws carrying papooses on their backs were battling with braves.

"I heard one policeman shouting for help from his partner as their car raced to the jail with a load of drunken Indians. Six Indians were piled in the back seat."

Angry businessmen Tuesday demanded a larger jail and called for a bigger police force.

"The worst is still to come," said one officer. "The Indians will be back for New Year's Eve."

The Indians jailed were released on bail ranging from $15 to $35.

Many Firms Closed Down For Boxing Day

By The Canadian Press

Boxing Day—originally the day when firms gave Christmas boxes to their employees — saw many employees not at work to receive them today.

A patchwork celebration of the traditional after-Christmas day off across Canada resulted in some firms working after observing Monday as a holiday and others having theirs today.

The Canadian celebration of Christmas at home and in the churches was brightened by snow on the ground and clear skies in most provinces. Only Nova Scotia was without snow for the holiday.

A number of fatal accidents, fires and a shooting darkened the Christmas picture.

At Shawnigan Falls, Que., a young man went berserk, shot a policeman to death and killed himself. At Kenora in northwestern Ontario, two young mothers and their three children were burned to death in their frame house.

Traffic Fatalities

Three persons were killed in traffic accidents in British Columbia and one at Midnapore, Alta. In Nova Scotia, two men were drowned when their car ran off a bridge near Pictou.

A two-year-old girl was scalded to death at Fitzpatrick's Mountain, N.S.

Several provinces showed no major accidents during the holiday. In Toronto, police credited the good record to a get-tough-with-drunk-drivers policy. More than a hundred persons were in jail for Christmas as a result.

Quebec province cracked down on drinkers by closing all liquor-dispensing establishments at nine o'clock Christmas Eve. Quebec also had the largest church service in Canada—15,000 persons crowded the Montreal Forum for midnight mass.

Governor - General Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander attended church Christmas morning and spent the rest of the day with their family. Political leaders either went home for Christmas or relaxed with their families in Ottawa.

CAIRO, Dec. 26 (AP). — The pro-government newspaper Al Misri said today Britain is pressing the newly-born state of Libya not to recognize King Farouk's title of "King of Egypt and Sudan."

Forged Cheque Gets 3 Months

Electing summary trial in police court Monday, Aural Melanson, 34, of Nassau, pleaded guilty to uttering a forged cheque.

He was sentenced to three months in county jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Melanson was convicted of forgery and false pretences here in October, 1950. In sentencing Melanson, the magistrate said, "You are very fortunate and must understand if this happens again you will be put away for a long time." Maximum penalty for conviction on the charges is 14 years.

On the two previous convictions, Melanson was sentenced to four months definite and one month indefinite in reformatory.

Constable Douglas Farthing testified that Melansor tendered a forged cheque for $40 made out to himself, and bearing the signature of Nick Peconi in payment for a kettle at a local store Saturday.

Mr. Peconi denied signing the cheque, Constable Farthing said. After obtaining the kettle, Melanson took the remaining $23 in change.

He was arrested at the Legion Hall, with the kettle, and admitted the $23 in his pocket was the balance of the money received.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said, "He made no attempt to hide his identity, signing his own name, and he did the same thing on the previous occasion. His action appears to be more of a mental quirk."

Melanson claimed he wanted to obtain the kettle before the stores closed and intended reclaiming the cheque when a man to whom he had loaned $50 repaid him Saturday night. He said he knew the store manager and did not think the cheque would be cashed before Monday.

"It's the old case of the bank teller, helping himself from the till and playing the stock market, thinking he will pay it back before it's noticed. It's the same thing," said Magistrate Philp in sentencing Melanson.

Eskimos, White Men Join In Christmas Celebrations

OTTAWA, Dec. 26—(CP)—The spirit of Christmas melted Arctic barriers Tuesday as Eskimo and white man joined to celebrate the Yuletide season. For scores of other Canadians deep inside the Arctic Circles it was a bleak and lonely day.

About 500 miles from the North Pole, at the top of Ellesmere Island, a small group of Canadians kept a sharp look-out for shifts in the weather at Canada's most northern weather station, 1,000 miles within the Arctic Circle.

On the same island, about 500 miles south, at Craig Harbor, two RCMP constables continued their lonely patrol. Three Eskimo families are their only neighbors.

But at other Arctic points, such as Alkavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River in the Yukon, Christmas was a time for fun, frolic and sports.

Scattered over some 750,000 square miles, many of the 8,500 Eskimos, dressed in their brightest costumes, travelled to the trading posts and villages to join with 300 white persons in the Arctic in religious service and feasting.

Egyptian Police Fire On Students To Quell New Riots

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 27 (AP)—Police fired on rioting Egyptian students today as protest demonstrations broke out in Cairo and Alexandria for the second day in a row over the apparent entry of the palace into power politics. Buckshot fired from police riot guns injured 15 students at Alexandria. Several students and police were reported injured in Cairo. The students overturned and set fire to a streetcar near the parliament building and police waded in with clubs.

Ten students were arrested and Cairo traffic piled up for blocks before several hundred police restored order.

The disturbances spread to secondary school students today.

Four secondary schools in Alexandria were ordered closed, including the Abbasia school, near the Alexandria main railway station where police fired on the students.

Thousands Involved

Thousands of secondary school students in both of Egypt's major cities were involved in the demonstrations.

Fouad and Mohammed Ali Pasha universities in Cairo and Farouk university in Alexandria were ordered closed indefinitely Wednesday after collegiate riots against King Farouk's appointment of pro-western advisors on his palace cabinet.

Police used tear gas against a mob of 5,000 in Alexandria Wednesday. Seven police were reported injured by stones and two stuents were hurt. The students shouted slogans against Hafez Rifi Pasha, powerful banker and industrialist who was named by Farouk Monday to head his royal cabinet.

Afifi has declared himself publicly in favor of a defence link with the west—a policy Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha's government hastily turned down in mid-October.

Afifi is liaison man between Farouk and Nahas and was pictured as working for a compromise settlement of the bloody dispute with the British over the Suez canal and the Sudan.

House Rejects PC Attempt To Kill Price Bill

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 — (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons today he believes the government's prices legislation will help to stop the upward surge of prices and will bring down some of them.

He stepped into the lingering prices debate as the Commons returned from its brief Christmas holiday to renew study of the government proposal to ban the fixing of retail prices by manufacturers.

He said he still does not think the legislation will have much effect on the cost of living, but feels it will bring about "a reduction in some of these prices" and put a brake on the "upward surge of prices."

Mr. St. Laurent spoke just before the Chamber voted 122 to 28 against another Progressive Conservative attempt to kill the controversial legislation.

Resumes Campaign

After the vote, Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew rose to resume his party's bitter campaign against the Bill, a campaign which prevented Parliament from proroguing last week and forced it to take a brief Christmas holiday and return to work today.

Mr. Drew suggested the consumer would suffer if, as a result of the legislation, the small retailer was "forced to the wall" by his big competitors and had to reduce the services he offers his community.

Mr. St. Laurent made no direct reference to his threat of last week to enforce closure—drastic limiting of the debate—if the repetitious discussion went beyond reasonable limits of time.

But, as he gave his stand on the legislation, John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) shouted:

"Tell us about closure while you're on your feet."

Mr. St. Laurent observed that both he and Mr. Diefenbaker were lawyers who would feel that closure was not the thing to enforce against "reasonable human beings in normal conditions." It was used only when "futile" and "repetitious" debate developed.

Gale Batters British Isles

LONDON, Dec. 2 — (CP). — Gales with gusts of more than 90 miles an hour today buffeted the British Isles with what coast guard stations called the worst seagoing weather since 1945.

Huge waves broke over the sea walls at resort cities on the southern coast, damaging cabins and installations.

Coast guardsmen at St. Ann's station in South Wales reported gusts of 92 miles an hour. They said the seas were the highest they ever saw.

Velocities of up to 100 miles an hour raked Ireland's southern coastline, snarling cable communications to England and North America.

Repair ships went out to restore the England-Ireland links and took shelter in West Irish ports.

The Commercial Cable Company reported the loss of all its cable channels between England and Ireland, and several transatlantic links. Western Union was understood to have lost several main channels.

At Eire's Shannon Airport, a grounded airliner was blown across a ramp, suffering damage to its wings.

Mystery Blast Rocks Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 — (AP) — Another mysterious explosion occurred in the Miami area early today just four hours after a blast shook a wide area in suburban Hialeah.

The explosions followed warnings by dynamiters Wednesday that they planned to strike again.

In both instances police were unable to deterrmine the exact location of the explosions and no damage was reported.

Two Coral Gables patrol cars reported hearing the latest blast about 3.30 am EST and contacted headquarters immediately. Officers later talked to residents awakened by the noise.

The explosion at Hialeah came Wednesday at 11.30 pm EST.

The explosion sent dozens of officers to the scene but the location of the blast was not found immediately.

Squad cars checked all houses of worship, such as have been targets in many of the 11 blasts set off here since last June, in the Hialeah-Miami Springs area but found all undamaged.

Daley Drafts Formula For TTC Statement

TORONTO, Dec. 27— (CP). — Labor Minister Daley said today he has drafted a formula for settlement of a wage dispute between management and employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission. The dispute threatens to develop into a strike that would tie up the city's transit system.

Talks resumed today in Mr. Daley's office between TTC officials and officers of Division 113 of the Street Railway Union (AFL-TLC).

In the first meeting between the union and the TTC last Thursday, no agreement was reached. The day before, the 4,768 employees—who seek a 15-cent increase over their $1.40 an hour—held a strike vote.

Big 3 Suggest Cabinet To Run NATO

Secret Diplomacy Urged By Eden Under New Set-Up

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP) — The big three western powers are working on plans to set up a sort of super-cabinet to run the North Atlantic Treaty Organization informed diplomats reported today.

Prime Minister Churchill is expected to discuss with President Truman at Washington in early January some definite proposals to widen the scope and power of the 12-country alliance.

Some of the changes under study in the United States provide that Britain and France should:

1. Turn the London-based Council of Deputies into a permanent council of Ministers to consider the day-to-day economic, military and production problems of the allies.

2. Bring all NATO agencies—now split between the big three capitals—under one roof in Paris next door to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

3. Appoint a civilian secretary-general whose powers, prestige and role would match those of Eisenhower.

Some Curbs

The projected super-cabinet in no way would have supra-national powers but could act on its own when the occasion demanded speed. Each of the allies would retain the right of veto.

All these ideas right now are tentative.

First of all the big three will need to agree among themselves what should be done. Then they will need to sell their recommen-

$30,000 Blaze At Brussels

BRUSSELS, Dec. 27—(CP)—Fire swept Brays Produce here Wednesday in a spectacular two-hour blaze in the heart of this village's business section. Damage was believed to be upwards of $30,000.

The two-storey brick structure was a mass of flames shortly after the blaze started. The fire is believed to have broken out between the ceiling and upstairs floor. It gained considerable headway before it was noticed by four boys.

The roof caved in within half an hour. The rear wall collapsed shortly after.

Prompt efforts of the Brussels fire brigade are credited with saving the business block. The Wingham fire brigade was summoned when it was feared the whole block might be destroyed.

It was the second fire to hit the produce firm within four years. On Feb. 4, 1947, a blaze caused loss of $25,000.

Turmoil In Middle East Raising UN Blood Pressure

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 27 — (CP) — The turmoil in the Middle East is making a big noise in the United Nations and the volume is expected to increase.

Morocco, Iran, Egypt, Palestine and Kashmir are names which raise blood pressures as well as many words in UN meetings and corridors. The UN, however, has not been able to do much, if anything, to settle any of these tense problems.

Russia is taking every propaganda opportunity in the UN to pose as the protector of Middle East countries and the Western powers are having a tough time keeping what goodwill there is left for them among those states.

Egypt has made the loudest noise on Middle East and other questions at the present session. She has not yet brought the present Anglo-Egyptian situation before the UN but is expected by many diplomats to be ready to do so.

Two-Edged Sword

The Arab states are hitting at France as well as Britain in their complaint that French policy in Morocco violates human rights. That's the declared topic of their complaint but in effect they have been arguing for Moroccan independence. Moreover western powers take a dim view of complaints about human rights from states where only a few pepole enjoy the civil and political privileges enjoyed by all in western countries.

Egypt has apparently turned her wrath on the West in fields other than strictly Middle-East problems. That country did an about face at the present session of the question of atomic energy control—in effect supporting the Russsian thesis for a paper declaration of atomic prohibition where formerly she backed the West's plan for international control before prohibition is put into effect.

Renewal of conflict between Israel and the Arab states is always a fear hanging over the UN. At present there is an armistice but a special Palestine conciliation commission has reported failure to bring peace between the opposing powers and the assembly is due for another long haul on the problem.

Another impasse is the conflict between India and Pakistan over the princely state of Kashmir.

Triple Christmas Gift

Hungary Delays Freeing Four US Airmen

VIENNA, Dec. 27 — (AP). — Conflicting reports tonight raised doubts concerning negotiations for the release of four United States fliers jailed by Hungary.

An official American report from Budapest indicated the Hungarian Communists had not yet accepted a United States government offer to pay $120,000 in fines for release of the fliers, convicted of violating Hungary's borders.

This information was in conflict with a statement by the Hungarian Legation in Washington. The legation said Wednesday night the offer to pay the fines was accepted, and it was expected the fliers would be released today.

May Mean Delay

The new report from Budapest may mean delay, Walter J. Donnelly, US High Commissioner and Ambassador in Austria, talked this afternoon with the US Legation in Budapest.

George Abbott, US Charge d'Affaires in Budapest, reported to Donnelly he had seen the Hungarian Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs at noon.

"Abbott was told the Hungarians had made no decisions on the American note which was delivered on Christmas Day," Donnelly said.

"The Hungarians told Abbott that the note was being considered by judicial and financial authorities and they added they could give Abbott no information when the fliers might be released."

Sent To Vienna

US air force authorities in Germany assumed the fliers would be sent back through Vienna, where American officials and troops are stationed nearest the Hungarian border.

Cryptic dispatches from Budapest, the Hungarian capital, said Wednesday there were "certain signs" that the men had been freed or would be freed Wednesday night. But reporters there could not amplify that reference or describe events immediately.

Work On Plan To Pool Men And Munitions

PARIS, Dec. 27 ((P).—Cabinet ministers of six western European countries met today in an effort to pool their men and munitions into a single European army. They remained silent on whether they thought it could be done.

The foreign ministers included Italy's Alcide de Gasperi who is also Premier; France's Robert Schuman; Belgium's Paul. Van Zeeland; Holland's Dirk U. Stikker; Luxembourg's Joseph Bech; and Prof. Walter Hallstein of West Germany.

Hallstein sat in for Chancellor-Foreign Minister Konrad Adenauer, who arrives here Friday.

The first issue before the ministers was whether to run their proposed unified army with a single high commissioner or to put it in the hands of a board of commissioners. France and Italy were known to favor a single commissioner, while Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg want a board of commissioners.

Convicted Red Leader Gets Extra Jail Term

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP) — Gus Hall, one of the 11 convicted Communist leaders, was sentenced today to three years in prison for criminal contempt of court.

The sentence is to be served in addition to a five-year term ordered when he was convicted with other party leaders of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the United States government.

The contempt conviction was based on charges that he failed to surrender last July 2 to begin serving his five-year term and that he violated a court order in leaving jurisdiction of the court. Hall fled to Mexico.

Bar Canadian Firm From US Trading

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP). The Department of Commerce said today a New York exporter, a Canadian and a Belgian firm have been ordered barred from US export trade for secretly shipping strategic war chemicals to Communist Hungary.

The order, however, has been stayed pending an appeal to the department's appeals board, It was announced.

The ban would be effective against all involved in the transactions so long as the government keeps export licence controls.

The departments office of International Trade identified the New York exporter as A. E. Ratner Chemical Co., headed by A. E. Ratner.

It said the company dealt with a Canadian and a Belgian firm, both called Continental Pharma, and that Eugene Hecht owns the Canadian firm in Montreal and is half-owner of the Belgian firm in Brussels.

The Commerce Department said the firms delivered a large quantity of aluminum oxide to the Hungarian heavy industries foreign trade company.

Strategic Commodity

Aluminum oxide is "a strategic commodity usable in the manufacture of machinery for war purposes," the department said.

It said this sequence of events was involved:

Ratner agreed to sell the chemicals to the two Pharma concerns after they told Ratner that Belgium would be the final destination of the shipment.

Later while the firms were working out a profit-sharing arrangement, Ratner was informed that the real purchaser was the Hungarian Trade Company.

The shipment was completed and the chemicals were delivered to Hungary in 1949 even though both Ratner and Hecht knew that export licences authorized shipment to Belgium only.

Ratner also attempted to obtain another licence to ship an additional quantity of aluminum oxide to Continental Pharma in Belgium on the false statement that he held an order for the shipment, "although he had no order whatsoever."

The department refused this request for a licence.

Commerce officials said this is the first export-licence violation case it has brought against a Canadian exporter.

Cease-Fire Deadline Ends No Sign Of Any Extension

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 28 (Friday) (AP)—The 30-day Korean cease-fire line agreement ran out today on "a rather ominous note" in truce talks about Allied prisoners-of-war deaths. There was no indication here of plans to extend the agreement responsible for the 30-day twilight war. The full five-man armistice committees which signed the original agreement Nov. 27 did not even meet. An official United Nations spokesman said neither side asked for an extension.

But in a sub-committee session at Panmunjom Thursday, Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby said the Communists hinted they may report that many of the 50,000 unaccounted-for Allied prisoners died of exposure and disease.

Ominous Note

Libby said it was "a rather ominous note. It might have been a forewarning that all these people died of illness."

Sub-committees working on the problems of exchanging war prisoners and supervising a truce still were deadlocked when they adjourned their last session before the scheduled expiration hour. The agreement was timed to run out at midnight (10 am EST) Thursday.

Each committee scheduled another meeting for 11 am Friday (9 pm EST Thursday) in Panmunjom.

Washington sources expressed belief Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway would approve a 15-day extension of the period in which the 145-mile line drawn across Korea Nov. 27 could become a permanent cease-fire line.

Nov. 27 negotiators drew a tentative cease-fire line and agreed it would become the centre of a 2½-mile buffer zone if an armistice were signed within 30 days.

Otherwise the line would be redrawn just before a truce is signed to follow changes resulting from battle action.

Charge Delay

In Thursday's fruitless talks in Panmunjom each side accused the other of needlessly delaying the truce.

North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang cho charged that the UN wasted time by refusing to agree to a Communist proposal for an all-for-all exchange of prisoners

Rear Admiral R. E. Libby told the Reds they wasted 12 days by refusing to set up a prisoner exchange sub-committee, then delayed for another eight days before agreeing to exchange prisoner lists.

The list finally submitted by the Reds was "fatally deceptive" Libby asserted.

In a nearby tent, the Communists promised not to build up their armed strength during an armistice. But they refused to put it in writing.

The Reds had some complaints of their own about the Allied prisoner list.

Man Offers Take On Angry Glasgow Mayor

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—A man who claimed to have painted slanderous slogans on the home of Sir Victor Warren, Glasgow's anti-nationalist Lord-Provost, Wednesday night offered to accept Warren's angry challenge to fight it out in a public square—but only on certain conditions.

He phoned a local newspaper and said he would take on the chief magistrate providing the police wouldn't interfere or prosecute him for his brush work Christmas night.

Wednesday at noon irate Sir Victor, who recently denounced home-rule-seeking Scottish Nationalists in a Montreal speech, waited in vain for "the little coward" who had daubed "Quisling" and "traitor" on his garden wall. Warren had publicly dared the painter to show up at the city war memorial and had threatened to "break every bone" in his body.

Ship In Trouble

LONDON, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—The 7,115-ton Canadian steamer Islandside today was reported hove to in a mid-Atlantic hurricane, with two starboard lifeboats carried away. The Islandside, en route from Narvik, Norway, to Baltimore, gave her position well out off the southwest Irish coast. The 424-foot Islandside is registered out of Montreal under the Andros Shipper Co., and is managed by the Atlantic Shipping Agencies, Ltd.

Christmas Tree Fire Costs Three Lives

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 (CP)—A mother and two of her children died today when fire, started in a Christmas tree, razed their nearby Ville Jacques Cartier home.

Dear are:

Mrs. Emiliene Dugga, 40; Carol, 5 and Donald 9.

Mrs. Dugga was found under a bed in the one-storey wooden house, her body covering Carol in a futile effort to protect the child. Donald was found in bed.

Two other children, Denise, 15, and Paulette, 12, escaped when the Christmas tree burst aflame in the living room. Within 20 minutes, the house was levelled.

Couldn't Help

Denise and Paulette, almost hysterical when found, explained that there was nothing they could do after fleeing from the house.

There is no telephone within more than a mile of the house and help could not be summoned until they saw an automobile drive by on the highway.

They stood in front of the house, watching flames eat through the wooden structure, until help arrived.

Their father, Michael Dugga, was away on a construction job.

US Spending Sets Record

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) —The American people produced more, saved more and spent more in 1951 than in any other year in United States history, Labor Secretary Maurice Tobin said Wednesday.

He added in a year-end report that the 1951 record probably will be broken in 1952.

Despite stresses and strains, he said, the country's economy maintained a remarkable stability in 1951.

"At the end of 1950," he said, "raw material prices had risen 12 per cent in six months and the consumer's price (cost of living) index was rising at the rate of 1 per cent a month.

"But at the end of 1951 raw material prices were the same or lower than they were at the beginning of the year and the consumer's price index had risen only about 3 per cent since February."

Though they earned more money, the American people did not go overboard in their spending, he said. There was little scarce buying, he reported, and consumers saved $8 out of every $100 in 1951, as compared with $5 out of every $100 in 1950.

US Jets Down 2 Red Planes

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 27—(AP) —American Sabre jets shot down two Red jets and badly damaged another in a renewal of air battles over northwest Korea today.

The MIG-15s were shot down in a 30-minute battle between 32 Sabres and 50 MIGs.

Earlier 100 MIGs had run for cover when a flight of Sabres opened up on them. No American planes were reported hurt in either encounter.

The air war broke out anew in clear skies as Allied infantrymen fought in knee-deep snow and sub-zero temperatures near Heartbreak Ridge to regain an advance position cut off by the Reds.

The Communists have been fighting intermittently since Christmas night to capture and hold the outpost.

Challenging Mossadegh To Face Confidence Vote

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 27 (AP)—Opposition deputies in parliament formally challenged Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today to come before the Majlis, the stormy lower house, and face a vote of confidence to decide whether he stays in power.

Apparently confident that it can kick him out, the opposition submitted the challenge through Majlis president Reza Hekmat.

The document challenges Mossadegh on four allegations: suppression of freedom, violation of the principal laws of the country, a ruinous economic policy, and lack of respect for the Majlis.

The lack of oil revenues since Mossadegh nationalized the old Anglo-Iranian holdings in this country is the basis of complaint over the economic situation.

Under Iranian law, the premier must go before the Majlis within 30 days to answer the challenge and ask a vote of confidence. But his supporters have an ace in the hole.

By staying away from the Majlis, as many have done in the past 10 days, they can prevent a quorum—two-thirds of the deputies present in Tehran—and thus prevent or stall of any possible no-confidence decision.

Many deputies are expected to leave for their home provinces this weekend to get in some electioneering before actual voting begins in Iran's national elections for the new Majlis. This, coupled with an organized stay-away by pro-government deputies, might prevent any further meeting until the new Majlis takes over Feb. 2.

Three Houses Destroyed, 8 Menaced

May Blast Ice Jams To Ease Pressure From Swollen River

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 (CP)—Fire broke out in the flooded community of Riviere Des Prairies early today and at least three homes were destroyed.

Eight other houses, under several inches of water from the rampaging Riviere Des Prairies, were in the fire-path. Firemen from Montreal north, also hit by flood waters, rushed to the residential suburb to lend a hand.

No casualties were reported.

Ninety-three island homes were awash to roof tops. Many are summer homes, other permanent residences.

Throughout the flooded area, just north of Montreal proper, 66 families were evacuated by the Red Cross. Other families made their own escape.

The houses almost inundated could be seen from the shore, within a quarter-mile of flooded Gouin Boulevard. There were 36 on Desjardins Island, 24 on Rochon Island and 33 on Lapierre Island.

An estimated 500 homes are affected by the floods of Riviere Des Prairies, known also as the Back river, about 15 miles from downtown Montreal.

Damage In Thousands

Monetary loss was difficult to estimate. Mayor Rosario Fortin of Riviere Des Prairies said damage would run into "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

The water was reported to have receded slightly during the night but this afternoon was still 10 to 15 feet above normal.

Plans were under consideration to blast the ice to relieve James believed causing the flood.

The Red Cross Wednesday, first day of the damaging flood, set up emergency quarters in Riviere Des Prairies.

Three persons were taken to hospitals, one a baby suffering from pneumonia. Others, particularly aged or infirm persons, were taken to the Red Cross shelter or private homes.

Meanwhile, J. C. Chagnon, chief engineer for the Quebec Streams Commission, said he had sent two engineers to the flooded area to study the possibility of blasting ice jams on the choked-up river.

May Blast Ice

He said he would have a report by mid-afternoon and then probably will give orders to blast the ice.

Secret US Mine Said Stolen

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—The New York Daily News says America's "top secret" design for a harbor mine was stolen and Russian copies have been used in Korea, but the spies who stole the design are still at large.

The News said the design for the mines is still top secret in Washington although Russian-mad copies killed and wounded many Americans in a Korean harbor more than a year ago.

A spy hunt began as soon as the mines were discovered, the News says, but "so far as can be learned, the spies are still spying."

The News did not give the source of the story, but said defence headquarters and FBI sources had no comment.

Post-Christmas Jam Keeps Thousands Late

TORONTO, Dec. 27 — (CP)— Thousands were late for work here today.

What appeared to be a general post-Christmas jam of morning rush-hour traffic delayed some persons as much as two hours.

Minor traffic accidents blocking traffic, a power shortage failure in the Lake Shore area that stopped street-cars and several stalled cars in snow-piled curbs al contributed to the slow-down.

Two street-cars collided in the west-end of the city.

Farm Income Shows 25 PC Increase

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP).—Income of Canadian farmers was up 25 per cent in the first nine months of this year compared with the corresponding period of 1950.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday farmers received an estimated $1,864,900,000 from sale of farm products and from grain adjustment and participation payments on previous years' crops during the period. This compared with $1,487,600,000 in the first nine months of last year.

In addition, supplementary payments made to farmers under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act totalled $10,100,000 compared with $9,300,000.

The bureau said the income increase was mainly due to "substantial" Canadian Wheat Board payments during the first six months and higher average livestock prices for the entire period.

Cash income from grain, seeds and hay, including wheat board payments, amounted to $509,400,000 in 1951 compared with $311,300,000 in 1950. Livestock receipts at $737,900,000 compared with $624,100,000 and receipts from dairy products totalled $297,500,000 compared with $256,400,000.

Canadian hens are continuing to work overtime. The Bureau of Statistics reported that estimated production of eggs increased to 35,500,000 dozen in November from 31,600,000 in October and 22,300,000 in the corresponding month last year.

This brings the cumulative total for the first 11 months of this year to 324,000,000 dozen, compared with 307,200,000 in the comparative period of 1950.

Slightly Firmer Trend On Exchange

TORONTO Dec. 27 (CP). — Slightly firmer mid-session support today erased about half the morning losses on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Industrials opened mixed and trendless following yesterday's irregularity but prices reversed during the first hour.

Utilities led the market with four fractional advances. Constructions and foods drew firm support while papers, agricultures, steels and retail stores held gains and losses in balance. Banks and textiles were unchanged but liquors, refining oils and manufacturing companies weakened. Miscellaneous industrials dipped sharply.

Leading base metal issues showed little trend but Chromium and Opemiska strengthened. Mackeno and Mindamar dipped pennies.

A scattered list of lower-priced western oils showed sporadic activity. Canadian Atlantic, General Petroleum and American-Leduc strengthened while Anglo-Canadian, Calvan Consolidated and Western Homestead weakened.

Senior golds were mixed. Hollinger climbed fractions but Lake Shore and Teck Hughes eased. Secondary issues showed little trend.

dations to their nine similar partners. All that is expected to take time.

The indicated changes would make NATO the central authority for handling the west's political, economic and military problems.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden meanwhile, is planning to put forward some ideas for reforming NATO too, aides said.

Eden will suggest the allied foreign ministers meet periodically in complete privacy to discuss their toughest and most secret problems.

He is anxious to get back to old-type secret diplomacy so that ministers can say what they think without having to worry about immediate effects of their words on public opinion.

Charge Burwash Officials Too Revengeful

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP)—J. B. Salsberg, Labor Progressive member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto St. Andrew's, Wednesday night told the United Jewish People's Order that administration of Burwash Industrial Farm is "vindictive and revengeful" toward prisoners who protest alleged bad conditions.

Mr. Salsberg told an educational meeting of the Jewish organization that one night "30 inmates were removed chained together and transported to local or county jails in Toronto, Sudbury, North Bay and Windsor without charges having been made against them and without a hearing."

Twenty of the men were "dumped into Toronto jail."

He said the matter came to his attention when he received a letter from the 20 men transferred from Burwash to Don jail at Toronto.

"They each signed the letter asking me to visit them at the Don jail so that they might inform me of their plight," he said.

Considered Agitators

Reforms Minister Foote said the prisoners were removed to Toronto because authorities at Burwash considered them agitators. "They made it impossible for us to carry out our program designed for people who are co-operative."

Mr. Foote said the prisoners were transferred in accordance with legal provisions and were confined in a manner to ensure against escape en route.

Burwash authorities, he said, had discovered incendiary bombs secreted about the grounds.

"I have the fullest confidence in the administration at Burwash," said the minister. "The food is good."

Three Houses

Mayor Rosario Fortin of Riviere des Prairies said the Provincial Streams Commission will be in charge of clearing the river.

He said a request for help from the RCAF was cancelled shortly after it was made. He announced Wednesday night he would ask that a plane bomb the ice jams.

The flood is caused by ice jams at rapids where the river meets the Reviere des Mille Isles before flowing into the St. Lawrence.

Want Survey

Residents of Montreal North said they want blasting done immediately. However, those living in Riviere des Prairies asked that a thorough survey be made to find out if any other jams could be blasted nearer the St. Lawrence.

As it is the jams are midway between the two communities and clearing the river now would mean that additional water would swirl down to the Reviere des Prairies area.

Mr. Chagnon said it may be possible to blast the ice without making the situation worse for Reviere des Prairies.

Negro Leader Killed By Blast, Wife Injured

MIMS, Fla., Dec 27 (AP). — A prominent Florida Negro leader was killed and his wife seriously injured by a mysterious blast which ripped open their isolated frame home near here Christmas night.

He was Harry T. Moore, 46-year-old school teacher and official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

His wife, Harriet, was given a 50-50 chance for recovery. Moore's daughter and mother, home for the holidays from their jobs, escaped injury.

In New York, executive secretary Walter White of the NAACP, linked the blast with a reign of terror and violence which has afflicted the State of Florida in recent months.

"Although repeatedly appealed to, Governor Fuller Warren has consistently refused to take any steps to uphold law and order in that state," White said.

Part of Plot

He said Moore's murder could not be considered apart from disorders resulting from the recent bombing of Jewish synagogues and a Negro housing development in Miami.

Governor Warren said at Tallahassee he was sending an investigator to Mims immediately.

White's telegram to Warren said "Steps must be taken to prevent deliberate action on the part of the lawless forces in Florida to intimidate Negro population. The Moores were representative of the finest type of citizen of your state."

County Judge Vassar B. Carlton started an inquest. He said the bomb appeared to have been placed under the house directly beneath the Moore's bed.

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP). — Trapped beneath a big snow playhouse he was building in his back yard, 12-year-old Mervyn Azaroff died here Wednesday night.

The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Azaroff, went fo play in the snowhouse after supper and was believed to have been trapped in the snow in near-zero weather for nearly six hours before discovered by his father.

Mr. Azaroff rushed him to hospital, where doctors worked for more than two hours in a vain effort to revive him.

Coast-To-Coast Expansion Aided By CNR

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 — Donald Gordon, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways, in a review of the continuous expansion that has taken place in every facet of Canada's economy, says that from Newfoundlad to British Columbia engineers and development officers were active, working in close liaison with government and industry, whose combined planning indicates that more than $600 million will be spent in the immediate future on industrial plant and development along CNR lines.

The CNR has begun construction of a 147-mile rail line from Sherridon, Man., to Lynn Lake where an important property, containing nickel and other strategic metals, is being developed by Sherritt Gordon Mines.

Preliminary surveys to build a 46-mile rail link from Terrace, BC, to Kitimat where a waterpower and refinery project, costing at least $500 million, has been started by the Aluminum Co. of Canada. These are but two out of scores of projects making contributions to Canada's economic future and in most cases to defence.

Business Figures

In 1951 the Canadian National carried in excess of 90 million tons of freight, 23 million shipments of express, and 17 million passengers. Its communications system transmitted 14 million telegrams and cables, and its hotels accommodated three-quarters of a million guests.

Diesel locomotives in service increased by 108 units and delivery is awaited of 57 additional units for which orders were placed during the year.

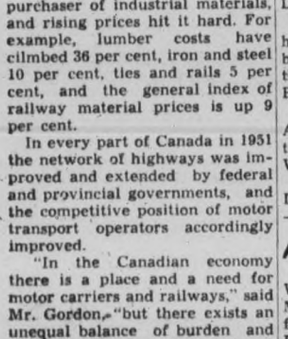
Through-freight services are now being operated with diesel power between Halifax, Montreal, and Toronto, and between Montreal and Lake St. John district, and diesels are being used in regular service on lines and in terminals in every part of Canada.

The CNR received 5,205 units of new freight car equipment, and 70 units of new passenger train equipment during the year, and it has more than a thousand units of rolling stock now on order from the builders. It is steadily modernizing passenger cars in its own shops. Shortage of steel and other difficulties have unfortunately held up deliveries of box cars to some extent.

Revenues from increased freight traffic and higher freight rates are not keeping pace with rapidly mounting operating costs. The biggest jump was in the wage bill. CNR is the largest industrial employer and the granting of the 40-hour week with wage increases has created a heavy additional burden of operating expense that is bound to be reflected in the net income account.

Biggest Buyer

CNR is also the nation's biggest purchaser of industrial materials, and rising prices hit it hard. For example, lumber costs have climbed 36 per cent, iron and steel 10 per cent, ties and rails 5 per cent, and the general index of railway material prices is up 9 per cent.



In every part of Canada in 1951 the network of highways was improved and extended by federal and provincial governments, and the competitive position of motor transport operators accordingly improved.

"In the Canadian economy there is a place and a need for motor carriers and railways," said Mr. Gordon, "but there exists an unequal balance of burden and advantage between the two forms of transport. Part of the answer may be found in the extension of railway-owned and operated bus and truck services. New highway routes were established last year where we found that we could give a better service to certain areas, but these were, and will continue to be, supplementary to our railway operations which, of necessity, are our primary concern.

Deny Two Farmers Held For Betrayal

PUSAN, South Korea, Dec. 27 —(Reuters)—Home minister Lee Soon yong South Korea today denied reports that South Korean police had arrested two farmers for surrendering Maj.-Gen. William Dean to the Communists in August, 1950.

Lee said that reports of the fighting around Taejon in which Dean was captured were so confused that it was not possible to say whether anyone had betrayed the general, as Communist sources have claimed.

Dean's name was listed last week among prisoners held by the Communists.

Commander of the United States 24th Infantry Division, he was last seen July 19, 1950, when he set out to roundup stragglers as hard-pressed United States forces retreated from Taejong.

Claxton, Lapointe Leave For Korea

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton and Veterans Minister Lapointe left Rockcliffe airport today in the RCAF's C5 aircraft for a visit to Canadian forces in the Far East.

The two ministers will visit the Canadian troops at the front and in hospitals, and the three Canadian destroyers in the theatre, returning to Ottawa Jan. 11.

Pilot of the plane is Flt. Lt. Les Hussey of Ottawa.

Canada Passing Through Times Of High Adventure—H. M. Turner

These are times of high adventure for Canada, as the nation enters the most expansive period in its history, H. M. Turner, president of the Canadian General Electric Co., said today.

"A growing sense of national destiny; the rapid development of natural resources; our sharply-increased engineering and productive capacity, backed by the best in world research and investment; an economy that shows sustained buoyancy while retaining its traditional soundness — these are important new sources of strength as the nation moves confidently into the challenging days ahead. In almost every phase of Canadian enterprise, electricity continues to play a vital part in the strength and well-being of the nation—an important factor, also in enabling us to meet our mounting international obligations.

"During the past decade, Canada's rate of expansion has probably been greater than that of any other nation, helping to win for us a new high place in world affairs. It is significant to note, for example, that we have a national income about as great as the combined total for the thirteen countries of South America — though we have less than one-eighth of their population. This may be explained, in part, by the very extensive development of our power resources, for we use about three times as much electrical energy as the entire southern continent."

Increase Productive Capacity

"Under the steadily-increasing impact of the defence program, three fairly-well-defined phases of industrial mobilization may now be observed. The first is to increase our nation's basic productive capacity—and this is now approaching full flood. The second, flowing from it, is to produce sufficient military durables to meet defence requirements. The third is to free the production of consumer durables, in order to stabilize the economy and to meet the urgent needs of our expanding population.

"The electrical industry has an important function in each of these three phases. The outlook for the coming months therefore varies widely within the industry, according to the urgency with which each phase will be pressed —and this, in turn, will depend mainly upon the danger of all-out war abroad and of spiralling inflation at home. Recognizing fully the dangers in each case, the industry is prepared to play its full part in the national interest, confident that we, as a people, possess not only the productive capacity but the courage and discipline necessary to win through.

"The principle emphasis within the electrical manufacturing industry at this time is in the 'apparatus' field—in the production of capital goods urgently needed by utilities and industry as a part of industrial mobilization. In addition, about 4 per cent of its productive capacity—particularly in electronics—is currently devoted to the production of material for the armed services. The production of consumer goods such as appliances and radios, on the other hand, has been cut back during the past year to about one-third of its early-1951 level, under the severe credit and tax restrictions imposed upon it and the growing uncertainty about material supply."

Must Have Power

"An essential in our defence structure is an adequate supply of power. Electric utilities are therefore expanding their generating capacities at a rate of over one million horsepower a year. About 900,000 hp of hydro-electric power and 350,000 hp of steam-electric power were added in 1951, bringing the total Canadian installed capacity to over 13½ million hp. Over 3 million horsepower currently on order and many other developments actively projected would indicate that the rate of increase will move upward during the coming months to bring into full operation, not only in harnessing the 'prime mover' such as water or steam, but also in the design, production, testing and installation of complete equipment such as generators, transformers and switchgear and of a wide array of wire and cable and other supplies.

"It is anticipated that an important new source of power—natural gas—will be employed in power generation, through the use of gas turbines.

In the meantime, the need to continue the development of our rich water resources it more urgent than ever, as indicated by the sustained effort to clear the way for the St. Lawrence seaway and power project."

Higher Efficiency

"Railways, as a central part of our defence structure, are achieving higher efficiency and economy through the continuing program to dieselize their operations. During 1951, 142 diesel-electric locomotives were purchased by our major railroad systems, and the first of many such units were delivered for the railway being built to serve the Labrador iron ore fields.

"In the construction industry, the present emphasis is on larger contracts for defence industries and for the housing necessary to their operation. As a result, there is a steadily-increasing backlog of deferred demand in the building of housing and in non-essential industries, that represents a major challenge to the nation's construction industries group. In an effort to help ensure that today's vast building projects will serve also tomorrow's still greater requirements, the electrical industry is continuing a long-range educational program on adequate wiring.

"As a part of the electrical industry's direct contribution to defence needs, there has been a sharp increase in the demand for a great variety of specialized electrical equipment for airborne and ground installations for our expanding aircraft industry.

"The defence effort also occupies an increasing part of the nation's electronic manufacturing facilities. New skills and techniques resulting from the development and production of radar, communication and allied equipments for the services will be of considerable value also in civilian applications of electronics.

Future Is Bright

"In the field of appliances, while sales have been temporarily restricted, the long-term prospects are very bright for "better living electrically". Electrical servants in ever-increasing variety have become an essential in the standard of living of even the most modest household. Safe and efficient lighting; applicances that make housework easier; entertainment by means of radio and TV; modern systems of heating and air conditioning—in all of these electricity is the genii that helps transform home living today. Automatically-operated dishwashers, freezers, garbage disposers and many other devices now being introduced, will be the commonplace of modern living tomorrow—and research and development on many other products continues apace.

"Electric lighting practice in Canada compares favourably with that of any other country, and is in advance of most. It is estimated that in 1951 more than 100 million lamp bulbs were sold to satisfy the increasing needs of industry, commerce and homes.

"The research trends within the industry indicate a broad development in all fields—with significant progress in gas turbines, for both mobile and stationary installations; in synthetic materials such as silicones; in new instruments and control devices, of revolutionary effect in the field of military equipment and for probable civilian application in the future. Despite intensive research in the atomic field, the application of nuclear energy in electrical power generation, on an economical and competitive basis, still appears to be some years away, with its impact on the economy still a matter of uncertainty."

Thanks, Folks!

Your Ontario Hydro Commission appreciates very sincerely the co-operation given both to this Commission and to the local Municipal Systems by all classes of electrical consumers in saving power throughout our very difficult peak period during the past week.

This co-operation has enabled us to carry on, notwithstanding the temporary loss in generating capacity of over 200,000 kilowatts (270,000 horse-power)—an amount equal to the combined loads of Hamilton, Brantford and Belleville.

Again, thank you all sincerely.

Police Report Single Accident On Christmas

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 27 — (ENS)—Only one slight automobile accident occurred over the Christmas holiday in this town. Christmas evening, two autos travelling in the same direction across the bridge were involved in a mishap.

The first car was driven by Charles Fraser and the second by Arthur Morgan. Fraser stopped at the intersection of Front and Bridge Sts. before making a right turn onto Front. When he started, his car was in reverse instead of low gear, and the vehicle backed up, striking the Morgan auto. The latter vehicle received extensive damage to the grill, fender and headlight, while the Fraser car was not badly damaged. Chief Constable George H. Hardy investigated.

Thief Gets $200 At Lindsay In Garage Safe

LINDSAY, Dec. 27—A theft of $200 from the safe of Western's garage, Lindsay, which took place December 16 wasn't discovered until Monday, five days later.

Chief Constable Arthur Webster reported that the money was taken from the safe on Wednesday of last week when Kenneth Western, the bookkeeper, was away ill. Receipts for Dec. 17 and 18 had been placed in the safe and as was the custom the safe was opened Wednesday, Dec. 19. The door had been shut, but not locked, Chief Webster said.

When Western came back on Monday of this week, it was first discovered that the money was missing. The chief said it was assumed the thief, finding all the employees busy in another part of the garage, opened the safe door and took the money from the box. Investigation is being carried out.

Record Mail Handled At Cobourg Office

COBOURG, Dec. 27—(ENS)—A record mail was handled during the Christmas season at Cobourg post office. Parcels were slightly more numerous but cards and letters were 15 per cent greater in volume. Postmaster Peter Quinn said local residents took the annual advice handed out by the post office and mailed early and if it had not been for storms holding up western Canada and US mails there would have been no concentrated rush.

Peak days were Dec. 17, 18, 19 and 20 with the busiest day being Thursday, December 19. There was a reduction on the following day and on Saturday the mail was about normal as far as local mails were concerned, which was fortunate because the delayed Christmas mail from the States and western Canada piled in on Dec. 21 and 22.

350 May Die

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP).—The National Safety Council estimated today that 350 persons may die in traffic accidents in the United States during the New Year's holiday period. The estimate was for the period from 6 pm Friday to midnight Tuesday. The total number of traffic deaths for a similar period over Christmas, as compiled by The Associated Press, was 535.

Lost In Swamp For Hours Dies Of Exposure

LINDSAY, Dec. 27 — Arthur Sluggett, 72, resident of Mariposa township, died of exposure on his way to Lindsay hospital Monday after getting lost in a huckleberry marsh near his home, where he lives alone.

The dead man, who was partially blind, was found by two neighbors, David Longsborough and Gordon Ferguson, who noticed that there was no activity at his home on Monday morning and went over to investigate. When they reached the house they discovered there was no fire in the stove and the owner had disappeared. They saw tracks leading away from the house and followed them for two and a half hours through the nearby woods where it was obvious that the victim was lost because of his poor vision. At 12:30 they found Sluggett on his back in the snow with both hands and feet frozen.

Dr. Robert Hall of Little Britain was immediately called and he ordered Sluggett taken to Lindsay hospital. He died on the way.

Mr. Sluggett leaves one brother Clarence of Doe River, B.C.

Ontario County's New Home

Oshawa has a new home for the aged, opened on December 19th, which is a credit to the city and county, judging from the photographs and accounts of it. "Fairview Lodge" is very different from the old three-and-a-half storey House of Refuge which it is replacing, and reflects the new views on how best to house the aged—different from the methods thought best in 1903 when the House of Refuge was built. The exterior of the old one—standing at the edge of Fairview Lodge grounds—reminds one of Peterborough's Anson House and House of Providence. The new one is a one-storey structure of half a dozen wings radiating from a central building, and set in several acres of park land—yet to be landscaped.

It provides accommodation for 200 people. The one-floor plan is said to be economical, since it requires no heavy foundation work, elevators, and staircases. It is certainly more suitable to old people than a high building, with its laborious stairs. The new Home is equipped to deal with elderly people in various stages of health from very good and active, to feeble and bed-ridden.

* * *

The central part is the administrative block and a main dining room to seat 150 people. (Staff quarters and dining room are separate). This dining room is to be used by those requiring no special care. For them also is sewing space, and a hobby room. The modern kitchen is equipped to get hot food to elderly people not able to take their meals in common with others; and to those in the hospital wing.

* * *

The wings for the self-reliant have bedrooms with one, two, three or four beds each. (Married couples are provided for in these.) Each resident has his own locker in a locker room in his own wing, and a clothes cupboard in its linen room. The bedrooms have personal bedside tables and storage cupboards. There are sitting rooms and visitors' rooms in the various wings.

* * *

The hospital wing accommodates fifty persons. For those who need special care because of a slight infirmity there is another wing, accommodating eighty persons. The plan also provides rooms for invalid couples. The building has several covered porches.

* * *

Ontario County's new home, both in its operational design and in the provision it makes for couples and the infirm, is a model which this city and county can study with benefit when the time comes to build a new Anson House, a new House of Providence, or a new County Old People's Home. A building like Anson House is still good. It is dignified, solid, comfortable, and has a pleasant home-like character dispelling its institutional role. But its services are limited by its structure and capacity. The time is fast coming when new buildings to supplement the services of the three existing old people's homes must be provided, because there are more old people in the city and district and the proportion of elderly is increasing since people are living longer.

Fine Scott A.L.S. $20

Which, being interpreted, means "A fine autograph letter, signed by Sir Walter Scott, price $20"; it is an extract from a catalogue of autographs which we received yesterday from a New York dealer. Sir Walter's price is a good one, considering that his signature is by no means rare. Bernard Shaw, also a copious signer of his name, fetches $6; Rebecca West, less commonly met with, $7.50; a good letter from Somerset Maugham will cost you $12.50; if you want the autograph of Joyce Kilmer, who crept into a million sentimental hearts with his poem Trees, you must pay $25 for it. The trade in autographs is a brisk one.

We understand, and sympathize with, though we do not share, the desire to have a signature of a person who is, for one reason or another, of interest. His hand has, for a moment, rested upon that very piece of paper; the inscription of his own name is a strongly personal memento. The autographs of great men in history—Cromwell, Napoleon and Nelson—are treasures indeed; the autographs of smaller fry, such as writers, painters and actors, are commoner but they have their own interest. A good collection of autographs is always a pleasure to look through.

We are always interested, when looking at books of autographs, to observe that writers tend to write, as a usual thing, quite clearly and legibly, and even beautifully. There is a popular notion that the more a man writes, the worse his writing becomes; that is not borne out by the facts. Recently we saw a fascimile of a remarkable book which belongs to Sir Edward Marsh; in it several of the greatest poets and writers of our day had copied portions of their own work for Marsh, who knew them all. In every case the writing was neat, nicely laid out on the page, and completely legible.

Perhaps we may commend this to the attention of our younger readers; you will not necessarily become an important person merely because your writing has achieved an interesting degree of illegibility. You can write neatly and well without incurring any blame. And if, in future years, an A.L.S. of your own is offered for sale——be it for $5 or $50—the buyer will have the satisfaction of being able to read what you have written.

Puritanism In Russia

Immediately after the Russian Revolution of 1917 there was a considerable hullabaloo because the Russians abolished many restrictions on sexual conduct which had pertained under the Czar. It was easy to form a sexual union, and it was equally easy to break it. Many people predicted that this variation from the Western moral code could quickly bring about the fall of the new state, but it unaccountably failed to do so. With the recollection of that prediction still in our ears it is interesting to read that Russia has altered greatly in this respect; divorce is now much more difficult there than it is here, and illicit sexual unions come under the most stringent disapproval. A British physician who has just returned from Moscow reports that the moral atmosphere there is "almost puritanical . . . it is considered uncultured even to hold hands." A British embassy official supports this report.

At once the question occurs: are the Russians now our moral superiors, and will those among us who make the preservation of sexual morality their chief concern urge us to adopt Russian moral standards? It is an interesting topic for speculation, but one upon which calm and reasoned argument is unlikely. We may ponder, however, upon what the Russians will make of their puritanism. They are a nation of fanatics, and when they apply their natural fanaticism to the already fanatical outlook of the extreme puritan, we may expect rigours of righteousness which would have astonished Calvin.

It is interesting, also, to reflect that what the Russians now insist upon in the way of sexual conduct was very similar to the code of the Russian upper classes under the Czars. Readers of Russian novels—those of Tolstoy in particular—will recall the stringencies of conduct which were insisted upon by wealthy and powerful families, especially in the conduct of women. It looks as though the Russians have not changed very much, after all.

When Icicles Hang By The Wall

Roofs and eaves are festooned now with so many arrays of icicles that one wonders at their beauty and is amazed that people are not being killed right and left by them. At a rough count there are 500 thousand icicles hanging from city eaves alone, little ones the size of stilettos, huge ones to fit the fist of some Arctic Mars. Every one is a jewelled dagger or a glittering sword in the sun which has given them being.

In these days of electric refrigeration icicles have no use except to look upon or to fall on the head of a cousin-once-removed (who may thereby be twice removed). They are no longer needed to cool a fevered brow or tickle a child's tongue—the family ice box is handier than icicles by the wall. So perhaps now one must forget their beauty and the curiosity of their shapes and look on them only as a menace—to eaves and to heads under them. They may indeed damage the eaves but we are hard put to remember anybody who has ever been struck dead by them. To be felled by an icicle seems unheroic. To be wounded by one seems undignified. Perhaps, therefore, the tens of thousands of people who have undoubtedly been brought low by icicles keep quiet about the cause of their injury. Their pride is hurt worse than their flesh. So they suffer in silence rather than endure the public shame of being conked by frozen water.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A doctor says that germs do not live very long on coin money. We don't live as long on it as we used to, either.

The Kitchener Record says, "There are very few people today who still think that government funds grow on trees." Of course not, but they grow on taxpayers, who must be pretty green to put up with it.

In 1950 Canadians spent $642,000,000 on liquor, more than half of which went to the various governments as taxes. This presents an interesting picture of one of the most puritanical countries in the world straining toward righteousness, with her head in the clouds and both feet in a tub of booze.

Administration By Amateurs

By ALAISTAIR BUCHAN
(In Washington)

FOR the first one hundred and forty years of its history, that is to say until the New Deal, the United States Government neither had nor needed a large professional civil service. The activity of the Federal Government was strictly limited by public opinion to the administration of justice, defence and foreign relations.

* * *

EVEN when, under Franklin Roosevelt, it assumed vastly increased powers over the economic activity of the country, the new departments and agencies were for the most part staffed with enthusiastic amateurs from the universities and law schools who came to Washington and accepted the low pay and the indifferent conditions of service from a sense of public duty.

* * *

THE further enormous expansion of the American Government which took place during the war was based, in the senior appointments, upon the services of able lawyers, bankers and industrialists who have felt it their duty to serve the government at a time of national emergency. Except in certain specialized jobs in the traditional fields of Government activity such as the Department of the Interior, policy is not directed by professional civil servants who have come to the top by the ordinary process of service and promotion, but by private citizens doing a stint as public officials.

* * *

BOTH in the State Department and the Department of Defence, the two key departments, the top officials are almost all highly-principled men from the universities, from law practice, from finance, industry or journalism. Mr. Dean Acheson (Secretary of State), a successful Washington lawyer, and Mr. Robert Lovett, (Secretary of Defence), a wealthy New York investment banker, are of this type. Likewise, Mr. Paul Hoffman, the original head of the Marshall Plan, who was head of the Studebaker Corporation; Mr. Thomas Finletter, Secretary for Air, who was a New York lawyer; Mr. Richard Bissell, the present head of the Economic Co-operation Administration, who was a professor of economics; and the list could be extended indefinitely to include several hundreds of men who have come from private life to take most of the senior appointments in the key places in government.

THERE is no doubt that this system has its merits; the constant influx of men from private business provides the American Government with great energy and less temptation to be strangled by its own red tape.

The Economic Co-operation Administration, which has administered the Marshall Plan for the last four years, has been run almost entirely by amateurs who have proved themselves both dynamic and professional, and it is doubtful if that agency could have accomplished what it has accomplished if it had been under the guidance of ordinary civil servants.

THE great defect of this method of government is that it lacks continuity. These private citizens come to Washington to serve their country but they do not settle down there. The work is hard and harrassing, and more often than not involves a man in public and undignified disputes, with politicians. The pay is high by British but low by American standards. Public office involves uprooting a family from some other city, and Washington has a climate and an atmosphere which many people intensely dislike. Not being established civil servants, they cannot look forward to pensions. The temptation to leave the Government after two or three years' service is very great. The academic mind wishes to return to the peace of a university, the businessman and the lawyer feel that they owe it to their families to return to private life and restore their depleted fortunes.

* * *

DURING the last two months this tendency has been exemplified in its most virulent form. Mr. Richard Bissell is shortly leaving E.C.A. for the Ford Foundation which is now headed by Mr. Paul Hoffman and staffed by many able men who were in E.C.A. One key official in the Office of Defence Mobilization, Mr. Eric Johnson, the Wage Stabilizer, has just returned to Hollywood and Mr. Michael Disalle, the Price Stabilizer, is reported to be going shortly. But it is in the State Department that the situation is most serious. The Under-Secretary, Mr. James Webb, is leaving shortly for private life; of the seven assistant secretaries upon whom the main burden of framing and executing the details of foreign policy falls, three are leaving. One of the ablest of them, Mr. Dean Rusk, who has all the threads of Far Eastern policy in his hands, is going to be head of the Rockefeller Foundation. There is no doubt that they will be replaced possibly by men as able or abler than themselves, but continuity is necessarily sacrificed and American foreign policy will suffer accordingly.

* * *

MANY people in Washington, observing this latest series of resignations, are beginning to wonder whether, in the State Department at least, the day of the able but short-lived amateur is not over. It is being suggested that the President, instead of hunting desperately for executives and talented private citizens to take the top jobs in the State Department, should concentrate instead upon building up an enduring body of professional civil servants and diplomatists who should be given all, instead of merely a few, of the senior posts so that American diplomacy can be pursued with more continuity and expertize than is possible at present.

GENTLE PERSUASION

When a Scoutmaster asked his boys whether or not each had done his good deed for the day, three members admitted they hadn't.

"In that case," they were told, "leave this meeting and don't return until you've lived up to our motto of one good deed a day."

Half an hour later the boys returned, dishevelled and flushed.

"I did my good deed, sir," the first scout said. "I helped an old lady across the street." "Me, too," added the second. "I helped the same old lady cross the street." "So did I," chimed in the third member.

"Do you mean," the Scoutmaster demanded, "that it took three of you to help one old lady cross the street?"

The spokesman for the trio lowered his head.

"Yes," he replied. "You see, sir, the old lady didn't want to cross the street."

A Sort of Perpetual Tug-of-War!

Letters To The Editor

DECEMBER 25 NOT CHRIST'S BIRTHDAY

Sir: Much is being said about Christmas this time of the year, but the question is, how Christian is Christmas? Or is it pagan? If pagan, should we observe it? (2 Corinthians 6:14-18)

The following is taken from a very good book entitled "What has Religion Done for Mankind?" is says:

From what we observed December 25 was the traditional birthday of Nimrod, the false seed of the woman. The inspired Scriptures do not give the birth date of Jesus, and it does not matter, for neither Jesus nor God His Father, nor the inspired apostles instructed us to celebrate Jesus' birthday. The only birthday celebrations the Holy Scriptures mention are those of pagans, those of Egypt's Pharaoh and of Herod Antipas who marked his birthday by having John the Baptist's head chopped off. (Genesis 40:20, Matthew 14:6, Mark 6:21) Christ's disciples of the first century shunned birthday celebrations as being pagan, unchristian! The Scriptures are against Jesus' birthday as being the wintery day of December 25. December means tenth month, and the tenth Jewish month Tebeth was a rainy and cold month, especially at Bethlehem's elevation of 2,550 feet above sea level. It could not have been this disagreeable wintertime, for the account says shepherds were living out of doors watching over their flocks by night. In wintertime there was no pasturage in the fields for the sheep and already during the eighth month they were withdrawn from the field and housed for the winter in their corral.

What is more, Jesus once said: "Keep praying that your flight may not occur in wintertime" (Matthew 24:20 N.W.). So there is the extreme unlikelihood that Joseph would take his wife, Mary, then "heavy with child", for that journey of over sixty miles (airline miles) through mountainous terrain averaging 3,000 feet above sea level in a rainy, wintery month. Besides it was the registration required by Rome and which called for a lot of travelling by everyone. The Rome authorities would not be so unwise as to require subjugated peoples, especially rebelliously-minded Jews, to submit to the hardships of winter travel to comply with Caesar's decree. The politic Romans would be discreet enough to take advantage of the time when Jehovah's law required the Jews to travel to Jerusalem; namely, in the seventh month, for the celebrations of the Feast of Tabernacles from the fifteenth to the twenty-first of that month. So it was about the beginning of the eight month Jewish (Bul, meaning "rain") that Jesus was born. He was killed on Nisan 14 in the spring of the year, or April, A.D. 33, Gregorian calendar, and, according to Daniel 9: 24-27, Jesus was then thirty-three-and-a-half years old. So if we measure back a half year from Nisan 14 or April 1, it locates Jesus' actual birthday about Oct. 1. His second cousin, John the Baptist, was born about six months earlier. According to the time that John's father served at Jerusalem's temple as priest, in the "division of Abijah", John was born toward the beginning of April 1: Chronciles 24:1-10; 2 Chronicles 23:4; Luke 1:5-27, 36."

I Remain,
EARL C. BREWER.

SAYS NURSES DISCOURAGED

Sir: Ever since the opening of the Peterborough Civic Hospital the nurses have listened to complaints from the citizens of Peterborough. I think it is just about time the nurses started to say a few words in return.

The latest criticism is our request for a shorter working week and a raise in salary. The shorter working week was considered impossible and the increase in wages was granted but under protest.

Forty dollars a week may sound like a fair salary, but our actual pay, after taxes are deducted, leaves us with thirty-six dollars and thirty cents per week. This is for a forty-eight hour week and shift work.

To enter training as a nurse a fourth year high school education is required, and following this three years is spent as a student nurse. This three years of training is a hard and difficult training, and any student nurse who is showing any signs of not being suited to the course is let go, thus leaving only the best to graduate. Inefficiency is not tolerated at any time either during or after training.

Just how many of our industrial workers are working the same hours, and shifts for the salary we receive?

How many apprentices work for three years for a salary averaging between six and ten dollars a month? Yes, that is the wage paid student nurses in training—a mere pittance.

We are not like industrial workers, that, when the whistle blows drop everything and start for home. I could just imagine the look of amazement on our patients' faces if at the end of our working hours we left them half bathed or their bed not made. It would be an eye-opener to a great many people if our over-time was marked down and added up at the end of each week.

No, there is no time-and-a-half wages for overtime in a nurse's life.

It is essential that we are neat and tidy at our work. It costs money to buy those lovely starched uniforms, caps, and white shoes. We are no different than other workers, we must earn a decent salary.

We are looked on with great shame if we mention the word "union". Immediately we are reminded we are a profession and must act in a professional manner. We are very proud of our profession—but it makes our blood boil to see ward-aides and sweepers getting increases in salary because of their union. Are we not as important as these other workers, do we not deserve an increase in wages to cover the high cost of living?

Months ago we asked for decent bus service, every request we have made has been turned down. The factories have a special bus to see that they get to work on time, but we get buses when the company decides we need them and not before. Taxis are too expensive for a girl making the salary we do, we can't afford them.

Since this hospital opened I have seen two letters in this column, praising the hospital and nurses, surely there have been more than two satisfied patients. People are very quick to complain, but are they as quick to praise?

We nurses are becoming very discouraged, and are beginning to wonder if the people of Peterborough really think we are the cause of the hospital being in debt.

I hope this letter will start the ball rolling and that both citizens and nurses will send in their views on this matter.

We realize the citizens of Peterborough are entitled to know why the hospital is not a paying concern, but your trouble is not caused by the inefficiency and laziness of the general duty nurses, you receive a day's work for a day's pay.

Thanking you for the space in your paper.

A Very Discouraged Lamp Holder.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd. Then saith he unto his disciples, the harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest. (Matt. 9: 35-38.)

When he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease...

These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give. (Matt. 10: 1, 5-8.)

Bargaining

(Washington Post)

Some business and industrial concerns are in the habit of distributing bonuses to employees, usually at Christmastide. A bonus is defined as "something given in addition to what is ordinarily received by or strictly due to the recipient." Thus a bonus is really a sizable tip; and where bonuses have been received regularly they are usually anticipated in family budgeting.

The matter came up the other day before the National Labour Relations Board, which voted three to one that it is an unfair labour practice for an employer who has been giving bonuses to refuse to negotiate with a union about the amount of such gifts. The majority of the board held that the bonus is really a form of "deferred wages" and therefore subject to collective bargaining. The dissident member, Mr. Abe Murdock, held that a Christmas bonus is a freely given Christmas gift and to make it a matter for haggling would be destructive of its nature.

Well, we don't know exactly where the moral of the incident lies. Perhaps it would have been better if the employees had rejected the bonus and demanded an equivalent sum in increased wages. One thing is clear, however: it will be very difficult, hereafter, for employers to find a way of doing something for their employees at Christmastime out of sheer good will.

NOT AS FREE AS ALL THAT! . . . by Giles

Have New Way Of Predicting Child's Height

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 — (AP)—If you want to know how tall your child will be, science has a sure way of telling, beginning just [illegible] the 'teen years.

T[illegible] was explained today by Dr. Nancy Bayley, Dr. Alta Gordon and Edward Bowes of the University of California Institute of Child Welfare at a session of the 118th annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The scientists reported they take X-ray picfures of the joints of hand, wrist and knee. The bone development at these three points, they said, tells a child's maturity better than any other available test. These connections at joints mature at various rates but never uniformly.

The studies with X-ray begin at the age of eight. At about 12, these bones become a quite accurate predictor of the final height of a boy or girl.

Better Substitutes

Science is also on the way to new and better substitutes for the arms, legs and hands of amputees. Experiments are being made with electronics, hydraulics, suction and all the latest devices of engineering to improve substitute limbs.

The experiments were explained by Dr. Sidney Fishman, of New York University College of Engineering.

Teams of amputees, men chosen because of their success in using the common false limbs try the improved arms, legs and hands. If the new ones prove safe they go on a national trial by 100 amputees, usually arranged for by the veterans' administration.

If the new limb works for these 100 it is offered to everyone.

Norwood Church Active At Christmas

NORWOOD, Dec. 27—(ENS)—Norwood United Church has been the scene of numerous Christmas activities recently.

The senior and junior choirs had a successful supper and social evening with about 70 present. Guests for the occasion included Mrs. Charles Carter, of Havelock, and the Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Wright.

A white gift service was held and many gifts of food and money were presented. Later they were divided for local purposes and for the Fred Victor Mission in Toronto.

The Friday before Christmas was marked by a supper and entertainment for the Sunday school and church families. Some Christmas films were shown and several boys and girls presented numbers. Santa Claus gave gifts to all the boys and girls and to the Sunday school teachers.

During the evening Christmas carols were sung. About 200 were present. The project was sponsored by the 50-50 Club of the church.

Last Sunday Christmas church service was held and well attended. In the morning the choir sang the anthem "There Were Shepherds Abiding" and Charles Carter sang "The Birthday of a King." The evening service was one of the Christmas story in verse and words. The choir sang "The First Christmas Morn." A solo sung by Mrs. William Garden was "A Star Was His Castle."

A mixed quartet, composed of Mrs. Russell Gardner, Mrs. Rork Ferguson, William Stares and Charles Carter, sang "Thou Didst Come from Thy Home."

At the morning service the Rev. H. K. Wright spoke on "Jesus Shows Us God," and in the evening he read selected Christmas poetry.

Christmas Eve was marked by Mrs. Donald Audas and her CGIT group going to the homes of sick and shut-ins to sing Christmas carols.

"Open air" elevator service would amaze most folks, but at Alcan's British Columbia project it's just part of the job. At Kemano helicopters are the elevators which lift men to work each day to perches atop 1000 foot cliffs. Men, tents, drill rigs, cigarettes, laundry and all the many items of camp life are delivered in a matter of minutes to ledges which could not be reached in hours, even days, of climbing.

Already 36,000 helicopter miles — mostly vertical — have been flown. That's just one of the answers to a construction problem that will eventually step up Canada's aluminum output by a billion pounds a year. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

New Malaria Drug

OTTAWA, Dec. 27—(CP)—A new anti-malaria drug being used on United States troops from Korea has not yet been administtered to Canadian troops returning home but is available if needed, an army medical spokesman said Wednesday. The new drug is called primaquine. A recent dispatch from Tokyo said it will cure Korean-type malaria in most cases.

Find Coffee Smuggling Big Business

By IAN FRASER

AACHEN, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—The big rings may smuggle gold and diamonds, but coffee is the little man's bootleg product.

Germany's frontier with Belgium and Luxembourg is one of the borders with the most smuggling in the world. Most of the contraband is coffee.

It is run acros the border summer and winter by farmhands, school children, housewives—and sometimes the authorities regretfully admit, even by customs officials themselves.

The tiny villages along the frontier all are prosperous. Even the humblest cottages, whose owners nominally live on the produce of a couple of cows and half an acre of cabbages, are equipped with radios, refrigerators and electric washing machines. The inhabitants wear smart clothes and drive around in auotomobiles—all paid for with coffee.

Cracking Down

West German customs authorities now are cracking down on the coffee business. They are making many arrests and confiscating much contraband. But offenders are so numerous and widely dispersed that the officials can hardly stop the trade altogether.

The coffeee is bought cheaply in Belgium, smuggled across to a middleman just inside the German border, and then smuggled out to the Ruhr and other parts of Germany where it brings a high price.

Farmers have helped the smugglers by building ladders over their fences, so that the smugglers will not break the fences down.

Some bigger operators are motorized. Their technique is to crash the frontier and make off at full speed into the interior with 1,000 to 1,500 pounds on board.

If well sold, a hundredweight of coffeee can mean a gross profit of 1,000 marks ($230).

Salvation Sermon Topic At Springville

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 27 (ENS) —The service in Springville United Church on Sunday was largely attended. The Rev. A. E. Larke's subject was "Jesus, Savior of the World". He spoke from the text, "Thou shalt call his name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins."

Mr. Larke dealt with the meaning of salvation. He said it had reference not only to the life beyond the grave; it had reference also to man's present need. "Salvation meant also two other things, Deliverance and Living-Room". By living-room, Mr. Larke meant amplitude, spaciousness, enlargement and enrichment of life. "The Christ-Child born in a manger came to bring men to their true spiritual home as sons and daughters of God. The modern housing problem has its tragic aspect, but still more tragic is the housing problem in man's moral and spiritual life,—no room for the Christ who offers ample living-room space." He urged upon his hearers that room be made in their hearts at this Christmas time for the savior of the world.

Miss Myrna Larke sang "I heard the bells on Christmas day" and the choir sang the anthem "While Angels Sing".

WOMAN MAYOR—Dr. Charlotte Whitton, nationally-known welfare worker and first woman controller of Ottawa, last October was named first woman mayor of Canada's capital on the death of Mayor Grenville Goodwin. She will serve until Jan. 1, 1953.

Springville YPU Holds Candlelight Service

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 27 (ENS) —The Young People's Union met at the Manse Sunday evening for their candle-lighting vesper service with Eleanore Bowles, Margaret and Catherine Earle, Betty McIndoo and Lois Paddock taking part.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Larke took charge of the program of Christmas carols and games. Mr. Larke told a story, written by a German pastor, of a Christmas Eve spent as a prisoner of the Gestapo during war years.

Thirty-one young people were present.

Two Cars, Truck Crash

COBOURG, Dec. 27 (ENS) —A car driven by Foster Russell of Cobourg collided with a parked car owned by Morris McEntee on Division St. Police said the impact shoved the car up against a parked truck owned by Joe Dunn, damaging the back of the automobile as well as the front. Icy pavements were held responsible.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Voice of the Leafs, Ed Fitkin, publicity man for Maple Leaf Gardens, is getting to be quite an author of hockey books—the paper covered two-bit type. So far, he's written "Footloose in Hockey", "The Gashouse Gang of Hockey", "Turk Broda of the Leafs", "Come On, Teeder!", "Max Bentley, Hockey's Dipsy-Doodle Dandy", and "Maurice Richard, Hockey's Rocket". They make good reading for those interested in NHL play, and may be obtained here through the Kawartha News Agency. It's time Canadian sports received more recognition and particularly in hockey, Canada's national winter game which has become a big sport in the States and Europe.

* * * * * *

Our favorite NHL-er is the colorful Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens, and we liked the book about him. For quite a spell, he was panned plenty outside of Montreal as being one of those wartime stars. A lot of so-so puckists starred during the war when the calibre was poor due to so many good hockeyists serving in the armed forces. Then, Richard didn't show up well in Toronto for several seasons, and fans and press there couldn't see him as a great star. But since the war he's finally convinced everyone that he's a worthy successor to the all-time Canadiens' star, the late Howie Morenz. He has the records to prove it.

* * * * * *

Rocket Is A Fighter

Like Jack Dempsey in his fighting prime, Richard is a moody and sullen guy in action. A fierce competitor, fast, clever and strong, he has withstood plenty of roughing by big guys out to get him. Can beat most of the tough guys in the NHL with his fists, too, when it comes to blows. Uses his head now instead of his body in fooling defences on a tip from Dit Clapper, whom Fitkin calls "the veteran Boston defence star, one of the most respected players in the NHL and holder of pro hockey's longevity record, 20 years of play." Dit caught the young firebrand trying to split the Bruins' defence and knocked him for a loop. Richard started to fight and was promptly flattened again, but Dit later sought him out and gave him some good advice. Maurice took it and has been dynamite since.

* * * * * *

But getting closer to home, there's an OHA junior "B" joust on tap here Friday night. An 8.30 touch at Civic Arena betwixt Kingston Vics and the local Oddfellows, both clubs having a slight hookup with Boston Bruins. It hasn't shown too much here as yet, we might add. This should be a lively struggle, junior puckists giving it all they have every try, and the IOOF-ers having every intention of showing rival clubs they're not the league doormats. No, sir, they'll be plenty hot from now on, and the Vics will have to step high, wide and handsome on local ice to hold their own with the Godfrey gang in this tussle. It deserves a goodly gallery.

Petes Dislodge Hawks

Petes beat Belleville Hawks 9-5 here last night to grab top spot by themselves in their OHA senior "B" group. They're back in Bella Villa tomorrow, as Eagles trek to Kingston. Jim Ellis had his charges hustling last p.m. and they racked up an early lead. While they only had a one-goal margin the last two frames, they had an edge on play but found Goalie Leforte's fort a tough one to crack. Quinte crew were somewhat shorthanded with three on the injured list, including Jerry Desjardin with a broken leg. Jake Wade, Arn Dugan, the Garvey-Collins-Floyd line, and Curly Mason and Chum Fryia were all prominent on the attack for the Petes. Defensively, the club went well, also.

Trent Valley Hockey League is due to get going the day after New Year's, though we haven't seen a schedule yet. Hectic action is assured shortly in Marmora, Havelock, Norwood, Stirling, Hastings and Lakefield of the northern group in a double schedule. Rumor hath it that quite a few good Peterborough puckists will dot district lineups, fellows like Honey Tompkins, Bob Thorpe, Buck Legrow, the veteran Red Creighton and a number of others. It should make for a strong circuit and keen rivalry for TVL teams and fans. Some former TVL-ers are now with Petes and Eagles, so now former OHA-ers here will show in the Trent Loop in an interesting exchange.

Marlies Swamp Spitfires 12-4 In Lively Overtime Period

By The Canadian Press.

The tail-end Windsor Spitfires were on their way to pulling the biggest upset of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A season Wednesday night—until the roof fell in.

In an overtime period after a 4-4 tie, the first place Toronto Marlboros overwhelmed them at Windsor with eight goals in the 10-minute period. It spoiled Spits' hopes of their fourth win in 28 starts.

Windsor had the individual star of the evening, however, in their 15-year-old goalie, Dennis Riggin.

Riggin kicked out no less than 52 shots in the 60 minutes of regular play. Ten minutes of overtime spelled the difference. Fourteen shots came his way. He stopped six, but fanned on eight.

Marlboros boosted their OHA lead to four points over the idle Guelph Biltmores.

Two Junior A games were originally scheduled, but the Galt Black Hawks' visit to Waterloo Hurricanes was cancelled until the Hurcs can settle the question of their future. Poor home crowds have threatened to send the club on the financial rocks.

Down Indians

In the single OHA Senior A tilt scheduled, Sarnia Sailors awed a Stratford crowd with a 9-3 victory over the league-leading Indians. The win moved the Sailors out of the league cellar into a tie with Owen Sound for fourth spot in the six-team circuit.

At Windsor Parker MacDonald and Rod McElroy paced the Dukes' attack with three goals each. Danny Poland and Wally Maxwell garnered two while Louis Bendo and Gus Karrys potted singletons. Bill Robertson collected two and John Lumley and Bobby Brown one each for the Spits.

Don Lardner tallied three times for Sarnia Sailors while Chuck Glaab and Jimmy Wilson fired two each. Don Emms and Marty Zorica added singles. George Aitken with two and Mickey Roth with one were the Stratford scorers.

Chamberlain Given Leave Of Absence

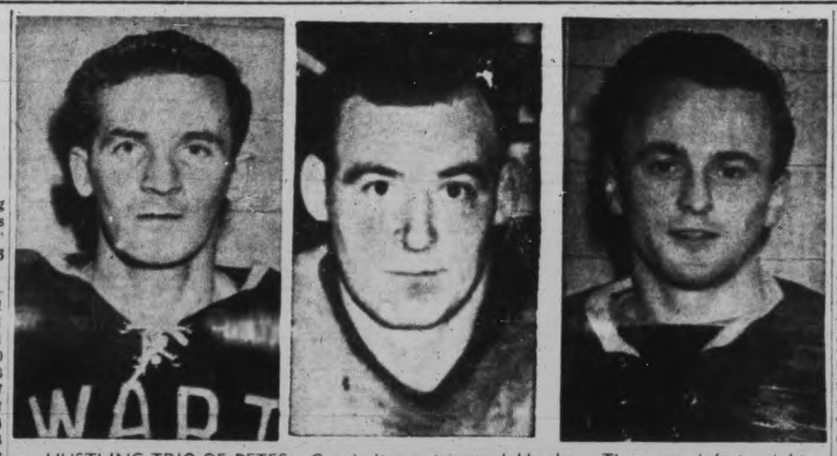
VANCOUVER, Dec. 27 (CP).—Coach Murph Chamberlain of Vancouver Canucks was given leave of absence Wednesday to attend to business in the east and there were indications he may not return to the Pacific coast.

Coaching duties on the seventh-place team were taken over, temporarily at least, by Hugh Currie.

In a statement, Chamberlain said:

"Recently I purchased a feed-mill business with another fellow in the east. We have just lost $12,000 in the deal and they want me back there to help straighten out a few things.

"It might take 10 days, maybe only a week. It might take all my time. However I will say this: I have no other hockey interests apart from the Canucks."



Chamberlain, a former National Hockey League star, was appointed coach of the Canucks in November last year.

It was presumed that he was heading for Charlottetown but nobody was giving his exact destination.

Robinson Leads Junior Club With 21 Points

Oddfellows' individual scoring averages for the first 12 games of the Central Ontario Junior "B" hockey schedule to December 26 are as follows:

	G	A	Pts.
Brian (Red) Robinson	8	13	21
Albert Buckton	4	7	11
Clare Ferguson	9	2	11
Gordon Coyle	5	5	10
William (Bill) Stewart	6	2	8
Ken Floyd	4	3	7
Kevin Heffernan	4	3	7
Leo Sullivan	2	2	4
Bill Twist	4	0	4
Don Bigford	0	3	3
Roger Wilson	0	3	3
Dick McCracken	1	1	2
Don Clapper	1	1	2
Dick Hayfield	1	1	2
Roy Armstrong	0	1	1

HUSTLING TRIO OF PETES—Coach Jim Ellis started a different line against Belleville here last night and the hustling trio above turned in a swell effort as the club trimmed Hawks. They are, left to right, Ted Collins, Freddy Garvey and Don Floyd. Each accounted for two points in the 9-5 senior "B" victory which hoisted the team to first place alone in the standing.

Golf Star Marlene Stewart Took Spotlight In 1951 Sports

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The story of Canada in Sport in 1951 belongs to a 108-pound 17-year-old, even with the hoop-to-do surrounding the Stanley Cup playoffs, East-West Grey Cup final and other major Canadian sports events. The youngster: Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont.

The Grim Kid — that's the way sports writers described her — burst into the sports limelight with as nifty an exhibition of big-time golf that this country has ever seen. Her youthfulness captured the imagination of the sports public from Newfoundland to British Columbia and her methodical mow-'em-down way with the business end of a golf club stamped her as a prodigy of the fairways.

Marlene's name became a golfing byword last June in Toronto when she won the Ontario Women's Open Championship. Was the kid a seven-day wonder of the links, as was she "on" for the tournament, the experts wondered.

Get Answer

They received their answer six weeks later at Montreal when she won the Canadian Women's Closed Title and followed up seven days later with the Canadian Women's Open Crown neatly tucked in her over-sized golf bag. A star was born just three years after she started playing the game.

Marlene was the youngest golfer in the history of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union to take the Closed Title and her name was placed alongside Ada Mackenzie as the only double winner of the closed and open tournaments.

Eastern Triumphs

It was the East all the way in major sectional competition in football, lacrosse and hockey.

Ottawa Rough Riders, Big Four and Eastern Canada football champions, defeated Saskatchewan Roughriders 20-14 at Toronto to take the Grey Cup. A record football crowd of 27,534 packed Varsity Stadium to watch the classic.

Hamilton clubs took the other rugby honors. The Tiger-Cats defeated Edmonton for the Canadian Junior title and the Panthers whipped Norwood-St. Boniface Legionnaires at Hamilton in the first East-West Intermediate final in history.

The Senior football season was notable for its down-to-the-line finishes. In both the Western Canada Conference and the Eastern Big Four three clubs finished in a point-tie, necessitating semi-final series.

Wackiest Year

It probably was the greatest year, at the gate, and certainly the wackiest for Senior football. Large crowds were the order in East and West as the teams, with the exception of Calgary Stampeders and Montreal Alouettes, played through dog-eat-dog extra schedules that kept the fans in a big dither.

These was the usual hassle over Grey Cup tickets, but complaints over field conditions in the East-West final were squashed when the Canadian Rugby Union bought a $12,000 tarpaulin to protect the field. It was put down a week before the Nov. 24 game and, despite a heavy rain two days before the kick-off, the field was dry and fast.

Hockey Champions

In hockey, Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec League became first winners of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's major series, open only to "super" leagues from the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada. The Braves were extended to the limit of the best-of-seven series by Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs before taking the major leagues title.

Clubs in the major series, all of Senior A grade, were no longer termed Senior. In effect, it made the Allan Cup, traditional trophy awarded annually to the country's senior champions the previous 42 years, a minor-leaguer.

The Allan Cup, open to Intermediate teams, was taken by Owen Sound Mercurys for the first time in the history of the city. The Mercurys defeated Fort Frances Canadians four games to three in the best-of-seven series.

The Memorial Cup went to Barrie Flyers with a four-straight skein over Winnipeg Monarchs. It was the first time in history that Barrie has taken Dominion Junior laurels.

Confined To East

Incidentally, the major series now is confined to the East. Cape Breton, the Maritimes and Quebec leagues alone are in the running. Ontario and the Western Canada Senior League dropped out of competition this year, with the Westerners joining the professional Pacific Coast League.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League won their fourth Stanley Cup in the last five years by defeating Montreal four games to one. Detroit Red Wings, league champions, were eliminated by Canadiens in one semi-final.

Petes Won Mann Cup

Peterborough Petes won the best-of-seven Canadian Senior Lacrosse Championships over Vancouver Combines in a series that went the limit, and Mimico whipped Manitoba All-Stars three straight to take the Junior best-of-five series.

The 92nd running of the King's Plate, North America's most historic equine event, was taken by Major Factor, brown gelding owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor.

Nova Scotia won its first Canadian curling championship in 24 years when Doy Oyler's rink from Kentville ran out an undefeated string of 10 games. British Columbia placed second.

It marked the first time that Newfoundland was entered in the bonspiel.

International Victories

Canada had a big year in international competition.

The Davis Cup team breezed past Cuba to give the Dominion its first shutout win — 5-0 — since Canada entered the international competition in 1913. The Americans, as expected, whitewashed Canada 5-0 to take the North American zone title.

Winnie Roach Leuszler, 25-year-old mother of three, became the first Canadian woman to swim the English Channel. The Toronto swimmer finished second among the women in the £7,000 London Daily Mail race, doing the 21-mile stretch from Cap Griz Nez, France, to the Dover beaches in 13 hours and 45 minutes. Mrs. Leuszler's time was 46 minutes faster than the mark of 14 hours, 31 minutes, set in 1921 by Gertrude Ederle.

Lethbridge Maple Leafs won the world amateur hockey championship at Paris, going through the round-robin play undefeated and untied. The Leafs practically coasted through European opposition.

Jack Guest Jr., 18-year-old sculler from Toronto, was defeated in the first round of the Diamond Sculls at the Royal Henley Regatta. He crossed the finish line six feet behind Erik Lareen, Danish blacksmith who went on to win the prized Sculls.

Young Guest extended the European champion over the one-mile 550-yard course and the winner's time was eight minutes, 10 seconds — just eight seconds short of the all-time mark of 8:2 set in 1938 by Philadelphia's Joe Burke.

TEEN-AGE CHAMPION — Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old golf sensation from Lookout Point, Ont., last summer became successively the youngest woman to win the Ontario Ladies' Golf Championship, the Canadian Ladies' Open and Canadian Ladies' Closed Championships. She defeated fairway veterans of many years' standing to win the triple crown.

Petes Take Over First Place In Senior "B" Grouping By Downing the Hawks, 9-5

Roaring in to pile up an early lead here last night, the Petes trimmed Belleville Hawks 9-5 before 500 fans to take over undisputed possession of first place in their Central Ontario OHA senior "B" grouping. They led 4-1 in the first frame, each side counted a pair in the middle heat, and the homesters had a 3-2 edge in the third of a fast, clean tilt. But three penalties each were handed out, though Ron Horton drew a minor and major together for roughing and fighting in the second when he mixed with MacDonald. The latter got off free.

Leforte Stars

Goalie Leforte turned in a whale of an effort for Hawks or the score would have been higher. The Ellis' outfit had more hard thrusts at goal than their rivals, though the visitors fought back furiously in the last two frames to make it interesting all the way. The Petes had fine netminding, a solid defence and nifty passing plays up front at top speed to earn the win handily. The same squads clash again in Belleville on Friday.

Jake Wade turned in a starry effort for Peterborough with two goals and two assists, while Arn Dugan was hot also with three markers. Single goals were counted by Ted Collins, Don Floyd, Gus Leonard, and Freddy Garvey. Two assists each were notched by Chum Fryia and Curly Mason, and singles by Floyd, Garvey, Collins, Junior West and Ron Horton. Vern Goyer of the Hawks scored one and aided on two more, as Peter Jones assisted on three. Keith MacDonald sank two, as Doug Day and Don Barrett got one each.

Collins scored early from Garvey and Wade as he tipped in a forward pass in a scramble. Wade's hot shot later from defence caught a net corner to make it 2-0. The Garvey line pressed for a space. With Vern Goyer off for hooking, Dugan counted in close on a ganging-up play. MacDonald hit the post by Harding, and then Floyd flipped one home on nice combination with Collins and Wade as Petes dominated. Horton went over for charging and Garvey followed for slashing to leave them shy two. Good checking held the Hawks out till their return, when MacDonald finished off a play with Jones and Vern Goyer smartly to score.

Dugan Dents Hemp

Dugan dented the hemp early in the second on a picture play with Mason and Fryia. Their snappy standing in-close passes pulled Leforte right out of the cage and Dugan tapped the disc into an empty net. Vern Goyer got that back soon on nifty combination with Jones as they ripped in fast, and play was speedy and even then. Garvey was robbed by Leforte and Belleville stood off an assault as MacDonald served a charging penalty. Gus Leonard finally got through with West on a smart bit of passing to score, but Barrett stickhandled right through defence with Jones' pass to get that one back. Horton roughed MacDonald to draw a minor and then threw a punch going off to have a major tacked on. Vern Goyer later went away for interference.

Ray Shines

Harding stood out early in the third with Horton off, the latter getting back with no damage done. Fryia almost counted and then Wade blasted in a passout on a play with Mason and Horton, Leforte only getting a piece of the rubber. The Dugan line pressed, but Day got in fast from the side to slip a hesitation shot into the net corner, faking the flip first. Leforte had his leg banged on a goal post and went off for several minutes for repairs. On resuming, the Petes pressed, though MacDonald got in quick and close with Vern Goyer's pass to tally. But the homesters kept driving in and Garvey scored from Floyd on a sizzling rush and shot, the goalie being hurt again, but staying in the game. Dugan got one more at the close from Fryia on a rebound off the netminder. Teams:

Belleville — Goal, Leforte; defence, Bastedo and Semark; centre, V. Goyer; wings, MacDonald and Mohet; alternates, Doran, Wardhaugh, Jones, Barrett, Day and Graham.

Petes — Goal, Harding; defence, Wade and Horton; centre, Garvey; wings, Collins and Floyd; alternates, Jopling, E. Leonard, Dugan, Fryia, Mason, G. Leonard, Mortimer and West.

Referee: J. Crombie.

Aussies Crush US Pair In Cup Match

By GAYLE TALBOT.

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 27 — (AP)—Australia virtually wrapped up the Davis Cup today when its great doubles team of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor slaughtered the United States best pair of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert, 6-2, 9-7, 6-3.

The American debacle was a sad disappointment to the capacity crowd of 15,300 at White City Stadium. They had anticipated a hard fought tennis match.

The Australians now lead 2-1 in the best-of-five matches. The final two singles matches will be played Friday.

Schroeder, possibly weary from his fine stand against Sedgman Wednesday failed his youthful partner completely. Towards the last of the one-sided tilt Schroeder was a pathetic figure.

He scored only three placements in the entire match to 17 by Trabert, 24 by Sedgman and 19 by McGregor. The way he played today he will be extremely lucky to defeat Mervyn Rose in tomorrow's opening match.

At Peak of Career

Australia could well retain the cup by a 4-1 margin as Sedgman now is at the peak of his career and will be heavily favored to trim Vic Seixas in the final singles match.

While disappointed in the failure of his pair to make a better showing Frank Shields, captain of the US team, refused to find fault with either.

As the match progressed it became difficult to see how the American pair ever conceived the notion they might upset the world's doubles kings. They looked like boys who had been sent out on a man's errand.

The last seven times Sedgman and McGregor served in the last two sets they yielded a total of only three points. McGregor wound up the affair with two blazing love games behind his amazing varied delivery. Sedgman was carried to deuce once in the second set, but his partner never yielded more than two points in any of his nine services.

There was disagreement among Australian experts as whether Sedgman or McGregor performed more valiantly. Some insisted McGregor was more eyefilling, particularly in the opening set when he scored five clean winners on service returns. Sedgman's supporters declared their man was more consistently brilliant as the match progressed. There could be no disagreement about Schroeder being the goat.

In the first and third sets, Ted's returns from service, particularly those to his backhand, were alarmingly poor. He committed a total of 29 nets in the three sets compared to 14 for Sedgman.

Rangers Get Surprise Victory Blank Red Wings 1-0, Leafs Bow To Canadiens 3-2

By The Canadian Press

New York Rangers, who haven't been doing too well in front of the home-town folks this National Hockey League season, presented the Broadway faithful with a delayed Christmas present Wednesday night—a stunning 1-0 victory over the league-leading Detroit Red Wings. And for the Blueshirts, it couldn't have come at a better time. There were 13,556 fans on hand—largest of the season in New York. It was Detroit's first loss away from home this season and it was Ranger goalkeeper Chuck Rayner's first shutout.

In addition, it broke a last-place deadlock with the idle Chicago Hawks.

The loss for Detroit wasn't too tough a blow. The second-place Toronto Maple Leafs failed to take advantage of the Wings' setback as they dropped a 3-2 decision at Toronto to Montreal Canadiens in the other game of the night. Detroit still holds its 13-point edge over the Leafs.

Scores Early

Winger Ed Slowinski was the marksman at New York, scoring early in the first period. The Blueshirts peppered Wing goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk with 38 shots compared with 21 saves by Rayner as they outplayed the leaders almost throughout the 60 minutes.

Canadiens came from behind a 2-1 second period deficit to gain their victory in a sluggish game before 13,155 fans.

Canadiens played without Rocket Richard, sidelined due to a groin injury. But his replacement, Dick Gamble, on the Elmer Lach-Bert Olmstead front wall, made up for his absence. The rookie from Moncton, NB, scored the game-winning goal with less than three minutes remaining.

Paul Meger sent Canadiens into a 1-0 first period lead at 18:55. Leafs came up with two goals in the middle session with Harry Watson and Tod Sloan the scorers. Geoffrion tied it up at 1:50 of the third.

Haiti Youth Sees First NHL Game

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP). — Guy Boussas, 17-year-old student from Port au Prince, Haiti, saw his first National Hockey League game Wednesday night—because he got his Maple Leafs mixed up.

Guy, a student at Albert College, Belleville, asked at Maple Leaf Stadium yesterday morning for a ticket "to tonight's game." He had hitch-hiked the 100 miles from Belleville.

Max King, promotion manager of the International Baseball League Leafs, realized the youth sought tickets to the NHL game between the hockey Leafs and Montreal Canadiens.

A telephone call to Maple Leaf Gardens . . . and Guy saw his first professional hockey game from a rail seat.

Canadiens won 3-2. One thing was lacking. More than anything, Guy wanted to see Maurice (Rocket) Richard in action, but the Rocket had to sit out the game with a groin injury.

Hornets Edge Syracuse 4-3

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets strengthened their hold on top place in the western division of the American Hockey League Wednesday night when they eked out a 4-3 decision over Syracuse Warriors.

In the only other scheduled game, Cincinnati Mohawks battled Indianapolis Capitals to a 2-2 overtime tie.

At Syracuse, Hornets rallied for three goals in the third period to edge the Warriors.

Ken Hayden scored Syracuse's first goal in the opening period and Andy Barbe tied it up for the visitors late in the second stanza.

Goals by Armand Lemieux and Harry Pindhirny gave the Warriors a 3-1 lead early in the third period, but Pittsburgh roared back with markers by John McClellan and Phil Maloney to tie. The Hornets won the verdict on Frank Sullivan's long shot with less than eight minutes left.

UK Comedian Tommy Trinder Touring Canada

TORONTO, Dec. 27 (CP) — A major part of the Canadian entertainment world is co-operating to bring Tommy Trinder, famed British comedian, to Canada for a six wee s' tour in February and March.

The tour will be under the auspices of the Variety Club of Toronto, with proceeds going to "Variety Village," the club's vocational training school for crippled children.

Both the Famous Players and Odeon theatre chains are making their motion picture theatres available in the majority of cities of the tour—wherever they are needed.

The Variety Club announced that Trinder will have with him a troupe of top-ranking British variety stars, including Joseph Locke, Irish tenor; and the Canadian dancers, Alan and Blanche Lund.

Making Tour

After opening at Toronto's Royal Alexandre Theatre Feb. 11, Trinder will take his show, to be known as the "Royal Command Music Hall Varieties" to St. Catharines, Hamilton, Kitchener, London, Brantford, Kingston and Ottawa in Ontario; and to Montreal, Winnipeg, Brandon, Man., Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

The Toronto Variety Club is made up of people in the film, stage, radio, concert, sport and other branches of the entertainment world. Its present "chief barker," as he is known in the club's circus terminology, is R. W. Bolstead, vice-president of Famous Players Canadian Corporation.

The club is affiliated with Variety Clubs International, which has "tents" in various cities of the United States and in London, Dublin, Tokyo and Mexico City.

Trinder was well known as an entertainer of Canadian troops in the Second World War.

41 Natives Die As Tribes Riot In Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—Chanting fierce tribal songs, African women urged their men into Christmas Day battles here that killed 41 and injured 500 as they raged among the shacks of the teeming native shanty towns on the city's outskirts.

Men of the savage Zulu tribe in Orlando Township armed themselves with cordwood clubs and iron bars to fight Basuto tribesmen in a battle that killed seven and injured 87. The fight concerned an election for the town advisory board, won by the Zulus.

In New Clare, six Africans were killed and many more injured in a clash between hundreds of Basutos and the newly formed self-appointed civic guard.

Many Africans were killed or hurt in similar faction fights. Morgues were crowded with the bodies of men and women. At one hospital near Orlando almost 400 wounded Africans were treated during the day.

Police made several raids in the shanty towns Wednesday. Thousands of gallons of moonshine were seized along with a huge assortment of weapons, but no arrests were made.

MacArthur and Pearson Top News Figures

By The Canadian Press

For the second year in a row Gen. Douglas MacArthur and L. B. (Mike) Pearson were the newsiest figures on the pages of Canadian daily newspapers.

Telegraph editors, who in 1950 chose MacArthur as the world's chief news figure for his leadership in the Korean War, picked him again in 1951 as a result of the controversy that swirled around his dismissal by President Truman last April.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, topping the poll among Canadian figures, continued prominent on the home stage and in the world forum of the United Nations.

Winston Churchill, fighting back to the Prime Ministership of Great Britain, was a fairly close second to MacArthur among world figures, with Mossadegh of Iran and Gen. Eisenhower also well up.

Canadian selections covered a wide range. Prime Minister St. Laurent finished second, but the list included such diverse personalities as the Duke of Edinburgh, Finance Minister Abbott and football players Pete Karpuk and Glen Dobbs, the latter an American.

Here are the news figures chosen in the yearly Canadian Press poll since the Second World War: 1946—Caradian, Igor Gouzenko; world, Molotov; 1947—Barbara Ann Scott, State Secretary Marshall; 1948—Mackenzie King, President Truman; 1949—Prime Minister St. Laurent, Tito of Yugoslavia; 1950-51—External Affairs Minister Pearson, Gen. MacArthur.

Red Deserter Believes Blunder Starts War

By DANIEL DE LUCE

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 27—(AP) — The stocky man with shrewd eyes was a major in the Russian army until two years ago.

At Potsdam, in the occupation era, he served on the staff of Russia's greatest military governors: Zhukov, Sokolovsky and Chuikov.

He recalls vividly the secret briefing which General of the Army Vassily Chuikov, hero of Stalingrad, delivered at his headquarters in 1949 after the end of the Berlin blockade.

"Our present forces in Germany are strong enough to sweep to the English channel. But we do not have the order," the general said.

The former Major, V. M. Denisov, shrugs at the memory:

"I believe 1952 will be the most dangerous year of all," he says. "The tension is near the breaking point.

"But if war comes, it will be because of blunders. Soviet policy is not to launch a sudden attack—but to wait, to grow stronger, to let the west splurge into an economic catastrophe.

"Chuikov did not receive the order to attack in 1949.

Tension Great

I am convinced he will not receive it in 1952. But war may come. The tension is big."

Denisov, in the eyes of the Soviet government, is a deserter and traitor. In West Germany, he is tolerated as one of the thousands of unwanted political refugees.

But it wasn't politics that drove him to forsake career and country.

He did it for a German woman. They fell in love during the conquest of Germany and were married secretly afterward in defiance of military command.

Saves Family

He saved her, their young daughter, and his German mother-in-law when he deserted. He smuggled them into the British sector of Berlin. Together, they were flown out to West Germany.

The Denisov family of four receives a dole of 96 marks ($22.84) a month from a little north German town, near Hamburg, where they have won refuge.

His new life is hard, but he has his loved ones and they are inseparable. He has guts. Most Soviet army deserters hide their identity and live underground for fear of Red resprisals. Denisov knows about 70 in North Germany.

He is trying to organize them publicly. Then he intends to invite western authorities to assist in an economic program of assimilating these men without a country.

Life Insurance TO PROTECT YOUR ESTATE

Long recognized as a great Estate builder, Life Insurance also plays an important role in protecting other assets of an Estate.

Succession Duties and Income Taxes, priority obligations of an Estate, must be provided for in cash before there can be any distribution to heirs. When funds are not readily available, it may be necessary to raise money by the sale of assets in an unfavourable market, at considerable sacrifice.

One way to avoid the danger of such a loss is to arrange now for Life Insurance to cover the expenses to which the Estate will later be subject.

OLD CHRISTMAS TREES

Christmas trees are already being taken out of the houses and discarded for the garbage trucks to take away. Some branches without needles looking as if they had the mange tells why.

UNCOVERED

City workmen were out today shovelling sidewalks clear at the curbs on downtown streets. Cars which appeared to be parked close to the curbs were really about three feet out when the curbs were exposed.

HIGHWAY CLEAR

Highway 28 from Lakefield south as far as Port Hope is in excellent condition. There are a few icy patches beneath the latest beaten-down snowfall and the long winding hill coming into Bewdley from the north is being taken with caution.

GASOLINE TAX

A gasoline tax of 15 cents a gallon in Nova Scotia is the highest gas tax being levied in the 10 provinces. Newfoundland with 14 cents is second and three provinces New Brunswick, Quebec and Prince Edward Island levy 13 cents. Ontario's tax is 11 cents, while Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan charge 10 cents. Manitoba with nine cents a gallon is the lowest.

CHRISTMAS MEANIE

With the Christmas spirit at its peak, a Lindsay man had only one thought, to take something, namely money. Under the pretense of selling first aid supplies, the man entered a Lindsay home. The woman, a semi-invalid, was willing to buy a few things but had only a $10 bill. The man went out to change the bill and hasn't been seen since. The police, milkmen and postmen have been given a description of the man.

43 AT CHRISTMAS DINNER

Imagine Christmas reunion at which 43 members of the family sat down together. That is something for the city housewife to conjure in terms of preparation, restoration of the domestic order, and finally rest. It was a rural gathering featuring the grandchildren. Another Peterborough country home brought twenty-five together, some of them from the USA, to be home again. The menu sounded like a chapter out of Dickens with a 22 pound turkey and odds and ends such as a couple of chickens.

SAILOR INJURES LEG

A sailor whose home is in Lindsay received an injured leg Monday night in a two-car crash on the hill west of Omemee. He is Ronald Hutton, now stationed at Cornwallis, NS. One car, driven by Fred Dainard, Lindsay, failed to make the hill and Dainard started to back it into a sideroad when it became stuck in the snow. While in that position it was struck broadside on by a second car driven by Michael Doherty, 714 McKellar St. Hutton, a passenger in Dainard's car, received an injured leg. Dainard and Doherty were not hurt.

Few Duck Work Boxing Day, Costs Too Much

Boxing Day absenteeism in city industries was slight, according to personnel officers at the various factories.

There was a good reason: holiday pay is based on the principle that the employee work the days before and after the holiday. If he misses either, he is docked two days' pay rather than one.

At the Outboard Marine, absenteeism was estimated at between one and two per cent, and while other plants, such as the CGE, Quaker Oats and Western Clock, did not give figures, they reported very few absentees.

May of those absent, said personnel men, were out because of bad roads or sickness.

At the Peterborough Lock Co., inventory is being taken and the firm will not resume normal operations until next Wednesday.

Wolf At His Door Brings Farmer $50

The wolf was at the door of Henry Bannister's home, a quarter-mile north of Hillhead station on Highway 7, but he turned it into $50 in bounties with one blast from a shotgun.

Recently Mr. Bannister saw the wolf running along the highway, apparently just after a brush with two hounds. The wolf went past the Bannister home. Mr. Bannister rushed into the house; grabbed his shotgun: rushed outside again.

The wolf had passed by and was headed for a nearby woodlot, but still in shotgun range. One shot dropped the animal.

The total county and province bounties will be $50.

Seven Wildcat Strikers Return To Work At CGE

Seven of the 22 welders at the CGE plant who have been out since Dec. 10 on a "wildcat strike" returned to work today, James E. Girven, works manager said at noon today. The company has given the others till Friday to return to their job of welding in the structural steel department.

A letter sent to the welders Thursday carried this warning:

"If you fail to report to work on or before Dec. 28, 1951 at your regular starting time and to carry on with your work in a normal manner, you will be discharged from the company as of that date."

Lose 12 Cents

The 22 welders charged the company with reducing the price on a welding job in the structural steel department. And they estimate they stand to lose an average of 12 cents an hour.

When the company insisted they do their work at the new rate the men walked out. Four of them were suspended Dec. 10 and the rest walked out in sympathy the next day.

Management have asked the men to return to work and file a grievance in the usual manner if they feel they have a legitimate complaint.

Local 524, UEW, has a contract with the company. Union officials have told management that the strike was unauthorized by the union. And they have at least twice urged the men to return to work.

30 Laid Off

Meanwhile company officials have said that 30 employees have had to be laid off as a result of the work stoppage.

Mr. Girven said that 18 of the welders reported for work today. Three of them requested a meeting with their foreman. They were Bill Anderson, Roy Ballantyne and Cec. Harvey.

The men still refused to get on the job until a meeting was held with other representatives of management, said Mr. Girven. They were told again to return to work and file a grievance if they had any complaint.

The foreman was reported to have given the men a further 45 minutes to talk the matter over among themselves and requested those who were ready to start work to do so. They were still entitled to file a grievance.

Work Or Get Out

"Those not ready to follow the procedure as laid down in the company-union agreement were told to leave the department and report to the personnel department," said Mr. Girven. "In other words it was an order to go back to work or get off the property."

Seven men returned to work and the other 11 continued their wildcat strike, leaving the property without reporting to the personnel department.

Mr. Girven said that by refusing to put a grievance through in the usual way, and by continuing their work stoppage, the welders are breaking the union-company agreement.

The remaining welders were angry when interviewed by the Examiner today.

"The statement by the company that reason should prevail and that the matter would be settled in a normal way when the men returned to work has now been exposed.

Reported For Work

"We reported for work," said one of the three-man committee. "But there was no negotiating; no holding the welding job in abeyance until the matter was settled. It was a case of 'start to work with the wage-cut in force or pick up your release slips'."

"We will not go back to work for 12 cents less an hour," said another.

Some of the men have already been up to the unemployment insurance office and one or two were talking about taking a higher paid welding job in Sarnia.

103,418 US Casualties

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) —Announced American battle casualties in Korea have risen to 103,418, including 17,670 battle deaths and 11,048 currently listed as missing in action. The new totals were announced by the defence department late Wednesday. The summary covers notifications to next of kin through last Friday.

No Evidence Offered

A vagrancy charge against Gerald M. Reynolds, 47, Rubidge St., was dismissed in police court today.

Reynolds was charged with vagrancy December 18, and crown attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for a remand without plea on $1,000 bail.

On December 24 Mr. Bradshaw agreed to bail being reduced to $500 and when the charge was read today, he said the crown would offer no evidence.

More White Stuff Expected To Add To Drifts

Another half-inch of snow fell during the night to bring the district total to 31½ inches since December 9. Forecast for Friday is: snow beginning in the afternoon.

Street clearing in the city is moving apace although workers are hampered by the unusual amount of snow.

Low temperature during the night was one above, although it felt colder. At 9 am the mercury had gone up one degree to two above, and at noon the temperature was 8 above. Boxing Day's high was 21, with a low of eight degrees.

A year ago, the high was 34, the low 8.

The weatherman's explanation of the weather is that cold air from west of Hudson Bay is coming southeast across the province. A storm developing over Wyoming is expected to move eastward and bring more of that white stuff to central and eastern Ontario by Friday afternoon or evening.

The skiers will like it.

County Plows Work Overtime

The county's five snowplows have been working overtime to keep county roads open. Today there are no reports of county roads being blocked with snow and only a few township roads in the north of the county.

Jack Kean, county engineer and road superintendent, said today he had heard of no roads being blocked. Two of the plows are being used by the townships of Ennismore and North Monaghan.

In the northern townships, OPP Constable Bert Howden of Apsley said the county roads were open for motor traffic but some smaller township roads might still be unplowed. But he knew of none offhand.

Cardinal Decorated

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 27 (AP)— Francis Cardinal Spellman today was awarded the first National Medal of the Republic of Korea for his "selfless service and devotion to the alleviation of human suffering." President Syngman Rhee pinned the medal on the Cardinal in a ceremony at the presidential home.

Older Boys' Parliament Meets In Port Hope To Promote Christian Living

A parliament unhampered by politics opened Wednesday in Port Hope. It's business, promoting Christian living in Ontario. Among the 90 members of the 31st Ontario Older Boys' Parliament which began its five-day session at Trinity College School is Dwight Fell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fell, 193 Hunter St. East.

He is representing Peterborough's boys' groups such as the Sunday schools, the Boy Scouts, the Trail Rangers, the Tyro boys, the YMCA and the Hi- clubs. This year there is no one representing Peterborough county, the boys' work board just re-organizing.

90 Members

The 90 members Wednesday heard their 21-year-old premier, Victor Shimizu, tell them: "You are to vote independently. Do not just vote for the government. Do not feel under the obligation of party loyalty. Think every issue out yourselves."

Amid all the pomp and ceremony of the opening of the federal and provincial houses, the finance minister William Dowdell, Windsor, presented a budget calling for an expenditure of $14,800 in boys' work.

Boys' parliament, begun in 1917, is a outgrowth of the Tuxis movement, a mid-week activity in several Protestant churches to promote spiritual, physical, intellectual, and cultural development.

Are Practical

While the accent is on religion, the emphasis is on practicality.

The Speech from the Throne expressed the Premier's concern over the spiritual well-being of youth, and introduced such legislation as the Boys' Work Support Act, the Conference Act supporting Christian Youth Convention programs and the Finance Act.

The money called for in the budget is raised by the boys in their own communities.

A new feature this year will be eight standing committees. They will present short briefs to parliament on, among other things, the problem of drinking, the National Athletic Contest sponsored by the Boys' Work Board and the work of their 28 camps.

In addition are a 12-hour course in leadership training, a Bible study class and a series of lectures on rural and urban boys' work.

Farmers Support Resale Price Law

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture Wednesday addressed a letter to members of parliament urging immediate passage of the government's legislation to outlaw the system of resale price maintenance.

Taking action on the eve of the re-opening of parliament to consider the controversial bill which would stop manufacturers setting retail prices on their goods, the Federation said it would "be of great value to all Canadian consumers as well as to every farm family in Canada."

The letter, signed by CFA president H. H. Hannam and sent to every member of the House of Commons, said elimination of price fixing is being given attention in advanced democratic countries, including the United States and Britain. The proposed bill, if enacted, would "put Canada in the forefront of democratic peoples in efforts to eliminate special privilege to private firms and corporations."

Minister's Wife Dies

Mrs. Gertrude Elizabeth Hamilton of Ancaster, who died suddenly at her home, Oakhill Place, on Christmas Day was a cousin of Mrs. R. H. Fortye, 476 Gilmour St. Her maiden name was Gertrude Elizabeth Carey of Hamilton, Ont., and her husband is the Rev. John W. Hamilton, retired minister of the Anglican church, who came to this country years ago from England. The funeral was held today to Hamilton cemetery, from the Blachford and Wray funeral chapel, Main St., Hamilton.

Fight Epidemic

GENEVA, Dec. 27 (Reuters) — An epidemic of cerebro-spinal meningitis is sweeping the regions south of the African desert belt, the World Health Organization reported here today. The report says that in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan there were 51,296 cases, with 6,877 deaths during the first half of 1951.

Five Injured As One Car Hits 2 Others

Brockville Woman In Hospital After Madoc Crash

A Brockville woman, Mrs. Alice Rowsome, 43, is in Belleville hospital with an injured right leg and facial cuts after a three-car collision Wednesday afternoon, three miles west of Madoc.

Four other people—including her husband—received minor injuries but they were not admitted to hospital.

They are Donald Rowsome, cuts on the face; Walter Ludlam, Ottawa, cuts on the head; and his wife and son, bruises and a shaking up.

The accident occurred about 5:30 pm Wednesday, three miles west of Madoc. An eastbound car driven by Ludlam, rounded a curve on Highway 7 and slipped into the wrong lane of traffic.

It clipped two westbound cars, one driven by Rowsome and the other by John G. Gorrsline, Toronto.

Mrs. Rowsome was taken to Belleville hospital and she is being X-rayed today to learn if her right leg is broken.

About $1,500 damage was caused to the three cars. Ludlam's received $750 damage; Rowsome's $550; and Gorrsline's $200.

Gorrsline, alone in the car at the time, was the only one of the six people involved in the accident to emerge unhurt.

OPP Constables Thomas Lummiss and Hector Gould, Madoc, investigated.

Peterborough Ninth In Cars Registered

Peterborough city in 1950 stood ninth in the province in the number of passenger cars and motor trucks registered according to the booklet "Facts and Figures of the Automobile Industry 1951". Toronto was first with 237,481 then came Hamilton 47,053, Ottawa 36,670, Windsor 29,225, London 24,654, St. Catharines 10,872, Kitchener 10,606, Brantford 10,428, Peterborough 9,087, Oshawa 9,059, Kingston 8,829, and Niagara Falls 8,535.

For counties, including cities, Peterborough ranked 19th in the province with 14,780 registered.

Train Hits Truck Front Two Escape Unhurt

A truck driver and his two passengers escaped injury Wednesday evening when a train struck the front end of the truck at McDonnel and Bethune Sts.

The driver of the truck, John Heffernan, 695 George St., told police he was driving east on McDonnel St., and neither heard the train, nor saw it approaching, before it struck the truck.

There was considerable damage to the front end of the truck. Constable Reg. McMillan investigated.

Home From Korea

Sergeant Clifford Churchill Young Career Soldier

A veteran career soldier of campaigns during World War Two in Lybia and Europe, the post-war conflict in Palestine and most recently 13 months on the Korean front, Staff-Sgt. Clifford Churchill has been rotated home on leave in time for the Christmas holidays.

Nephew of Albert Churchill of Buckhorn, Staff-Sgt. Churchill was among the first 350 Canadian troops to land in Korea in November, 1950, only two months after he had joined the 25th Brigade.

When the news broke that Canada would send a brigade to Korea Churchill applied immediately, joining the RCEME in Toronto. After a refresher course at Barriefield he left Canada for Korea in October and landed there on November 7.

The 350-man advance party paved the way for the arrival of the 25th into Pusan and Taegu during the time of the withdrawal into South Korea. There Churchill with the others tried to set up quarters and equipment with the "fluid" front lines just miles north.

Into Action

A month later the Princess Pats moved in for training exercises and then two months later moved into the lines for action.

During his 13 months there working as an electrician — he worked with Miller-Powell before joining up, Churchill said the biggest "beef" among the Canadians was the lack of canteens and entertainment facilities.

"Perhaps we were too small a unit to worry about," he said.

The Canadians who wished little extras generally dealt with the NAAFI, a British army service, or the Americans' PX system.

"The only entertainers we saw were either American or British."

Apart from the entertainment and canteens, the soldiers still look for the mail from home.

"They're always looking for mail," said Staff-Sgt. Churchill.

During his time there he met several other Peterborough soldiers. One was another Sergeant, "a chap by the name of Davis. I believe he lived on George St. south." He was a dental technician with the brigade near Tok-Chon, near the 38th parallel.

The others joined Churchill's unit early in 1951, one a Craftsman Kelly and the other Craftsman Arthur Taylor, who is now back in Peterborough, also rotated home on leave.

SGT. CLIFFORD CHURCHILL

Demonstrate Against Truce

The South Korean people, he said, have demonstrated several times recently demanding that the war be carried on to a decisive finish instead of a truce. They want their attackers, the North Koreans, soundly defeated.

Staff-Sgt. Churchill found the South Koreans friendly but "very primitive in their methods of living."

The country's hilly terrain made Korea "a poor country to fight in." Churchill explained that the land is hilly, averaging about 3,500 feet high, running in small ranges, a mile through at the base, the majority of the ranges running east and west. These ranges, he added, make travel difficult.

Another hindrance to the Allies was the lack of roads, which he described as pitiful.

Build Roads

"The engineers have to build roads practically everywhere the armies go. Most of the original roads are only tracks for the South Korean common means of transportation, ox-cart."

Born in England near London, Churchill joined the British army in 1942 at York with the 4th Battalion Rifle Brigade, staying with them only six months. He then transferred to the airborne troops and then saw action in Lybia with the Eighth Army until the war petered out there.

Returning to England, he was transferred again to the 2nd Para-Battalion 6th Airborne Division and during the invasion of Europe was dropped into the marshes outside of Cannes in France.

From there he was moved through to Holland and Germany attached for a time with the Canadian troops.

Went To Palestine

After the war he rejoined his old outfit, the 2nd Para-Battalion which was moved into Palestine during the Arab-Jewish fighting as a precautionary measure by the British. He was there from 1945 until 1947.

In 1947, Churchill came to Canada and straight to Peterborough, working for a time as an electrician. He continued with the army in the reserve unit, the 37th HAA Workshop, now the 28th Technical Squadron, also taking a part in the Sergeant's Mess activities.

With slightly more than two years yet to serve, Churchill has ideas; he wants to return to Europe.

"I'd like to go to Europe; I think I'll ask to join the 27th Brigade."

Canadian Initiative Pushes Seaway Plan, US Tardy

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 — (CP) — Canada in 1951 took the biggest strides this country or the United States has made toward building the St. Lawrence Seaway in the last half century.

But there are still many hurdles to be overcome before the power-navigation ditch is built.

It will be years before the 2,200,000 horsepower of Hydro energy starts flowing from the long Sault rapids of the river and deep-draft ships start moving through the waterway between Montreal and Lake Erie.

Despite all the acceleration Canada has put into the $700,000,000 project in the past year, the minimum is four years for power and six years for navigation.

May Be Held Up

How much more time might be involved depends upon what blocks are thrown into the undertaking on the United States side, where opposition has held it up for decades. This opposition is expected here to continue unbated.

On this side of the border, Canada made history by taking the big step of deciding to go ahead alone with the seaway without the financial aid of the US government. She took this decision after 10 years of waiting for the US Congress to ratify a 1941 treaty signed between the two governments for a joint construction of the navigation and power project.

Two Developments

Two almost - immediate outcomes of the decision were:

1—An agreement between the Federal and Ontario governments authorizing Ontario to develop the Canadian end of the power in the International Rapids section of the river, in conjunction with the appropriate US agency. This agreement was ratified by Parliament.

2—A measure, adopted by Parliament, setting up a St. Lawrence seaway authority to build and operate the navigation channel between Montreal and Lake Erie for the Federal government, with or without the co-operation of the US government.

Under these proposals, the Federal government would spend between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 on the channel while Ontario would put up $200,000,000 for the power development in the rapids.

Some US authority also would have to put up $200,000,000 to the Ontario figure. The big question mark develops on the US side.

It has not yet been decided what agency—whether New York State or some federal body — would be the US authority. That can result in a long fight.

May Challenge Truman

Then, it is expected here there will be some challenge to the power of President Truman to give the go-ahead to Canada over the head of the long-delaying Congress. The President told Prime Minister St. Laurent last fall he would do this if Congress held up the joint scheme much longer. The deadline is regarded here as being in early 1952.

The expectations here are that a presidential green light will be fought strongly before the federal power commission of the US, through the courts there, and perhaps up to the Supreme Court. That would be even before the case got before the International Joint Commission, the body that rules on the use of boundary waters between Canada and the US. Hearings before the IJC might take months more.

So in official circles here, there is no great optimism for an early start on the seaway, much as the government might be inclined to push it.

One bright spot they see in the delay is in the matter of materials and manpower. At this moment, they would be a problem. But by the time actual construction starts, authorities here are confident there will be ample labor and materials. This may be in anything up to two years' time.

The estimate here is that it will take an average of 15,000 men to do the job, with somewhat more than that needed in the final stages. Full output of 2,200,000 horsepower from the International Rapids is expected in four years from the start of construction, with the navigation end of the seaway taking two years more.

Danes Seeking Bigger Share World Shipping

By GUY BETTANY

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 27 (Reuters)—Tiny Denmark is making a strong bid to secure a larger share of the world's shipping.

By 1953, Danish shipowners hope to have 40 per cent more tonnage in service than before the Second World War.

Two things may prevent the realization of this hope: The shortage of coal and coke, and increasing difficulty to getting steel plates.

Before the war, Germany and Britain were Denmark's principal suppliers. But rearmament and reconstruction have cut exports to a fraction.

This year, Britain has delivered only 12,000 of the 36,000 tons of steel plates promised. But greater economies in the use of steel have enabled shipyards to keep all their men working.

This year, Danish ships will have earned more than 1,000,000,000 kroner (about $168,000,000) in freights, or 50 per cent more than in 1950.

Big Change

In 1939, Denmark had more than 1,000,000 gross tons of shipping. The war and the German occupation reduced this amount by one-half. But by Nov. 1 last her tonnage had risen again to a total of 551 ships of 1,260,000 gross tons.

Contracts have been placed for 71 new ships, totalling 343,000 gross tons, mostly in Danish, but some in British shipyards.

The largest Danish shipping concern, owning nearly 500,000 tons of shipping, is A. P. Moeller and Co., founded 40 years ago.

The United Shipping Co. and the East Asiatic Line, both of which own their own shipyards, are much older concerns. The United Company's red, white and black funnels are familiar all over the world.

The East Asiatic has interests in rubber plantations in Malaya, timber concessions and coffee in Africa, and teak forests in Siam.

Say King's Broadcast Triumph Of Bravery

LONDON, Dec. 27 (Reuters) — The Daily Express says today that the King's six-minute Christmas Day broadcast was regarded by his doctors and radio technicians as "a triumph of bravery in one of the most exacting ordeals to face any broadcaster."

In a front page report the Express says:

"He went through the ordeal despite his doctor orders to use his voice as sparingly as possible because he was determined to maintain a Christmas tradition begun by his father in 1932.

"As a result of the King's lung operation in September, speech has become difficult for him, and two or three sentences painful.

"Yet he insisted not only on making the recording, but in repeating again and again phrases which proved difficult."

The Express says the King recorded his speech at Buckingham Palace in sessions spread over Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Wants To See Big Green Diary

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 27—(AP)—A big green diary cropped up Wednesday as movie maker Walter Wanger was arraigned on a charge of shooting his wife's agent with intent to kill.

Wanger's attorney, Jerry Giesler, also took note of the announced unwillingness of the agent, Jennings Lang, to prosecute, by winning an order putting Lang under a tentative $2,500 bond to appear Jan. 7.

Lang, 39, was subpoenaed to court Wednesday for the arraignment, but he didn't appear. He is home abed, recovering from a bullet wound in the groin inflicted, Wanger said, "because he tried to break up my home."

Both Lang and Wanger's wife, Joan Bennett, 41, have denied that theirs was more than a business relationship. Lang told reporters that it was all a misunderstanding and that he'd like to forget all about the shooting.

The green diary, Giesler said, is "thick as a Bible". Giesler told the court he wanted assurance that it, and certain reports in custody of the district attorney, will be available for his inspection but not for Lang's. The court agreed. The reports presumably are those of private detectives hired by Wanger. Police said the reports were found in the producer's car after the shooting.

Charles Cornell, 31, of suburban Tecumseh, and Lloyd St. Pierre, 25, of Windsor, are charged with theft and housebreaking in connection with the theft.

Cutty Sark May End Last Days In Harbor In Australia

By DEREK JAMESON

GREENHITHE, Kent, England, Dec. 27—(Reuters)—The Cutty Sark, sleek, fast-moving ocean greyhound of the last century, may sail from here to end her days in Sydney Harbor, Australia.

Known as the fastest clipper on the Australian wool run in the 1890s, the Cutty Sark has been passed as sound following a dry-dock inspection.

Hugh Vaudrey, president of the Thames Barge Sailing Club, is leading a group of part-time seamen who have a hankering to "sail before the mast," recapturing past glories on the Australian run.

"The cost of refitting the Clipper for the voyage would be high," he said. "The lowest estimate I have been given is £10,000."

But he believes the prosperous Cutty Sark Societies in Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania would help bear the cost.

Most of the crew would have to come from the Pacific where there are sailors still experienced in handling square-rigged windjammers. But many amateurs would be willing to pay for the privilege of serving on the 82-year-old ship.

She is at present owned by a nautical college for boys, but is no longer an economical proposition as a training craft.

Frank Carr, director of the National Maritime Museum, thinks the plan to put the Cutty Sark on the high seas again "completely impracticable." He wants the Clipper cradled in a concrete berth in Britain and preserved but cannot find the necessary money.

Spurred on by one of Britain's legendary seadogs, Capt. Dick Woodget, the Cutty Sark in her day whipped everything on the High Seas.

The Clipper once did 1,050 miles in three days and in one trip completely the London-Melbourne run in under 70 days.

Beats Steamer

In 1889 she had a race with the steamer Britannia and passed the steam ship—whose passengers lined the decks and cheered the Clipper—reaching Sydney four hours ahead of her rival.

But her greatest rival was the Thermopylae, another Clipper, built on Britain's east coast in 1868. Scottish shipbuilders built the Cutty Sark—Scottish for short shirt—a year later to prove their craftmanship was Britain's best.

The great race began in 1879 from London. The Thermophylae, picking up a favorable wind, raced into the lead and was eight days ahead at the Equator.

But the irascible Woodget would not admit defeat. The Cutty Sark picked up powerful winds and not only regained the lost eight days but just managed to head her rival at Sydney. The race lasted 80 days.

Lewis Among 36 Officials Investigating Mine Disaster

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Dec. 27 — (AP). — Federal and State authorities with company and union officials, opened an intensive on-the-spot inquiry Wednesday into the coal mine explosion here that killed 119 men.

Before the 36 investigators, including John L. Lewis, went down into blast-torn Orient No. 2 mine a spokesman for them said they expected to reach no conclusions for several days as to the cause of the worst mine disaster in 23 years in the United States.

The body of the last of the victims was found Wednesday, 114 hours after the explosion. He was James O. Cantrell, 44, a crew foreman of West Frankfort. His body had been buried by a rock fall.

Wearing miners' clothing and equipped with gas masks, the investigators were lowered into the diggings as crowds of mourners gathered at churches and cemeteries to pay their last respects to the dead.

Forty-seven funerals were held Wednesday. The grim processions will continue today and Friday.

Before going down the mine, Lewis said, "I shall be here until I am satisfied the investigation is being properly conducted."

In answer to reports he might call a 10-day work stoppage in the nation's coal mines as a memorial to the dead men, the bushy-browed president of the United Mine Workers said, "That is a rumor, and I don't answer rumors."

Only a few hours later, it was learned that an Indiana mine was idle Wednesday due to the absence of its 460 employees. This was the Talley Dale Mine near Terre Haute, on of the largest of the 70 union mines in Indiana.

A union spokesman said the men gave no reason for not working. He added that no word had been received from Lewis of a memorial holiday move. It was the only such incident reported Wednesday.

Police Reject New Uniforms

YONKERS, N.Y., Dec. 27 — (AP)—The ladies will understand how some of Yonkers' Civil Defence police feel—they don't want to overdress.

The city has proposed clothing the five battalions in a $10 uniform of white helmet, blue overalls, white belt and white leggings.

Four battalions had no objection to using this uniform in case they are called out on disaster work. The fifth, made up of about 150 business and professional men, protested.

Those fancy uniforms, said the protesting civil police, would make them look like "circus clowns, storm troopers and space patrolmen."

They said they prefer just plain badges and armbands.

Anthony Rota, famous chef, has a few turkey recipes that are far more delicious than liver on toast or the usual turkey hash. There is nothing so delicious, for instance, as turkey neck—if its done a la Riveria, says Rota.

Here is the recipe: Take some bay leaves, a few slices of onion, a tablespoon of flour and a tablespoon of curry. Make into batter, simmer for two minutes and add half a pint of milk. Take a turkey neck and two wings, already cooked, and steam and serve with steamed rice.

Another tasty way to absorb surplus turkey is to dice what's left of the dark and white meat. Add some read or green peppers and mushrooms, add two tablespoons of butter and cook for ten minutes. Put in three ounces of Canadian sherry and half a pint of cream, plus two tablespoons of flour and the yolk of an egg. Serve in a patty shell and the folks won't know they're eating turkey at all.

Recipe No. 3 is Turkey a la Plantation. Slice up what is left of the turkey and slosh in a half of glass of Canadian white table wine and a pint of cream sauce. Bake some corn bread and saw it up into three-inch squares. Put it all in the oven and bake until it is a golden brown. Serve with sweet potatoes, a slice of ham on top plus any kind of soft cheese.

Speckled Tweeds For Sport Coats

PARIS— Tweed coats are very fashionable for sportswear, the gayer the better, speckled rather than checked, and occasionally striped. Brown and cream tweed, speckled with blue and orange, is on of the newest fabrics used by Pierre Balmain. Viola-blue and emerald green striped tweed on a black ground is equally popular and used by such houses as Jean Desses and Madeleine de Rauch.

Good colors generally for topcoats are emerald-green, parma-violet, guardsman-red, and shades of beige and stone-grey.

Moore-Ferguson

NORWOOD, Dec. 27—(ENS)—A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday at the Baptist church parsonage by the Rev. W. J. Bingham, of Sylvia Bernice Ferguson and Terrance Gordon Moore.

The bride was dressed in a Copen blue gabardine suit and wore a corsage of pink rose buds. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Gordon Henry of Port Hope, who wore a gray suit and her corsage was bronze mums. The groom was attended by Mr. Henry.

Later the bride and groom left on a short trip west. They will live at Glen Miller.

Canadian Night Club Star Hit In UK, Writes Own Lyrics

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON — (CP) — Kathran (Kip) Oldfield, beautiful Canadian girl who made good in London's most sophisticated night spot, proved that in show business its resourcefulness that counts.

When she couldn't find the kind of songs she wanted, Kip wrote her own lyrics.

Now the tall, talented singer from Victoria, BC, serves up such slightly smoky lines as:

"When Molyneux creates,
"I can only look ethereal;
"But keep an eye on Hymie Goldberg,
"He loves feeling the material."

That's a sally from Kathran's latest song, "Straight From the Hips," about a day in the life of a model. Dressed in slinky gowns of shot brocade that gleam under overhead lights, she sings this and other Oldfield inspirations for late evening crowds at the cabaret in London's Berkeley hotel, where a dinner jacket is mandatory for men and the women are bejewelled.

Like Subtle Entertainment

The Berkeley likes its entertainers subtle and sophisticated and so far Kathran seems to have fulfilled expectations.

Shaky at Start.

"I was a little worried at first," Kathran said in an interview. "The Berkeley is supposed to be the toughest cabaret in town. I still shake like a leaf before performances, but once I get going I start enjoying it."

Writing her own lyrics adds an unusual fourth dimension to the triple-threat career of a girl whose skill in singing, dancing and acting dates from her early training in those arts at the age of nine. At 12, she won a Canadian championship cup for singing and later was voted one of Canada's three most beautiful girls.

Now, at 24, she works a seven-day week, has not time for romance, conducts her own twice-weekly program on Luxembourg radio, appears occasionally on television and in her spare time grows strawberries on the grounds of the five-roomed bungalow in Cockfosters, Hertfordshire, where she lives with her sister, Mrs. Ann Harvey.

LONDON STAR — Kathran (Kip) Oldfield, 24-year-old singer from Victoria, BC, went to Britain on holiday three years ago and stayed to build a reputation as an entertainer in television, cabaret and radio. Miss Oldfield now is appearing a London's Berkeley Hotel, where she sings songs featuring lyrics she wrote herself.

Started as Holiday.

Career girl Kathran, an ash-blonde with a demure manner, sang for the CBC in Victoria and Toronto before coming to Britain three years ago. This was supposed to be strictly a holiday but two days after her arrival she appeared on a BCS program with actor Paul Muni, then signed a 13-week radio contract. Her present show for Luxembourg radio involves interviews with Hollywood stars such as Paul Henreid and Lizabeth Scott.

Future plans? Miss Oldfield plans a return to North America probably in April, but doesn't intend to stay long. Her only commitment is for radio appearances in New York, although she's thinking of a cabaret job in Montreal. She also hopes to visit her parents in Victoria before coming back to Britain.

New Treatments Soften "Modern"

CHICAGO—If modern occassional pieces have been accused of severity in the past, today's new decorative treatment softens them as nothing else could. A coffee table with shining, slim brass legs, textured wood base, and painted tile inlays could not help but appear warm.

Homemakers will find plastics used in a more obvious way than before in tables. Among the first to pioneer the way for the new wood grain thermoset plastics, table tops cannot only simulate the wood grain of the base, but offer the durability of non-scratch, non-damageable surfaces.

Cellophane Tape Holds Lingerie

Among minor annoyances that make life miserable for women are shoulder straps that won't stay put. Particularly for those with sloping shoulders is this an omnipresent problem.

It's difficult to behave with poise and self-confidence when a straying strap causes a continual anxiety and discomfort, especially when you eventually yield to impulse and slip a surreptitious hand inside your dress to tug it into proper position again.

Self-Control

Or, if you exercise sufficient self-control to leave it awry, there's still to be contended with that feeling of poor grooming that comes from the knowledge that your slip is dipping beneath your hemline on one side.

One way of dealing with this difficulty is to fasten the offending straps in place with a strip of cellophane tape. This may be quickly and easily applied as a part of your regular dressing procedure, removed with a fast zip at the end of the day.

The tape will provide secure anchorage for your straps and will not hurt your skin, makers say.

Forget Altar-Shy Young Man Concentrate On New Job

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 24 years old and have been in love with a man for five years, though we have only been going together for a few months. However, we have been good friends for a long time.

Dorothy Dix

Since going with him, I know there can never be anyone else. I know he cares for me but he has his life planned and marriage is not included. He comes from an unhappy home so I think he is afraid to really get serious.

I have had a wonderful position offered to me that promises a fine career. It will require long hours of hard work. Should I concentrate solely on my job and try to forget this man, or will I gain anything by being patient?

CAROLA.

ANSWER: Many young men who simply cannot face the responsibilities of marriage evade the question with this "unhappy home background" story. The fallaciousness of the argument has been shown so many times by young people who, having come from an unhappy background, are determined to establish their own homes on a sound basis. Such is usually the outcome of these marriages. Learning from their own youthful misery, youngsters of broken or unhappy homes usually grow up to raise the finest families.

His Argument Weak

So your beau's argument against settling down is very weak. Actually he either is not in love with you enough to give up the freedom he enjoys, or he is basically so immature that he expects to cling to bachelor habits forever.

In view of your uncertain matrimonial prospects with this man, your wisest course is to continue the career that looks so promising. By concentrating your thoughts on a hard job, you'll spend less time and energy futilely following a mirage of your own creation, at the same time establishing a secure future for yourself. A wider business horizon will also increase your chances of meeting other men who will, perhaps, be less adverse to the bonds of matrimony than your present sweetheart.

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I have been in a hospital and had to be given several blood transfusions. What I would like to know is, how can a person show her appreciation to the people who were so kind as to donate blood for her?

N. M.

ANSWER: Obviously, a blood donation is not something that can be returned with a token gift or anything of that sort. Your first acknowledgment should be a very cordial and gracious letter, accompanied by an offering of prayer. Nothing is so needed in the world today as prayer, and it is the only adequate compensation I can think of for your friends' kindness. Rather than trying to make an immediate, material return, bear their generosity in mind and at any time when one of these people needs help, be johnny-on-the-spot to render it. In sickness they might need cheering up, or nursing care if you are able to help with it. In sorrow they'll need consolation. Even, in their joys, a friend to share the happiness is welcome. There are many ways in which you can show your appreciation; just watch and wait for the opportunity.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 and like a boy very much. I had no idea he liked me until last week when he brought me home from church four times. I thought that was a sign he liked me, but last night he called another girl and we went on a double date. Do you think he has lost interest in me?

TESSA

ANSWER: The young man probably had no other thought in mind, on either occasion, than friendly intention. Don't try to read so much into a simple action. Since you continue seeing him in your daily activities, continue to be friendly, but not demanding, and if he likes you best, you'll soon find out.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"The zoo workers walked out this morning!"

What's Right?

You run into a friend who has been ill and who really looks very bad.

WRONG: Say with false cheerfulness: "You're certainly looking well."

RIGHT: Don't bring up the subject of how the person looks. Talk of something else. Otherwise, he will probably perceive that you are shocked by his appearance and just trying to make him feel better.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Party For 17 Clubbers Baked Chicken Supreme

Strictly I-ey.

Since we had a party that was tops for flavour and fun I am describing it to you just as it happened.

It was the December meeting in the form of a Christmas Open House for the Press girls. There were seventeen of us, most of whom can all talk at once and still hear what everybody says.

The menu:
Cranberry Cocktail
Toasted Almonds
Baked Chicken Supreme
Broad Noodles with Poppy Seeds
Tomato Scallop
Citified Slaw
Toasted French Bread with Garlic Butter
Baked Alaska
Cherry and Pineapple Sauce
More Almonds
Coffee

One of the beloved out-of-town guests arrived twenty minutes ahead of seven o'clock and the hostess was still in her slacks! Five minutes later three more arrived fifteen minutes early. It must have been a good omen—anyway we interpreted it that they came early because they were anxious to be in on the start of the fun.

We passed cranberry punch and almonds in shifts while each other got into best dresses and slicked up hair-dos.

Baked Chicken Supreme

We ordered 16 breasts and 16 legs and thighs from the Cut-up Chicken shop (the chicken cut-up—not the shop), but 12 of each would have done. The breasts were cut into 4 pieces the legs and thighs separated, and all was dredged in salted and peppered flour. We piled the chicken in the bottom of our large roaster which had been greased, then poured 2 pints sour cream over it. It went into the oven for 3 hours at 300 deg. Fahr., being rearranged completely once during this period. Cover and let stand in cold place overnight. Pour off liquid which collects into top of double boiler. Make this up to 5 cups by adding cream. Add salt and pepper to taste. Make into a paste ¾ cup flour and 1 cup cold water and stir into the hot broth-cream mixture until thick. Add salt and pepper to taste and 1 can chopped pimiento to colour. Reheat the chicken, covered, in slow oven of 250 deg. Fahr. until heated through, then arrange it in serving dish and pour chicken gravy over. Garnish with parsley and more pimiento strips.

Broad Noodles With Poppy Seeds

Boil 2 1-lb. packages broadest noodles in 4 quarts chicken broth made from 4 chicken backs bought from Cut-up Shop. Add at least 2 tablespoon salt. Boil until very tender. If any, drain off excess broth and stir in at least ½ cup butter and 4 ounces whole poppy seeds. You won't believe anything could be so delicious until you taste this yourself.

Tomato Scallop

You alternate equal amounts of tomatoes and bread squares in a casserole and bake 30 minutes at about 375 deg. Fahr. To make the bread squares remove crusts from 6 slices (for every 28-oz. can tomatoes), butter the slices and cut each into 6 squares. Saute these in butter in the frying pan until both sides are golden. Pile on baking dish and dry out in oven from which heat is receding.

Citified Slaw

It is the dressing that is slick. Into double boiler put 1 can sweetened condensed milk and cook over boiling water 10 minutes. Cool in mixing bowl. Add 1½ teaspoons dry mustard, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, beat hard and add gradually ¾ cup vinegar. Beat hard 2 minutes. Chill covered overnight. It becomes very thick.

The Toasted French bread is so popular I repeat it here for the umpteenth time. Slice French bread in ¾ or 1 inch slices but do not cut through the bottom crust. Have ready about ¼ lb. very soft, nearly melted butter, in which is soaking 1 very finely chopped clove of garlic. Brush this on the bread slices, by prying them apart, using a pastry brush. Bake or toast in oven for 20 minutes or a half hour at about 375, to heat through. Serve piping hot. If slices are too wide, make a long cut lengthwise of the loaf at centre of slices just before passing.

When that course had been passed and eaten we made an announcement. Santa Claus (Doris my sister) said it would be one-half hour before dessert was served, as our special dessert-chef (me) needed to go into seclusion with a whole bunch of special ingredients in the kitchen and do some incantations over them — so they played Twenty questions, and incidentally digested their first course partially, to make room for the when I bore it in one-half hour later.

As you know it is sponge or whitecake in a large sheet on top of which was 4 bricks ice cream completely buried under a 12-egg-white meringue containing 1½ cups white sugar, and bake on a board at 500 deg. Fahr. with both burners on for about 2 minutes. Work fast, watch closely and don't get flustered. If you want more specific Baked Alaska instructions write to me. The mixed fruits spooned over it took some of the over-sweetness out of the alaska mixture.

We were finished eating at ten o'clock, almost too happy and full to have even a short business meeting. There were four society editors present, so it has had more than its share of publicity.

Going to try it?

6—In Memoriam

FALLIS — In loving memory of our mother, Isabella Fallis, who passed away January 31, 1950; and also our dad, Johnston Fallis, who passed away Dec. 27, 1937.
Not just today but every day
In silence we remember.
—Ever remembered by their family.

SICKLER—In memory of Faye Marilyn Sickler who died December 27, 1949.
We loved her yes, we loved her,
But angels loved her more.
And they have gently called her
To yonder's strang shore
The golden gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewells unspoken
She calmly entered home.
—Sadly missed by mother, sister and brother.

TURNER—In loving memory of our son and brother, Charles William Turner, of Ida, who died in action, Italy, December 27, 1944.
Seven sad and lonely years have passed
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well.
How his life was shed we know not,
What his last word, look or thought,
Only that he did his duty,
Died as he bravely fought.
—Lovingly remembered by mother, father, sisters and brothers.

Former Priest, Chicago Girl Wed In Milan

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 27 (AP). — Claire Young, 21-year-old Chicago girl, was married today to Luciano Negrini, 43, former Roman Catholic missionary.

The way to marriage had been tangled with red tape that took months to untangle.

Claire gave up her American citizenship. Negrini was defrocked by the church. The ceremony took place in Milan's city hall.

Negrini and Claire, also a Roman Catholic, were married by Carlo Pedraglio, the city assessor.

Vatican sources said church law stipulates that a priest, in violating his vows of celibacy by marrying automatically is excommunicated, and that the excommunication applies also to the person he marries. Thus, no definite Vatican action would be needed for excommunication. Claire said she was aware of this, and that the couple would "place our trust in God."

Negrini served 15 years as a missionary in China.

Hectic Events

The wedding climaxed a series of hectic events that started last year in Chicago where the couple met while he was doing China mission promotion work.

The road to romance included a short stay for Claire in Milan's San Vittore jail, and a trip to Milan by her mother, who tried to break up the match. Claire was jailed for making a disturbance and allegedly striking a policeman while trying to get her Italian visa extended.

Negrini was expelled from the priesthood while Claire was in jail. Claire underwent a sanity hearing—and was declared to be of sound mind—before she was freed.

Jobs Hard To Get

Since then both she and Negrini have tried various jobs, including selling neckties and nylon stockings, to make a living. But they've had a hard time trying to get steady work. In Italy, defrocked priests are forbidden by state law to take jobs that bring them into contact with the public.

Miss Young said last July Negrini tried without success to become an American citizen after they met in Chicago, but his application was rejected and he had to leave the United States in September, 1950.

She followed him to Italy.

Hold Hamilton Man In Traffic Death

HAMILTON, Dec. 27 (CP) — Police said today they are holding 57-year-old Cory Wright of Hamilton in connection with the traffic death of a tow truck operator in Sudbury Monday.

On instructions of Sudbury police detectives George Wright and Claude Barrett arrested Wright on charges of reckless and careless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

A Sudbury police officer will arrive here tonight to question Wright in connection with the death of 16-year-old James Phillips, of Frood Mine. Phillips was fatally injured Dec. 24 when he was struck by a car as he walked around his tow truck to check another car he was towing.

Drew Asks Report From Cabinet Ministers

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, today asked in the Commons for a report from cabinet ministers who have recently attended international meetings overseas.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said he did not know whether there would be an opportunity during the current session for the ministers to report but any decisions resulting from their meetings overseas would be announced.

Half Of MP's Back For House Sitting

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP). — About half the membership of the Commons turned up today for the opening of the post-Christmas sitting that is to deal with legislation stalled at the fall session.

A count from the gallery showed an attendance of 130 of the 261 sitting members of the House.

The count showed 95 Liberals, 24 Progressive Conservatives, eight CCF, and three Social Credit members.

Quadruplets Die

CATANZARO, Italy, Dec. 27 — (Reuters) —Rosa Marascio, 21-year-old peasant girl, Wednesday gave birth to four babies within half an hour. They all died in less than an hour. The children, all girls, were born before a midwife could reach the poverty-stricken little mountain village of Roccabernarda, near here, where Rosa and her husband live.

VICE-REGAL ADOPTION—The three-year secret that Canada's vice-regal family has an adopted daughter has leaked out. Fair-haired Susan Alexander, 3½, with her foster-parents, Viscount and Lady Alexander, is shown at a Christmas party at Susan's Ottawa Kindergarten. Winners of turkeys and chickens in the lucky draws were Wellington Fallis, Bethany; Albert Lane, Peterborough; J. C. Cummiskey, Bethany; L. Jackson, 714 Stewart St., Peterborough; Joseph Staples, Bethany; O. R. Atchison, Fraserville; A. E. Pitcher, Barrie, Ont. and Harold White, Ida. The Town Hall was gay with Christmas decorations. Music was furnished by Ruth Wilson's band, with Fred Youngman calling the square dances.

Canada's Atomic Plant Looks Like Ordinary Industrial Plant

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporter

CHALK RIVER, Dec. 27 (AP) —If it weren't for its isolation — and the armed guards and high steel fence around it — you might mistake Canada's atomic project for some everyday industry manufacturing anything from chocolate to babies' rompers.

In a picturesque spot along the Ottawa River, the plant consists of 100 buildings spread over 800 of a total of 10,000 forested acres — the extra acreage being for secrecy.

The 100-foot-high stone building which houses the "heart" of the dominion's project is prosaic enough externally.

And the device that provides atomic energy has roughly the outside appearance of a vat for making beer.

But the device — a so-called "heavy-water" reactor or furnace — is unique among all known atomic furnaces in the world.

35 Feet High

The structure enclosing the reactor is about 35 feet high and across.

Each second 60,000,000,000,000 neutrons pass through an area roughly equivalent to that covered by a five-cent coin.

And, it's this concentration of neutrons that makes Canada's reactor something super-special.

Because of it, Canada can make plutonium faster from a given amount of uranium fuel than can any other known country.

Make Them Hotter

Thanks to this high "neutron flux," Canada's device can produce radio-active isotopes "hotter and smaller" than those produceable anywhere else. For example, radio-active cobalt for treating cancer can be prepared in tiny wafers totalling four ounces, yet packing the radio-active punch of virtuallly the entire world supply of radium.

Secret of Canada's championship so far in the reactor field lies in the "core" of the reactor structure.

This core is a cylindrical vessel about 10 feet high and eight across. In it are 176 uranium metal rods — the "fuel" of the furnace — and these are immersed in a special kind of water called "heavy water."

Function of the "heavy water" is, roughly, to keep neutrons busy "splitting" uranium atoms so that a chain-reaction is sustained and the atomic fire keeps burning.

The core of the reactor is surrounded by a layer of graphite to reflect neutrons which might escape through the water.

Starting the "chain reaction" in the uranium fuel is a process of reverse dunking.

Important Pole

Uranium rods in the cylinder are stationary, and there's enough uranium to maintain a chain reaction, provided the neutrons producedable are kept busy splitting uranium atoms.

This is where the "heavy water" comes in. It is pumped from the bottom of the cylinder until it reaches a level where it heads off sufficient neutrons to keep the uranium "burning."

Thereafter, the power output can be regulated by raising or lowering the water level. It's so sensitive that, to keep a steady level of power and radio-activity, the water level must not vary more than a fraction of an inch.

The whole shebang can be shut down by dropping neutron-absorbing "shut-off rods" into the reactor. The furnace also shuts off automatically if it gets too hot.

Materials designed for exposure to radio-active rays within the reactor are fed into the device by a kind of ingenious pin-ball machine.

Substances, like cobalt, to be "irradiated," are first placed in tiny aluminum balls. The balls are pushed by compressed air into the area or radio-activity, and likewise withdrawn after the desired exposure.

"You pay according to position in the reactor," I was told by Dr. David A. Keys, general supervisor at the Chalk River plant. He meant that materials exposed in the "hottest" inner part of the furnace cost most of all.

Radio-active cobalt, which must be exposed from a year to 18 months to achieve its highest radio - activities, costs about $18,000 in the tiny amount needed as filler of an anti-cancer "bomb." But it packs the radio-active power of $5,000,000 worth of radium.

Stone And Star Theme Of Christmas Service

ROSENEATH, Dec. 27 (ENS) — "The Stone and the Star," was the subject chosen by the Rev. R. C. White at the Christmas service Sunday evening in Roseneath United Church. The speaker said "In Bethlehem is still found the Church of the Nativity and at its centre is a stone in which is set the Star of David." The minister developed the thought that our Bethlehem Star has its setting in our milestones, our hearthstones, our touchstones and our coronation stones.

It was a candlelight service. The choir, with Miss Lois Arthur at the organ, were in charge of the music, contributing an anthem, "Infant Holy." At the conclusion of the regular service, a carol service was held.

Keene And Hiawatha Take Rural Fixtures

KEENE, Dec. 27 (ENS).—In a Rural League doubleheader at Keene before a good crowd, Keene ran away from Westwood by 10 to 2, and in the nightcap the Hiawatha Indians, last year's champs, downed the Downers' lads by 5 to 2. McMillan and Rex Warr scored for Westwood.

69 Top Thoroughbreds Nominated For Race

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP). — Sixty-nine of the top thoroughbreds in the United States have been nominated for Hialeah Park's $50,000 Widener Handicap, racing secretary Charles J. McLennan announced today.

Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeads Stable, top money-winning stable at Hialeah last winter and the national leader in 1950, heads the list with five horses, including last year's winner, Sunglow.

The 1¼-mile event for three-year-olds and up, to be run Feb. 23, promises to be one of the largest and most wide-open fields since the war.

In addition to Sunglow, Mrs. Sloane has named Greek Ship, Going Away, Picador, and Bold. Of these, all except Picador were named for the March 1 Santa Anita Handicap in California. Three other Widener candidates are Santa Anita nominees—Maine Chance farm's Admiral's Price, Rokeby stable's County Delight, and Hasty House farm's Oil Capitol.

Plan Rebuilding Bancroft Mill Razed By Fire

BANCROFT, Dec. 27 (ENS)—Where the transit and custom planing mill of Bancroft Lumber and Fuel were before the disastrous fire early Friday morning reminds one of the pictures of Hiroshima and Nagasaki after the atom blasts. Not one board, stringer, scantling or stud is to be seen.

All that remains are three machines—the hi-speed planer, the re-saw, and the jeep that was used to shunt carloads of lumber. And these appear to be worth their value in scrap metal — no more.

As the office, coal-shed, and lumber storage shed were not damaged business as usual is being carried on in every branch of the firm's activities except their custom and transit planing work.

Although he could not give a definite date president and general manager, J. N. Brown stated that he hoped that the new mill would be in operation in approximately eight weeks.

This announcement by Mr. Brown was good news for the employees of the second largest privately owned industry in Bancroft, as their payroll varies from approximately 15 when one shift is operating to 25 to 30 men when the mill is going day and night, and when retail sales and deliveries are at their seasonal peak.

Bancroft's largest employer of labour is the provincial government as the village is headquarters for a highways division, a sub-headquarters of the Department of Lands and Forests and has a provincial police detachment, a game conservation officer and a public school inspector. The largest commercial firm is Martin Brothers Lumber Company who employ practically all local and district men for their mills at Baptiste and Madawaska and camps in Bruton township. Besides these two and Bancroft Lumber and Fuel, the town has a woollen mill, another planing mill, and a number of nearby sawmills and tourist camps.

Completing the town's industries are an essential oil plant, owned and operated by J. N. Brown, and a sub-divisional headquarters for the Canadian National Railways.

MISS LAURENTIDE—Micheline Thibaudeau, 20, a pert, brown-eyed St. Adele, Que., miss was named Miss Laurentide at a recent beauty contest. Fifteen northern villages sent representatives seeking title. Miss Thibaudeau will be offically honored at a big party at St. Jovite, Jan. 25, to feature the opening of the Laurentian carnival which runs until Feb. 23.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

For the second time in three years, middleweight champion Ray Robinson has been named "fighter of the year" by Ring Magazine.

Editor Nat Fleischer of the boxing publication selected Sugar Ray over heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott for his fine over-all record through 1951, the lift he gave to the sport, and for his sportsmanship and contributions to the public welfare.

At the same time Fleischer named Harry Matthews, light heavyweight contender from Seattle, as the world's best all-round fighter of the year.

The awards and Ring's annual ratings were announced in a copyrighted article in the February issue of Ring.

Robinson was selected for the same honor for the 1949 campaign and last year he was awarded the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque as boxer of the year by the Boxing Writers' Association. This year Walcott was picked by the boxing writers who never have voted anyone their trophy more than once.

No Canadians were listed in Fleischer's ratings.

Lack of funds may cause drastic curtailment of the United States Olympic ski entry in the 1952 winter games at Oslo, Norway, Feb. 14-25.

Northern Kentucky's first gambling raid netted Pasquale Arcaro, identified by police as father of jockey Eddie Arcaro. The raid was conducted at Arcaro's restaurant and bar in Erlunger.

Pasquale Arcaro, listed as owner of the establishment, was cited to appear in court on a charge of permitting gambling on his premises.

The National Boxing Association said in Washington Wednesday there was only one death in professional boxing in 1951 as against three the previous year.

Welterweight George Flores of New York was the lone fatality. He died in September after a bout with Roger Donoghue, a fellow townsman.

Andy Hershock, St. Louis Cardinals scout, said Wednesday in Brockville he had signed two members of the 1951 Central Ontario Baseball League champion Brockville Memos to professional ball contracts with the Cardinals organization. The players, right fielder Art Pierce of Brockville and third baseman George Galen of Rochester, NY, will report to Albany, Georgia, a class D club, in March.

The Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club has already sold 1,377 season tickets for 1952. The team is entered in the Class AA International League.

Offer Kid Matthews Chance At Joey Maxim

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP). — The International Boxing Club has offered Harry (Kid) Matthews a title shot at light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim—but all they heard from Jack Hurley, Matthew's manager, was silence.

The IBC has most big cities tied up, but Matthews and Hurley have been campaigning outside IBC territory with great success and are in no hurry to come to terms.

Matchmaker Al Weill of the IBC said Wednesday he had jumped an offer to Hurley from 15 per cent of the gate to 20 per cent if he would take a Feb. 22 date with Maxim for the title.

Weill added if Hurley doesn't agree to the fight by the end of the week he's likely to lose his chance.

Russia Accepts Kennan As Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27—(AP)—Russia has agreed to accept George F. Kennan as the new United States ambassador to Russia, almost at the same time denouncing him as a foe of the Soviets.

President Truman announced at Kansas City Wednesday night the selection of the 47-year-old career diplomat, who is credited with being a principal author of the present American policy of containment to counter the threat of Communist aggression.

Kennan will succeed Rear Admiral Alan G. Kirk, whose request for retirement presidential secretary Joseph Short said Truman accepted with reluctance.

The announcement was made after the Kremlin said he would be acceptable. There had been some speculation that he would be turned down after attacks on him by both Pravda and radio Moscow, the latest only Wednesday.

Now On Leave

Kennan, former state department counsellor and recently chief of State Secretary Dean Acheson's policy planning staff, now is on leave with the Princeton University Institute for Advanced Studies.

He is expected to take over the ambassadorship probaly in April.

Short said his nomination would be submited to the senate for confirmation soon after congress reconvenes. There has been no indication of opposition to Kennan.

Kennan has had long experience in dealing with the Soviets, previous service in the embassy at Moscow, and speaks the Russian language fluently.

Canada Has Released Italians From Peace Treaty Obligations

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 — (CP) — Canada has released Italy from certain obligations under the Italian peace treaty, including military limitations, because they are not consistent with Italy's position as a democratic, freedom-loving nation.

The External Affairs Department disclosed this Wednesday night in releasing the text of a note delivered to the Italian ambassador here. The note was in reply to an approach by the Italian government on the subject of interpretation of the preamble and political and military articles of the treaty, signed by 20 nations at Paris in February, 1947.

The governments of the United States, Britain, France, and some other treaty signatories have taken similar action to ease the obligations of the four-year-old treaty now that Italy has become a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Canada's note said this country agrees that the spirit of the preamble of the Italian treaty no longer exists and has been replaced by the spirit of the United Nations charter. The preamble cited Italy as joining in a Fascist war of aggression and being partly responsible for it.

The Canadian note said "the government of Canada agrees that the military clauses of the treaty are not consistent with Italy's position as an equal member of the democratic and freedom-loving family of nations and hereby releases Italy from its obligation to Canada under articles 46 to 70 and annexes relevant thereto."

The articles mentioned imposed certain military limitations on Italy in all branches of her services. Her army could not exceed 250,000 men and there were other limitations on the size of naval ships and the size of her air force.

An External Affairs spokesman said the western democracies had agreed that Italy, as a NATO partner, should be released from these clauses.

He could not say what other countries besides Canada, the United States, Britain and France have agreed on the relaxations. But he added they would not include Russia and her satellites, who opposed any relaxation which would be favorable to the west.

Soviet Enters Helsinki Meet

MOSCOW, Dec. 27 (Reuters).—Russia will take part in the Olympic games at Helsinki next year, it was announced today by the Soviet Olympic committee.

There has been much conjecture about Russian plans for the big quadrennial competition. The Russians were accepted last May into the International Olympic Committee by the committee's congress in Vienna.

The Soviet Union set up their National Olympic Committee, essential for affiliation to the international committee in April this year.

They did not take part in the last Olympics in London in 1948, since they were not then affiliated to the International Olympic Committee.

The decision to compete at Helsinki was announced in "Soviet Sport," organ of the Soviet Union sports committee.

The Rocket's total includes 16 goals which is tops in the league.

Steel Industry Unable Meet Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United States steel mills worked at a rivet-busting pace throughout 1951 trying to make enough steel to take care of both defence and civilian needs.

The industry just couldn't meet the demand. Government controls sprouted as a result. More and more steel was allocated to essential users as the months passed.

But the public didn't feel a pinch from the steel shortage. There were plenty of autos, refrigerators and steel products of all kinds.

Inability of mills to quiet the strident cries for steel came in a year when steel companies produced more than ever before. The huge output kept store shelves full and consumers satisfied — even though steel consumer industries didn't get all they wanted.

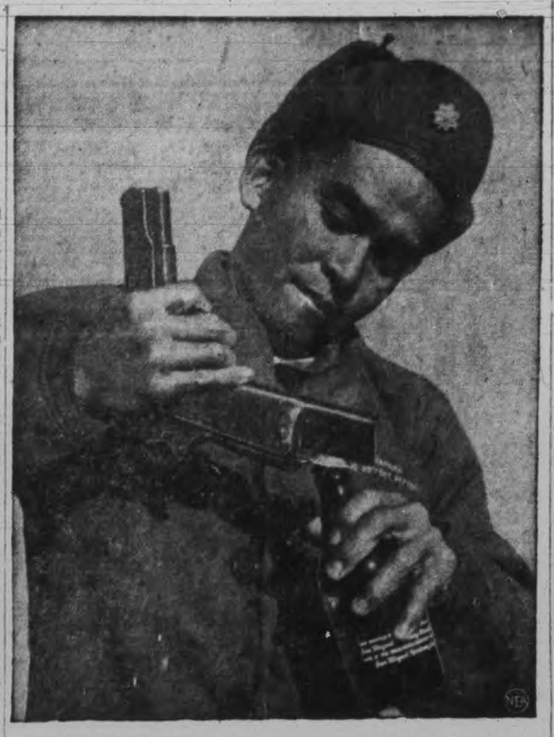
Total production of ingots and steel for castings is estimated at 105,100,000 tons, ocmpared to 96,836,075 tons last year and 89,200,000 in 1944, the peak Second World War year.

New Expansion

New expansion projects, scheduled to come into operation during the next 16 to 18 months, will raise the US steelmaking capacity to nearly 120,000,000 tons.

Steel demand was so great in 1951 that producers couldn't get governmental permission to use all the steel they wanted to enlarge and improve their plants to make more steel. At year's end, they were getting only 31 per cent of the steel they said they needed to build new facilities.

Prospects for 1952 are clouded. Some sources see an abundance of steel by late next summer. They think the peak load of defence orders will be filled by then.



Another school of thought believes defence orders will continue and the big store-up backlog of civilian orders will keep the mills running at near capacity levels for months to come.

Presentation Marks Christmas Service

ROSENEATH, Dec. 27 (ENS).—At the conclusion of the Sunday afternoon service at Alderville United church, 58 boxes of gifts were distributed to the 58 children on the Alderville Reserve, 12 years of age and under. The boxes are an annual gift from the YMCA in Toronto. A glimpse into a box of a 12-year-old girl showed: a wool sweater, woollen sockees, warm mitts, a wallet and a box of candy.

The service was a combined Sunday school and church service and was conducted by the Rev. J. N. Lovelace, assisted by a former pastor, H. Lander, Coldsprings. "Jesus and the Children" was the subject chosen by Mr. Lovelace for this largely attended Christmas service.

A mixed choir with Mrs. James Bigwin, Jr., at the organ, were in charge of the Christmas music and sang an anthem, "Silent Night."

At the conclusion of the service Mr. Lovelace and Mrs. Lovelace were asked to return to the front of the church, and Mrs. John D. Loukes read an address, on behalf of the members of the Homemakers' Club, voicing their appreciation for their efficient help during the year, and Mrs. Everett Simpson made the presentation of a quilt, the handiwork of the members of the club. The recepients replied briefly.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27 (AP).—Talk, talk, talk. There was lots of it emanating from Hollywood this year.

This was one of the film town's talkingest years. Film folk were yacking all over the US, trying to convince citizens that Hollywood was full of solid citizens. Meanwhile, there was a lot of gabbing in Hollywood, plus a bit of spitting and shooting, that created another impression.

I have tried to cull some of the more memorable quotes:

Frank Sinatra, irate at reporters who trailed him and Ava Gardner in Mexico before their marriage: "It's a fine thing when we can't go on a vacation without being chased."

Humphrey Bogart, explaining how he escaped insects in Africa: "Nothing bites me. A solid wall of whisky keeps insects at bay."

Paullette Goddard, learning exhusband Burgess Meredith had married for the fourth time: "I think it was quite normal of him. He always was domestic."

Lets Family Down

Ethel Barrymore, learning that John Barrymore Jr. had skipped out on a Summer Theatre play: "John let the family down. It's the first time in 300 years a Barrymore failed to comply with the billing. I'm deathly sick about it."

Director Fletcher Markle of Toronto and Vancouver in an interview: "Now please don't write me up as a genius like some of the others have. I'm just a fellow who works hard."

Tallulah Bankhead, asked if she would enter politics: "Heaven's I wouldn't inflict that on any country.

Franchot Tone, greeting reporters on return from a honeymoon appearance tour with bride Barbara Payton: "We're home and we're happy—Goodbye."

Father Sheehan will continue his theological studies at St. Basil's.

Her mother, Mrs. Zella Ellis, received a letter here this week telling of her daughter's flight with her 18-month-old son, Richard. Mr. Weller, a missionary, is still held by the Communists.

Mrs. Weller went to China as a missionary in 1946.

HAMILTON, Dec. 27—(CP)—Edwin O'Connor, 30, who escaped from Barton Street jail Christmas Eve to visit his family, was recaptured Wednesday, asleep in his trailer home. A convicted shopbreaker, O'Connor told police he fashioned a key from a spoon to open his cell door and scaled the 35-foot jail wall with the help of a ladder. He spent Christmas Eve in a hay stack and when he got home the next day, found his family away visiting.

Big Expansion During 1951

MONTREAL, Dec. 27 (CP) — Donald Gordon, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways, in a statement Wednesday reviewing 1951 said nearly every facet of Canada's economy showed a marked and continuous expansion.

There was a "healthy increase" in population, Canada's status as a primary food producer among countries of the world was undiminished and "our growth in industrial strength has brought us recognition appropriate to a senior member of the world community."

Mr. Gordon said the CNR was intimately associated with these 1951 activities, from Newfoundland to British Columbia the company's engineers and development officers were active working in close liaison with both government and industry. The combined planning "indicates that more than $600,000,000 will be spent in the immediate future on industrial plant and development along our lines."

Plan Settlement Of $19,000,000 In Noronic Case

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27 (AP) — The Cleveland Plain Dealer said Wednesday night it has learned lawyers will propose a mass settlement of $19,000,000 worth of claims which resulted from the Noronic ship disaster.

The Noronic, a cruise ship owned by Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., burned at her dock at Toronto Sept. 17, 1949, with the loss of 119 lives. Many of the 524 passengers on the pleasure ship were from Cleveland and Detroit.

The Plain Dealer says the mass settlement will be proposed in federal court here next week by lawyers representing the ship's owners and a committee of lawyers who represent 75 per cent of the claimants.

The proposal will be made, the newspaper continues, to head off years of litigation. Claimants, it adds, would share in a settlement on the basis of awards by a special court commissioner who would hear testimony.

The Plain Dealer says it understands the lawyers will propose settling all claims for between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000.

Prices Bill Approved In Commons

Gets Second Reading By 131-31 Vote AS PC Party Defeated

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP) — The governments' contentious anti-price-fixing bill finally won approval in principle from the Commons today after a fight that lasted seven days and touched off parliament's post-Christmas sitting.

The House gave the measure second reading by a vote of 131 to 31 as three parties linked up to defeat the Progressive Conservatives, who battled against the bill since Dec. 17.

Justice Minister Garson's bill immediately went before the house in committee of the whole, where the opposition could be continued in detailed clause-by-clause study.

Decide To Vote

The second-reading roll-call was the second of the day stemming from the prices bill. Earlier, the house registered a 135-to-80 decision to take immediate vote on the bill.

In each case, the Government, CCF and Social Credit parties were aligned against the Progressive Conservatives. J. L. Gibson (Ind-Comox-Alberni) voted with the Progressive Conservatives each time.

The Progressive Conservatives finally gave up their marathon debate after the government used the parliamentary device of calling formally for the question, which had the effect of staving off any further attempts to amend the bill.

Three Progressive Conservative amendments and one from the CCF were defeated by the House earlier, and there also had been a series of votes on procedural questions during the acrimonious debate carried on largely by the chief opposition party.

A final two-hour round of debate centred on the legislation, which would outlaw the "resale price maintenance" practice whereby manufacturers may set the retail price of their products.

With second reading out of the way this afternoon, the measure will go to the Commons' committee-of-the-whole stage, where the discussion could be continued at length in the detailed clause-by-clause discussion of the bill's provisions.

Chevrier Acts

The move that finally got the bill to a vote was launched by Transport Minister Chevrier, who got the floor late Thursday night after the last of the amendments to it had been defeated. Today he put the motion.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton), outspoken opposition critic of the bill, said the motion exposed the government's intention to "throttle discussion" of one of the most important bills ever to come before parliament.

Mr. Chevrier, stepping into the debate which prolonged parliament beyond its expected Christmas adjournment, charged the opposition "have no policy." They spent much time which could have been given to the bill, debating the need for more time.

Canada To Ban Firms Breaking US Regulations

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP) — Canadian firms found guilty of breaking United States regulations on shipment of strategic goods to Communist countries will be banned from using Canadian export outlets, a trade department official said today.

The ban would apply on all American goods handled by the Canadian company. The company, however, could still ship non-strategic goods, too, providing he complies with Canadian export licence restrictions, the official said.

The official made this general policy ruling in commenting on a Washington dispatch Thursday in which the US commerce department ordered Canadian, Belgian and New York firms barred from US export trade for security shipping strategic war chemicals to Communist Hungary.

The order has been stayed pending an appeal to the department's appeals board. The Canadian company involved is Continental Pharma of Montreal.

The official said the charge is about 2½ years old. The Canadian trade department is not satisfied that the spirit of regulations were broken and for that reason has taken no action to bar export outlets to the companies involved.

If the US commerce department appeals board finds them guilty, Canada will take action to prevent Canada being used as a "back door" to defeat the purpose of the US ban, the official said.

Envoy Meets Airmen At Border

Quartette Appears Very Tired, Have Nothing To Say

NICKELSDORF, Austria, Dec. 28 (CP)—Hungary today released four United States airmen after holding them 40 days as "spies" after their plane was forced down by Russian fighters.

The airmen crossed the Austrian border to freedom at 5:01 pm Austrian time, and were sped on their way back to their base at Erding, Germany.

US officials at the border kept the men under wraps, but as they were starting to drive to Tulln Air Base, outside Vienna, one of them was asked by a reporter how he was treated in Hungary.

"All right," was all that Sgt. Jess Duff, of Spokane, Wash., replied. He was the mechanic aboard the C-47 transport forced down on Hungarian soil by Soviet fighter planes November 19.

Appeared Tired

The four men appeared through the mist of the raw, damp evening, looking tired. They were hustled into a room of the Austrian border police building. Eagerly they drank coffee and ate sandwiches provided by the welcoming party. Two stiff Russian officers and the American party joined in the snack.

Walter J. Donnelly, US Ambassador in Vienna, came to the Austrian frontier to greet the men. The US government agreed to pay $120,000 in fines levied against the men on a charge of violating the Hungarian border, provided they were promptly released.

Donnelly announced in Vienna early today that the fliers would be released at 4 pm (10 am EST). He then sped to the frontier, but it was not until 4:38 pm that he received Soviet permission to

450 UN Soldiers Taken By Reds Known To Be Dead

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 28 (AP)—The UN command said today at least 450 United States soldiers have died in North Korean prison camps. An official communique said that is 77 per cent of United Nations troops known to have been imprisoned in rear areas and not accounted for in last week's list of prisoners. Simultaneously the Communists indicated a complete list of living UN prisoners already is in Allied hands. The 450 soldiers were not among those listed on the Communist roster of 11,559 prisoners. They apparently were among 571 Americans the Reds said Wednesday had died of disease or were killed by Allied air raids or artillery fire.

The UN command said its announcement was based on a study of the Reds' Wednesday report.

Other Deaths

North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho hinted Friday at Panmumjom that the Reds would report that many other Americans had died of disease or exposure in prison camps.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby quoted Lee as saying "We must remember that Americans are not accustomed to this climate and are susceptible to local diseases, so it wouldn't be surprising if a large number died of disease."

Communist negotiators also offered no further accounting of some 50,000 captured soldiers the UN says have not been listed.

UN negotiators at Panmunjom again accused the Reds of insincerity and stalling the truce talks.

The Communists, in turn, said Allied insistence of banning a Red air build-up during an armistice runs the "risk of throwing overboard completely the whole basis" of negotiations.

The Reds again refused to put in writing an oral promise not to build up their air strength during an armistice.

While the war of words raged on without letup—and without apparent decision—there was no indication that the Korean battle front was about to explode into action even though the 30-day cease-fire-line agreement expired Thursday midnight.

Most observers expected the "twilight war" to continue for the time being at least.

AP correspondent William C. Barnard quoted Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander: "We will not sacrifice our men needlessly. What is the use of thousands of casualties if it is questionable what good they will do?"

Second Cruiser Commissioned On January 14

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 — (CP) — A second Canadian cruiser, HMCS Quebec, will be commissioned at Esquimalt, BC, Jan. 14, the Navy announced today.

Formerly HMCS Uganda, the Quebec will be sponsored by Mme. Gaspard Fauteux, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, who will also be present for the ceremony. The ship will eventually be stationed on the east coast, with Canada's other cruiser, HMCS Ontario, based at Esquimalt.

Her commanding officer will be Cmdr. Patrick D. Budge, of Victoria and Halifax, who began his naval career in 1921 as a boy seaman and rose from the lower deck to commissioned rank.

The Quebec will carry out her trials and work-ups on the west coast, sailing for Halifax to arrive in the latter part of April. She will serve as a training ship for men of the RCN who have completed the new entry training curriculum at HMCS Cornwallis.

Commissioned In 1942

Originally a Royal Navy ship, the Quebec was commissioned as HMS Uganda late in 1942. One of her first assignments was as part of a naval force which escorted Prime Minister Churchill to the United States in 1943.

She was then sent to the Mediterranean, taking part in the invasions of Sicily and Italy, and was damaged by enemy aircraft in the Allied landings at Salerno.

After refitting at Charleston, SC, she was formally commissioned in the RCN in October, 1944, under command of Capt. E. R. Mainguy, now a vice-admiral and Chief of the Naval Staff.

US Steel Union Calls Off January 1 Strike

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28 (AP).—The steel union Thursday called off a countrywide strike on New Year's Day but left the final decision on a work stoppage to a special convention Jan. 3.

The CIO United Steelworkers 170-man wage policy committee voted to direct the 650,000 USW members in the steel industry to stay on the job after their contracts expire at midnight Monday.

The committee emphasized that the strike was put off only until the convention at Atlantic City, NJ, takes some action. The convention was called at the direction of the wage policy committee to map the union's course in the stalemated steel contract talks.

President Truman had appealed to Philip Murray, head of both the CIO and the USW, to prevent a strike. He threatened to use whatever laws are on the books to keep steel mills open. The wage-policy committee said in a statement the formal answer to the President will be made by the convention.

Up To Convention

The USW policymakers said the entire contract dispute with the steel industry is in the hands of the convention. They declared a work stoppage on New Year's Day—before the convention—would pre-judge the issues.

At stake in the dispute is a whole new contract between the USW and all major steel producers. The union wants an 18½-cent hourly wage increase, a guaranteed annual wage, union shop, improved premium and incentive pay and other concessions. The union says higher living costs and steel company profits justify bigger pay cheques. The workers average now just under two dollars an hour.

The industry has made no wage offer and says any increase will have to be accompanied by higher prices. Steel leaders maintain a pay hike would only add to inflationary pressure without giving the workers any real benefit.

Dynamite Fails To Budge Ice Jam Near Montreal

MONTREAL, Dec. 28 (CP)—Three five-pound dynamite charges today failed to stir an ice jam in the Back river which has caused flooding in Montreal's northern outskirts. The charges were set off by civil engineers who immediately recommended that the ice be bombed from the air around the community of Bout de L'Ille. J. C. Chagnon, chief engineer for the Quebec Streams Commission, said he was considering calling in the RCAF to do the job.

Meanwhile the flood waters which have inundated portions of the suburban towns of Riviere Des Prairies, Montreal North and St. Vincent De Paul and forced some 500 persons to flee, were reported receding steadily.

Blasters prepared to use heavier dynamite charges later in the day.

The three experimental charges set off shortly before noon scooped six-foot pits in the 10-square mile field of ice in the river. But the ice mass itself held firm.

Ask Ottawa's Help

Mayor Rosario Fortin, of Riviere Des Prairies, has also appealed to Ottawa for assistance.

Meanwhile, Red Cross workers, aided by townspeople, have been evacuating families from threatened areas and providing food and shelter for the homeless.

Of the 500 homes affected in both communities, 150 are reported "in bad shape"; almost 100 homes on small islands in the river are awash to roof tops.

Already 90 families have been evacuated in two centres alone and 8 persons have been sent to hospitals. These are mainly ill, invalids and the aged.

Mayor Fortin says it is impossible at the moment to estimate damage but a "wild guess" would be anywhere from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Plane Blown Across Atlantic

LONDON, Dec. 28 (Reuters) — Gale winds of 100-miles-an-hour today blew a Transworld Consellation airliner across the Atlantic in near-record time.

The airliner completed the crossing to Shannon, Ireland, from St. John's, Nfld., in five hours, eight minutes. It was five minutes longer than the record set by Pan American Airways in January, 1949.

The aircraft with 2 passengers aboard, landed at London airport an hour ahead of schedule despite spending three hours at Shannon instead of the normal one.

Storms raged around the coasts of Britain throughout the night but abated slightly this morning. Winds are expected to remain strong for at least another day.

Thursday's gales and torrential rains, worst of the winter played havoc with shipping and broke submarine cables linking Britain with Ireland and North and South America.

UN Soldiers Retake Hill

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 28—(AP)—Outnumbered American Sabre jets shot a Communist jet out of Korean skies today while Allied infantry men recaptured Christmas Hill on the snow-covered battlefront.

The United States Fifth Air Force said US Sabres came out unscathed from their 20-minute dogfight. The battle was between 24 Sabres and more than 70 MIG-15s.

The fight for Christmas Hill, scene of the fiercest fighting in 31 days of twilight war on the Korean front, was the only sizable ground action reported.

Attacking Reds captured it twice Thursday and lost it once. United Nations infantrymen counter-attacked again Friday.

They scaled the slippery slopes under small-arms fire and showers of grenades. The Chinese gave up after a 2½-hour fight. Earlier reports said the hill was retaken without a battle.

Adrift 7 Days Seamen Rescued

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 28 (CP) —Thirteen haggard seamen walked ashore here Thursday night after seven days adrift in the North Atlantic in their tiny disabled cargo vessel Mayfall.

Their arrival brought the first news that the vessel had been in difficulty. She was not equipped with wireless.

Scarcity of food, water and heat plagued the crew since last Friday when the ship's fuel pumps went out of order en route from Bonavista, Nfld., to St. John's.

Saturday the 521-ton craft was buffeted by a howling Atlantic storm and swept farther out to sea. Mess tables and furniture went into the furnaces in a vain attempt to raise steam. The boilers began to leak.

The tiny galley stove provided the only heat on board in northeast gales that brought freezing temperatures.

The helpless Mayfall was finally sighted and taken in tow by the Swedish liner Anna Salen 170 miles southeast of St. John's. She was taken over by the motorship Algerine a few miles from port.

Pronounced Dead WomanAsks Damages

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28—(AP)—A 60-year-old widow is seeking damages from the hospital where she revived after being pronounced dead.

Mrs. Theresa K. Butler filed a $533.70 claim against the city Thursday. She said staff members at Harbor Emergency hospital "used excessive heat without proper temperature control and burned my back, right arm and leg and abdomen to bring me back to consciousness."

She said the $533.70 represented doctor bills for treatment.

Mrs. Butler was found unconscious in her apartment Nov. 8, pronounced dead by a doctor of an overdose of sleeping pills, and sent to a morgue. An attendant noticed a faint pulse and sent her to a hospital. She remained in a coma for several days.

Russ A-Chief Flies To West

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP)—The London Daily Express said today the boss of Russian uranium mining in East Germany—a key man in Soviet atomic works — may have been taken to Washington after he fled to the West six weeks ago.

He was identified as Lt.-Col. Fedya Astrachov, whose scientific achievements once were honored with Russia's coveted Stalin prize.

The Express said American intelligence agents were reported questioning a senior officer of the Russian army shortly after Astrachov reportedly fled the Reds.

It also linked him with a recent trip to Germany by four leading American atomic scientists—Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of the institute for advanced study at Princeton, NJ; Dr. Walter F. Whitman of the US atomic energy commission; Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, president of California Institute of Technology, and Dr. Charles G. Lauristen, a rocket expert from CIT.

He is "Bronco Charlie" Miller. His recipe for a long life:

"Live right. Be friendly."

"Bronco Charlie," born to the saddle, spends quite a bit of his time in an easy chair these days although in general good health.

Age hasn't dimmed his memories of the days when he rode the pony express on the 172-mile run between Sacramento, Calif., and Carson City, Nev., with "18 changes of horses" on each trip.

His greatest delight now is in telling stories of olden days in the Wild West to boys and girls.

Smashing Family Ties

Ancient Chinese Customs Latest Target For Reds

HONG KONG, Dec. 28 (AP)—China's Communist rulers have launched an assault on the Chinese people's most ancient religious beliefs.

It is being carried on with the same ruthlessness with which the Chinese Communists strive to uproot Christianity.

Latest objects of attack have been the Taoist priests of Kwangtung province and the family temples of worship, as well as those of the eath gods among peasants in South China.

The Red rulers recently drove 11 Taoist priests from Cloud Hill Temple in the South China village of Ngauwan.

They seized the premises and 142 acres of land which the priests had bought with donations from worshippers.

Hong Kong Chinese newspapers said the priests, with no place of refuge, pleaded for mercy from the Red soldiers. They were beaten and the oldest was left to die in the temple.

The Communists announced that the bronze bells and incense burners in the temple would be melted into "something useful to the people's (Communist) government."

An attack on the family and earth gods, began with the destruction of small brick shrines on the hills of South China. There are millions of these in China.

The Reds decided that these represent "a trace of feudalism which hampers the furthering of Marxism and Leninism."

The people of China for ages have offered sacrifices of grain and other food at these Temples of the Gods of Earth. It is a family practice tied up with ancestor worship.

The Communists want to smash the family ties of China, which are perhaps the strongest social fabric in the ancient land.

The larger family halls of worship, capable of holding several hundred persons, have been turned into detention centres by the Communists.

New Sub-Machine Gun ShootsAround Corners

DETROIT, Dec. 28 — (AP) — The United States Army has perfected a sub-machine gun that shoots around corners.

Joseph C. Soma, project engineer at the Detroit Arsenal, says the curved barrel is more accurate than a straight one.

Sights are secret, but the gun shoots a .45 calibre slug that can be deflected as much as 90 degrees and will pierce an inch-thick pine board at 100 yards. It will fire 450 rounds a minute.

The around-the-corner gun is made by attaching a curved barrel to the army's M-3 sub-machine gun.

The barrel can be set to fire left or right, up or down.

Tank crews in Korea asked for such a gun to shoot Communists off the tops of tanks.

CriminalCharges Laid By Ford

WINDSOR, Dec. 28 —(CP)— Criminal charges have been laid against six men in connection with the forced closing Dec. 3 of the Ford Company of Canada powerhouse, police said today.

The six, all former Ford production men, were fired Dec. 21 by the company. Their firings are said to have angered union leaders and to have resulted Monday in a breakoff of union-company grievance proceedure talks. The talks were resumed today.

The charges were laid by Chief C. W. Farrow on the advice of the crown attorney, Bruce J. S. Macdonald. Police said that all six will be summonsed to appear in court next week. The summonses will be delivered by constables.

Canada Stepping Out

Commonwealth No Longer Votes As Bloc

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 28—(CP)—At one time the Commonwealth was considered a voting bloc in the United Nations, but it's not any more.

There always have been differences of views on various UN problems among the Commonwealth countries, but recently the number of questions on which the Commonwealth splits have multiplied. Of course, there are many more on which Commonwealth countries usually agree.

Canada made the latest break in voting for the first time for a UN resloution which expressed regret at South Africa's refusal to heed UN appeals for the union to explain her mandate over the former German colony of southwest Africa. In numerous previous UN resolutions on the subject Canada either voted against the resolutions or abstained.

Take Opposite Stand

During the long history of that problem India and Pakistan have voted consistently for resolutions hitting at South Africa's refusal to bring south-west Africa under the UN trusteeship system. Other Commonwealth countries have consistently voted against or abstained on the UN resolutions on the question.

The eastern members of the Commonwealth split with the western members at the present UN assembly session on the question of a complaint by the Arab countries against French supervision of Morocco. Sir Zafrullah Khan of Pakistan made one of the most bitter speeches ever heard in the UN from a Commonwealth country. He told the western powers in effect that it appeared that whenever it came to a practical question of human rights in the Middle East western countries drew back from the constructive efforts.

There are splits too on economic questions, particularly those concerning aid to under-developed countries. Canada for one has been stressing at the present session that the UN should not pass resolutions proposing large-scale programs of economic aid which are not sure of getting the financial backing necessary—particularly that of the United States. India and Pakistan have supported resolutions which Canada and other Commonwealth countries believed were impractical.

Hope To End Tariffs On Weapons

Report US-Canada Near Agreement Over New Policy

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP) — Canada is edging toward agreement with the United States on complete elimination of tariffs on arms purchases in Canada for the American fighting forces.

Roy G. Peers, Canada's arms salesman in Washington, said in an interview that discussions are under way to obtain from the United States army and navy the same tariff concessions Canada receives from the US air force.

Last fall, through an exchange of notes, the two countries agreed American tariffs will not apply on any defence equipment—with the exception of food and clothing—purchased in Canada on behalf of the US air force.

American tariffs have been one of the major stumbling blocks in Canada's drive to boost arms sales to the US. Customs duties sufficiently increase costs to make it tough for Canada to compete with American domestic manufacturers for US defence orders.

Special Job

Mr. Peers, a Montreal foreign-trade business man, was appointed to the Washington post a few months ago to "sell" the United States on the idea of making greater use of Canadian manufacturing capacity.

Returning to Ottawa for a conference with defence production officials, Mr. Peers stated:

1. Discussions to eliminate tariffs now are going on with the US army and navy chiefs of staff.

2. The US is growing more conscious of the need for establishment of "alternative sources of supply" in Canada for certain defence equipment.

3. Negotiations are being completed for the US to purchase a number of new defence items from Canada. Discussions were secret and no details can be made public at this time.

General Trend

The general trend, Mr. Peers added, is toward increased US arms purchases in Canada, with the way being paved for a "freed flow" of US contracts and subcontracts to Canadian industry.

Mr. Peers declined to hazard a guess as to how much in dollars the increased sales will total, but he pointed out that the US this year has raised the ceiling on arms purchases in Canada under the Buy American Act to $300,000,000.

That means the US fighting forces can purchase up to $300,000,000 worth of Canadian arms without contravening the spirit of the legislation to prohibit purchases abroad when the equipment is available at home.

Wants Turkey Canal Defence

ROME, Dec. 28 (AP)—Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah El Din Pasha of Egypt says the main defences of the Suez Canal should be on Turkey's frontier with Russia—not in the canal zone itself.

Salah El Din, on vacation here while the UN Assembly in Paris is suspended for the Chistmas holidays, gave his views at a press conference Thursday.

His venture into military philosophy was linked with another argument against the continued British hold on the Suez Canal zone in Egyptian territory.

When asked what would happen if the British refuse to leave the canal zone, he said: "We will make it impossible for them to stay."

Her funeral service was conducted from her late residence on Monday at 12:30 pm, with burial in Riverside Vault, Lindsay.

Moderate Advances Checked On Market

TORONTO, Dec. 22 — (CP) — Mixed mid-session support today checked moderate stock market advances.

Industrials opened irregularly following Thursday's late upswing but drew renewed support during the first hour. Steels, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous industrials led the market with a scattered list of fractional gains. Agricultures, liquors and refining oils held firm support while papers, utilities, foods and retail stores showed gains and losses in balance. Textiles were unchanged but banks weakened.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,120,000 shares.

In Western oils Calvan Consolidated, Central-Leduc, Devon-Leduc, Federated Petroleum, Mid-Continent and Western Homestead strengthened. Anglo-Canadian, North Canadian and Calmont weakened.

Base metal leaders edged upward but lower-priced issues were mixed. Consolidated Smelters, Hudson Bay, Noranda and Quemont climbed fractions while Barvue and Labrador posted advances ranging to about 20 cents.

In senior golds Malartic and Wright-Hargreaves pushed slightly higher but Kerr Addison, Lake Shore and Teck Hughes dipped. Secondary issues slipped.

PC's Renewing Fight On Prices Bill

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party's fight against the government's anti-price-fixing legislation has been resumed in the Commons.

Returning from a brief Christmas holiday, Progressive Conservative members Thursday renewed a battle against the legislation which would prohibit manufacturers from fixing the retail selling price of their goods.

During the debate three motions of non-confidence in the government were defeated. The motion would have had the effect of killing the government's legislation.

The last, sponsored by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, would have referred the legislation to the Supreme Court of Canada for a ruling on legality. Mr. Drew said there was some question as to whether parliament had the power to prohibit price-fixing by manufacturers.

Garson Satisfied

Before the House defeated the proposal by a vote of 137 to 26, Justice Minister Garson said the law officers of the Crown were confident that the government's legislation was within the competence of parliament.

Members voted 122 to 28 against a second Progressive Conservative motion which called for establishment of a fair-trade board, similar to boards in operation in the United States, to control retail prices.

The third motion, sponsored by the CCF advocated public control —in effect price control—of retail prices where their regulation would be in the public interest. The motion was defeated 151 to 11.

In resuming the debate which prevented parliament from proroguing last weekend, Mr. Drew said the government's legislation was a "hoax" and a "fraud" on the people. It was a "half-baked" bill which was calculated to give the government credit for price drops in traditional January sales.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), said the legislation would benefit the consumer for the first month of two of its existence. The benefit would disappear as the small retailer was put out of business by his big competitor.

Willing To Make Changes

Prime Minister St. Laurent said the government does not believe that the legislation would harm "any substantial" number of small retailers, but said, if it did, the government would consider what further remedial steps it should recommend to parliament.

Mr. Garson suggested the Progressive Conservative argument that the legislation will lead to predatory price cutting doesn't hold water. If that was so, there would be predatory price cutting now on 85 per cent of merchandise which is not under price maintenance.

David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) urged the Prime Minister to call a general election and place the issue before the people. The "Tories would not return enough members to occupy a telephone booth. . . ."

"Just Playing"

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe), a cabinet minister in the last Conservative government said the prime minister was playing with the government's legislation like a small boy with a shot-gun.

The prime minister did not know whether the gun would go off or what it would do if it did go off.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood) said no evidence had been given to show that the legislation would reduce prices.

Mr. St. Laurent said he still does not think the bill will have "very much" effect on the official cost-of-living index. But he does feel that any effect it will have will be "towards a reduction of some of those prices and toward the prevention of an upward surge of prices."

Mr. Garson said experience in the United States had shown that prices were lower in States where resale price maintenance was not permitted.

Mr. Drew said there should be some balance between rigid prices and unrestrained, cut-throat competition. Mr. St. Laurent replied that the legislation was a "concrete measure to free the retail trade of Canada from the shackles imposed upon them, not by parliament, not by a public authority, but by small groups of producers of the commodities they handle."

C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria, Ont.) said he had received only one letter in support of the government's legislation. It was from H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Dec. 28 — (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at 1 31/32 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/8 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.01 31/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.84 3/8, down 7/16 from Thursday.

To Remove Gas Pumps

TORONTO, Dec. 28 — (CP) — Sidewalk gasoline pumps and glass tank pumps, long familiar to Ontario motorists, will disappear soon after the New Year, J. D. Millar, minister of highways, announced Thursday. He said the reason for the cancellations of licences for these pumps was the fire hazard and the traffic tie-up they occasioned.

BATTLE OF THE SNOW-REMOVERS—Men seeking jobs as snow shovellers in Detroit storm the snow removal office, causing a riot. They pushed, shoved and threw snowballs, but no one was hurt. More than 2,500 men sought the 1,000 jobs, as Detroit battled to dig out of 16 inches of snow.

The fliers were accompanied across the border by Lt.-Col. William Alden Somerby, US air attache in the American Legation at Budapest. Somerby wore civilian clothing.

Whisked Into Building

Immediately upon reaching the Austrian side of the frontier, the fliers went into a police post building, accompanied by Donnelly, Col. John Guillett, commander of the US Air Force base at Tullin and other members of the American welcoming party.

The airmen wore their Air Force uniforms and appeared tired.

The four men went into a room from which photographers and reporters were barred.

Donnelly brought them through the border barrier in his big automobile, bedecked with the American flag and his blue ambassador's banner.

The fliers are: Capt. John J. Swift of Glens Falls, NY, pilot; Capt. Dave H. Henderson of Shawnee, Okla., co-pilot; T-Sgt. Jess A. Duff of Spokane, Wash., mechanic; Sgt. James A. Elam of Kingsland, Ark., radio man.

Taken to Base

The Air Force planned to take them to the American air base at Tulln, near Vienna. From there it was planned to fly them to their own base at Erding, near Munich, Germany.

For more than 15 minuntes the fliers remained in the room with American officials.

The point at which the men were released is 30 miles southeast of Vienna in the Soviet zone of Austria. A wooden barrier stretches across the highway on the Austrian side of the frontier.

About two miles beyond, there is another wooden barrier, erected on the Hungarian side of the frontier.

Red Universities Run As Factories

BERLIN, Dec. 28—(Reuters)— East Germany's six main universities, with 35,000 students, have been transformed into education factories.

East Germany is crying out for more iron, coal and steel to force a higher export rate and contribution to the "peace front."

To guarantee success, she must be able to call on qualified engineers, scientists, and state administrators who not only can technically push the programs through but will unquestionably accept the political motives for them.

To some extent what has happened to the coal miner, now working a harder shift than last year on the coal face, is also happening in the university classroom. The 35,000 men and women who began their academic year in September are going through a rugged cramming drill.

Educationists in West Berlin claim that altogether about one-third of the new East German university curriculum consists of compulsory courses in Maxism-Leninism and other political lectures, as well as Russian language and literature.

Say Churchill Wants Greater Atomic Exchange

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (AP). —Prime Minister Churchill probably will urge a greater exchange of atomic information between the United States and Britain during his far-reaching conference with President Truman.

Atomic energy is among the dozen topics he has told the American government he wants to take up on his arrival here late next week.

Both Britain and Canada, with which the United States had a partnership in atomic bomb development during the war, have long felt tight American restrictions on atomic secrets were hampering developments in that field.

Any change in these restrictions would require not only approval by the President but action by Congress. Whether either of these conditions will be met in the predictable future is something on which informed officials here will not even speculate.

Began Two Years Ago

More than two years ago the American, British and Canadian governments opened negotiations to see whether they could work out a formula for enlarging the interchange of atomic information and in a limited way, at least, revive the co-operative effort of the Second World War, when scientists of all three countries joined to produce the first atomic bomb.

Those negotiations were shelved after the Klaus Fuchs spy case broke in Britain in February, 1950. Fuchs, one of Britain's top atomic experts, pleaded guilty to giving secrets to Russia. Since then, as far as is publicly known, there has been no serious effort to reopen the negotiations.

Churchill's suggested topics are believed to cover general fields of foreign affairs, economic matters, and defence of the west.

1952 Courts In Ontario Start In Fall

TORONTO, Dec. 28—Ontario courts will revert to British custom next fall when the formal 1952 opening will be held. Chief Justice McRuer announced Thursday.

Until a few years ago there was no official opening, then the custom was started of having the formal ceremonies in early January. Both appeal court and high court justices attended, as well as leading members of the bar.

The Supreme Court justices have decided that it would be better to follow long established tradition of British courts and hold the formal opening after the long vacation, the chief justice said.

The winter assizes will open on Monday, Jan. 7.

Request Extra Funds

CAIRO, Dec. 28—(AP)— The United Nations Relief Agency for Arab refugees is asking an additional $7,000,000 for its current year's budget, Director John B. Blanford said Thursday. To feed and house 800,000 refugees who lost their homes in the fighting between Israel and her Arab neighbors would cost a total of $27,000,000 for the year, he said.

International Sport Brings UK Laurels

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 28 (CP)—A shy, lazy-lidded prize fighter named Randolph Turpin climbed into a ring one night last July against invincible Ray Robinson — and when it was over British boxing had its moment of glory in an otherwise discouraging year.

They called Sugar Ray the world's greatest fighter, "pound for pound," but Randy Turpin of Leamington Spa, youngest of three fighting brothers, upset the odds at London's Earl's Court stadium and whipped the fabulous American champion.

Sixty-four days later, in New York, Turpin and Robinson met again. This time the verdict went the other way and the title returned to the United States. Thus Britain started the boxing year without a world crown and ended it the same way.

Great things had been expected of hopefuls such as flyweight Terry Allen, the London barrow boy; of young Ray Wilding, especially groomed in New York; of featherweight Ronnie Clayton and heavyweights Jack Gardner and Don Cockell. In one way or another, all suffered disappointments. One of the most unexpected was the drubbing Cockell received in December from Jimmy Slade, an American with none-too-impressive credentials.

In other lines of sport, 1951 Among the exceptions were the victory of 35-year-old Max Faulkner of Bexhill, Sussex, in brought few laurels to Britain. the open golf tournament at Portrush, Northern Ireland during the first week of July and the triumph last winter of Jeanette Altwegg in the women's division of the world's figure-skating championships, held at Milan, Italy.

Other bright spots were the emergence of college student Roger Bannister, a brilliant runner up to a mile, and a host of lesser luminaries of track and field. Experts such as coach Jack Crump expect these youngsters, most of them unknown outside Britain, to go close to winning in their divisions at the Olympic games at Helsinki next summer.

Defeat South Africa

In cricket, the big news of the season was provided in England's test matches against South Africa. South Africa won the first of last summer's matches by 71 runs, but England won the second by 10 wickets, the third by nine and the fifth by four. The fourth match was drawn. Freddie Brown, captain of the English team, was named one this country's "sportsmen of the year" in a poll conducted by the Sportswriters Association. (Turpin was first choice in most of the polls.)

Horse racing ended an unusually poor season for the favorites with sensational suggestions of a doping scandal. Newspapers talked of "doping gangs" and Lord Rosebery, one of Britain's leading horsemen, came forward with £1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the persons who doped one of his horses.

Reveals Name

Lord Rosebery at first declined to disclose the name of the drugged horse, but later the animal in question was revealed to have been Snap, a two-year-old which finished 10th in a seven-furlong race for which it was a hot favorite. During the season longshots won all the principal races, except the Cesarewitch which went to Three Cheers. Marcel Boussac, French textile magnate, again won more purse money than any other owner competing on the English turf.

The Epsom Derby, famed three-year-old classic, went to John McGrath's Arctic Prince, which won by eight lengths, and the richest race ever run in Britain, the Festival of Britain Stakes at Ascot in July, was taken by Mrs. T. Lilley's Supreme Court, since retired.

Canadian hockey players continue to dominate the British scene. A novelty in the 1951-52 season was the first National League game ever played in London on a Sunday, between Earls Court Rangers and Streatham. The game was played at Empress Hall, after an ice pantomime forced the Rangers to seek alternative dates.

HISTORIC NAME

Chester, a common ending for the names of many English cities and towns, derives from the Roman Castra, meaning camp.

Field Take-off Planned For US Airliner

COBOURG, Dec. 28 (ENS). — The big US airliner which made a forced landing on a farm just west of here last week, without so much as shaking up the 44 pasengers aboard, will likely be flown out on her own power in about three weeks, it was revealed yesterday by Donald Weaver, of Bonville, NY, mechanic employed by the company which owns the C-46 Curtis Commando.

The same pilot who brought her in, Capt. Bruce Smelser, will fly her out and the first stop will be at Malton where the plane will be given a final check-up before starting for her home field at Burbank, Calif.

Right now there is plenty of snow where the big ship squats on her belly in the snow-covered pasture, where she landed with very little damage to the fuselage and with two bent propellors.

Big problem is getting jacks from Chicago to elevate the aircraft enough to lower the landing wheels, which were retracted when Capt. Smelser set her down with both engines conked out after a harrowing, storm-battered trip.

Mechanic Donald Weaver said yesterday that the engines could be fixed up without difficulty, and he estimated that by taking off on an oblique course he would have the required 1,500 ft. for the takeoff.

Friday night's storm threshed the rudder loose, but it can be repaired without much trouble. As a precaution against souvenir hunters and others seeking costly equipment, a guard was established shortly after the plane landed and the company later engaged some Cobourg Legion members on eight-hour round-the-clock guard watches.

The snow will have to be rolled flat with special equipment to get a sufficiently solid air strip. There will be plenty of people on hand when she finally makes her takeoff attempt.

SA Packs 43 Baskets For Needy In Cobourg

COBOURG, Dec. 28 (ENS) — Forty-three baskets for the needy were packed by the Salvation Army here at Christmas. The baskets contained chickens or roasts, plus groceries and toys. Thirty-five of the baskets were distributed in Cobourg and the rest went to families at Hastings, Roseneath and Grafton.

In addition, Sunshine bags of fruit and candies were sent to the Cobourg General Hospital, the Counties Home for the Aged and the jail. Last night the Salvation Army put on a Christmas Carols program at the Ontario Training School for Boys and handed out sunshine bags.

The baskets and sunshine bags were distributed Monday in a truck loaned by Lyle Wilson and driven by Ralph Barnes of the Lions Club. Working with him were Lieut. D. W. Rea, Sid Merry and Max Ryan of the Salvation Army. Lieut. Rea said that more baskets were handed out than last year due to the fact that more were in need of help, a situation created by the increase in the number of unemployed.

The mine owner announced Thursday night the miners, members of local 9435 of the United Mine Workers of America, have agreed to donate their Saturday earnings (about $450) to the families of the 119 men who lost their lives in the West Frankfort, Ill., mine explosion last week.

Lakefield Church Presents Annual Christmas Concert

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 28 (ENS).—The Church of St. John the Baptist, Lakefield, held its Sunday School Christmas celebration on Thursday evening in the Memorial Hall. It began at 6:30 pm with a parish supper provided by the mothers. The audience enjoyed a program of songs, carols, recitations and skits prepared by the Sunday School departments. All joined in the carol singing, accompanied by G. Jeffreys.

The Rev. L. Delaney was chairman. The opening scene showed Mrs. Santa (played by Mrs. W. O'Brien), who together with her committee had charge of the arrangements for the evening, awaiting the return of Santa from his long yearly trip. Santa (Mr. J. Perley) entered wearily to the tune of Three O'clock in the Morning. Mrs. Santa tucks him into a large easy chair for a nap in which he dreams the sketches which followed.

Senior girls sang A White Christmas. Then the primary department sang their Christmas songs. They were trained by the teachers, Mrs. L. Delaney, Mrs. E. Coons, and Mrs. M. Wickett, accompanied by Mrs. J. Twist, Sr., at the piano.

Away in a Manger was portrayed and sung by Cheryl Graham and Gail Hampton. Linda Webster, Frances Edwards, Annabeth Batten, and Sheila Wickett each gave recitations, while Elaine Cherry and Joan Allen danced a military tap.

Carol and Barbara Crapp and Bob Rogers sang their special Christmas action song, Ding Dong Ding. Children from Mrs. A. Gariepy's class told how the Christmas story reached far away lands, then later appeared again in the musical pantomime, The Three Trees.

Mrs. E. Rogers' class were well applauded for their version of the Pop Up Christmas Letters.

The Junior WA sang Silent Night, and told the story of its beginning. The junior choir, under the direction of Miss Joyce Hutt, sang selections from their Christmas music.

Santa awakened from his dreams in time to dance with Mrs. Santa and her class of senior girls. Then he gave gifts and candy to all the youngsters.

Mr. Delaney presented the prizes for Sunday School attendance, then thanked all the helpers and teachers.

Japanese Slave Markets Sell Young Girls For $14

By WARREN WHITE

TOKYO, Dec. 28 (Reuters) — Anyone in Japan with the right contacts can buy a personal slave.

Although it is illegal under the occupation, there is little the law can do about it.

Average females cost anything from 5,000 yen ($14) to 20,000 yen, depending on the state of the market and the girl's age. They are used mainly as prostitutes and servants.

Boy slaves for farming have been in keener demand since the Second World War, as soaring living costs have forced farmers to employ the cheapest possible labor.

Poor farming families in the barren northern areas of Japan regularly sell their children during lean years.

Selling his children is the only answer to the worried farmer's poverty. For a clean, healthy, attractive girl, he may get 15,000 yen ($42). If she is apprenticed to a house of prostitution, he may get yearly payments from the proprietor for several years.

Slave buyers tour Northern Japan, keeping in touch with agents in the poor farming areas. Slaves are brought to the big cities for distribution to slave brokers who are in contact with prospective buyers.

Some brokers, in years when demand is slow, buy up young girls aged from seven to 10 years and invest money by putting them into a "training school" until they reach a suitable age to be sold as geisha girls. They buy them for about 3,000 yen, the price of a pair of shoes.

Such girls, by the time they are old enough to understand what has happened, usually no longer have contact with the outside world and would be unable to escape, even if they wanted to, because of the "huge debts" which their owners claim that they owe.

Early in the occupation, Gen. McArthur's chief of public welfare Brig.-Gen. Crawford Sime, asked for the co-operation of the Japanese public in smashing the trade in girl slaves for prostitution.

"Once girls are in the grip of an owner they are unlikely ever to escape," he said. "They are lent money, and given kimonos at twice the right price and have to repay the loans from their meagre salaries—a toll which would take them the rest of their lives.

"They are too frightened to run away because they are told that they could then be prosecuted as swindlers."

Government investigators say there appears to be little to be done to stop the traffic. Most slaves they interviewed expressed hostility to their "meddling."

Church Services Mark Christmas At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 28 — (ENS)—A large crowd attended the Midnite Mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church on Christmas Eve.

Celebrant of the high mass was the Rev. J. C. Moloney, with the senior altar boys, Jack Garvey, Jack Doherty, Glenn Yenta and Glenn Wilson, serving. The altar was decorated with its candles and flowers.

The regular choir assisted by some of the young men of the parish, sang the responses of the mass, and the Christmas carols before and during the mass. Two violin solos were played during Communion by Freddie Ingram and David Masterson. Miss Marie Crosson presided at theorgan.

Father Moloney thanked the congregation for their constant and faithful support of all church work during the year and also for the personal kindness shown to himself. In his sermon, he traced the Redeemer back to the Garden of Eden and the promise made to our first parents after the Fall, that a Savior would be born to the world, and on that first Christmas night when our Lord was born of the Virgin Mary in the stable at Bethlehem, the promise was fulfilled.

Practically the entire congregation approached the altar rail to receive Holy Communion.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The congregation of the Campbellford Baptist Church saw a film on Sunday evening last, depicting the misfortunes of the fourth Wise Man. The film showed how he missed the caravan and spent the remainder of his life in search of the Messiah.

A running commentary describing the various scenes was done by Mrs. H. S. Staples.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Christmas music, appropriate messages and an impressive candlelight service featured the services in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday last. The Rev. A. E. Toombs conducted the services and the special Christmas music was under the direction of Albert Hazell, organist and choirmaster.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the music especially well rendered. Large congregations were on hand for all services.

ST. JOHN'S UNITED

Special Christmas services were held in St. John's United Church on Sunday last, when the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith preached two appropriate messages. The choir, under the direction of George Nicholls, with Mrs. Nicholls at the organ, sang special Christmas music at both services.

At the morning service Dr. Smith's subject was "Call His Name Jesus," and in the evening his sermon was on "The Three Wise Men From the East."

The Threat Of Closure

Because the Prime Minister said that closure might be invoked in the case of the resale price maintenance legislation, there has been suggestion from some quarters that the government is being tyrannous, and denying the Opposition its right of fair and reasonable debate. Before we make any such accusations, however, let us wait and see what the government actually does. For it must be remembered that in the Canadian Parliament closure is sometimes threatened, but the threat is rarely carried out.

What is closure? It is a motion that a debate be closed before every speaker who wishes to engage in the debate has said his say. In its present form it dates from March 18, 1887; Parnell and his Irish Home Rule party made it a necessity, for their tactics were to obstruct the business of the Commons as much as possible, in order to call attention to their own grievances. The closure is quite often applied in Britain, and it is far more frequent in the other parliaments of the Commonwealth than it is at Ottawa.

In fact, we can only find record of the closure being applied five times in our own Parliament. In April, 1913 it was used to overcome opposition to a bill of Sir Robert Borden's which was to provide $35 millions to build ships for the British Navy. The closure was used again in 1917, in 1921 and in 1926. It was last used in 1932 by Lord Bennett to overcome Liberal resistance to a measure to extend the Unemployment and Farm Relief Act.

* * *

Five times in our parliamentary history is not an extensive use of the closure power. It may be noted, also, that only once was it used by a Liberal government. The present Liberal government is not likely to invoke it after nineteen years to hurry through an act which is not of great immediate concern to the large body of Canadians. The threat of closure has probably been used by Mr. St. Laurent to make it clear that debate on the subject will not influence the government. Between the threat and the deed there is a gulf which we do not expect to see bridged.

A New Kingdom

A new kingdom was proclaimed on Christmas Eve, the Kingdom of Libya. This Arab nation of a million people, stretching through the African desert to the Mediterranean between Egypt and Algeria, has come into its own after forty years of foreign domination and war; and its independence has been given freely by France and Britain. With the birth of the new kingdom the city of Bengazi has again made headlines, for Bengazi is the new capital.

One's mind has to go back only ten years to see the flare of war over Bengazi. Exactly ten years ago this week British tanks lifted the siege of Tobruk (farther east along the Libian coast) and recaptured Bengazi from the Germans. At the beginning of that year, February 1941, the British had taken it from the Italians in the spring offensive which reduced the Italian army to crumbs.

The Germans came along on April 4th, in their first offensive in Libya and the British evacuated Bengazi, only to take it again at the end of 1941. The rejoicing was short-lived. On January 29th—a month later—Rommel's tanks recaptured Bengazi. It was the first pounce for a lightning drive in May and June which took the Afrika Corps through Tobruk and was brought to a halt only at El Alamein. In October and November of the same year (1942) Sir Bernard L. Montgomery turned the tables on Rommel and swept westward with his Eighth Army, driving all before him. Bengazi fell into his hands on November 21st and thereafter remained under Allied control until Christmas Eve, 1951.

In 1949 the United Nations adopted a resolution that France and Britain grant independence to Libya by January 1st, 1952. Britain and France have answered that request in a way which should show the kind of good faith which these countries practice at U.N. and in their other foreign dealings. Libya is now an independent kingdom. Flags are flying and people are rejoicing today in war-tortured Bengazi—and throughout all Libya which was the fulcrum of the see-saw North African campaign the slogan has gone up "Long Live Liberty."

The Arabs in Egypt must hear the cry and wonder that their Government can vilify as an imperialistic oppressor of Islam the nation which fought the Italians and Germans out of Libya and has now given the country its freedom.

A Liberal's Decalogue

Because there has been a good deal of discussion about the rights and wrongs of permitting Bertrand Russell to broadcast on the CBC, we feel that some of our readers will be interested in a statement of Russell's own opinions on the matter of public discussion of questions of widespread interest. It was apparent, both in the reports of the Parliamentary radio committee, and in many of the protests which were made, that there is a widespread ignorance of what Russell himself seeks to do, and the way in which he does it.

At the time when the discussion was at its height, we expressed the view that Russell was a liberal, and nothing more horrendous than that; he might even be described as a nineteenth century liberal, if it is made clear that the "nineteenth century" label does not imply anything derogatory. In the nineteenth century, scientific curiosity and breadth of outlook was, unfortunately, more commonly met with in high places than seems to be the case in the middle of the twentieth century. To be a nineteenth century liberal is to be a good deal more liberal than many twentieth century liberals.

In drawing up this Ten Commandments for liberals, Russell says that he does not mean that it should replace the Mosaic Law; it should not be necessary to say this, but many of Russell's critics in Canada appear to be convinced that one of his wicked schemes is to destroy all religion and lay waste all ethical systems; such views, needless to say, are chiefly set forth by people who have never read a line of what he has written. Here, then, is a declaration of a liberal's creed, by Bertrand Russell:

(1) Do not feel absolutely certain of anything.

(2) Do not think it worth while to produce belief by concealing evidence, for the evidence is sure to come to light.

(3) Never try to discourage thinking, for you are sure to succeed.

(4) When you meet with opposition endeavour to overcome it by argument and not by authority, for a victory dependent upon authority is unreal and illusory.

(5) Have no respect for the authority of others, for there are always contrary authorities to be found.

(6) Do not use power to suppress opinions you think pernicious, for if you do the opinions will suppress you.

(7) Do not fear to be eccentric in opinion, for every opinion now accepted was once eccentric.

(8) Find more pleasure in intelligent dissent than in passive agreement, for, if you value intelligence as you should, the former implies a deeper agreement than the latter.

(9) Be scrupulously truthful, even when truth is inconvenient, for it is more inconvenient when you try to conceal it.

(10) Do not feel envious of the happiness of those who live in a fool's paradise, for only a fool will think that it is happiness.

Not very terrible, is it? A little difficult for people who do not like to use their heads, but for them everything in life is difficult. And it provides an answer to those who feel that the greatest living philosopher should be barred from Canada's publicly owned radio system.

The Late Arthur Kennedy

At this season we should like to recall to some of our readers Arthur R. Kennedy, who died on Christmas Day 1941, having been editor of this newspaper for six years; from remarks which have been made to us from time to time we know that there are many in Peterborough who remember him with affection. We had not the pleasure of close acquaintance with him, but we frequently remember something which he said in our hearing: "An editorial page can be anything you like, but it must never be dull."

Arthur Kennedy's editorial page was never dull. He had an individual style, and his preference lay in the direction of humorous and oblique comment on affairs, rather than direct and comprehensive discussion of them. He was not himself a man of rural background, but he liked to write about rural affairs, and his editorials dealing with happenings on a mythical Tenth Concession were widely admired and enjoyed. He also carried on a tradition of an earlier day by writing a piece of verse, printed as prose, every day, in which some homely truth or pleasing sentiment was set forth in an amusing manner. His outlook on life was kindly and warm-hearted, and these qualities were apparent in his writings.

All during his time on the Examiner he was a sick man, and his struggle against illness won the admiration of his associates; when he died he was truly mourned by the newspaper fraternity. With no assistance save for that of his native talents he won himself a special place in the Canadian newspaper world, and he is not forgotten.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Ottawa Citizen says that dill pickles have warts because toads scratch their backs with them. This is unscientific. A pickle's warts are a psychosomatic ailment brought on by the humiliation of being a pickle.

The Windsor Star bemoans the passing of the cruet. Well, just to show that we can be as nostalgic as anybody, we shed a tear for that useful object the "curate"—a brass stand for holding plates of cake when tea was served in the drawing-room.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR SIR: My eyes nearly popped out of my bifocals yesterday. I saw a policeman on George Street who wore glasses. Isn't there a law about this? Aren't our policemen required to be a minimum of six feet in height, to have twelve-inch biceps, a chest expansion up to 48 inches, and 30-30 vision? I've never seen anything as odd in my life as a policeman in spectacles.

ANSWER: I'll peer into this.

DEAR DOROTHY ALPHATIC DIX: Since D.D. is dead I cling to Alpha. What do I do about acknowledging Christmas cards from people to whom I have not sent same?

ANSWER: I have no wish, capacity, or intention to take the mantle of D.D. . . Dorothy Dix may be dead, but her corps of interpreters still lives on. She had a very capable secretary and a highly-paid staff . . . My advice: address your left-over Christmas cards now to the people whom you forgot, keep them, and don't forget to send them ten days before next Christmas. Meanwhile, pretend that you've had a stone in the liver for the last ten days.

SIR: Why is coffee in England so bad when tea in England is so good? It's the same water that goes into both, and the coffee beans going into English coffee are the same kind of beans from the same areas as coffee beans for American cups.

ANSWER: I presume that it either a national ineptitude or indifference, probably indifference, because Englishmen who migrate to the U.S. or Canada can learn to make good coffee. A great many people in the Old Country are quite satisfied with the way they make coffee—they like the taste of it better than the taste of our brew. Evidence of this is that the patented coffee-powder sold in England, though under the same name and in the same kind of bottle as the stuff sold in Canada and the U.S., still makes an "English" coffee. In other words, the coffee-powder is mixed to the English coffee taste; when exported, it is adjusted to the North American.

National taste has much to do with it. Many Americans find French coffee abominable, yet the French think it wonderful, preferring their black acrid brew to American. Americans make bad tea for the same reasons that English people make bad coffee: either they do not know it is bad, or don't care. And anyway, they do not drink much of it.

The complaint against English coffee is old. At the end of the 18th century a traveller from Spain, Don Manuel Alvarez was visiting England and described English life and customs in letters home. These letters were later translated and published in England and, in 1807, in the United States. Don Manuel found English tea excellent but had a distaste for their coffee: "Nothing is so detestable as an Englishman's cofee. The washings from our after-dinner cups would make a mixture as good; the infusion is just strong enough to make the water brown and bitter. This is not occasioned by economy, though the coffee is enormously dear. . . . They know no better. And if you tell them how it ought to be made, they reply that it must be very disagreeable, and even if they could drink it so strong, it would prevent them from sleeping".

DEAR ALPHA: What are the names of the roadways or streets within Morrow Park? Some time ago I recall reference made to three streets in the old Exhibition ground and they had names.

ANSWER: I had a vague recollection of seeing name-posts on the lanes between rows of booths, but Mr. G. A. Gillespie, who was on the Exhibition Board from 1910 to 1920, and for many years has been General Manager of the fair, says that there have been no street names in his time. It might have been a practice to put up names during fair days—names which would change each year, but that must have been before the Exhibition had had many large buildings, and consisted mostly of tents in rows.

APROPOS THE FEDERAL ELECTIONS OF 1917. As I noted last week, the Examiner of that day was a pretty partisan paper. One reason was that its owner, R. R. Hall was the Liberal candidate. J. Hampden Burnham was the Conservative candidate, a supporter of Sir Robert Borden, but not officially approved as a Unionist candidate. Here is another box story that ran in the Examiner in the first week of December, 1917.

"HOW WILL THE ELECTORS VOTE? If anyone is in doubt whether the Big Interests are behind the Borden Government, let him read this list of individuals who are supporting him, without counting any of the big corporations:

Sir Clifford Sifton—(Kingmaker of Big Interests)
Lord Beaverbrook—(The Uncrowned King of Monopolies)
Baron Graham—(Baron of Trusts and Combinations)
Sir William MacKenzie—(The Knight of Unseen Rulers)
Sir Joseph Flavelle—(The Baron of High-Priced Meat)
Sir Donald Mann—(The Knight of Secret Influence and Pull)
Sir Edmund Walker—(The Knight of the Money Trusts)
Sir Edmund Osler—(The St. Michael and St. George of Floating Capital)
Sir John Willison—(The Big Interest and Ruler of Racial Hatred)
Sir John Dendrie—(The High Priest of Niagara Power)
Sir John Eaton—(The Millionaire Prince of What You Wear)
Sir Thomas White—(Lord Treasurer of Unseen Grafters)
Sir Charles Ross—(The Gartered Knight of the Ross Rifle)
Sir Sam Hughes—(The Deposted Knight of the Allison Ring)
Mr. J. H. Burnham—(The Hewer of Wood and Drawer of Water to the Big Interests)."

"A vote for Mr. Burnham is a vote for Sir Robert Borden and the Big Interests and Higher Cost of Living."

"A vote for Mr. Hall is a vote against the Big Interests and for the Rights of the Masses and for increased food production and Lower Cost of Living."

What a strong echo is this editorializing of heated hefty politics, of many titled gentlemen, some hardly remembered; and of old scandals and sharp money-deals, and of port, patronage and politics uniting to create Knights.

The Government (Unionist) under Sir Robert Borden won 153 seats; the Liberal Opposition under Laurier got 82, only eight of them in Ontario, compared with 74 Unionist seats in the province.

FOR THE RECORD: This season will long be remembered as the time of the Big Snow. From December 9th to Christmas Day, Peterborough had a total of 31 inches, most of it falling in the week beginning Tuesday before Christmas. Deep snow was general across the country, as the enraged shouts from Toronto (which had much less) have made known. In the same period Montreal had a total of 48 inches, and to make ways through the mountains of it cost that city, up to Christmas, about $600,000. May the New Year be, for all Alpha's readers, as bright and cheerful as yesterday's sun, clean snow and blue sky.

"What A Time To Have Termites!"

Good Speech Becometh Not A Fool

(by MARIAN RICH in the New York Times)

Miss Rich teaches voice and speech at the American Theatre Wing's Professional Training Program and the New School for Social Research. She also coaches many stars.

IN a recent article in The Times the following remark appeared: "Alas, we have to make up our minds that it is almost impossible to collect a whole troupe of actors who can speak the English language." I have devoted twenty years to the teaching of voice of speech to both actors and laymen, and would like to suggest some of the reasons for this situation, if not the ultimate solution.

Anyone willing to devote the same amount of time and energy to exercises that a dancer or a musician does can acquire a love of and feeling for the English language (which many people do not have naturally) and can acquire standard speech, a physiologically free and artistically expressive voice, in two or three years. But there are resistances which block achievement. Some of these stem from paradoxes in American culture and in the American theatre, and some stem directly from the psychology of the individual.

Both actors and laymen, for example, always start a speech course saying "We want to learn to speak well—but not too well." Is there any other field of endeavour to which a student brings this attitude? What does it mean?

FOR one thing, it expresses a purely American conflict—that between the opportunity to be President of the United States, and the desire to stay "one of the boys". It relates also to the fact that material success is socially acceptable, but cultural growth becomes "putting on airs". The same people who may exchange their Ford for a Cadillac, buy their suits at Brooks Brothers instead of Barney's, and move from the West Side to East Side, are the ones who say, as their speech improves, "But that doesn't sound like me."

Fear of affectation of phoniness is also implied at this point. It is important, therefore, to realize that while one is acquiring new habits, there will always be a period of self-consciousness. But eventually these habits become a part of one's total personality, and can be worn with ease like a twice-worn dress or hat.

I have often wondered why it is that people can impersonate with more ease those they look down upon than those they look up to. Most young actors can instinctively fill the role of a thug more easily than the role of a diplomat. Many admit a hope of being another John Garfield or William Bendix, but few can or dare admit to the dream of being a Barrymore.

In the theatre itself it is often true that a higher premium is paid for personality than for craftsmanship. (I wonder if in the long run Garfield will make much more money than Barrymore did, which, after all, is also an American standard of success.) We have not established, as for example the English theatre has, that good speech is one of the basic requirements for an acting job.

For twenty years I have been held personally responsible for many of the hams in the theatre, on the theory that it is good voice and speech which makes for ham acting. Actually a ham is one who has no acting talent. He does not live, feel or project the character he plays. But he has one theatrical virtue and technique which he has mastered. One young thing actually said to me, "If I have good voice and speech, it will ruin my acting".

On the other side of the coin, I have had countless examples thrown at me of great talents who do not have good voice and speech. But these, too, are in the theatre in spite of their weakness, not on account of it. It was one of these talents who had the insight to discover part of the problem for himself: "If I talk that way, I'll have to live up to it, and I'm not sure that I can." He meant that he was not sure it would be worth his while to give up his dirty fingernails, his dungarees and bad manners to play Hamlet—when he could make plenty of money playing parts which made no demands upon speech techniques.

BEHIND all of these fears and questions about voice and speech lies a real and exciting perception of the relation between the way we speak and what we are. In life and in the theatre good voice and speech imply a perfect balance between the personality of the speaker, what he is saying, how he says it, and the people to whom he is talking. We call this identification, sincerity and truth.

GOOD voice and speech are a means to an end. The difference between a person who has good voice and speech and one who knows he has is as subtle as the difference between a beautiful woman and one who knows she is beautiful. But it is clearly recognizable. Equally clear is form without content, or content without form. "Good speech becometh not a fool," says the Bible. And, perhaps, actors need constant assurance that they are neither fools nor talentless in order to have the incentive to acquire good voice and speech and a love of the English language.

Over the years there have been many who cared enough for the theatre to develop their craft. Perhaps as society, the theatre and the teacher understand these problems and each other better, there will be many more.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The same day went Jesus out of the house, and sat by the sea side. And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables? He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given. For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath.

Another parable spake he unto them, The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened. (Matt. 13: 1, 2; 10-12, 33.)

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO "CONSIDERATE"

Sir: When a "Considerate" man, after struggling with his righteousness and proving to his own satisfaction that his perfect record entitles him to cast a stone at a brotherhood in which he claims former membership, finds it necessary to condemn an entire group of eighty men the case must indeed be grave.

It is strange then to find he complains of the actions of one driver on one particular call. Surely the end sought could as well be achieved by an anonymous phone call to the office of the offender as by a public letter over a "Nom de plume".

Sincerely,
CLARE DONNELLY.

CANADIAN IMPOSTURE

Sir: I noted with approval your editorial comment on the case of the French merchant who sold "Scotch" whiskey which was neither Scotch nor whiskey. But surely you must know that the Canadians are at the same game! I was invited by a Canadian friend to assist him to dispose of a bottle of "real Scotch" which he had bought for Christmas. With anticipation I viewed the bottle—the right shape, the name "Scotch Whiskey" chaste in gold and red in large lettering, a photograph of a distillery in Pitlochry, Scotland, and an address in Leith, Scotland, the whole lavishly decorated with tartan. But the contents! Ugh! A vile, harsh spirit, such as no right-thinking Scot would spoil his palate with. So I investigated the label further, to find on the back of the bottle in very small type indeed the interesting information that the contents had been "Distilled and Bottled in Montreal." That looks to me very like fraud, and I tremble to think of the effect on the palate of people whose tastes are not sufficiently formed to enable them to distinguish the true spirit of Scotland from the false. I suggested to my friend that the best thing Canadians could do would be to take their native "Scotch Whiskeys" and "Ports", "Harris tweeds" from Japan, tartans from India, etc., and find names for them more suited to their origin and quality. In the meantime I am happy to report that the real spirit of Scotland is still to be had by those who seek.

Yours truly,
USQUEBAGH SCOTORUM.

Selwyn Women Exchange Gifts

SELWYN, Dec. 28 (ENS)—The December meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the church hall, where the members had their Christmas tree and exchange of gifts.

The president, Mrs. Evans Blewett, was in the chair.

A Christmas greeting was read by Mrs. Blewett from Mrs. Harry Shearer of Buckhorn, district president.

The business meeting was in an abbreviated form and before the meeting was turned over to the convener, presentation of a saucer were made to Mrs. Roy Ballantyne of Peterborough, for her help in making the yearly programs for the members, and Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald for her help throughout the past year with the musical part of meetings. The gifts were presented by Mrs. Carl Wilson and Mrs. Wilfred Nichols.

The program was in keeping with the Christmas theme. Stories were read by Mrs. William Elliott, and Mrs. George McIlmoyl. Margaret Wilson sang a solo "Silver Bells" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald who also played for the singing of Christmas carols.

Mrs. Carl Wilson was convener for the meeting and conducted a Bible quiz.

A draw was made for a turkey and Christmas cake. Marybeth Wilson drew the lucky tickets and the turkey was won by Percy Cooper of Rose Ave., Peterborough, and Arnold Sweeting was the winner of the Christmas Cake.

KING GEORGE and Queen Elizabeth arrive by car at Kings Cross station from Buckingham Palace en route to Sandringham where they spent the Christmas holiday with Queen Mary and other members of the royal family.

Our ancestors, by genius, foresight and hard work, made life easier for us today. Let us in turn do all we can to make living better for those to come.

Expect Another Big Year For Canadian Trade In 1952

OTTAWA, Dec. 28 — (CP). — Trade Minister Howe declared today that 1951, a year in which a record total of $4,600,000,000 was poured into expansion of the Canadian economy, was "a good year" for Canadian business. He forecast it will be as good in 1952.

In a 3,000-word annual review of Canadian economic development, the Minister of Trade and Defence Production noted:

1. Capital investment—one of the keys to Canadian prosperity—jumped $800,000,000 from the previous high of $3,800,000,000 in 1950.

2. Inflation, one of the big threats to the economy at the beginning of the year, slackened in the last half. As government anti-inflationary action took hold, prices advanced less rapidly towards the end of the year. Panic buying disappeared.

3. The threat of Communism and unprovoked aggression in Korea had been met. A "solidarity of opinion and of will power" was marshalled through the North Atlantic Organization "to supply a positive answer to the Communist challenge." Rearmament was undertaken on a large scale. A start was made on the Colombo Plan to raise living standards in South and Southeast Asia.

Justified Optimism

"The events of 1951," he said, "justify an increasing optimism, not only for our future here in Canada but for the future of the countries of the free world with which we are associated."

In the year's expansion of the economy, the major preoccupation was with rearmament, "a complicated and profracted business," resulting in rising prices and in shortages of raw materials. But, on the other hand, "some slackness appeared in our economy in the last half of 1951. Sales of some consumer goods declined and unemployment occurred in certain localities, but these are specific, not general difficulties."

Canada undertook a three-year $3,500,000,000 defence-production program and distributed $1,326,000,000 worth of defence orders in the first seven months of the year. But the Canadian program was small compared to that in the United States and a large part of the equipment had to be imported from the US. There were delays in production, but these were gradually being overcome.

Heroic Jobs

In the field of resources development, some of the projects were of "heroic proportions," helping to supply the Western world's defence needs. In the last five years, estimated Mr. Howe, $2,500,000,000 was spent in Canada on expansion of natural resources, "most of this in fields essential to the defence of the free world."

The St. awrence Seaway and power project loomed large in Canadian economic thinking. Canada was awaiting US participation, but if this did not come within a "reasonable period of time," Canada would undertake the venture alone.

"We cannot afford much longer to be without this project," said Mr. Howe. "We need the power. We need the seaway for the transportation of our bulk commodities. Without these our economic growth would be hindered."

Rearmament Problems

The year's rearmament brought its problems. There was a shortage in strategic materials, and though steps were taken to expand production, the shortages are expected to continue "for some time to come." But the severity of the shortages is expected to decline.

Another problem was in the defence purchases between Canada and the US. The US placed only $95,000,000 worth of orders in Canada, while Canada placed $500,000,000 worth in the US.

The US was boosting its purchases in Canada, however, and steps were taken during the year to wipe out some US tariffs on shipments of Canadian arms into that country.

The increase in the arms buying from the US, and the high demand for US consumer and capital goods in Canada, resulted in a deficit in Canada's foreign trade, but it should not be assumed, said Mr. Howe, that the deficit resulted from any "basic weakness" in Canada's foreign trade structure.

Good Year

Taking the year's activities as a whole, 1951 was a "good year" both at home and abroad for Canadian business.

"I have every reason to believe that the outlook for 1952 is favorable. There will be difficulties and uncertainties from time to time, but this is to be expected.

"Basically, however, Canada is in good shape and well able to take advantage of the opportunities that lie ahead and to surmount any obstacles that may appear."

LONDON, Dec. 28 (Reuters)—A special course for leaders, callers and musicians who direct or play for square dancing and other kinds of folk-dancing will begin today at the English Folk Song and Dance Society's headquarters here. New Brunswick Plans Feb. Drama Festival

SAINT JOHN, NB, Dec. 28 — (CP)—The 1952 New Brunswick drama festival will be held at St. Stephen in the week of Feb. 4, officials of the regional drama festival committee announced Thursday.

Next spring Saint John will be host for the Dominion Drama Festival when winners of regional drama festivals across Canada will perform for a full week.

Royal Tour Film Slights Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 28 — (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum said on Thursday the National Film Board feature, "Royal Journey," on the visit of Princess Elizabeth to Canada "didn't do Toronto justice."

The Mayor said the film includes no part of the Toronto reception before city hall. The Toronto footage, Mayor McCallum said, showed fleeting shots in some "factory districts" and then showed presentation of two children at Riverdale Park.

The Mayor last spring objected to National Film Board treatment of Toronto in a feature called "Toronto—Boomtown." The mayor criticized the board for concentrating on the "rum row" aspects of Toronto to the neglect of its role as a "City of Churches."

In Ottawa, W. Arthur Irwin, head of the National Film Board, said Thursday that the Toronto city hall reception was not included in the film board's feature, "Royal Journey," because there was insufficient light to get color pictures.

Anna Neagle, Guiness Top UK Movie Stars

LONDON, Dec. 28 (Reuters) — Anna Neagle and Alec Guiness were Britains top movie box-office draws this year, the London Bureau of the American Motion Picture Herald said Thursday.

The paper added that it was the fifth consecutive time that Miss Neagle, 42-year-old star of the Florence Nightingale picture "Lady with the Lamp," headed the female division.

Guinness starred in the whimsical comedy "Lavender Hill Mob."
